To the Christian Reader.

Esides the manifold and continuall benefits which Almighty God bestowed upon us, both corporall and spirituall, wee are especially bound (deare brethren) to give him thanks without ceasing for his great grace, and unspeakable mercies, in that it hath pleased him to call us unto this marvellous light of his Gospel, and mercifully to regard us after so horrible backsliding and falling away from Christ to Antichrist, from light to darknesse, from the living God to dumbe and dead idols, and that after so cruell murder of Gods Saints, as alas, hath been among us, we are not altogether cast off, as were the Israelites, and many others for the like, or not so manifest wickednesse, but received againe to grace with most evident signes and tokens of Gods especiall love and favour. To the intent therefore that we may not be unmindfull of these great mercies, but seek by all means (according to our duty) to be thankfull for the same, it behoveth us so to walk in his fear and love, that all the dayes of our life we may procure the glory of his holy Name. Now forasmuch as this thing chiefly is attained by the knowledge and practising of the word of God (which is the light to our paths, the key of the kingdome of heaven, our comfort in affliction, our shield and sword against Satan, the schoole of all wisdom, the glasse wherein we behold Gods face, the testimony of his favour, and the onely food and nourishment of our soules) we thought we could bestow our labours and study in nothing which could be more acceptable to God, and comfortable to his Church, then in the translating of the holy scriptures into our native tongue: the which thing albeit that divers heretofore have endeavoured to atchieve: yet considering the infancy of those times and imperfect knowledge of the tongues, in respect of this ripe age and clear light which God hath now revealed, the translations required greatly to be perfected and reformed. Not that we vindicate anything to our selves above the least of our brethren (for God knoweth with what feare and trembling we have been for the space of two yeares and more, day and night occupied herein) but being earnestly desired, and by divers, whose learning and godlinesse we reverence, exhorted, and also encouraged by the ready wils of such, whose hearts God likewise touched, not to spare any charges for the furtherance of such a benefit and favour of God toward his Church (though the time was then most dangerous, and the persecution sharp and furious) we submitted our selves at length to their godly judgements, and seeing the great opportunity and occasions, which God presented unto us in his Church, by reason of so many godly and learned men, and such diversities of translations in divers tongues: we undertook this great and wonderfull work (with all reverence, as in the presence of God, as in treating the word of God, whereunto we think our selves insufficient) which now, God according to his divine providence and mercy hath directed to a most prosperous end. And this we may with good conscience protest, that we have in every point and word, according to the measure of that knowledge which it pleased Almighty God to give us, faithfully rendered the text, and in all hard places most sincerely expounded the same. For God is our witnesse, that we have by all means endeavoured to set forth the purity of the word, and right sense of the holy Ghost, for the edifying of the brethren in Faith and Charity.

Now as we have chiefly observed the sense, and laboured alwayes to restore it to all integrity: so have we most reverently kept the propriety of the words, considering that the Apostles, who spake and wrote to the Gentiles in the Greek tongue, rather constrained hem to the lively phrase of the Ebrew, then enterprised farre by mollifying their language, to speak as the Gentiles did. And for this, and other causes, we have in many places preserved the Ebrew phrases, notwithstanding that they may seem somewhat hard in their ears that are not well practised, and also delight in the sweet sounding phrases of the holy Scriptures. Yet lest either the simple should be discouraged, or the malicious have any occasion of just cavillation, seeing some translations read after one sort, and some after another, whereas all may serve to good purpose and edification, we have in the margin noted that diversity of speech or reading, which may also seem agreeable to the minde of the holy Ghost, and proper for our language with this mark, †. Again, whereas the Ebrew speech seemed hardly to agree with ours, we have noted it in the margent after this sort†, using that which was more intelligible. And albeit that many of the Hebrew names be altered from the old text, and restored to the true writing and first originall, whereof they have their signification, yet in the usuall names little is changed for fear of troubling the simple Readers. Moreover, whereas the necessity of the sentence required any thing to be added (for such is the grace and propriety of the Hebrew and Greek tongues, that it cannot but either by circumlocution, or by adding the verb, or some word, be understood of them that are not well practised therein) we have put it in the text with another kinde of letter, that it may easily be discerned from the common letter. As touching the division of the verses, we have followed the Hebrew examples, which have so from the beginning distinguished them. Which thing as it is most profitable for memory, so doth it agree with the best translations, and is most easie to find out both by the best Concordances, and also by the quotations which we have diligently herein perused, and set forth by this mark *. Besides this, the principall matters are noted and distinguished by this mark ¶. Yea, and the arguments both for the book & for the chapters, with the number of the verse are added, that by all means the Reader might be holpen. For the which cause also we have set over the head of every Page, some notable word or sentence which may greatly further, as well for memory, as for the chiefpoint of the Page. And considering how hard a thing it is to understand the holy Scriptures, and what errours, sects, and heresies grow daily for lack of the true knowledge thereof, and how many are discouraged (as they pretend) because they cannot attain to the true and simple meaning of the same, we have also endeavoured both by the diligent reading of the best Commentaries, and also by the conference with the godly and learned brethren, to gather brief Annotations, upon all the hard places, as well for the understanding of such words as are obscure, and for the declaration of the text, as for the application of the same, as may most appertain to Gods glory, and the edification of his Church. Furthermore, whereas certain places in the book of Moses, of the Kings, and Ezekiel, seemed so dark, that by no description they could be made easie to the simple Reader, we have so set them forth with figures & numbers for the full declaration thereof, that they which cannot by judgement, being holpen by the Annotations noted by the letters a, b, c, &c. attain thereunto, yet by the perspective, and as it were by the eye, may sufficiently know the true meaning of all such places: whereunto also we have added certain Maps of Cosmographie, which necessarily serve for the perfect understanding and memory of divers places and countreys, partly described, and partly by occasion touched, both in the Old and New Testament.

Finally, that nothing might lack which might be brought by labours, for the increase of knowledge and furtherance of Gods glory, there are adjoynd two most profitable Tables, the one serving for the interpretation of the Hebrew names: and the other containing all the chief and principall matters of the whole Bible: so that nothing (as we trust) that any could justly desire, is omitted. Therefore, as brethren that are partakers of the same hope and salvation with us, we beseech you, that this rich pearl and inestimable treasure may not be offered in vain, but as sent from God to the people of God, for the increase of his kingdom, the comfort of his Church, and discharge of our conscience, whom it hath pleased him to raise up for this purpose, so you would willingly receive the word of God, earnestly study it, and in all your life practise it, that you may now appear indeed to be the people of God, not walking any more according to this world, but in the fruits of the Spirit, that God in us may be fully glorified, though JESUS CHRIST our Lord, who liveth and reigneth for ever,

Amen.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED * GENESIS.

* This word signifieth the beginning and generation of the creature.

THE ARGUMENT.

Moses in effect declareth three things, which are in this booke chiefly to be considered. First, that the world, and all things therein were created by God, and that man being placed in this great tabernacle of the world to behold Gods wonderfull workes, and to praise his Name for the infinite graces, wherewith he had endued him, fell willingly from God through disobedience, who yet for his owne mercies sake restored him to life, and confirmed him in the same by his promise of Christ to come, by whom he should overcome Satan, death, and hell. Secondly, that the wicked, unmindfull of Gods most excellent benefites, remained still in their wickednesse, and so falling most horribly from sin to sin, provoked God (who by his Preachers called them continually to repentance) at length to destroy the whole world. Thirdly, he assureth us by the examples of Abraham, Izhak, Iaakob, and the rest of the Patriarches, that his mercies never faile them, whom he chuseth to bee his Church, and to professe his name in earth, but in all their afflictions, and persecutions, he ever assisteth them, sendeth comfort, and delivereth them. And because the beginning, increase, preservation, and successe thereof might be only attributed to God, Moses sheweth by the examples of Kain, Ishmael, Esau, and others, which were noble in mans judgement, that this Church dependeth not on the estimation and nobility of the world: and also by the fewnesse of them, which have at all times worshipped him purely according to his word, that it standeth not in the multitude, but in the poore and despised, in the small flock and little number, that man in his wisdom might be confounded, and the name of God evermore praised.

CHAP. I.

God created the heaven and the earth. 2 The light and the darkness. 3 The firmament. 4 Hee separated the waters from the earth. 5 Hee created the Sun, the Moone, and the Starres. 6 Hee created the fish, birds, beasts. 7 Hee created man, and gave him rule over all creatures.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

And the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the deepe, and the Spirit of God moved upon the waters.

Then God said, Let there be light: And there was light.

And God saw that the Light that it was good, and God separated the light from the darkness.

And God called the light, day; and the darkness, he called night. So the evening and the morning were the first day.

Againe God said, * Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters: and let it separate the waters from the waters.

Then God made the firmament, and separated the waters which were under the firmament, from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

And God called the firmament, Heaven. So the evening and the morning were the second day.

God said againe, * Let the waters under the heaven be gathered into one place, and let the dry land appeare: and it was so.

And God called the dry land, Earth: and hee called the gathering together of the waters, Seas: and God saw that it was good.

Then God said, * Let the earth bud forth the bud of the herb, that seedeth seed, the fruitfull tree, which beareth fruit according to his kind, which hath his seed in it, let it upon the earth: and it was so.

And the earth brought forth the bud of the herb, that seedeth seed according to i This sentence is so oft repeated, to signifie that God made all his creatures to serve to his glory, and to the profit of man: but for sin they were accursed, yet to the elect by Christ they are restored, and serve to their wealth.

13 "So the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, * Let there bee lights in the firmament of the heaven, to separate the day from the night, and let them be for ^m signes, and for seasons, and for dayes, and yeares.

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the Heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 God then made two ⁿ great Lights: the greater light ^o to rule the day, and the lesse light to rule the night: he made also the Starres.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven, to shine upon the earth, 18 And to ^p rule in the day, and in the night, and to separate the Light from the darknesse: and God saw that it was good.

19 "So the Evening and the Morning were the fourth day.

20 Afterward God said, Let the waters bring forth in abundance ^q every ^r creeping thing that hath ^s life: and let the fowle flie upon the earth in the ^t open firmament of the heaven.

21 Then God created the great Whales; and every thing living and moving, which the ^u waters brought forth in abundance according to their kind, and every fethered fowle according to his kind: and God saw that it was good.

22 Then God ^v blessed them, saying, Bring forth fruit and multiply, and fill the waters in the Seas, and let the fowle multiply in the earth.

23 "So the Evening and the Morning were the fifth day.

24 ¶ Moreover God said, Let the earth bring forth the ^w living thing according to his kind, cattell, and that which creepeth, and the beast of the earth, according to his kind, and it was so.

25 And God made the beast of the earth according to his kind, and the cattell according to his kind, and every creeping thing of the earth according to his kind. And God saw that it was good.

26 Furthermore God said, * Let us make man in our ^x Image, according to our likenesse, and let them rule over the fish of the Sea, and over the fowle of the heaven, and over the beasts, and over all the earth, and over every thing that creepeth, and moveth on the earth.

27 Thus God created the man in his Image: in the image of God created hee him: he created them ^y male and female.

28 And God ^z blessed them, and God said to them, * Bring forth fruit and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it, and rule over the fish of the Sea, and over the fowle of the heaven, and over every beast that moveth upon the earth.

29 And God said, Behold, I have given unto you ^a every herb bearing seed, which is upon all the earth, and every tree, wherein is the fruit of a tree bearing seed: ^b that shall be to you for meat.

30 Likewise to every beast of the earth, and to every fowle of the heaven, and to every thing that moveth upon the earth, which hath life in it selfe, every greene herb shall be for meat: and it was so.

31 * And God saw all that he had made, and loe it was very good. "So the Evening and the Morning were the sixth day.

CHAP. II.

2 God refresheth the seventh day, and sanctifieth it. 15 He setteth man in the Garden. 22 Hee createth the woman. 24 Marriage is ordained.

THUS the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the ^c host of them.

2 For in the seventh day God ended his worke which he had made, ^d and the seventh day he ^e rested from all his work, which he had made:

3 So God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it, because that in it he had rested from all his worke, which God had created and made.

4 ¶ These are the ^f generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens,

5 And every ^g plant of the field, before it was in the earth, and every herbe of the field, before it grew: for the Lord God had not caused it to ^h raine upon the earth, neither was there a man to till the ground,

6 But a mist went up from the earth, and watered all the earth.

7 ¶ The Lord God also ⁱ made the man of the dust of the ground, and breathed in his face breath of life, ^j and the man was a living soule.

8 And the Lord God planted a Garden Eastward in Eden, and there he put the man whom he had made.

9 ¶ For out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree pleasant to the sight, and good for meat: the ^k tree of Life also in the midst of the Garden, and the tree of Knowledge of good and evil:

10 And out of Eden went a River to water the Garden, and from thence it was divided, and became into foure heads.

THE SITUATION OF THE GARDEN OF EDEN, NORTH.

CHAP. III.

1 The woman seduced by the serpent, 6 Enticeth her husband to sinne. 8 They both flee from God. 14 They three are punished. 15 Christ is promised. 19 Man is dust. 22 Man is cast out of Paradise.

a As Satan can change himself into an angel of light, so did he abuse the wisdom of the serpent to deceive man. b God suffered Satan to make the serpent his instrument, and to speak in him.

NOW the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field, which the Lord God had made: and he said to the woman, Yea, hath God indeed said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

2 And the woman said unto the serpent, We eat of the fruit of the trees of the Garden,

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the mids of the Garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

4 Then * the serpent said to the woman, Ye shall not die at all,

5 But God doth know that when ye shall eat thereof, your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 So the woman (seeing that the tree was good for meat, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to get knowledge) took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also to her husband with her, and he did eat.

7 Then the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked, and they sewed fig tree leaves together, and made themselves breeches.

8 ¶ Afterward they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden.

9 But the Lord God called to the man, and said unto him, Where art thou?

10 Who said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and was afraid: because I was naked, therefore I hid my self.

11 And he said, Who told thee, that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat?

12 Then the man said, The woman which thou gavest me with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

13 And the Lord God said to the woman, Why hast thou done thus? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

14 ¶ Then the Lord God said to the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattell, and above every beast of the field: upon thy belly shalt thou goe, and dust shalt thou eat all the dayes of thy life.

15 I will also put enmities between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed. He shall break thine head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

16 ¶ Unto the woman he said, I will greatly increase thy sorrows, and thy conceptions. In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children, and thy desire shall be subject to thine husband, and he shall rule over thee.

17 ¶ Also to Adam he said, Because thou hast obeyed the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, (whereof I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it) cursed is the earth for thy sake: in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the dayes of thy life.

18 Thornes also, and thistles shall it bring forth to thee, and thou shalt eat the herbe of the field.

19 In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return to the earth: for out of it wast thou taken, because thou art dust, and to dust shalt thou return.

20 (And the man called his wives name Hevah, because she was the mother of all living)

21 Unto Adam also and to his wife did the Lord God make coats of skinnies, and clothed them.

22 ¶ And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil. And now least he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever, 23 Therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the Garden of Eden, to till the earth, whence he was taken.

24 Thus he cast out man, and at the East side of the Garden of Eden he set the Cherubims, and the blade of a sword shaken, to keep the way of the tree of life.

7 If thou doe well, shalt thou not bee accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the^e doore: also unto thee his^e desire shall be subject, and thou shalt rule over him.

15 Then the Lord said unto him, Doubtlesse, whosoever slayeth Kain, hee shall bee^e punished seven fold. And the Lord set a^e marke upon Kain, lest any man finding him should kill him.

16 Then Kain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod toward the East side of Eden.

17 Kain also knew his wife, which conceived and bare Henoah: and hee built a^e city, and called the name of the city by the name of his son, Henoah.

18 And to Henoah was borne Irad, and Irad begat Mehijael, & Mehijael begat Methusael, and Methusael begat Lamech.

19 ¶ And Lamech took to him^e two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah.

20 And Adah bare Jubal, who was the father of such as dwell in the tents, and of such as have castles.

21 And his brothers name was Jubal, who was the father of all that play on the harp and^e organs.

22 And Zillah also bare Tubal-kain, who wrought cunningly every craft of brass and yron: and the sister of Tubal-kain was Naamah.

23 Then Lamech said unto his wives, Adah and Zillah, Heare my voice, yet wives of Lamech: hearken unto my speech: for I would slay a man in my wound, and a young man in mine hurt.

This is the^e book of the generations of Adam. In the day that God created Adam, in the likenesse of God made he him.

2 Male and female created he them, and blessed them, and called their name Adam in the day that they were created.

3 ¶ Now Adam lived an hundred and thirty yeares, and begat a child in his own^e likenesse after his image, and called his name Sheth.

4 * And the dayes of Adam after he had begotten Sheth, were eight hundred yeares, and he begat sons and daughters.

5 So all the dayes that Adam lived, were nine hundred and thirty yeares: & he died.

6 And^e Sheth lived an hundred and five yeares, and begat Enosh.

7 And Sheth lived after he begat Enosh, eight hundred and seven yeares, and begat sons and daughters.

8 So all the dayes of Sheth were^e nine hundred and twelve yeares: and he died.

9 ¶ Also Enosh lived ninety yeares, and begat Kenan.

10 And Enosh lived after he begat Kenan, eight hundred and fifteen yeares, and begat sons and daughters.

11 So all the dayes of Enosh were nine hundred and five yeares: and he died.

12 ¶ Likewise Kenan lived seventy yeares, and begat Mahalaleel.

13 And Kenan lived after he begat Mahalaleel, eight hundred and fourty yeares, and begat sons and daughters.

14 So all the dayes of Kenan were nine hundred and ten yeares: and he died.

15 ¶ Mahalaleel also lived sixty and five yeares, and begat Jered.

16 Also Mahalaleel lived after he begat Jered, eight hundred and thirty yeares, and begat sons and daughters.

17 So all the dayes of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five yeares: and he died.

CHAP. VI.

3 God threatneth to bring the Floud. 5 Man is altogether corrupt. 6 God repenteth that he made him. 18 Noah and his are preserved in the Arke, which he was commanded to make.

So when men began to be multiplied upon the earth, and there were daughters born unto them,

2 Then the sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were fair, and they tooke them wives of all that they liked.

3 Therefore the Lord said, My spirit shall not alway strive with man, because hee is but flesh, and his dayes shall be an hundred and twenty yeares.

4 There were giants in the earth in those dayes: yea, and after that the sons of God came unto the daughters of men, & they had born them children, these were mighty men, which in old time were men of renown.

5 ¶ When the Lord saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and all the imaginations of the thoughts of his heart were onely evil & continually,

6 Then it repented the Lord, that he had made man in the earth, and hee was sorry in his heart.

7 Therefore the Lord said, I will destroy from the earth the man, whom I have created, from man to beast, to the creeping thing, and to the fowl of the heaven: for I repent that I have made them.

8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

9 ¶ These are the generations of Noah. Noah was a just and upright man in his time: and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before God: for the earth was filled with cruelty.

12 Then God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt: for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God said unto Noah, An end of all flesh is come before mee: for the earth is filled with cruelty & through them: and behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an Ark of pine trees: thou shalt make cabins in the Arke, and shalt pitch it within, and without with pitch.

15 And thus shalt thou make it: The length of the Arke shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window shalt thou make in the Arke, and in a cubite shalt thou finish it above, and the doore of the Arke shalt thou set in the side thereof: thou shalt make it with the low, second, and third rooms.

17 And I, behold, I will bring a floud of waters upon the earth to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life under the heaven: all that is in the earth shall perish.

18 But with thee will I establish my covenant, and thou shalt go into the Ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons wives with thee.

19 And of every living thing, of all flesh two of every sort shalt thou cause to come into the Ark, to keep them alive with thee: they shall be male and female.

20 Of the fowles after their kind, and of the cattell after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind, two of every sort shall come unto thee, that thou mayest keep them alive.

21 And take thou with thee of all meat that is eaten, and thou shalt gather it to thee, that it may be meat for thee and for them.

1 Noah and his enter into the Arke. 20 The flood destroyeth all the rest upon the earth.

And the Lord said unto Noah, Enter thou and all thine house into the Ark: for thee have I seene a righteous before mee in this † age.

2 Of every b clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female: but of unclean beasts by couples, the male and his female.

3 Of the fowles also of the heavens by sevens, male and female, to keep seed alive upon the whole earth.

4 For seven dayes hence I will cause it to raine upon the earth fourty dayes and fourty nights, and all the substance that I have made, wil I destroy from off the earth.

5  Noah therefore did according unto all that the Lord commanded him.

6 And Noah was six hundred yeare old, when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 ¶ So Noah entred and his sons, and his wife, and his sons wives with him into the Arke, because of the waters of the flood.

8 Of the cleane beasts, and of the unclean beasts, and of the fowles, and of all that creepeth upon the earth, 9 There came two and two unto Noah into the Arke, male and female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And so after seven dayes the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 ¶ In the six hundredth yeare of Noahs life, in the d second moneth, the seventeenth day of the moneth, in the same day were all the e fountaines of the great deep broken up, and the windowes of heaven were opened.

12 And the raine was upon the earth fourty dayes and fourty nights.

13 In the selfe same day entred Noah with Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noahs wife, and the three wives of his sons with them into the Ark.

14 They and every beast after his kind, and all cattell after their kind, and every thing that creepeth and moveth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowle after his kind, even every bird of every feather.

15 For they came to Noah into the Arke, two and two, f of all flesh wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they entring in, came male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the Lord † shut him in.

17 Then the flood was fourty dayes upon the earth, and the waters were increased, and bare up the Arke, which was lift up above the earth.

18 The waters also waxed strong, and were increased exceedingly upon the earth, and the Arke went upon the waters.

19 The waters † prevailed so exceedingly upon the earth, that all the high mountains that are under the whole heaven, were covered.

20 Fiftene cubits upward did the waters prevaile, when the mountaines were covered.

21 Then all flesh perished that moved upon the earth, both fowle, and cattell, and beast, and every thing that creepeth and moveth upon the earth, and every man.

22 Every thing in whose nostrils the spirit of life did breath, whatsoever they were in the drie land, they died.

23 So h he destroyed every thing that was upon the earth, from man to beast, to the creeping thing, and to the fowle of the heaven: they were even destroyed from the earth. And Noah onely remained, and they that were with him in the Arke.

24 And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundredth and fifti dayes.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The flood ceaseth. 10 Noah is commanded to come forth of the Arke with his. 20 He sacrificeth to the Lord. 22 God promiseth that all things shall continue in their first order.

Now God a remembered Noah, and every beast, and all the cattell that was with him in the Arke: therefore God made a wind to passe upon the earth, and the waters ceased.

2 The fountaines also of the deep, and the windowes of heaven were stopped, and the raine from heaven was restrained.

3 And the waters returned from above the earth, going and returning: and after the end of the hundredth and fiftieth day the waters abated.

4 And in the c seventh moneth, in the seventeenth day of the moneth, the Arke † rested upon the mountaines of † Ararat.

5 And the waters were going and decreasing untill the d tenth moneth: in the tenth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth were the tops of the mountaines seene.

6 ¶ So † after fourty dayes, Noah opened the window of the Arke which he had made.

7 And sent forth a † Raven, which went out, going forth and returning, untill the waters were dried up upon the earth.

8 ¶ God spake also to Noah, and to his sons with him, saying,

9 Behold, I, even I, establish my ^h covenant with you, and with your seed ⁱ after you.

10 And with every living creature that is with you, with the fowle, with the cattell, and with every beast of the earth with you, from all that goe out of the Arke, unto every beast of the earth.

11 ^{*} And my covenant will I establish with you, that from henceforth all flesh shall not be rooted out by the waters of the flood, neither shall there bee a flood to destroy the earth any more.

12 Then God said, This is the token of the covenant which I make betweene mee and you, and betweene every living thing, that is with you unto perpetuall generations.

13 I have set my ^{*} bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a signe of the covenant betweene mee and the earth.

16 Therefore the bow shall be in the cloud, that I may see it, and remember the everlasting covenant betweene God, and every living thing in all flesh, that is upon the earth.

17 God said yet to Noah, ^m This is the signe of the covenant, which I have established betweene mee and all flesh that is upon the earth.

18 ¶ Now the sonnes of Noah going forth of the Ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth. And Ham is the father of Canaan.

19 These are the three sonnes of Noah, and of them was the whole earth overspread.

20 ¶ Noah also began to be an husbandman, and planted a vineyard.

21 And he drunk of the wine, and was drunken, and was uncovered in the mids of his tent.

22 And when Ham the father of Canaan saw the nakednesse of his father, he told his two brethren without.

23 Then took Shem and Japheth a garment, and put it upon both their shoulders, and went backward, and covered the nakednesse of their father; with their faces backward, so they saw not their fathers nakednesse.

24 Then Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger sonne had done unto him, 25 And said, Cursed be Canaan: a servant of servants shall he be unto his brethren.

26 He said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Shem, and let Canaan be his servant.

27 God ¶ perswade Japheth, that he may dwell in the tents of Shem, and let Canaan be his servant.

28 ¶ And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fiftie years.

29 So all the dayes of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

Chap. X.

The increase of mankind by Noah and his sonnes. The beginning of cities, countreys and nations.

Now these are the generations of the sonnes of Noah; Shem, Ham, and Japheth: unto whom sonnes were born after the flood.

The sonnes of Japheth were Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Melchec, and Tiras.

And the sons of Gomer, Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah.

Also the sons of Javan, Elishah and Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim.

Of these were the yles of the Gentiles divided in their lands, every man after his tongue, and after their families in their Nations.

¶ Moreover, the sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan.

And the sons of Cush, Seba, and Havilah, and Sabrah, and Raamah, and Sabtechah: also the sonnes of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

8 And Cush begat Nimrod, who began to be mighty in the earth.

9 He was a mighty hunter before the Lord, wherefore it is said, As Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord.

10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of that land came Ashur, and builded Nineveh, and the cities Rehoboth, and Calah:

12 Resen also between Nineveh and Calah: this is a great city.

13 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtubim.

14 Pathrusim also, and Caslubim, (out of whom came the Philistims) and Caphtorims.

15 ¶ Also Canaan begat Zidon his first born, and Heth,

16 And Jebusi, and Etori, and Girgathi,

17 And Hivi, and Arki, and Sibi,

18 And Arvadi, and Zemari, and Hamathi: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad.

19 Then the border of the Canaanites was from Zidon, as thou comest to Gerar, unto Azzah, and as thou goest unto Sodom, and Gomorah, and Admah, and Zeboiim, even unto Lasha.

20 These are the sons of Ham, according to their families, according to their tongues in their countreys, and in their nations.

21 ¶ Unto Shem also the father of all the sons of Eber, and elder brother of Japheth were children born.

22 ¶ The sons of Shem were Elam, and Ashur, and Arpachshad, and Lud, and Aram.

23 And the sonnes of Aram, Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash.

24 Also Arpachshad begat Shelah, and Shelah begat Eber.

25 Unto Eber also were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg: for in his dayes was the earth divided: and his brothers name was Joktan.

26 Then Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah.

27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Disklah,

28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all these were the sonnes of Joktan.

30 And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar mount of the East.

31 These are the sons of Shem according to their families, according to their tongues, in their countreys and nations.

32 These are the families of the sons of Noah, after their generations among the people.

n This declareth what was the virtue of Gods blessing, when he said, Increase and bring forth, Chap. 1. 28. ¶ Or, Noah began again.

¶ Or, enlarge, or cause to return. He declareth that the Gentiles which came of Japheth, and were separate from the Church, should be joynted to the same by the perswasion of Gods spirit, and preaching of the Gospel.

a These generations are here recited, partly to declare the marvelous increase in so small a time, and also to set forth their great forgetfulness of Gods graces towards their fathers. b Of Madai and Javan came the Medes & Greeks.

c The Jewes so call all countreys which are separate from them by sea, as Grecia, Italy &c. which were given to the children of Japheth, of whom came the Gentiles. d Of Cush and Mizraim came the Ethiopians and Egyptians.

CHAPTER XI.

*The building of Babel was the cause of the confusion of tongues. * The Age and generation of Shem unto Abram. 32 Abrams departure from Ur with his father Terah, Sami and Lot. 32 The age and death of Terah.*

Then the whole earth was of one language, and one speech.

2 And as they went from the East, they found a plaine in the land of Shinar, and there they abode.

3 And they said one to another, Come, let us make bricke, and burn it in the fire. So they had bricke for stone, and slime had they in stead of mortar.

4 Also they said, Go to, let us build us a citie and a towre, whose top may reach unto the heaven, that we may get us a name, lest we be scattered upon the whole earth.

5 But the Lord came down to see the citie and towre which the sonnes of men builded.

6 And the Lord said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language, and this they begin to do, neither can they now be stopped from whatsoever they have imagined to do.

7 Come on, let us go downe, and there confound their language, that every one perceive not anothers speech.

8 So the Lord scattered them from thence upon all the earth, and they left off to build the citie.

9 Therefore the name of it was called Babel, because the Lord did there confound the language of all the earth: from thence then did the Lord scatter them upon all the earth.

10 ¶ These are the generations* of Shem. Shem was an hundred yeare old, and begat Arpachhad two yeare after the flood.

11 And Shem lived, after he begat Arpachhad, five hundred yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

12 Also Arpachhad lived five and thirtie yeares, and begat Shelah.

13 And Arpachhad lived, after he begat Shelah, foure hundred and three yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

14 Shelah lived thirtie yeares, and begate Eber.

15 So Shelah lived, after he begate Eber, foure hundred and three yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

16 Likewise Eber lived foure and thirtie yeares, and begate Peleg.

17 So Eber lived, after he begate Peleg, foure hundred and thirtie yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

18 And Peleg lived thirtie yeares, and begate Reu.

19 * And Peleg lived after he begate Reu, two hundred and nine yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

20 Also Reu lived two and thirtie yeares, and begate Serug.

21 So Reu lived after he begate Serug, two hundred and seven yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

22 Moreover Serug lived thirtie yeares, and begate Nahor.

23 And Serug lived after he begate Nahor, two hundred yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

24 And Nahor lived nine and twenty yeares, and begate Terah.

25 So Nahor lived, after he begate Terah, an hundred and nineteene yeares, and begate sonnes and daughters.

26 * So Terah lived seventie yeares, and begate Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Terah: Terah begate Abram, Nahor, and Haran: and Haran begate Lot.

28 Then Haran dyed before Terah his father in the land of his nativitie, in Ur of the Chaldees.

29 So Abram and Nahor took them wives. The name of Abrams wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahors wife Milcay, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcay, and the father of Isaac.

30 But Sarai was barren, and had no childe.

31 Then Terah took Abram his son, and Lot the sonne of Haran, his sonnes son, and Sarai his daughter in law, his sonne Abrams wife: and they departed together from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan, and they came to Haran, and dwelt there.

32 So the dayes of Terah were two hundred and five yeares, and Terah dyed in Haran.

Abram by Gods commandment goeth to Canaan. 3 Christ is promised. 4 Abrams buildeth altars for worship and declaration of his faith among the infidels. 5 Because of the dearth he goeth into Egypt. 6 Pharaoh taketh his wife, and is punished.

For the Lord had said unto Abraham, * Get thee out of thy countrey, and from thy kinred, & from thy fathers house, unto the land that I will shew thee.

2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and will blesse thee, and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing.

3 I will also blesse them that blesse thee, and curse them that curse thee, and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.

4 So Abram departed, even as the Lord spake unto him, and Lot went with him. (And Abram was seventy and five yeares old, when he departed out of Haran.)

5 Then Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot

g God speaketh this in derision, because of their foolish pervasion and enterprise.

h He speaketh as though he took counsell with his own wilddome and power: to wit, with the Sonne & Holy Ghost, signifying the greatnesse and certaintie of the punishment.

i By this great plague of the confusion of tongues, appeareth Gods terrible judgement against mans pride and vaine glory.

* Or, confusions. i Chron. 1. 10. He returneth to the genealogy of Shem, to come to the history of Abram, wherein the Church of God is described, which is Moyses principall purpose.

d Meaning, as well servants as cattell.

e Hee wandered to and fro in the land before hee could find a fertile place: thus God exerciseth the faith of his children.

f Or, Oke grove. Which was a cruell and rebellious nation, by whom God kept his in continuall exercise.

g It was not enough for him to worship God in his heart, but it was expedient to declare by outward profession his faith before men, whereof this altar was a signe.

h Because of the troubles that hee had among that wicked people.

i And so served the true God, and renounced all idolatry.

k Thus the children of God may look for no rest in this world, but must wait for the heavenly rest and quietness.

l This was a new trial of Abrams faith: whereby we see that the end of one affliction is the beginning of another.

m By this we may learne not to use unlawfull means, nor to put others in danger to save our selves, read verse 20. albeit it may appeare that Abram feared not so much death, as that if hee should die without issue, Gods promise should not have taken place, wherein appeared a weak faith.

n Ebr. That my wife may live, not to be his wife.

o The Lord took the defence of this poore stranger against a mighty king: and as he is ever careful over his, so did hee preserve Sarai.

p To the intent that none should hurt him either in his person or goods.

Lot his brothers son, and all their substance that they possessed, and the foules that they had gotten in Haran, and they departed, to goe to the land of Canaan: and to the land of Canaan they came.

6 ¶ So Abram passed through the land unto the place of Shechem, and unto the plaine of Moreh (and the Canaanite was then in the land.)

7 And the Lord appeared unto Abram, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land, And there builded he an altar unto the Lord, which appeared unto him.

8 Afterward removing thence unto a mountaine Eastward from Beth-el, hee pitched his tent having Beth-el on the Westside, and Haai on the East: and there he built an altar unto the Lord, and called on the name of the Lord.

9 Again Abram went forth going and journeying toward the South.

10 ¶ Then there came a famine in the land: therefore Abram went downe into Egypt, to sojourne there: for there was a great famine in the land.

11 And when hee drew neare to enter into Egypt, hee said to Sarai his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a faire woman to looke upon:

12 Therefore it will come to passe, that when the Egyptians see thee, they will say, She is his wife: so will they kill mee, but they will keep thee alive.

13 Say, I pray thee, that thou art my sister, that I may fare well for thy sake, and that my life may be preserved by thee.

14 ¶ Now when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman for she was very faire.

15 And the Princes of Pharaoh saw her, and commended her unto Pharaoh: so the woman was taken into Pharaohs house.

16 Who intreated Abram well for her sake, and he had sheep, and beeves, and asses, and menservants, and maid-servants, and she asses, and camels.

17 But the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues, because of Sarai Abrams wife.

18 Then Pharaoh called Abram, and said, Why hast thou done this unto mee? Wherefore diddest thou not tell mee, that shee was thy wife?

19 Why saidst thou, Shee is my sister, that I should take her to be my wife? Now therefore behold thy wife, take her, and goe thy way.

20 And Pharaoh gave men commandment concerning him, and they conveyed him forth, and his wife, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Abram departeth out of Egypt. 4 He calleth upon the name of the Lord. 11 Lot departeth from him. 13 The wickednesse of the Sodomites. 14 The promise made to Abram renewed. 18 Abram buildeth an altar to the Lord.

Then Abram went up from Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him toward the South.

2 And Abram was very rich in cattell, in silver, and in gold.

3 And he went on his journey from the South toward Beth-el, to the place where his tent had bene at the beginning, betweene Beth-el and Haai.

4 Unto the place of the altar, which he had made there at the first: and there Abram called on the name of the Lord.

5 ¶ And Lot also, who went with Abram, had sheep, and cattell, and tents.

6 So that the land could not beare them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, so that they could not dwell together.

7 Also there was debate betweene the herdmen of Abrams cattell and the herdmen of Lots cattell, (and the Canaanites and the Perizzites dwelled at that time in the land.)

8 Then Abram said unto Lot, Let there be no strife, I pray thee, betweene thee and mee, neither betweene mine herdmen and thine herdmen: for we be brethren.

9 Is not the whole land before thee? depart, I pray thee, from mee: if thou wilt take the left hand, then will I goe to the right: or if thou go to the right hand, then will I take the left.

10 So when Lot lifted up his eyes, he saw that all the plaine of Jordan was watered every where: (for before the Lord destroyed Sodom and Gomorah, it was as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, as thou goest unto Zoar.)

11 Then Lot chose unto him all the plaine of Jordan, and tooke his journey from the East: and they departed the one from the other.

12 Abram dwelled in the land of Canaan, and Lot abode in the cities of the plaine, and pitched his tent even unto Sodom.

13 Now the men of Sodom were wicked, and exceeding sinners against the Lord.

14 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Abram, (after that Lot was departed from him) Lift up thine eyes now, and look from the place where thou art, Northward, and Southward, and Eastward, and Westward.

15 For all the land, which thou seest, will I give unto thee, and to thy seed for ever.

18 Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plaine of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and builded there an altar unto the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

12 In the overthrow of Sodom, Lot is taken prisoner. 16 Abram delivereth him. 18 Melchi-zedek cometh to meet him. 23 Abram would not be enriched by the king of Sodom.

And in the dayes of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedor-laomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of the nations:

2 These men made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zebaiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.

3 All these joyned together in the vale of Siddim, which is the salt Sea.

4 Twelve yeares were they subject to Chedor-laomer; but in the thirteenth yeare they rebelled.

5 And in the fourteenth yeare came Chedor-laomer, and the kings that were with him, and smote the Rephaims in Ashteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh Kiria-

6 And the Horites in the mount Seir, unto the plain of Paran, which is by the wilderness.

7 And they returned and came to En-mishpat, which is Kadesh, and smote all the countrey of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites that dwell in Hazezon-tamar.

8 Then went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zebaiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar: and they joyned battell with them in the vale of Siddim:

9 Tents, with Chedor-laomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar: foure kings against five.

10 Now the vale of Siddim was full of slime pits, and the kings of Sodom and Gomorah fled, and fell there: and the residue fled to the mountaine.

11 Then they tooke all the substance of Sodom, and Gomorah, and all their victuals, and went their way.

12 They tooke Lot also, Abrahams brothers son, and his substance; (for hee dwelt at Sodom) and departed.

13 ¶ Then came one that had escaped, and told Abram the Ebrew, which dwelt in the plaine of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol, and brother of Aner, which were confederate with Abram.

14 When Abram heard that his brother was taken, he brought forth of them that were borne and brought up in his house, three hundred and eighteen; and pursued them unto Dan.

15 Then he, and his servants divided themselves against them by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobab, which is on the left side of Damascus.

16 And he recovered all the substance, and also brought againe his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also and the people.

17 ¶ After that he returned from the slaughter of Chedor-laomer, and of the kings that were with him, came the king of Sodom forth to meet him in the valley of Shaveh, which is the kings dale.

18 And Melchi-zedek king of Shalem brought forth bread and wine: and he was a priest of the most high God.

19 Therefore he blessed him, saying, Blessed art thou, Abram, of God most high, possessor of heaven and earth.

20 And blessed be the most high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thine hand. And Abram gave him tithes of all.

21 Then the king of Sodom said to Abram, Give me the persons, and take the goods to thy selfe.

22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, I have lift up mine hand unto the Lord the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth.

23 ¶ That I will not take of all that is thine, so much as a thread or shoole latchet, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich.

24 Save onely that, which the young men have eaten, and the parts of the men which went with mee, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre: let them take their parts.

¶ The Lord is always despoile and revenged. He is justified by faith. 13 The servitude and deliverance out of Egypt is declared. 18 The land of Canaan is promised the fourth time.

After these things, the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a vision, laying, Fear not, Abram, I am thy buckler, and thine exceeding great reward.

2 And Abram said, O Lord God, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childlesse, and the steward of mine house is this Eliezer of Damascus?

3 Againe Abram said, Behold, to mee thou hast given no seed: wherefore loe, a servant of mine house shall be mine heir.

16 And Abram was fourescore and fi yeares old, when Hagar bare him Ishmael.

CHAP. XVII.

Abrams name is changed to confirm him in the promise. The land of Canaan is the first time promised. 12 Circumcision is instituted. 15 Sarai is named Sarah. 18 Abraham propheth for Ishmael. 19 Izhak is promised. 23 Abraham and his house are circumcised.

When Abram was ninetie yeare old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am God † all-sufficient: * walk before me, and be thou † upright.

2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and I will multiply thee exceedingly.

3 Then Abram fell on his face, and God talked with him, saying,

4 Behold, I make my covenant with thee, and thou shalt be a † father of many nations.

5 Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be † Abraham: † for a father of many nations have I made thee.

6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitfull, and will make nations of thee: yea, kings shall proceed of thee.

7 Moreover, I will establish my covenant between me and thee, and thy seed after thee in their generations, for an † everlasting covenant, to be God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee.

8 And I will give thee and thy seed after thee the land, wherein thou art a stranger, even all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God.

9 Again God said unto Abraham, Thou also shalt keep my covenant, thou, & thy seed after thee in their generations.

10 This is my covenant which ye shall keep between me and you, and thy seed after thee, † Let every man-childe among you be circumcised:

11 That is, ye shall circumcise the fore-skinne of your flesh, and it shall be † signe of the covenant between me and you.

12 And every man-childe of eight dayes old among you, shall be circumcised in your generations; as well he that is born in † thine house, as he that is bought with money of any stranger, which is not of thy seed.

13 He that is born in † thine house, and he that is bought with thy money, must needs be circumcised: so my covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant.

14 But the uncircumcised † man-child, in whose flesh the fore-skin is not circumcised, even that person I shall cut off from his people, † because he hath broken my covenant.

15 ¶ Afterward God said unto Abraham, Sarai thy wife shalt thou not call Sarai, but † Sarah shall be her name.

16 And I will blesse her, and will also give thee a son of her, yea, I will blesse her, and she shall be the mother of nations: Kings also of people shall come of her.

17 Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him, that is an hundred yeare old? and shall Sarah that is ninetie yeare old beare?

18 And Abraham said unto God, Oh that Ishmael might live in thy sight.

19 Then God said, † Sarah thy wife shall beare thee a sonne indeed, and thou shalt call his name Izhak: and I will establish my covenant with him for an † everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.

20 And as concerning Ishmael, I have heard thee: lo, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitfull, and will multiply him † exceedingly: twelve princes shall he beget, and I will make a great nation of him.

21 But my covenant will I establish with Izhak, which Sarah shall beare unto thee, the next † yeare at this season.

22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham.

23 ¶ Then Abraham took Ishmael his sonne, and all that were born in his house, and all that was bought with his money, † that is, every man-childe among the men of Abrahams house, and he circumcised the fore-skinne of their flesh in that self same day, as God had commanded him.

24 Abraham also himself was ninetie yeares old and nine, when the fore-skinne of his flesh was circumcised.

25 And Ishmael his sonne was thirteen yeares old, when the fore-skinne of his flesh was circumcised.

26 The self same day was Abraham circumcised, and Ishmael his sonne.

27 And all the men of his house, both born in his house, and bought with money of the stranger, were circumcised with him.

6 Then Abraham made hast into the tent unto Sarah, and said; Make ready at once three ^e measures of fine meale: knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth.

7 And Abraham ranne to the beasts, and took a tender and good calf, and gave it to the servant, who hasted to make it ready.

12 Therefore Sarah ^h laughed within her self, saying, After I am waxen old, ⁱ and my lord also, shall I have lust?

13 And the Lord said unto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah thus laugh, saying, Shall I certainly beare a childe which am now old?

14 (Shall any thing be ^j hard to the Lord? at the time appointed will I return unto thee, ^k even according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a sonne.)

15 But Sarah denyed, saying, I laughed not: for she was afraid. And he said, ^k It is not so: for thou laughedst.

16 ¶ Afterward the men did rise up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them to bring them on the way.

17 And the ^h Lord said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do, 18 Seeing that Abraham shall be indeed a great and mighty nation, and ⁱ all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him?

19 For I know him ^j that he will command his sons and his household after him, that they keep the way of the Lord to do righteousness and judgement, that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that he hath spoken unto him.

20 Then the Lord said, Because the cry of Sodom and Gomorah is great, and because their sinne is exceeding grievous, 21 I will ^k go down now, and see whether they have done altogether according to that cry which is come unto me: and if not, that I may know.

22 And the men turned thence and went toward Sodom: but Abraham stood yet before the Lord.

23 Then Abraham drew neare, and said, Wilt thou also destroy the righteous with the wicked?

24 If there be fifty righteous within the citie, wilt thou destroy and not spare the place for the fiftie righteous that are therein?

25 Be it farre from thee from doing this thing, to slay the righteous with the wicked: and that the righteous should bee even as the wicked, be it farre from thee: shall not the Judge of all the world ^l doe right?

26 And the Lord answered, If I shall finde in Sodom ^m fiftie righteous within the citie, then will I spare all the place for their sakes.

27 Then Abraham answered and said, Behold now, I have begun to speak unto my Lord, and I am ⁿ but dust and ashes, 28 If there shall lack five of fifty righteous, wilt thou destroy all the city for five? And he said, If I finde there five and fourty, I will not destroy it.

29 And he yet spake to him again, and said, What if there shall be found forty there? Then he answered, I will not do it for forties sake.

30 Again he said, Let not my Lord now be angry, that I speake, What if thirty be found there? Then he said, I will not do it, if I finde thirtie there.

31 Moreover he said, Behold, now I have begun to speak unto my Lord, What if twenty be found there? And he answered, I will not destroy it for twenties sake.

32 Then he said, Let not my Lord be now angry, and I will speak but this ^o once, What if ten be found there? And he answered, I will not destroy it for tens sake.

33 ¶ And the Lord went his way, when he had left communing with Abraham, and Abraham returned unto his place.

3 Then^b he pressed upon them earnestly, and they turned in to him, and came to his house, and he made them a feast, and did bake unleavened bread, and they did^c eat.

4 But before they went to bed, the men of the citie, even the men of Sodom compassed the house round about from the young even to the old,^d all the people from all quarters.

5 Who crying unto Lot, said to him, Where are the men, which came to thee this night? bring them out unto us that we may know them.

6 Then Lot went out at the doore unto them, and shut the doore after him,

7 And said, I pray you, my brethren, do not^e so wickedly.

8 Behold now, I have two^f daughters, which have not known man: them will I bring out now unto you, and do to them as seemeth you good: onely unto these men do nothing: ^g for therefore are they come under the shadow of my roof.

9 Then they said, Away hence: and they said, He is come alone as a stranger, and shall he judge and rule? we will now deale worse with thee then with them. So they pressed sore upon Lot^h himself, and came to break the doore.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut to the doore.

11 Then they smote the men that were at the doore of the house with blindnesse, both small and great, so that they were weary in [†] seeking the doore.

12 ¶ Then the men said unto Lot, Whom hast thou yet here? either sonne in law, or thy sonnes, or thy daughters, or whatsoever thou hast in the citie, bring it out of this place.

13 Forⁱ we will destroy this place, because the^j cry of them is great before the Lord, & the Lord hath sent us to destroy it.

14 Then Lot went out and spake unto his sonnes in law, which [‡] married his daughters, and said, Arise, get you out of this place: for the Lord will destroy the citie: but he seemed to his sonnes in law, as though he had mocked.

15 ¶ And when the morning arose, the Angels hastened Lot, saying, Arise, take thy wife and thy two daughters [†] which are here, lest thou be destroyed in the punishment of the citie.

16 And^k he^h prolonged the time, * the men caught both him and his wife, and his two daughters by the hands (the Lord being mercifull unto him) and they brought him forth, and set him without the city.

17 ¶ And when they had brought them out, the Angel said, Escape for thy life: ^l look not behinde thee, neither tarie thou in all the plain: escape into the mountain, lest thou be destroyed.

18 And Lot said unto them, not so, I pray thee, my Lord.

19 Behold now, thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercie, which thou hast shewed unto me in saving my life: and I cannot escape in the mountain, lest some evill take me, and I die.

20 See now this citie here by to flee unto, which is a little one: Oh let me escape thither: is it not a^k little one, and my soul shall live?

21 Then he said unto him, Behold, [†] I have received [†] thy request also concerning this thing, that I will not overthrow this citie, for the which thou hast spoken.

22 Hasten thee, save thee there: for I can doe^l nothing till thou be come thither. Therefore the name of the citie was called^m Zoar.

23 ¶ The Sunne did rise upon the earth, when Lot entred into Zoar.

24 Then the Lordⁿ rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorah brimstone, and fire from the Lord out of heaven, 25 And overthrew those cities, and all the plaine, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that that grew upon the earth.

26 ¶ Now his wife behind him looked back, and she became aⁿ pillar of salt.

27 ¶ And Abraham rising up early in the morning, went to the place where he had stood before the Lord.

28 And looking toward Sodom and Gomorah, and toward all the land of the plain, behold, he saw the smoke of the land mounting up as the smoke of a furnace.

29 ¶ But yet when God destroyed the cities of the plain, God thought upon Abraham, and sent Lot out from the middes of the destruction, when he overthrew the cities, wherein Lot dwelled.

30 ¶ And Lot went up from Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain with his two daughters: for he^o feared to tarie in Zoar, but dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters.

CHAP. XX.

1 Abraham dwelleth as a stranger in the land of Gerar. 2 Abimelech taketh away his wife. 3 God reproveth the King. 4 And the king Abraham. 5 Sarah is restored with great gifts. 6 Abraham prayeth, and the king and his are healed.

Afterward Abraham departed thence toward the South country, and dwelled between Cadeth and Shur, and sojourned in Gerar.

2 And Abraham said of Sarah his wife, She is my sister. Then Abimelech king of Gerar sent and took Sarah.

3 But God came to Abimelech in a dreame by night, and said to him, Behold, thou art but dead, because of the woman, which thou hast taken : for she is a mans wife.

4 (Notwithstanding Abimelech had not yet come neare her) And he said, Lord, wilt thou slay even the righteous Nation?

5 Said not he unto me, She is my sister? yea, and she her self said, He is my brother : with an upright minde, and innocent hands have I done this.

6 And God said unto him by a dreame, I know that thou diddest this even with an upright minde, and I kept thee also, that thou shouldest not sinne against me : therefore suffered I thee not to touch her.

7 Now then deliver the man his wife again : for he is a Prophet, and he shall pray for thee that thou mayest live : but if thou deliver her not again, be sure that thou shalt die the death, thou, and all that thou hast.

8 Then Abimelech rising up early in the morning, called all his servants, and told all these things unto them, and the men were fore afraid.

9 Afterward Abimelech called Abraham, and said unto him, What hast thou done unto us? and what have I offended thee, that thou hast brought on me, and on my kingdom this great sin? thou hast done things unto me that ought not to be done.

10 So Abimelech said unto Abraham, What sawest thou, that thou hast done this thing?

11 Then Abraham answered, Because I thought, Surely the feare of God is not in this place, and they will slay me for my wives sake.

12 Yet in very deed she is my sister : for she is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother, and she is my wife.

13 Now when God caused me to wander out of my fathers house, I said then to her, This is thy kindnes that thou shalt shew unto me in all places where we come. Say thou of me, He is my brother.

14 Then took Abimelech sheep and beeves, and men servants, and women servants, and gave them unto Abraham, and restored him Sarah his wife.

15 And Abimelech said, Behold, my land is before thee : dwell where it pleaseth thee.

16 Likewise to Sarah he said, Behold, I have given thy brother a thousand pieces of silver : behold, he is the vaile of thine eyes to all that are with thee, and to all others : and she was thus reprovved.

17 ¶ Then Abraham prayed unto God, and God healed Abimelech, and his wife, and his women servants : and they bare children.

18 For the Lord had shut up every wombe of the house of Abimelech, because of Sarah Abrahams wife.

8 Then the childe grew and was weansame day that Izhak was weaned.

9 ¶ And Sarah saw the sonne of Hagar the Egyptian (which she had borne unto Abraham) ^c mocking.

10 Wherefore she said unto Abraham, ^d Cast out this bond-woman & her sonne:
for the sonne of this bond-woman shall not 11 And this thing was very grievous in Abrahams sight, because of his sonne.

13 As for the sonne of the bond-woman,
I will make him ^f a nation also, because he is thy seed.

14 So Abraham arose up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottell of water, and gave it unto Hagar, putting it on her shoulder, and the childe ^g also, and ^h sent her away: who departing, wandered in the wildernesse of Beer-sheba.

15 And when the water of the bottell was spent, she cast the childe under a cer-

16 Then she went and sate her over against ⁱ him, a farre off, about a bow-shoot: for she said, I will not see the death of the child, and she sate down over against ^j him, and lift up her voice, and wept.

17 Then God ^k heard the voice of the child, and the Angel of God called to Hagar from heaven, and said unto her, What aileth thee, Hagar? feare not, for God hath heard the voice of the childe where he is.

18 Arise, take up the child, and hold him in thine hand: for I will make of him a great people.

19 And God ^l opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water: so she went and filled the bottell with water, and gave the boy

20 So God was ^m with the child, and he grew and dwelt in the wildernesse, and was 21 And he dwelt in the wildernesse of 22 ¶ And at the same time Abimelech

Abraham, saying, God ^o is with thee in all that thou doest.

23 Now therefore sweare unto me here by God, that thou wilt not ^p hurt me, nor my children, nor my childrens children:

thou shalt deale with me, and with the countrey where thou hast been a stranger, according to the kindnesse that I have shewed thee.

24 Then Abraham said, I will ^q sweare.

25 And Abraham rebuked Abimelech for a well of water, which Abimelechs servants had violently taken away.

26 And Abimelech said, ^r I know not who hath done this thing: also thou toldest me not, neither heard I ^s of it, but this day.

27 Then Abraham took sheep and beeves, and gave them unto Abimelech:
and they two made a Covenant.

28 And Abraham set seven lambes of the flock by themselves.

29 Then Abimelech said unto Abraham, What meane these seven lambes, which thou hast set by themselves?

3 Then Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his asse, and took two of his servants with him, and Izhak his son, and clove wood for the burnt offering, and rose up and went to the place, which God had told him.

4 ¶ Then the third day Abraham lift up his eyes, and saw the place a farre off, burnt offering, and laid it upon Izhak his sonne, and he took the fire in his hand, and the knife: and they went both together.

8 Then Abraham answered, My son, God will provide him a lamb for a burnt offering: so they went both together.

9 And when they came to the place which God had shewed him, Abraham builded an altar there, and couched the wood, and bound Izhak his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood.

10 And Abraham stretching forth his hand, took the knife to kill his son.

11 But the Angel of the Lord called unto him from heaven, saying, Abraham. And he answered, Here am I.

12 Then he said, Lay not thine hand upon the child, neither do any thing unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing for my sake thou hast not spared thine only son.

13 And Abraham lifting up his eyes, and looked: & behold, there was a ram behinde him caught by the horns in a bush: then Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son.

14 And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah-jireh: as it is said this day, In the mount will the Lord be seen.

15 ¶ And the Angel of the Lord cried unto Abraham from heaven the second time,

16 And said, By my self have I sworn (saith the Lord) because thou hast done this thing, and hast not spared thine only son, 17 Therefore will I surely bless thee, and will greatly multiply thy seed, as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore, and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies.

18 * And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because thou hast obeyed my voice.

19 Then turned Abraham againe unto his servants, and they rose up, and went together to Beer-sheba: And Abraham dwelt in Beer-sheba.

20 ¶ And after these things, one told Abraham, saying, Behold Milcah, she hath also borne children unto thy brother Nahor:

21 To wit, Uz his eldest son, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram.

22 And Chesed, and Hazo, and Pildash, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel.

23 And Bethuel begat Rebekah: these eight did Milcah bear to Nahor, Abrahams brother.

24 And his concubine called Reumah, she bare also Tebah, and Gahan, and Thahash, and Maachah.

2 Abraham lamenteth the death of Sarah. 4 He purchaseth a field for the buriall of the dead.

When Sarah was an hundred twenty and seven years old, (10 long lived she)

2 Then Sarah dyed in Kiriath-arba: the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan. And Abraham came to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her.

3 Then Abraham rose up from the sight of his corpse, and talked with the Hittites, saying,

4 I am a stranger and a sojourner among you: give me a possession of buriall with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.

5 Then the Hittites answered Abraham, saying unto him,

6 Hear us, my Lord: thou art a prince of God among us: in the chiefest of our sepulchres bury thy dead: none of us shall forbid thee his sepulchre, but thou mayest bury thy dead therein.

7 Then Abraham stood up, and bowed himself before the people of the land of the Hittites.

8 And he communed with them, saying, if it be your minde, that I shall bury my dead out of my sight, hear me, and intreat for me to Ephron the son of Zohar,

9 That he would give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath in the end of his field, that he would give it me for as much money as it is worth, for a possession to bury in among you.

10 ¶ (For Ephron dwelt among the Hittites) Then Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the audience of all the Hittites that were in at the gates of his citie, saying, 11 No, my Lord, heare me: the field give I thee, and the cave, that therein is, I give it thee: even in the presence of the sons of my people give I it thee, to bury thy dead.

12 Then Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land, 13 And spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the countrey, saying, Seeing thou wilt give it, I pray thee, heare me, I will give the price of the field: receive it of me, and I will bury my dead there.

14 Ephron then answered Abraham, saying unto him,

15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth foure hundred shekels of silver: what is that between me and thee? bury therefore thy dead.

16 So Abraham hearkened unto Ephron, and Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver which he had named, in the audience of the CHAPTER XXIV.

2. Abraham causeth his servant to swear to take a wife for Isaac his son.

Now Abraham was old, and stricken in years. And the Lord had blessed Abraham in all things.

2. Therefore Abraham said unto his eldest servant of his house, which had the rule over all that he had, Put now thine hand under my thigh.

3. And I will make thee swear by the Lord God of the heaven, and God of the earth, that thou shalt not take a wife unto my sonne of the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I dwell.

4. But thou shalt go unto my countrey, and to my kinred, and take a wife unto my sonne Isaac.

5. And the servant said to him, What if the woman will not come with me to this land? shall I bring thy son againe unto the land from whence thou camest?

6. To whom Abraham answered, Beware that thou bring not my sonne thither againe.

7. ¶ The Lord God of heaven, who tooke me from my fathers house, and from the land where I was borne, and that spake unto me, and that sware unto me, saying, Unto thy seed will I give this land, he shall send his Angel before thee, and thou shalt take a wife unto my sonne from thence.

8. Nevertheless, if the woman will not follow thee, then shalt thou be discharged of this mine oath: onely bring not my son thither againe.

9. Then the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master, and sware to him for this matter.

10. So the servant tooke ten camels of the camels of his master, and departed from him, and all his masters goods in his hand, and he arose, and went to Aram Naharaim, unto the city of Nahor.

11. And he made his camels to lie down without the city by a well of water, at evening, about the time that the women come out to draw water.

12. And he said, O Lord God of my master Abraham, I beseech thee, send me good speed this day, and shew mercy unto my master Abraham.

13. Lo, I stand by the well of water, while the mens daughters of this city come out to draw water.

14. Grant therefore that the maid, to whom I say, bow down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink: if she say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: may be she, that thou hast ordained for thy servant Isaac: and thereby shall I know that thou hast shewed mercy on my master.

15. ¶ And now, yer he had left speaking, behold, Rebekah came out, the daughter of Bethuel, sonne of Milcah the wife of Nahor Abrahams brother, and her pitcher upon her shoulder.

16. (And she maide was very fair to looke upon, a virgin and unknown of man) and she went down to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came up.

17. Then the servant ran to meet her, and said, Let me drink, I pray thee, a little water of thy pitcher.

18. And she said, Drink, I pray thee: and she hastned, and let down her pitcher upon her hand and gave him drink.

19. And when she had given him drink, she said, I will draw water for thy camels also, until they have drunken enough.

20. And she powred out her pitcher into the trough speedily, and ran againe unto the well to draw water, and she drew for all his camels.

21. So the man wondered at her, and held his peace, to know whether the Lord had made his journey prosperous or not.

22. And when the camels had left drinking, the man took a golden abillement of half a shekell weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten shekels weight of gold:

23. And he said, whose daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee, Is there roome in thy fathers house for us to lodge in?

24. Then she said to him, I am the daughter of Bethuel the sonne of Milcah whom she bare unto Nahor.

25. Moreover she said unto him, we have litter also and provender enough, and roome to lodge in.

therefore his name was called Jaakob. Now Iſhak was threſcore yeare old when Rebekah bare them.

27 And the Boyes grew, and Eſau was a cunning hunter, and † lived in the fields: but Jaakob was a † plain man and dwelt in tents.

28 And Iſhak loved Eſau, for † veniſon was his meat; but Rebekah loved Jaakob.

29 Now Jaakob ſod pottage, and Eſau came from the field and was weary.

30 Then Eſau ſaid to Jaakob, † Let me eat, I pray thee; of that pottage ſo red, for I am weary. Therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jaakob ſaid, Sell me even now thy birthright.

32 And Eſau ſaid, Lo, I am almoſt dead, what is then this † birthright to me?

33 Jaakob then ſaid, Swear to me even now. And he ſware to him, * and † ſold his birthright unto Jaakob.

34 Then Jaakob gave Eſau bread and pottage of Lentiles: and he did eat and drink, and roſe up, and went his way: So Eſau contemned his birthright.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 God provideth for Iſhak in the famine. 2 He reneweth his promiſe. 3 The king blaunteth him for denying his wife. 4 The Philiftims hate him for his riches. 5 Stop his wells. 6 Add drives him away. 7 God comforteth him. 8 He maketh alliance with Abimelech.

And there was a famine in the land be-ſides the firſt famine that was in the dayes of Abraham. Wherefore Iſhak went to Abimelech king of the Philiftims unto Gerar.

For the Lord appeared unto him, and ſaid, † Go not down into Egypt, but abide in the land which I ſhall ſhew unto thee.

Dwell in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bleſſe thee: for to thee; and to thy ſeed I will give all theſe * coun-treys: and I will perform the oath which I ſware unto Abraham thy father.

Alſo I will cauſe thy ſeed to multiply as the ſtarres of heaven, and will give unto thy ſeed all theſe countreys: and in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed.

Because that Abraham † obeyed my voice and kept mine † Ordinance; my Commandements, my Statutes, and my Laws.

6 ¶ So Iſhak dwelt in Gerar.

And the men of the place asked him of his wife, and he ſaid, She is my ſiſter: for he † feared to ſay, She is my wife, leſt, ſaid he, the men of the place ſhould kill me, becauſe of Rebekah: for ſhe was beautiful to the eye.

8 So after he had been there a long time, Abimelech king of the Philiftims looked out at a window, and lo, he ſaw Iſhak ſporting with Rebekah his wife.

9 Then Abimelech called Iſhak, and ſaid, Lo, ſhe is of a ſurety thy wife; and why ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? To whom Iſhak answered, Becauſe I thought ~~that~~ It may be that I ſhall die for her.

10 Then Abimelech ſaid, Why haſt thou done this unto us? one of the people had almoſt lien by thy wife, ſo ſhouldeſt thou have brought ſinne upon us.

11 Then Abimelech charged all his people, ſaying, He that toucheth this man, or his wife, ſhall die the death.

12 Afterward Iſhak ſowed in that land, and found in the ſame yeare an † hundred fold by eſtimation: and ſo the Lord bleſſed him.

13 And the man waxed mighty, and † ſtill increaſed, till he was exceeding great.

14 For he had flocks of ſheep, and herds of cattell, and a mighty houſhold: therefore the Philiftims had * envie at him.

15 Inſomuch that the Philiftims ſtopped and filled up with earth all the wells, which his fathers ſervants digged in his father Abrahams time.

16 Then Abimelech ſaid unto Iſhak, Get thee from us, for thou art mightier than we a great deale.

17 ¶ Therefore Iſhak departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

18 And Iſhak returning, digged the wells of water, which they had digged in the dayes of Abraham his father: for the Philiftims had ſtopped them after the death of Abraham, and he gave them the ſame names, which his father gave them.

19 Iſhaks ſervants then digged in the valley, and found there a well of † living water.

20 But the herdmen of Gerar did ſtrive with Iſhaks herdmen, ſaying, The water is ours: therefore called he the name of the well † Ezek, becauſe they were at ſtrife with him.

21 Afterward they digged another well, and ſtrove for that alſo, and he called the name of it † Sitnah.

22 Then he removed thence, and digged another well, for the which they ſtrove not: therefore called he the name of it † Rehoboth, and ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath now made us room, we ſhall increaſe upon the earth.

23 So he went up thence to Beer ſheba.

24 And the Lord appeared unto him the ſame night, and ſaid, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bleſſe thee, and will multiply thy ſeed for my ſervant Abrahams ſake.

25 Then he built an Altar there, and called called upon the Name of the Lord, and there spread his tent: where also Izhaks servants digged a well.

26 ¶ Then came Abimelech to him from Gerar, & Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phicol the captain of his armie.

27 To whom Izhak said, Wherefore comest thou to me, seeing ye hate me, and have put me away from you?

28 Who answered, We saw certainly that the Lord was with thee, & we thought thus. Let there be now an oath between us, even between us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee.

29 ¶ If thou shalt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, & as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and sent thee away in peace: thou now, the blessed of the Lord, do this.

30 Then he made them a feast, and they did eat and drink.

31 And they rose up betimes in the morning, and Iware one to another: then Izhak let them go, and they departed from him in peace.

32 And that same day Izhaks servants come and told him of a well, which they had digged, and said unto him, We have found water.

33 So he called it † Shebah: therefore the name of the city is called † Beersheba unto this day.

CHAPTER XXVII.

¶ Izhak getteth the blessing from Esau by his mothers counsell. 38 Esau by weeping moveth his father to pity him. 41 Esau loveth Izhak and sheweth his death. 43 Rebekah sendeth Izhak away.

¶ And when Izhak was old, and his eyes were dim (so that he could not see) he called Esau his eldest sonne, and said unto him, my sonne. And he answered him, I am here.

2 Then he said, Behold, I am now old, and know not the day of my death:

3 Wherefore now, I pray thee, take thine instruments, thy quiver and thy bow, and get thee to the field, that thou mayest † take me some venison.

4 Then make me savourie meat, such as I love, and bring it me that I may eat, and that my † soul may blesse thee, before I die.

5 (Now Rebekah heard, when Izhak spake to Esau his son) and Esau went into the field to hunt for venison, & to bring it.

6 ¶ Then Rebekah spake unto Izhak her sonne, saying, Behold, I have heard thy father talking with Esau thy brother, saying,

7 Bring me venison, and make me savourie meat, that I may eat and blesse thee before the Lord, afore my death.

8 Now therefore, my son, heare my voice in that which I command thee.

9 ¶ Get thee now to the flock, and bring me thence two good kids of the goats, that I may make pleasant meat of them for thy father, such as he loveth.

10 Then thou shalt bring it to thy father, and he shall eat, to the intent that he may blesse thee before his death.

11 But Jaakob said to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Esau my brother, is rough, and I am smooth.

12 My father may possibly feel me, and I shall seem † to him to be a † mocker: so shall I bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing.

13 But his mother said unto him, † Upon me be thy curse, my sonne: onely heare my voice, and go and bring me them.

14 So he went and fet them, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made pleasant meat, such as his father loved.

15 And Rebekah took fair clothes of her elder sonne Esau, which were in her house, & cloathed Jaakob her yonger son:

16 And she covered his hands and the smooth of his neck with the skinns of the kiddes of the goats.

17 Afterward she put the pleasant meat and bread, which she had prepared, in the hand of her sonne Jaakob.

18 ¶ And when he came to his father, he said, My father. Who answered, I am here: who art thou, my sonne?

19 And Jaakob said to his father, I am Esau thy first born, I have done as thou bade me, arise, I pray thee: sit up and eat of my venison, that thy soule may blesse me.

20 Then Izhak said unto his sonne, How hast thou found it so quickly, my sonne? who said, Because the Lord thy God brought it to mine hand.

21 Again said Izhak unto Jaakob, Come neare now, that I may feel thee, my sonne, whether thou be that my son Esau or not.

22 Then Jaakob came neare to Izhak his father, and he felt him, and said, The † voyce is Izhaks voyce, but the hands are the hands of Esau.

23 (For he knew him not, because his hands were rough as his brother Esaus hands: wherefore he blessed him.)

24 Again he said, Art thou that my son Esau? Who answered, Yea.

25 Then said he, Bring it me hither, and I will eat of my sonnes venison, that my soul may blesse thee. And he brought it to him, him, and he ate: also he brought him wine, and he dranke.

26 Afterward, his father Izhak said unto him, Come neere now, and kisse me, my sonne.

27 And he came neere and kissed him. Then he smelled the savour of his garments, and blessed him, and said, Behold, the smell of my sonne is as the smell of a field, which the Lord hath blessed.

28 * God give thee therefore of the dew of heaven, and the farnesse of the earth, and plentie of wheat and wine.

29 Let people bee thy servants, and nations bow unto thee: bee lord over thy brethren, and let thy mothers children honour thee: Cursed be he that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesteth thee.

30 ¶ And when Izhak had made an end of blessing Jaakob, and Jaakob was scarce gone out from the presence of Izhak his father, then came Esau his brother from his hunting.

31 And he also prepared favourie meat, and brought it to his father, and said unto his father, Let my father arise, and eat of his sonnes venison, that thy soul may blesse me.

32 But his father Izhak said unto him, Who art thou? And he answered, I am thy sonne, even thy first born Esau.

33 Then Izhak was stricken with a marvelous great feare; and said, Who and where is he that hunted venison, and brought it mee, and I have eaten of all before thou camest? and I have blessed him, therefore he shall be blessed.

34 When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried out with a great crie and bitter out of measure, and said unto his father, Blesse mee, even me also, my father.

35 Who answered, Thy brother came with subtiltie, and hath taken away thy blessing.

36 Then he said, Was he not justly called Jaakob? for he hath deceived me these two times: he took my birthright, and loe, now hath he taken my blessing. Also he sayd, Hast thou not reserved a blessing for me?

37 Then Izhak answered, and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I made his servants: also with wheat and wine have I furnished him, and unto thee now what shall I do, my sonne?

38 Then Esau said unto his father, Hast thou but one blessing, my father? blesse me, even me also, my father: and Esau lifted up his voyce, and wept.

39 Then Izhak his father answered, and sayd unto him, Behold, the farnesse of the earth shall be thy dwelling place, and thou shalt have of the dew of heaven from above.

40 And by thy sword shalt thou live, and shalt be thy brothers servant. But it shall come to passe, when thou shalt get the mastery, that thou shalt break his yoke from thy neck.

41 ¶ Therefore Esau hated Jaakob, because of the blessing, wherewith his father blessed him. And Esau thought in his minde,

* The dayes of mourning for my father will come shortly, then I will slay my brother Jaakob.

42 And it was told to Rebekah of the words of Esau her elder sonne, and she sent and called Jaakob her yonger sonne, and sayd unto him, Behold, thy brother Esau is comforted against thee, meaning to kill thee:

43 Now therefore my sonne, hear my voyce: arise, and flee thou to Haran to my brother Laban,

44 And tarie with him a while untill thy brothers fiercenesse be swaged, 45 And till thy brothers wrath turne away from thee, and he forget the things, which thou hast done to him: then will I send & take thee from thence: why should I be deprived of you both in one day?

46 Also Rebekah said to Izhak, I am weary of my life, for the daughters of Heth. If Jaakob take a wife of the daughters of Heth like these of the daughters of the land, what availeth it me to live?

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Izhak forbiddeth Jaakob to take a wife of the Canaanites. 2 Esau taketh a wife of the daughters of Ishmael against his fathers will. 12 Jaakob in the way to Haran seeth a ladder reaching to heaven. 14 Christ is promised. 20 Jaakob asketh of God only meat and clothing.

Then Izhak called Jaakob and blessed him, and charged him, and said unto him, Take not a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

2 Arise, get thee to Padan Aram to the house of Bethuel thy mothers father, and thence take thee a wife of the daughters of Laban thy mothers brother.

3 And God shall suffice thee, & make thee to increase, and multiply thee, that thou mayest be a multitude of people,

4 And give thee the blessing of Abraham, even to thee, & to thy seed with thee, that thou mayest inherit the land (wherein thou art a stranger,) which God gave unto Abraham.

5 Thus Izhak sent forth Jaakob, and he went to Padan-Aram unto Laban sonne of Bethuel the Aramite, brother to Rebekah, Jaakobs and Esaus mother.

6 ¶ When Esau saw that Izhak had blessed Jaakob, & sent him to Padan Aram, to get him a wife thence, & given him a charge when he blessed him, laying, Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan,

 23 Leah brought to his bed in stead of Rahel. 27 He serveth seven yeares more for Rahel. 32 Leah conceiveth and beareth foure sonnes.

Then Jaakob^a lift up his feet and came into the [†] East countrey.

2 And as hee looked about, behold, there was a Well in the field,^b and loe, three flocks of sheep lay thereby (for at that Well were the flocks watered) and there was a great stone upon the Wells mounth.

3 And thither were all the flocks gathered, and they rolled the stone from the Wells mouth, and watered the sheep, and put the stone againe upon the Wells mouth in his place.

4 And Jaakob said unto them, my ^c brethren, whence be ye? And they answered, We are of Haran.

5 Then he said unto them, Know yee Laban the sonne of Nahor? Who said, We know him.

6 Again hee said unto them,^d Is hee in good health? And they answered, He is in good health, and behold, his daughter Rahel commeth with the sheep.

7 Then he said, Loe, it is yet high day, neither is it time that the cattell should bee gathered together: water yee the sheep, and goe feed them.

8 But they said, We may not untill all the flocks bee brought together, and still men roll the stone from the wells mouth, that we may water the sheep.

9 ¶ While hee talked with them, Rahel also came with her fathers sheep, for shee kept them.

10 And assoone as Laakob saw Rahel the daughter of Laban his mothers brother, and the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother, then came Jaakob neere, and rolled the stone from the wells mouth, and watered the flock of Laban his mothers brother.

11 And Jaakob kissed Rahel, and lift up his voice, and wept.

12 (For Jaakob told Rahel, that hee was her fathers [†] brother, and that he was Rebekahs sonne) then shee ranne and told her father.

13 And when Laban heard tell of Jaakob his sisters sonne, hee ranne to meet him, and embraced him, and kissed him, and brought him to his house: and hee told Laban ^e all these things.

14 To whom Laban said, Well, thou art my ^f bone and my flesh: and he abode with him the space of a moneth.

15 ¶ For Laban said unto Jaakob, Though thou bee my brother, shouldest thou therefore serve me for nought? tell mee, what shall bee thy wages?

16 Now

7 And that Jaakob had obeyed his father and his mother, and was gone to Padan Aram:

8 Also Esau seeing that the daughters of Canaan displeased Izhak his father, 9 Then went Esau to Ishmael, and tooke [‡] unto the wives which he had, Mahalath the daughter of [†] Ishmael Abrahams sonne, the sister of Nabaioth, to be his wife.

10 ¶ Now Jaakob departed from Beer-sheba, and went to Haran, 11 And he came unto a certaine place, and taried there all night, because the Sunne was downe, and tooke of the stones of the place, and layd under his head, and slept in the same place.

12 Then hee dreamed, and behold, there stood a ^d ladder upon the earth, and the top of it reached up to heaven: and loe, the Angels of God went up and down by it.

13 ^e And behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Izhak: the land, upon the which thou sleepest, ^f will I give thee and thy feed.

14 And thy feed shall be as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt spread abroad to the [†] West, and to the East, and to the North, and to the South, and in thee and in thy feed shall all the [†] families of the earth be blessed.

15 And loe, I am with thee, and will keepe thee whithersoever thou goest, and will bring thee againe into this land: for I will not forsake thee untill I have performed that, that I have promised thee.

16 ¶ Then Jaakob awoke out of his sleepe, and said, Surely the Lord is in this place, and I was not aware.

17 And he was ^f afraid, and said, How fearefull is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

18 Then Jaakob rose up early in the morning, and tooke the stone that hee had layd under his head, and [†] set it up as [†] a pillar, and powred oyle upon the top of it.

19 And hee called the name of that place [†] Beth-el: notwithstanding the name of the citie was at the first called Luz.

20 Then Jaakob vowed a vow, saying, If [†] God will be with me, and will keep me in this journey which I goe, and will give me bread to eat, and clothes to put on:

21 So that I come againe unto my fathers house in safety, then shall the Lord be my God.

22 And this stone, which I have set up as a pillar, shall bee Gods house: and of all that thou shalt give me, will I give the tenth unto thee.

19 Then Laban answered, It is better that I give her thee, then that I should give her to another man: abide with me.

Meaning, after that the yeares were accomplished.

20 And Jaakob served seven yeares for Rahel, and they seemed unto him but a few dayes, because he loved her.

21 ¶ Then Jaakob said to Laban, Give me my wife, that I may goe in to her: for my † terme is ended.

22 Wherefore Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feast.

h The cause why Jaakob was deceived, was, that in old time the wife was covered with a vaille, when shee was brought to her husband, in signe of chastitie and shamefastnes.

23 But ^h when the evening was come, he tooke Leah his daughter, and brought her to him, and he went in unto her.

24 And Laban gave his maid Zilpah to his daughter Leah, to be her servant.

25 But when the morning was come, behold, it was Leah. Then said he to Laban, Wherefore hast thou done thus to me? did not I serve thee for Rahel? wherefore then hast thou beguiled me?

26 And Laban answered, It is not the manner of this place, to give the yonger before the elder.

i Hee esteemed more the profit that he had of Jaakobs service, then either his promise, or the manner of the country, though he alleaged custome for his excuse.

27 Fulfill seven yeares for her, and we wil also give thee this, for the service which thou shalt serve me yet seven yeares more.

28 Then Jaakob did so, and fulfilled her seven yeares, so he gave him Rahel his daughter to be his wife.

29 Laban also gave to Rahel his daughter, Bilhah his maid to be her servant.

30 So entred he in to Rahel also, and loved also Rahel more then Leah, and served him yet seven yeares more.

And when Rahel saw that she bare Jaakob no children, Rahel envied her sister, and said unto Jaakob, Give me children, or else I die.

2 Then Jaakobs anger was kindled against Rahel, and he said, Am I in ^a Gods stead, which hath withholden from thee the fruit of the wombe?

a It is onely God that maketh barren and fruitfull, and therefore I am not in fault.

3 And she said, Behold my maid Bilhah, go in to her, and she shall beare upon my ^b knees, and † I shall have children also by her.

† Ebr. I shall be builded.

5 So Bilhah conceived, and bare Jaakob a sonne.

6 Then said Rahel, God hath given sentence on my side, and hath also heard my voice, and hath given me a son: therefore called she his name, Dan.

7 And Bilhah Rahels maid conceived againe, and bare Jaakob the second sonne.

8 Then Rahel said, With † ^c excellent wrestlings have I wrestled with my sister, and have gotten the upper hand: and shee called his name, Naphtali.

c The arrogancie of mans nature appeareth, in that shee contemneth her sister after shee hath received this benefit of God: to beare children.

9 And when Leah saw that shee shad left bearing, shee tooke Zilpah her maid, and gave her Jaakob to wife.

10 And Zilpah Leahs mild bare Jaakob a sonne.

11 Then said Leah, ^d A company cometh: and she called his name, Gad.

d That is, God doeth increase me with a multitude of children, for so Jaakob doeth expound this name Gad, Chap. 49. 19.

12 Againe Zilpah Leahs maid bare Jaakob another sonne.

13 Then said Leah, Ah blessed am I, for the daughters will blesse me, and shee called his name, Asher.

14 ¶ Now Reuben went in the dayes of the wheat harvest, and found ^e mandrakes in the field, and brought them unto his mother Leah. Then said Rahel to Leah, Give me, I pray thee, of thy sonnes mandrakes.

e Which is a kind of herbe whose root hath a certain likenesse of the figure of a man.

15 But she answered her, Is it a smal matter for thee to take mine husband, except thou take my sonnes mandrakes also? Then said Rahel, Therefore he shall sleep with thee this night for thy sonnes mandrakes.

16 And Jaakob came from the field in the evening, and Leah went out to meet him, and said, Come in to mee, for I have † bought and paid for thee with my sonnes mandrakes: and he slept with her that night.

17 And God heard Leah, and she conceived, & bare unto Jaakob the fift sonne.

18 Then said Leah, God hath given me my reward, because I gave my maid to my husband, and she called his name Issachar.

19 After Leah conceived againe, and bare Jaakob the sixt sonne.

20 Then Leah said, God hath endued me with a good dowrie: now wil mine husband dwell with me, because I have born him six sons: and she called his name Zebulun.

21 After that, she bare a daughter, and shee called her name Dinah.

22 ¶ And God remembred Rahel, and God heard her, and opened her wombe.

23 So shee conceived and bare a sonne, & said, God hath taken away my rebuke.

24 And she called his name Joseph, saying, The Lord will give me yet another sonne.

25 ¶ And as soone as Rahel had born Joseph, Jaakob said to Laban, Send me away that I may goe unto my place and to my country.

26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served thee, and let me goe: for thou knowest what service I have done thee.

27 To whom Laban answered, If I have now found favour in thy sight, tarie: I have perceived that the Lord hath blessed me for thy sake.

28 Also he said, Appoint unto me thy wages, and I will give it thee.

29 But he sayd unto him, Thou knowest, what service I have done thee, and in what taking thy cattell hath beene under me.

30 For the little that thou haddest before I came, is increased into a multitude: and the Lord hath blessed thee by my comming: but now when shall I travell for mine owne house also?

31 Then he said, What shall I give thee? And Jaakob answered, Thou shalt give me nothing at all: If thou wilt doe this thing for me, I will returne, feed, and keepe thy sheep.

32 I will passe through all thy flocks this day, and separate from them all the sheep with little spots and great spots, and all blacke lambes among the sheep, and the great spotted, and little spotted among the goats: and it shall be my wages.

33 So shall my righteousness answer for me hereafter, when it shall come for my reward before thy face, and every one that hath not little or great spots among the goats, and black among the sheep, the same shall be theft with me.

34 Then Laban said, Goe to, would God it might be according to thy saying.

35 Therefore he tooke out the same day the hee goats that were particoloured and with great spots, and all the she goats with little and great spots, and all that had white in them, and all the black among the sheep, and put them in the keeping of his sonnes.

36 And he set three dayes journey between himselfe and Jaakob. And Jaakob kept the rest of Labans sheep.

37 ¶ Then Jaakob tooke rods of greene poplar, and of hazell, and of the chefnut tree, and pilled white strakes in them, and made the white appeare in the rods.

38 Then hee put the rods which he had pilled, in the gutters and watering troughs, when the sheep came to drinke, before the sheep: (for they were in heat, when they came to drinke)

39 And the sheep were in heat before the rods, and afterward brought forth yong of partie colour, and with small and great spots.

40 And Jaakob parted these lambes, and turned the faces of the flock toward these lambes particoloured & all maner of black, among the sheepe of Laban: so he put his owne flocks by themselves, and put them not with Labans flock.

41 And in every ramming time of the stronger sheep, Jaakob laid the rods before the eyes of the sheep in the gutters, that they might conceive before the rods.

42 But when the sheep were feeble, he put them not in: and so the feeble were Labans, and the stronger Jaakobs.

43 So the man increased exceedingly, and had many flocks, and maid servants, and men servants, and camels, and asses.

C H A P. XXXI.

1 Labans children murmure against Jaakob. 3 God commandeth him to returne to his country. 13. 24 The care of God for Jaakob. 19 Rahel stealeth her fathers idoles. 23 Laban followeth Jaakob. 44 The covenant betwene Laban and Jaakob.

NOW he heard the words of Labans sons, saying, Jaakob hath taken away all that was our fathers, and of our fathers goods hath he gotten all this honour.

2 Also Jaakob beheld the countenance of Laban, that it was not towards him as in times past:

3 And the Lord had said unto Jaakob, Turne againe into the land of thy fathers, and to thy kinred, and I will be with thee.

4 Therefore Jaakob sent and called Rahel and Leah to the field unto his flock.

5 Then said he unto them, I see your fathers countenance, that it is not towards me as it was wont, and the God of my fathers hath been with me.

6 And ye know that I have served your father with all my might.

7 But your father hath deceived mee, and changed my wages ten times: but God suffered him not to hurt me.

† Or, red, or brown

1 Jaakob herein used no deceit, for it was Gods commandment as he declareth in the nex chap. vers. 9. and 11.

m As they which tooke the ram about September, and brought forth about March: so the feeble rook the ram in March, and lambed in September.

† Ebr. as yesterday, and before yesterday. b The God whom my fathers worshipped.

† Or, many times.

f In stead of acknowledging her fault, she boasteth as if God had rewarded her therefore.

† Or, made her fruitful.

g Because fruitfulness came of Gods blessing, who said, Increase and multiply: barrenness was counted as a curse.

† Or, tried by experience.

† Or, with me.

h The order of nature requireth that every one provide for his owne familie.

† Or, separate them.

† Or, red.

i That which shall hereafter be thus spotted. k God shall testify for my righteousness dealing by rewarding my labours.

† Or, Laban.

8 If he thus said, The spotted shall be thy wages, then all the sheep bare spotted: and if hee said thus, The party-coloured shall be thy reward, then bare all the sheep party-coloured.

c This declareth that the thing, which Jaakob did before, was by Gods commandment, and not through deceit. † Or, castell.

9 Thus hath God taken away your fathers substance, and given it mee.

10 ¶ For in ramming time I lifted up mine eyes and saw in a dream, and behold, the He goats leaped upon the she goats, that were party-coloured, with little and great spots spotted.

11 And the Angel of God said to mee in a dreame, Jaakob. And I answered, Loe, I am here.

12 And he said, Lift up now thine eyes, and see all the He goats leaping upon the she goats that are party-coloured, spotted with little and great spots: for I have seene all that Laban doth unto thee.

d This Angel was Christ which appeared to Jaakob in Bethel: and hereby appeareth he had taught his wives the feare of God: for he talketh as though they knew this thing. † Chap. 28. 18.

13 I am the God of Beth-el where thou anointedst the pillar, where thou vowedst a vow unto mee. Now arise, get thee out of this country, and returne unto the land where thou wast borne.

14 Then answered Rahel and Leah, and said unto him, Have we any more portion and inheritance in our fathers house?

e For they were given to Jaakob in recompense of his service, which was a kind of sale.

15 Doth not he count us as strangers? for he hath sold us, and hath eaten up and consumed our money.

16 Therefore all the riches which God hath taken from our father, is ours and our childrens: now then whatsoever God hath said unto thee, doe it.

17 ¶ Then Jaakob rose up, and set his sons and his wives upon cammels.

18 And he caried away all his flocks, and all his substance which he had gotten, to wit, his riches which hee had gotten in Padan Aram, to goe to Izhak his father unto the land of Canaan.

19 When Laban was gone to shear his sheep, then Rahel stole her fathers idoles.

f For so the word here signifieth, because Laban calleth them gods, verse 30. † Or, went away privily from Laban.

20 Thus Jaakob stole away the heart of Laban the Aramite: for he told him not that he fled.

† Or, Enphurater.

21 So fled he with all that he had, and he rose up, and passed the river, and set his face toward mount Gilead.

22 And the third day after was it told Laban, that Jaakob fled.

† Or, kindred and friends.

23 Then he tooke his brethren with him, & followed after him seven days journey, and overtook him at mount Gilead.

† Or, soyned with him.

24 And God came to Laban the Aramite in a dreame by night, and said unto him, Take heed that thou speake not to Jaakob: I ought save good.

25 ¶ Then Laban overtook Jaakob, and Jaakob had pitched his tent in the mount: and Laban also, with his brethren pitched upon mount Gilead.

26 Then Laban said to Jaakob, What hast thou done? † thou hast even rollen away mine heart, and caried away my daughters, as though they had been taken captives with the sword.

27 Wherefore diddest thou flee so secretly and steale away from mee, and didst not tell mee, that I might have sent thee forth with mirth and with songs, with timbrell and with harpe?

28 But thou hast not suffered mee to kisse my sons and my daughters: now thou hast done foolishly in doing so.

29 I am able to do you evil: but the God of your father spake unto mee yester night, saying, Take heed that thou speake not to Jaakob: ought save good.

† Ebr. power is in mine hand. g He was an idolater, and therefore would not acknowledge the God of Jaakob for his God.

30 Now though thou wentest thy way, because thou greatly longest after thy fathers house, yet wherefore hast thou stolne my gods?

31 Then Jaakob answered, and said to Laban, Because I was afraid, and thought that thou wouldest have taken thy daughters from mee.

32 But with whom thou findest thy gods, † let him not live. Search thou before our brethren what I have of thine and take it to thee, (but Jaakob wist not that Rahel had stolen them)

33 Then came Laban into Jaakobs tent, and into Leahs tent, and into the two maids tents, but found them not. So he went out of Leahs tent, and entred into Rahels tent.

34 (Now Rahel had taken the idoles, and put them in the camels litter, and sate downe upon them) and Laban searched all the tent, but found them not.

35 Then said shee to her father, † My lord, be not angry that I cannot rise up before thee: for the custome of women is upon mee, so he searched, but found not the idoles.

† Ebr. let not anger be in the eyes of my lord.

36 ¶ Then Jaakob was wroth and chode with Laban: Jaakob also answered, and said to Laban, What have I trespassed? what have I offended, that thou hast pursued after mee?

37 Seeing thou hast searched all my stuffe, what hast thou found of all thine household stuffe? put it here before my brethren, and thy brethren, that they may judge betweene us both.

38 This twenty yeare I have beene with thee: thine ewes and thy goats have not cast their yong, and the rammes of thy flock have I not eaten.

† Or, have I eaten.

39 Whatsoever was torne of beasts, I brought it not unto thee, but made it good my selfe: of mine hand diddest thou require it, were it stolen by day, or stolen by night.

CHAP. XXXII.

40 I was in the day consumed with heat, and with frost in the night, and my [†] sleepe departed from mine eyes.

[†] Or, I slept not.

41 Thus have I bene twenty years in thine house, and served thee fourtene years for thy two daughters, and six years for thy sheepe, and thou hast changed my wages ten times.

^h That is, the God whom Izhak did feare, and reverence.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the ^h feare of Izhak had bin with mee, surely thou haddest sent me away now empty: but God beheld my tribulation, and the labour of mine hands, and rebuked thee yesternight.

43 Then Laban answered, and said unto Jaakob, These daughters are my daughters, and these sons are my sons, and these sheepe are my sheepe, and all that thou seest, is mine: and what can I doe this day unto these my daughters, or to their sons, which they have borne?

ⁱ His conscience reproved him of his misbehaviour toward Jaakob, and therefore moved him to seeke peate.

44 Now therefore ⁱ come and let us make a covenant, I and thou, which may bee a witness betweene mee and thee.

45 Then tooke Jaakob a stone, and set it up as a pillar.

46 And Jaakob said unto his brethren, Gather stones: who brought stones, and made an heape, and they did eate there upon the heape.

[†] Or, the heape of witness.
^k The one nameth the place in the Syrian tongue, and the other in the Ebrew tongue.
[†] Or, watchtower.

47 And Laban called it [†] Jegar-sahadutha, and Jaakob called it [†] Galeed.

48 For Laban said, This heape is witness betweene me and thee this day: therefore he called the name of it Galeed.

49 Also he called it [†] Mizpah, because he said, The Lord ^l looke betweene mee and thee, when we shall be [†] departed one from another.

^m Nature compelleth him to condemn that vice, whereunto through covetousnesse hee forced Jaakob.

50 If thou shalt vex me my daughters, or shalt take ^m wives beside my daughters: there is no man with us, behold, God is witness betweene mee and thee.

51 Moreover Laban said to Jaakob, Behold this heape, and behold the pillar which I have set up between me and thee;

52 This heape shall be witness, and the pillar shall be witness, that I will not come over this heap to thee, and that thou shalt not passe over this heap and this pillar unto mee for evill.

ⁿ Behold, how the idolaters mingle the true God with their feined gods.
^o Meaning by the true God whom Izhak worshipped.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of ⁿ Nahor, and the God of their father be judge betweene us: But Jaakob sware by the ^o feare of his father Izhak.

54 Then Jaakob did offer a sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat [†] bread, and they did eate bread, and taried all night in the mount.

^p Wee see that there is ever some seed of the knowledge of God in the hearts of the wicked.

55 And early in the morning Laban rose up and kissed his sons and his daughters, and ^p blessed them, and Laban departing, went unto his place againe.

^j God comforteth Jaakob by his Angels. 9. 10 He prayeth unto God confessing his unworthinesse. 13 He sendeth presents unto Esau. 24. 28. He wrestleth with the Angel, who nameth him Israel.

NOW Jaakob went forth on his journey, and the ^{*} Angels of God met him.

^{*} Chap. 48. 16.

2 And when Jaakob saw them, hee said, ^{*} This is Gods host, and called the name of the same place [†] Mahanaim.

^a Hee acknowledged Gods benefits: who for the preservation of his, sendeth hosts of Angels.
[†] Or, tents.

3 Then Jaakob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, unto the land of Seir into the countrey of Edom:

4 To whom he gave commandment, saying, Thus shall yee speake to my ^b lord Esau: thy servant Jaakob saith thus, I have bene a stranger with Laban, and taried unto this time.

^b He revered his brother in worldly things, because he chiefly looked to bee preferred to the spiritual promise.

5 I have beeves also and asses, sheepe, and men servants, and women servants, and have sent to shew my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight.

6 ¶ So the messengers came againe to Jaakob, saying, We came unto thy brother Esau, and he also commeth against thee, and foure hundred men with him.

7 Then Jaakob was ^c greatly afraid, and was fore troubled, and divided the people that was with him, and the sheep, and the beeves, and the camels into two companies;

8 For he said, If Esau come to the one company and smite it, the other company shall escape.

9 Moreover Jaakob said, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Izhak: Lord which ^{*} saidst unto mee, Returne unto thy country, and to thy kinred, and I will doe thee good,

^{*} Chap. 31. 13.

10 I am not [†] worthy of the least of all the mercies, and all the truth, which thou hast shewed unto thy servant: for with my ^d staffe came I over this Jorden, and now have I gotten two bands.

[†] Ebr. I am less than all thy mercies.

11 I pray thee, deliver mee from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau: for I feare him, lest he will come and smite mee, and the ^e mother upon the children.

^d That is poore, and without all provision.

12 For thou saidst, I will surely do thee good, and make thy seed as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbred for multitude.

^e Meaning, he will put all to death: this proverb commeth of them which kill the bird together with her young ones.

13 ¶ And he taried there the same night, and tooke of that which came to hand, a ^f present for Esau his brother:

^f Not distrustful Gods assistance, but using such means as God had given him.

14 Two hundred she goats and twenty he goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rammes:

15 Thirty milch camels with their colts, forty kine, and ten bullocks, twenty shee asses, and ten foales.

16 So he delivered them into the hand of his servants: every drove by themselves, and said unto his servants, Passe before mee, me, and put a space betweene drove and drove.

17 And he commanded the formost, saying, If Esau my brother meet thee, and ask thee, saying, Whose servant art thou? And whither goest thou? And whose are these before thee?

18 Then thou shalt say, They be thy servant Jaakobs: it is a present sent unto my lord Esau: and behold, hee himselfe also is behinde us.

19 So likewise commanded he the second, and the third, and all that followed the droves, saying, After this manner ye shall speake unto Esau, when ye finde him.

20 And ye shall say moreover, Beholde, thy servant Jaakob cometh after us (for he thought, I will appease his wrath with the present that goeth before mee, and afterward I will see his face: it may bee that hee will accept me.)

21 So went the present before him: but he taried that night with the company.

22 And he rose up the same night, and tooke his two wives, and his two maydes, and his eleven children, and went over the foord Jabbok.

23 And he tooke them, and sent them over the river, and sent over that he had.

24 ¶ Now when Jaakob was left himselfe alone, there wrestled a man with him unto the breaking of the day.

25 And he saw that he could not prevaile against him, therefore he touched the hollow of his thigh, and the hollow of Jaakobs thigh was loosed, as he wrestled with him.

26 And he said, Let me goe, for the morning appeareth. Who answered, I will not let thee goe, except thou blesse me.

27 Then said he unto him, What is thy name? And he said Jaakob.

28 Then said he, Thy name shall be called Jaakob no more, but Israel: because thou hast had power with God, thou shalt also prevaile with men.

29 Then Jaakob demaunded, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name. And he said, Wherefore now dost thou aske my name? and he blessed him there.

30 And Jaakob called the name of the place Peniel: for said he, I have seene God face to face, and my life is preserved.

31 And the sun rose upon him as he passed Peniel, and he halted upon his thigh.

32 Therefore the children of Israel cate not of the sinew that shranke in the hollow of the thigh, unto this day: because hee touched the sinew that shranke in he hollow of Jaakobs thigh.

CHAP XXXIII.

4 Esau and Jaakob meete and are agreed. 11 Esau receiveth his gifts. 19 Jaakob buyeth a possession. 20 and buildeth an Altar.

And as Jaakob lift up his eyes, and looked, behold, Esau came: and with him foure hundred men: and hee divided the children to Leah, and to Rahel, and to the two maydes.

2 And he put the maids, and their children formost, and Leah, and her children after, and Rahel, and Joseph hindermost.

3 So he went before them, and bowed himselfe to the ground seven times, untill he came neere to his brother.

4 Then Esau ranne to meete him, and embraced him, and fell on his necke, and kissed him, and they wept.

5 And he lift up his eyes, and saw the women; and the children, and said, Who are these with thee? And he answered, They are the children whom God of his grace hath given thy servant.

6 Then came the maydes neere, they and their children, and bowed themselves.

7 Leah also with her children came neere & made obeysance: and after Joseph and Rahel drew neere, and did reverence.

8 Then he said, What meanest thou by all this drove, which I met? Who answered, I have sent it, that I may finde favour in the sight of my lord.

9 And Esau said, I have enough, my brother: keepe that thou hast to thy selfe.

10 But Jaakob answered, Nay, I pray thee: if I have found grace now in thy sight, then receive my present at mine hand: for I have seene thy face, as though I had seene the face of God, because thou hast accepted me.

11 I pray thee, take my blessing, that is brought thee: for God hath had mercie on mee, and therefore I have all things: so he compelled him, and he took it.

12 And he said, Let us take our journey and goe, and I will goe before thee.

13 Then he answered him, My lord knoweth that the children are tender, and the ewes and kine with yong under mine hand: and if they should overdrive them one day, all the flocke would die.

14 Let now my lord goe before his servant, and I will drive softly, according to the pace of the cattell, which is before mee, and as the children be able to endure, untill I come to my lord unto Seir.

15 Then Esau said, I will leave thee some of my folke with thee. And he answered, What needeth this? let me finde grace in the sight of my lord.

16 ¶ So Esau returned, and went his way that same day unto Seir.

17 And Jaakob went forward toward Succoth, and built him an house, and made booths for his cattell: therefore hee called the name of the place Succoth.

18 ¶ Afterward Jaakob came late to CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Dinah is ravished. 2 Hamor asketh her in marriage for his son. 22 The Shechemites are circumcised at the request of Jaakobs sons, and the perfavision of Hamor. 25 The whore-dome is revenged. 28 Jaakob reproveth his sons.

Then Dinah the daughter of Leah, which she bare unto Jaakob, † went out to see the daughters of that countrey.

2 Whom when Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite, lord of that countrey saw, hee tooke her, and lay with her, and † defiled her.

3 So his heart clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jaakob: and hee loved the maid, and † spake kindly unto the maid.

4 Then said Shechem to his father Hamor, saying, † Get mee this maid to wife.

5 Now Jaakob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, and his sons were with his cattell in the field: therefore Jaakob held his peace untill they were come.)

6 ¶ Then Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jaakob to commune with him.

7 And when the sons of Jaakob were come out of the field, and heard it, it grieved the men, and they were very angry, because he had wrought † villeny in Israel, in that he had lien with Jaakobs daughter: † which thing ought not to be done.

8 And Hamor communed with them, saying, The soule of my son Shechem longeth for your daughter: give her him to wife, I pray you.

9 So make † affinity with us: give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you.

10 And yee shall dwell with us, and the land shall bee before you: dwell, and doe your busines in it, and have your possessions therein.

11 Shechem also said unto her father, and unto her brethren, † Let mee find favour in your eyes, and I will give whatsoever yee shall appoint mee.

12 † Aske of mee abundantly both dowry and gifts, and I will give as yee appoint mee, so that yee give mee the maid to wife.

13 Then the sons of Jaakob answered Shechem and Hamor his father, talking deceitfully, because hee had defiled Dinah their sister,

14 And they said unto them, † We cannot doe this thing, to give our sister to an uncircumcised man: for that were a † reproofe unto us,

15 But in this wee will consent unto you, if ye will be as we are, that every man child among you be circumcised:

16 Then will we give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to us, and wee will dwell with you, and bee one people.

17 But if yee will not hearken unto us to be circumcised, then will we take our daughter and depart.

18 Now their words pleased Hamor, and Shechem Hamors son.

19 And the yong man deferred not to doe the thing, because he loved Jaakobs daughter: he was also the † most set by of all his fathers house.

20 ¶ Then Hamor and Shechem his son went unto the † gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, saying, 21 These men are † peaceable with us: and that they may dwell in the land, and doe their affaires therein (for behold, the land hath roome enough for them) let us take their daughters to wives, and give them our daughters.

22 Onely herein will the men consent unto us for to dwell with us, and to be one people, if all the men children among us be circumcised as they are circumcised.

23 Shall not † their flocks and their substance, and all their cattell be ours? onely let us consent † herein unto them, and they will dwell with us.

24 And unto Hamor, and Shechem his son hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city: and all the men children were circumcised, † even all that went out of the gate of his city.

29 Also they caried away captive, and spoiled all their goods, and all their children, and their wives, and all that was in the houses.

1 Jaakob as Gods commandment goeth up to Beth-el, to build an altar. 2 He reformeth his household. 3 God maketh the enemies of Jaakob afraid. 4 Deborah dieth. 12 The land of Canaan is promised him. 18 Rahel dieth in labour. 22 Reuben lieth with his fathers concubine. 23 The sons of Jaakob. 29 The death of Izhak.

a God is ever at hand to succour his in their troubles.

* Chap. 28. 13.

Then^a God said to Jaakob, Arise, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there, and make there an Altar unto God, that appeared unto thee, * when thou fleddest from Esau thy brother.

2 Then said Jaakob unto his household, and to all that were with him, Put away the strange gods that are among^b you, and ^b cleanse your selves, and change your garments:

b That by this outward act they should shew their inward repentance.

3 For we will rise and goe up to Beth-el, and I wil make an Altar there unto God, which heard me in the day of my tribulation, and was with me in the way which I went.

c For therein was some signe of superstition, as in tables and Agnusa dels.

4 And they gave unto Jaakob all the strange gods, which ^c were in their hands, and all their^c earerings which were in their eares, and Jaakob hid them under an oke, which was by Shechem.

d Thus notwithstanding the inconvenience that came before, God delivered Jaakob.

5 Then they went on their journey, and the^d feare of God was upon the cities that were round about them: so that they did not follow after the sonnes of Jaakob.

6 ¶ So came Jaakob to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan: (the same is Beth-el) he and all the people that was with him.

* Chap. 28. 19.

7 And he built there an Altar, and * had called the place, The God of Beth-el, because that God appeared unto him there, when he fled from his brother.

* Or, oke of lamentation.

8 Then Deborah Rebekahs nurse died, and was buried beneath Beth-el under an oke: and he called the name of it † Allon Bachath.

9 ¶ Again^e God appeared unto Jaakob after he came out of Padan Aram, and blessed him.

* Chap. 32. 28.

10 Moreover God said unto him, Thy name is Jaakob: thy name shall be no more called Jaakob, but * Israel shall be thy name: and he called his name Israel.

* Or, Almighty.

11 Again^e God said unto him, I am God † all-sufficient: grow, and multiply: a nation & a multitude of nations shall spring out of thee, & kings shall come out of thy loynes.

12 Also I wil give the land, which I gave to Abraham and Izhak, unto thee: and unto thy seed after thee will I give that land.

13 So God^e ascended from him in the place where he had talked with him.

e As God is said to descend, when he shewed some sign of his presence: so hee is said to ascend when the vision is ended.

14 And Jaakob set up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, a pillar of stone, and powred drinke offering thereon: also he powred oile thereon.

15 And Jaakob called the name of the place where God spake with him, Beth-el.

16 ¶ Then they departed from Beth-el, and when there was^f about halfe a dayes journey of ground to come to Ephrath, Rahel travailed, and in travailing she was in perill.

f The Ebrew word signifieth as much ground as one may goe from bait to bait, which is taken for halfe a dayes journey.

17 And when she was in paines of her labour, the midwife said unto her, Feare not: for thou ^g shalt have this sonne also.

18 Then as she was about to yeeld up the ghost (for she died) she called his name Benoni, but his father called him Benjamin.

* Chap. 48. 7.

19 Thus^h died Rahel, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Beth-lehem.

g The ancient fathers used this ceremony, to testify their hope of the resurrection to come, which was not generally revealed.

20 And Jaakob set a^h pillar upon her grave: This is the pillar of Rahels grave unto this day.

21 ¶ Then Israel went forward, and pitched his tent beyond Migdal-eder:

22 Now, when Israel dwelt in that land, Reuben went, andⁱ layⁱ with Bilhah his fathers concubine, and it came to Israels eare. And Jaakob had twelve sonnes.

h This teacheth that the fathers were not chosen for their merits, but by Gods only mercies, whose election by their faith was not changed.

* Chap. 49. 4.

23 The sonnes of Leah: Reuben, Jaakobs eldest sonne, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Zebulun.

24 The sonnes of Rahel: Joseph and Benjamin.

25 And the sonnes of Bilhah Rahels maid: Dan and Napthali.

26 And the sons of Zilpah Leahs maid: Gad and Asher. These are the sonnes of Jaakob, which were borne him in Padan Aram.

27 ¶ Then Jaakob came unto Izhak his father to Mamre a city of Arbah: This is Hebron, where Abraham and Izhak were strangers.

28 And the daies of Izhak were an hundred and fourescore years.

29 And Izhak gave up the ghost and died, and was^j gathered unto his people, being olde and full of dayes: and his sonnes Esau and Jaakob buried him.

k This genealogie declareth that Esau was blessed temporally, & that his father blessing took place in worldly things, besides those wives whereof is spoken, Chap. 36. 34.

2 Esau tooke his wives of the^l daughters of Canaan: Adah the daughter of Elon an Hittite, & Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon an Hivite, 5 Also Aholibamah bare Jeush, and Jaalam, and Korah : these are the sonnes of Esau, which were borne to him in the land of Canaan.

^e Herein appeareth Gods providence, which causeth the wicked to give place to the godly, that Jaakob might enjoy Canaan according to Gods promise.

6 So Esau tooke his wives, and his sons, and his daughters, and all the soules of his house, and his flocks, and all his cattel, and all his substance, which he had gotten in the land of Canaan, and ^c went into another countrey from his brother Jaakob.

7 For their riches were so great, that they could not dwel together, and the land, wherein they were strangers, could not receive them, because of their flocks.

22 And the sons of Lotan were, Hori, and Hemam, and Lotans sister was Timna.

23 And the sonnes of Shobal were these: Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.

24 And these are the sonnes of Zibeeon, both Aiah, and Anah: this was Anah that found mules in the wildernesse, as he fedde his father Zibeeons asses.

f Who not contented with those kinds of beasts which God had created, found out the monstrous generation of mules betweene the asse and the mare.

25 And the children of Anah were these: Dishon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah.

27 The sonnes of Ezer are these: Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Akan.

28 The sonnes of Dishan are these: Uz, and Aran.

34 When Jobab also was dead, Husham of the land of Temani reigned in his stead.

35 And after the death of Husham, Hadad the sonne Bedad, which slew Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his stead, and the name of his citie was Avith.

36 When Hadad was dead, then Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his stead.

37 When Samlah was dead, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river, reigned in his stead.

h Which city is by the river Euphrates.

38 When Shaul died, Baal-hanan the sonne of Achbor reigned in his stead.

42 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mebzar,

43 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram: these be the dukes of Edom, according to their habitations in the land of their inheritance. This Esau is the father of ⁱ Edom.

C H A P. XXXVII.

2 Joseph accuseth his brethren. 5 He dreameth, and is hated of his brethren. 28 They sell him to the Ishmaelites. 34 Iacob bewaileth Joseph.

IAakob now dwelt in the land, wherein his father was a stranger, in the land of Canaan.

2 These are the generations of Jaakob: when Joseph was seventeene yeare old, he kept sheepe with his brethren, and the child was with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his fathers wives. And Joseph brought unto their father their [†]evill saying.

3 Now Israel loved Joseph more then all his sons, because he begat him in his old age, and he made him a coat of many [‡]colours.

4 So when his brethren saw that their father loved him more then all his brethren, then they hated him; and could not speake peaceably unto him.

5 ¶ And Joseph ^e dreamed a dreame, and told his brethren, who hated him so much the more.

6 For he said unto them, Heare, I pray you, this dreame which I have dreamed.

7 Behold now, wee were binding sheaves in the middes of the field, and loe, my sheafe arose, and also stood upright; and behold, your sheaves compassed round about, and did reverence to my sheafe.

8 Then his brethren said to him, What, shalt thou reigne over us, and rule us? or shalt thou have altogether dominion over us? And they ^d hated him so much the more, for his dreames, and for his words.

9 ¶ Again he dreamed another dream, and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have had one dream more, and behold, the Sun, and the Moone; and eleven starres did reverence to mee.

10 Then he told it unto his father, and to his brethren: and his father ^e rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this thy dream which thou hast dreamed? Shal I, & thy mother, and thy brethren come in deed, and fall on the ground before thee?

11 And his brethren envied him, but his father [‡] noted the saying.

12 ¶ Then his brethren went to keepe their fathers sheepe in Shechem.

13 And Israel said unto Joseph, Do not thy brethren keep in Shechem? come, and I will send thee to them.

14 And hee answered him, I am here. Then he said unto him, Go now, see whether it be well with thy brethren, and how the flocks prosper, and bring mee word againe: so he sent him from the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

15 ¶ Then a man found him, for lo, he was wandering in the field, and the man asked him, saying, What seekest thou?

16 And hee answered, I seeke my brethren: tell mee, I pray thee, where they keepe sheepe.

17 And the man said, They are departed hence: for I heard them say, Let us goe unto Dothan. Then went Joseph after his brethren, and found them in Dothan.

18 And when they saw him afarre off, even before hee came at them, they ^g conspired against him for to slay him.

19 For they said one to another, Behold, this [‡] dreamer commeth.

20 Come now therefore, and let us slay him, and cast him into some pit, and wee will say, A wicked beast hath devoured him: then we shall see, what will come of his dreames.

21 * But when Reuben heard that, hee delivered him out of their hands, and said, † Let us not kill him.

22 Also Reuben said unto them, Shed not blood, but cast him into this pit that is in the wilderness, & lay no hand upon him. Thus he said, that he might deliver him out of their hand, and restore him to his father againe.

23 ¶ Now when Joseph was come unto his brethren, they stript Joseph out of his coat, his party coloured coat that was upon him.

24 And they tooke him, and cast ^h him into a pit, and the pit was empty, without water in it.

25 Then they fate them downe to eat bread: and they lift up their eyes and looked, and behold, there came a company of Ishmeelites from Gilead, and their camels laden with spicey, & [‡] balm, & myrrhe, & were going to cary it downe into Egypt.

26 Then Judah said unto his brethren, What availeth it if wee slay our brother, though we keepe his blood secret?

27 Come, and let us sell him to the Ishmeelites, and let not our hands be upon him: for he is our brother, and our flesh: and his brethren obeyed.

28 Then the * Midianites merchant men passed by, and they drew forth, and lift Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph unto the ⁱ Ishmeelites for twenty pieces of silver: who brought Joseph into Egypt.

29 ¶ Afterward Reuben returned to the pit, and behold, Joseph was not in the pit: then he rent his clothes, 30 And returned to his brethren, and said, The child is not yonder; and I, whither shall I goe?

31 And they tooke Josephs coat, and killed a kidde of the goats, and dipped the coat in the blood.

32 So they sent that party coloured coat, ^k & they brought it unto their father, and

2 The marriages of Judah. 7. 9 The trespasses of Er and Onan, and the vengeance of God that came thereupon. 18 Judah lieth with his daughter in law Tamar. 24 Tamar is judged to be burnt for whoredoms. 29. 30 The birth of Pharez and Zarah.

a Moses describeth the genealogie of Judah, because the Messiah should come of him.

* 1 Chron. 2. 3. b Which affinity notwithstanding was condemned of God.

And at that time ^a Judah went down from his brethren, and turned in to a man called Hirah an Adullamite.

2 And Judah saw there the daughter of a man called * Shuah ^a a Canaanite: and he took her to wife, and went in unto her.

* Num. 26. 19.

3 So shee conceived and bare a sonne, and he called his name Er.

4 * And shee conceived again, and bare a sonne, and she called his name Onan.

5 Moreover she bare yet a sonne, whom she called Shelah: and Judah was at Chezib when she bare him.

* Num. 26. 19.

6 Then Judah took a wife to Er his first born sonne, whose name was Tamar.

7 * Now Er the first born of Judah was wicked in the sight of the Lord: therefore the Lord slew him.

e This order was for the preservation of the stock, that the childe begotten by the second brother, should have the name and inheritance of the first, which is in the New Testament abolished.

8 Then Judah said unto Onan, Goe in unto thy brothers wife, and doe the office of a kinsman unto her, and raise up ^e seed unto thy brother.

9 And Onan knew that the seed should not be his: therefore when he went in unto his brothers wife, hee spilled it on the ground, lest hee should give seed unto his brother.

10 And it was wicked in the eyes of the Lord, which he did: wherefore he slew him also.

d For she could not marry in any other family, so long as Judah would retain her in his.

11 Then said Judah to Tamar his daughter in law, ^d Remain a widow in thy fathers house, till Shelah my sonne grow up (for he thought thus; Lest he die as well as his brethren.) So Tamar went and dwelt in her fathers house.

† Ebr. was comforted.

12 ¶ And in proceffe of time also, the daughter of Shuah Judahs wife died. Then Judah, when he † had left mourning, went up to his sheep shearers to Timnah, hee, and his neighbour Hirah the Adullamite.

13 And it was told Tamar, saying, Behold, thy father in law goeth up to Timnah, to sheare his sheep.

14 Then shee put her widowes garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped her self, and sate down in † Pethah-Enaim, which is by the way to Timnah, because she saw that Shelah was grown, and she was not given unto him to wife.

† Or, in the doors of the fountain, or where were the ways.

15 When Judah saw her, he judged her an whore: for she had covered her face.

16 And he turned to the way towards her, and said, Come, I pray thee, let me lie with thee, (for he ^e knew not that she was his daughter in law.) And she answered, What wilt thou give me for to lie with me?

e God had wonderfully blinded him, that he could not know her by her talk.

17 Then said he, I will send thee a kid of the goats from the flock: & she said, Well, if thou wilt give me a pledge, till thou send it.

18 Then he said, What is the pledge that I shall give thee? And she answered, Thy signet, and thy † cloak, and thy staffe that is in thine hand. So he gave it her, and lay by her, and she was with childe by him.

19 Then she arose, and went, and put her vail from her, and put on her widdowes raiment.

20 Afterward Judah sent a kid of the goats by the hand of his ^f neighbour the Adullamite, for to receive his pledge from the womans hand: but he found her not.

f That his wickedness might not be known to others.

21 Then asked he the men of that place, saying, Where is the whore, that sate in Enaim by the way side? And they answered, There was no whore here.

22 He came therefore to Judah again, & said, I cannot finde her; and also the men of the place said, There was no whore there.

23 Then Judah said, Let her take it to her, lest we be † ^g shamed: behold, I sent this kid, and thou hast not found her.

† Ebr. in contempt. g He feareth man more than God.

24 ¶ Now after three moneths, one told Judah, saying, Tamar thy daughter in law hath played the whore, and lo, with playing the whore, she is great with childe. Then Judah said, Bring ye her forth, and let her be ^h burnt.

h We see that the Law which was written in mans heart, taught these that whoredoms should be punished with death: albeit no law as yet was given.

25 When she was brought forth, she sent to her father in law, saying, By the man unto whom these things pertain, am I with childe: and said also, Look, I pray thee, whose these are, the seal, and the cloke, and the staffe.

26 Then Judah knew them, and said, She is ⁱ more righteous then I: for she hath done it because I gave her not to Shelah my sonne. So he lay with her ^k no more.

i That is, she ought rather to accuse me, than I her. k For the horror of the sinne, condemned him.

27 ¶ Now, when the time was come that she should be delivered, behold, there were twinnes in her wombe.

28 And when she was in travail, the one put out his hand: and the midwife rooke and and bound a red threed about his hand, saying, This is come out first.

29 But when he ¹plucked his hand back againe, lo, his brother came out, and the midwife said, How hast ^mthou broken the breach upon thee? and his name was called * Phares.

30 And afterward came out his brother that had the red threed about his hand, and his name was called Zarah.

CHAP. XXXIX.

¹ Joseph is sold to Potiphar. ² God prospereth him. ⁷ Potiphar: wife tempteth him. ¹³ 20 He is accused and cast into prison. ²¹ God sheweth him favour.

NOW Joseph was brought down into Egypt: and Potiphar ^aan Eunuch of Pharaohs (and his chiefe steward an Egyptian) bought him at the hand of the Ishme-elites, which had brought him thither.

2 And the ^bLord was with Joseph, and he was a man that prospered, and was in the house of his master the Egyptian.

3 And his master saw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to prosper in his hand.

4 So Joseph found favour in his sight, and served him: and he made him ^cruler of his house, and put all that he had, in his hand.

5 And from that time that he had made him ruler over his house, and over all that he had, the Lord ^dblessed the Egyptians house for Josephs sake: and the blessing of the Lord was upon all that he had in the house, and in the field.

6 Therefore he left all that he had in Josephs hand, ^eand tooke account of nothing that was with him, save onely of the bread which he did eat. And Joseph was a faire person, and well favoured.

7 ¶ Now therefore after these things, his masters wife cast her eyes upon Joseph, and said, ^fLie with me.

8 But he refused, and said to his masters wife, Behold, my master knoweth not what he hath in the house with me, but hath committed all that he hath to mine hand.

9 There is no man greater in this house then I: neither hath he kept any thing from me, but onely thee, because thou art his wife: how then can I doe this great wickednesse, and so sinne against ^gGod?

10 And albeit shee spake to Joseph day by day, yet he hearkened not unto her to lie with her, or to be in her company.

11 Then on a certaine day Joseph entred into the house to doe his businesse: & there was no man of the household in the house.

12 Therefore shee caught him by his garment, saying, Sleepe with mee, but he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and gat him out.

13 Now when she saw that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled out,

14 Shee called unto the men of her house, and told them, saying, Behold, he hath brought in an Ebrew unto us ^hto mock us: who came in to me for to have slept with me: but I ^hcried with a loud voyce.

15 And when he heard that I lift up my voyce and cried, he left his garment with me, and fled away, and got him out.

16 So shee laid up his garment by her, untill her lord came home.

17 Then shee told him ⁱaccording to these words, saying, The Ebrew servant, which thou hast brought unto us, came in to mee, to mock me.

18 But as soone as I lift up my voyce and cried, he left his garment with me, and fled out.

19 Then when his master heard the words of his wife, which shee tolde him, saying, After this maner did thy servant to me, his anger was kindled.

20 And Josephs master tooke him and put him in ^jprison in the place where the Kings prisoners lay bound, and there hee was in prison.

21 ¶ But the Lord was with Joseph, and ^kshewed him mercy, and got him favour in the sight of the ^kmaster of the prison.

22 And the keeper of the prison committed to Josephs hand all the prisoners that were in the prison, and ^kwhatsoever they did there, that did he.

23 And the keeper of the prison looked unto nothing that was under his hand, seeing that the Lord was with him: for whatsoever he did, the Lord made it to prosper.

¹ The interpretation of dreames is of God. ¹² 19 Joseph expoundeth the dreames of the two prisoners. ²³ The ingratitude of the butler.

AND after these things, the butler of the king of Egypt and his baker offended their lord the king of Egypt.

2 And Pharaoh was angry against his two ^lofficers, against the chiefe butler, and against the chiefe baker.

3 Therefore he put them in ward in his chiefe stewards house, in the prison and place where ^mJoseph was bound.

4 And the chiefe steward gave Joseph charge over them, and he served them: and they continued a season in ward.

5 ¶ And they both dreamed a dreame, either of them his dreame in one night, ⁿeach one according to the interpretation of his dreame, both the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt, which were bound in the prison.

7 And he asked Pharaohs officers, that were with him in his masters ward, saying, Wherefore † looke ye so sadly to day?

† Ebr. why are your faces euill.

8 Who answered him, We have dreamed each one a dreame, and there is none to interpret the same. Then Joseph said unto them, Are not interpretations of God? tell them me now.

c Cannot God raise up such as shall interpret such things?

9 So the chiefe butler told his dreame to Joseph, and said unto him, In my dreame, behold, a vine was before me:

10 And in the vine were three branches, and as it budded, her flowre came forth: and the clusters of the grapes waxed ripe.

11 And I had Pharaohs cup in mine hand, and I took the grapes, and wrung them into Pharaohs cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaohs hand.

d He was assured by the Spirit of God, that his interpretation was true.

12 Then Joseph said unto him, This ^d is the interpretation of it: The three branches are three dayes.

13 Within three dayes shall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and restore thee unto thine † office, and thou shalt give Pharaohs cup into his hand after the old manner, when thou wast his butler.

14 But have me in remembrance with thee, when thou art in good case, and shew mercie, I pray thee, unto me, and ^e make mention of me to Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring me out of this house.

e He refused not the meane to be delivered, which he thought God had appointed.

15 For I was stollen away by theft out of the land of the Ebrewes, and heere also have I done nothing, wherfore they should put me ‡ in the dungeon.

‡ Or, in the pit.

16 And when the chiefe baker saw that the interpretation was good, he said unto Joseph, Also me thought in my dreame, that I had three ^f white baskets on mine head.

f That is, made of white twigs, or as some read, baskets full of holes.

17 And in the uppermost basket there was of all manner baken meats for Pharaoh: and the birds did eate them out of the basket upon mine head.

18 Then Joseph answered, and sayd, ^g This is the interpretation thereof: The three baskets are three dayes:

g He sheweth that the ministers of God ought not to coneele that, which God revealeth unto them

19 Within three dayes shall Pharaoh take thine head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the birds shall eate thy flesh from off thee.

20 ¶ And so the third day, which was Pharaohs ^h birth day, he made a feast unto all his servants: and he lifted up the head of the chiefe butler, and the head of the chiefe baker among his servants.

h Which was an occasion to appoint his officers, &c so to examine them that were in prison.

21 And hee restored the chiefe butler unto his butlership, who gave the cup into Pharaohs hand, 22 But he hanged the chiefe baker, as Joseph had interpreted unto them.

23 Yet the chiefe butler did not remember Joseph, but forgate him.

26 Pharaohs dreames are expounded by Joseph. 40 He is made ruler over all Egypt. 43 Josephs name is changed. 50 He hath two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim. 54 The famine beginneth throughout the world.

And † two yeares after, Pharaoh also ^a dreamed, and behold, he stood by a river;

† Ebr. at the end of two yeares of dayes. a This dreame was not so much for Pharaoh, as to be a meane to deliver Joseph, and to provide for Gods Church. ‡ Or, faire to behold. † Or, flaggy places.

2 And lo, there came out of the river seven ‡ goodly kine and fat fleshed, and they fed in a ‡ meadow:

3 And loe, seven other kine came up after them out of the river, euill favoured and leane fleshed, and stood by the other kine upon the brink of the river.

4 And the euill favoured and leane fleshed kine did eate up the seven well favoured and fat kine: so Pharaoh awoke.

5 Againe he slept, and dreamed the ^b second time: and behold, seven eares of corn grew upon one stalk, ranke and goodly.

b All these meane God useth to deliver his servant, and to bring him into favour and authoritie.

6 And lo, seven thinne eares, and blasted with the East winde, sprang up after them,

7 And the thinne eares devoured the seven ranke and full eares: Then Pharaoh awaked, and lo, it was a dreame.

8 Now when the morning came, his spirit was ^c troubled: therefore he sent and called all the toothslayers of Egypt, and all the wisemen thereof, and Pharaoh told them his dreames: but ^d none could interpret them to Pharaoh.

c This feare was ynough to teach him, that this vision was sent of God.

d The wise of the world understand not Gods secrets, but to his servants his will is revealed.

e He confesseth his fault against the king, before he speake of Joseph.

9 Then spake the chiefe butler unto Pharaoh, saying, I ^e call to minde my faults this day.

10 Pharaoh being angry with his servants, put me in ward in the chiefe stewards house, both me and the chiefe baker.

11 Then we dreamed a dreame in one night, both I, and he: we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dreame.

12 And there was with us a yong man, an Ebrew, servant unto the chiefe steward, whom when we tolde, he declared our dreames to ^{*} us, to every one he declared according to his dreame.

* Read, Chap. 40. 5.

13 And as he declared unto us, so it came to passe: for hee restored me to mine office, and hanged him.

14 ^{*} Then sent Pharaoh, and ^f called Joseph, and they brought him hastily out of prison, and he shaved him, and changed his raiment, and came to Pharaoh.

* Psal. 105. 20. f The wicked seek to the Prophets of God in their needfull, wisdom in their prosperity they abhorre.

15 Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, I have dreamed a dreame, and no man can interpret it, and I have heard say of thee, that when thou hearest a dreame, thou canst interpret it.

16 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, ^g Without me God shall † answer for the wealth of Pharaoh.

g As though he would say, If I interpret thy dreame, it cometh of God, and not of me.

17 And Pharaoh sayd unto Joseph, In my

my dreame, behold, I stood by the bank of the river :

18 And loe, there came up out of the river seven fat fleshed, and well favoured kine, and they fed in the meadow.

19 Also loe, seven other kine came up after them, poore and very † evill favoured, and leane fleshed : I never saw the like in all the land of Egypt, for evill favoured.

20 And the leane and evill favoured kine did eate up the first seven fat kine.

21 And when they † had eaten them up, it could not be knowne that they had eaten them, but they were stil as evill favoured, as they were at the beginning : so did I awake.

22 Moreover, I saw in my dreame, and behold, seven eares sprang out of one stalke, full and faire.

23 And loe, seven eares, withered, thinne, and blasted with the East winde, sprang up after them.

24 And the thinne eares devoured the seven good eares. Now I have told the soothsayers, & none can declare it unto me.

25 ¶ Then Ioseph answered Pharaoh, Both Pharaohs dreames are ^h one. God hath shewed Pharaoh what he is about to doe.

26 The seven good kine are seven yeares, and the seven good eares are seven yeares : this is one dreame.

27 Likewise the seven thinne and evil favoured kine, that came out after them, are seven yeares : and the seven empty eares blasted with the East wind, are seven yeares of famine.

28 This is the thing which I have said unto Pharaoh, that God hath shewed unto Pharaoh, what he is about to doe.

29 Behold, there come seven yeares of great † plenty in all the land of Egypt.

30 Again, there shall arise after them seven yeares of famine, so that all the plentie shall bee forgotten in the land of Egypt, and the famine shall consume the land :

31 Neither shall the plentie † be knowne in the land, by reason of this famine that shall come after : for it shall be exceeding great.

32 And therefore the dreame was doubled unto Pharaoh the second time, because the thing is established by God, and God hasteth to performe it.

33 Now therefore let Pharaoh ⁱ provide for a man of understanding and wisdom, and set him over the land of Egypt.

34 Let Pharaoh make and appoint officers over the land, and take up the fift part of the land of Egypt in the seven plentious yeares.

35 Also let them gather all the food of these good yeares that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh for food, in the cities, and let them keepe it.

36 So the food shall be for the provision of the land, against the seven yeares of famine, which shall be in the land of Egypt, that the land perish not by famine.

37 ¶ And the saying pleased Pharaoh, and all his servants.

38 Then said Pharaoh unto his servants, Can we find ^k such a man as this, in whom is the Spirit of God ?

39 Then Pharaoh said to Ioseph, For as much as God hath shewed thee all this, there is no man of understanding, or of wisdom like unto thee.

40 * Thou shalt be over mine house, and at thy † word shall all my people be armed, onely in the Kings throne, will I be above thee.

41 Moreover, Pharaoh said to Ioseph, Behold, I have set thee over all the land of Egypt.

42 And Pharaoh tooke off his † ring from his hand, & put it upon Iosephs hand, and arrayed him in garments of fine linnen, and put a golden chaine about his necke.

43 So hee set him upon the † best chariot that hee had, save one : and they cryed before him, ^m Abrech, and placed him over all the land of Egypt.

44 Again, Pharaoh said unto Ioseph, I am Pharaoh, and without thee shall no man lift up his hand or his foot in all the land of Egypt.

45 And Pharaoh called Iosephs name † Zaphnath-paaneah : and hee gave him to wife Asenath the daughter of Poti-pherah † prince of On. Then went Ioseph abroad in the land of Egypt.

46 ¶ And Ioseph was ⁿ thirtie yeare olde when he stood before Pharaoh King of Egypt : and Ioseph departing from the presence of Pharaoh, went throughout all the land of Egypt.

47 And in the seven plentious yeares the earth † brought forth store.

48 And he gathered up all the food of the seven plentious yeares, which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up food in the cities : the food of the field, that was round about every citie, laid he up in the same.

49 So Ioseph gathered wheat, like unto the sand of the Sea, in multitude out of measure, untill he left numbring : for it was without number.

50 Now unto Ioseph were borne ^o two sons (before the yeares of famine came) which Asenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prince of On bare unto him.

51 And Ioseph called the name of the first born Manasseh : for God, ^o said he, hath made me forget all my labour, and all my fathers household.

52 Also hee called the name of the se-

CHAP. XLII.

3 Josephs brethren come into Egypt to buy corn. 7 Hee knoweth them and trieth them. 24 Simeon is put in prison. 26 The other returne to their fatherto fetch Benjamin.

a This story sheweth plainly, that all things are governed by Gods providence for the profit of his Church.

b As men destitute of counsell.
* As 17. 12.

Then Jaakob saw that there was food in Egypt, and Jaakob said unto his sons, Why gaze ye one upon another?

2 And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is food in Egypt, * Get you down thither, and buy us food thence, that wee may live and not die.

3 ¶ So went Josephs ten brethren down to buy corn of the Egyptians.

4 But Benjamin Josephs brother would not Jaakob send with his brethren: for he said, Left death should befall him.

5 And the sons of Israel came to buy food among them that came: for there was famine in the land of Canaan.

6 Now Joseph was Governour of the land, who sold to all the people of the land: then Josephs brethren came, and bowed their face to the ground before him.

e This differing is not to be followed, nor any particular facts of the fathers, nor approved by Gods word.

7 And when Joseph saw his brethren, he knew them, and made himselfe strange toward them, and spak to them roughly, and said unto them, Whence come yee? Who answered, Out of the land of Canaan, to buy victuaile.

* chap. 37. 5.

8 (Now Joseph knew his brethren, but they knew not him.)

9 And Joseph remembered the dreames which he dreamed of them, and he said unto them, Ye are spies, and are come to see the weakenesse of the land.

10 But they said unto him, Nay, my lord, but to buy victuaile thy servants are come.

11 We are all one mans sons: we meane truly, and thy servants are no spies.

12 But he said unto them, Nay, but yee are come to see the weakenesse of the land

13 And they said, Wee thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan: and behold, the yongest is this day with our father, and one is not.

14 Againc Joseph said unto them, This is it that I spak unto you, saying, Ye are spies.

15 Hereby ye shall be proved: by the life of Pharaoh, ye shall not goe hence, except your yongest brother come hither.

d The Egyptians which were Idolaters, used to sweare by their kings life: but God forbiddeth to sweare, by any but him: yet Joseph dwelling among the wicked, smelleth of their corruptions.

16 Send one of you which may fetch your brother, and ye shall be kept in prison, that your words may be proved, whether there be truth in you: or else by the life of Pharaoh ye are but spies.

17 So he put them in ward three dayes.

18 Then Joseph said unto them the third day, This doe, and live: for I feare God.

e And therefore am true and just.

19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in your prison house, & go ye, carie food for the famine of your houses:

* Chap. 43. 5.

20 * But bring your yonger brother unto me, that your words may be tryed, and that ye die not: and they did so.

21 ¶ And they said one to another, We have verily sinned against our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul, when he besought us, and we would not heare him: therefore is this trouble come upon us.

f Affliction maketh men to acknowledge their faults, which otherwise they would dissemble.

22 And Reuben answered them, saying, Warned I not you, saying, * Sinne not against the childe, and yee would not heare? and lo, his blood is now required.

* Chap. 37. 21.

23 (And they were not aware that Joseph understood them: for he spak unto them by an Interpreter.)

g God will take vengeance upon us, and measure us with our own measure.

24 Then hee turned from them, and wept, and turned to them againe, & communed with them, and tooke Simeon from among them, and bound him before their eyes.

h Though he shewed himselfe rigorous, yet his brotherly affection remained.

25 ¶ So Joseph commanded that they should fill their sacks with wheat, and put every mans money againe in his sack, and give them victuaile for the journey: and thus did he unto them.

26 And they layd their victuaile upon their asses, and departed thence.

27 And as one of them opened his sack for to give his asse provender in the Inne, he espied his money: for loe, it was in his sacks mouth.

28 Then he said unto his brethren, My money is restored: for lo, it is even in my sack. And their heart failed them, and they were astonished, and said one to another, What is this, that God hath done unto us?

i Because their conscience accused them of their sinne, they thought God would have brought them to trouble by this money.

29 And they came unto Jaakob their father unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that had befallen them, saying,

30 The man, who is lord of the land, spak roughly to us, and put us in prison as spies of the country.

31 And we said unto him, We are true men, and are no spies.

32 We

33 Then the lord of the countrey said unto us, Hereby shall I know if yee be true men: Leave one of your brethren with me, and take food for the famine of your houses, and depart.

34 And bring your yongest brother unto me, that I may know that ye are no spies, but true men: so will I deliver you your brother, and yee shall occupie in the land.

35 ¶ And as they emptied their sacks, behold, every mans bundle of money was in his sack: and when they and their father saw the bundels of their money, they were afraid.

36 Then Iakob their father said to them, Ye have robbed me of my children: Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and yee will take Benjamin: all these things [†] are against ^k me.

37 Then Reuben answered his father, saying, Slay my two sonnes, if I bring him not to thee againe: deliver him to mine hand, and I will bring him to thee againe.

38 But hee said, My sonne shall not go down with you: for his brother is dead, & he is left alone: if death come unto him by the way which ye goe, then yee shall bring my gray head with sorrow unto the grave.

CHAP. XLIII.

13 Iakob suffereth Benjamin to depart with his children. 23 Simeon is delivered out of prison. 30 Joseph goeth aside and weepeth. 32 They feast together.

NOW great ^a famine was in the land. 2 And when they had eaten up the victualle, which they had brought from Egypt, their father said unto them, Turn againe, and buy us a litle food.

3 And Judah answered him, saying, The man charged us by an oath, saying, * Never see my face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt send our brother with us, we will goe down, and buy thee food.

5 But if thou wilt not send him, we will not goe down: for the man sayd unto us, * Looke me not in the face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Israel said, Wherefore dealt yee so evill with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet a brother or no?

7 And they answered, The man asked straitly [†] of our selves, and of our kinred, saying, Is your father yet alive? have ye [†] any brother? And we told him [†] according to these words: could wee know certainly that hee would say, Bring your brother down?

8 Then said Judah to Israel his father, Send the boy with mee, that we may rise and goe, and that we may live, and not die, both wee, and thou, and our children.

9 I will bee suretie for him: of mine hand shalt thou require him. * If I bring him not to thee, and set him before thee, [†] then let mee beare the blame for ever.

10 For except we had made this tarying, doubtlesse by this wee had returned the second time.

11 Then their father Israel said unto them, If it must needs be so now, doe thus: take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels, and bring the man a present, a little rosen, and a little horie, [†] spices, and myrrhe, nuts, and almonds:

12 And take ^b double money in your hand, and the money, that was brought againe in your sacks mouthes: carie it againe in your hand, lest it were some oversight.

13 Take also your brother and arise, and goe againe to the man.

14 And ^c God Almighty give you mercie in the sight of the man, that he may deliver you your other brother, and Benjamin: But I shall be ^d robbed of my child, as I have beene.

15 ¶ Thus the men tooke this present, and tooke twice so much money in their hand with Benjamin, and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said [†] to his steward, Bring these men home and kill mear, and make ready: for the men shall eate with me at noone.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade, and brought the men unto Josephs house.

18 Now when the men were brought into Josephs house, they were ^e afraid, and said, Because of the money that came in our sacks mouthes at the first time; are wee brought, that he may [†] picke a quarrell against us & [†] lay some thing to our charge, and bring us in bondage and our asses.

19 Therefore came they to Josephs steward, and communed with him at the doore of the house, 20 And said, Oh sir, * wee came in deed down hither, at the first time to buy food.

21 And as we came to an Inne, and opened our sacks, behold, every mans money was in his sacks mouth, [†] even our money in full weight, but wee have brought it againe in our hands.

22 Also other money have wee brought in our hands to buy food, but we cannot tell, who put our money in our sacks.

23 And he said, [†] Peace be unto you, feare not: ^f your God, and the God of your father hath given you that treasure in your sacks, I had your money: and he brought forth Simeon to them.

24 So the man led them into Josephs house, and gave them water to wash their feet, and gave their asses provender.

25 And they made readie their present against 15 Joseph accuseth his brethren of theft. 33 Judah offereth himselfe to be servant for Benjamin.

Afterward he commanded his steward, saying fill the mens sacks with food, as much as they can cary, and put every mans money in his sacks mouth.

3 And in the † morning the men were sent away, they, and their asses.

b Because the people thought he could divine, he attributeth to himselfe that knowledge: or else hee taimeth that he consulted with Soothsayers for it: which simulation is worthy to be reprov'd.

4 And when they went out of the city not farr off, Joseph said to his steward, Up, follow after the men: and when thou doest overtake them, say unto them, Wherefore have yee rewarded evill for good?

5 Is that not the cup, wherein my lord drinketh? b and in the which hee doeth divine and prophesie? yee have done evill in so doing.

6 ¶ And when hee overtook them, he said those words unto them.

7 And they answered him, Wherefore saith my lord such words? God forbid that thy servants should doe such a thing.

8 Behold, the money which we found in our sacks mouthes, we brought againe to thee out of the land of Canaan: how then should wee steale out of thy lords house silver or gold?

9 With whomsoever of thy servants it be found, let him die, and we also will be my lords bondmen.

10 And he said, Now then let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found shall be my servant, and yee shall be † blamelesse.

11 Then at once every man tooke down his sack to the ground, and every one opened his sack.

12 And hee searched, and began at the eldest and left at the yongest: and the cup was found in Benjamins sack.

13 Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his asse, and went againe into the citie.

c To signifie how greatly the thing displeased them, and how sorry they were for it.

14 ¶ So Judah and his brethren came to Josephs house: (for he was yet there) and they fell before him on the ground.

15 Then Joseph said unto them, What act is this, which yee have done? know yee not that such a man as I, can divine and prophesie?

16 Then said Judah, What shall wee say unto my lord? what shall we speak? and how can we justifie our selves? d God hath found out the wickednesse of thy servants: behold, we are servants to my lord, both wee and hee, with whom the cup is found.

d. If we see no evident cause of our affliction, let us looke to the secret counsell of God, who punisheth us justly for our finnes.

17 But he answered, God forbid, that I should doe so, but the man, with whom the cup is found, he shall be my servant, and goe yee in peace unto your father.

18 ¶ Then Judah drew neere unto him, and said, O my Lord, let thy servant now speak a word in my lords eares, and let not thy wrath be kindled against thy servant: for thou art even e as Pharaoh.

2 And Joseph tooke part of his brethren, even a five men, and presented them unto Pharaoh.

a That the king might be assured they were come, and see what manner of people they were.

3 Then Pharaoh said unto his brethren, What is your trade? And they answered Pharaoh, Thy servants are shepherds, both we and our fathers.

4 They said moreover unto Pharaoh, For to sojourne in the land are we come: for thy servants have no pasture for their sheep, so sore is the famine in the land of Canaan. Now therefore, we pray thee, let thy servants dwell in the land of Goshen.

5 Then spak Pharaoh to Joseph, saying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee.

12 And Joseph nourished his father, and his brethren, and all his fathers household, with bread, d even to the young children.

d Some read, that he fed them as little babes, because they could not provide for themselves against that famine.

13 ¶ Now there was no bread in all the land: for the famine was exceeding sore: so that the land of Egypt, and the land of Canaan were † famished by reason of the famine.

e Wherein he both declareth his fidelity toward the king, & his minde free from covetousnesse.

15 So when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, then all the Egyptians came unto Joseph, and said, Give us bread: for why should wee die before thee? for our money is spent.

16 Then said Joseph, Bring your cattell, and I will give you for your cattell, if your money be spent.

17 So they brought their cattell unto Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread for the horses, and for the flocks of sheep, and for the herds of cattell, and for the asses: so hee fed them with bread for all their cattell that yeare.

18 But when the yeare was ended, they came unto him the next yeare, and said unto him, Wee will not hide from my lord, that since our money is spent, and my lord hath the herds of the cattell, there is nothing left in the sight of my lord, but our bodies and our ground.

19 Why shal we perish in thy sight, both we, and our f land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be bound to Pharaoh: therefore give us seed, that we may live and not die, and that the land goe not to waste.

f For except the ground be tilled and sown, it perisheth, and is as it were dead.

20 So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh: for the Egyptians sold every man his ground, because the famine was sore upon them: so the land became Pharaohs.

21 And he s removed the people unto the cities, from one † side of Egypt even to the other.

g By this changing, they signified that they had nothing of their owne, but received all of the kings liberality.

24 And of the increase ye shall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and foure parts shall be yours for the seed of the field, and for your meat, & for them of your households, and for your children to eat.

25 Then they answered, Thou hast saved our lives: let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaohs servants.

26 Then Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh should have the fifth part, ^a except the land of the priests onely, which was not Pharaohs.

27 ¶ And Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the countrey of Goshen: and they had their possessions therein, and grew and multiplied exceedingly.

28 Moreover, Jaakob lived in the land of Egypt seventene yeares, so that the whole age of Jaakob was an hundred fourtie and seven yeares.

29 Now when the time drew neere that Israel must die, he called his sonne Joseph, and said unto him, If I have now found grace in thy sight, ^{*} put thine hand now under my thigh, and deale mercifully and truly with me, bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt.

30 But when I shall [†] sleepe with my fathers, thou shalt cary me out of Egypt, and burie mee in their buriall. And he answered, I will doe as thou hast said.

Rebekah his wife: and there I buried Leah.

32 The purchase of the field and the cave that is therein, was bought of the children of Heth.

33 Thus Jaakob made an ende of giving charge to his sons, and ^x plucked up his feet into the bed, and gave up the ghost, and was gathered to his people.

2 And Ioseph commanded his servants the ^a physicians, to embalm his father, and the physicians embalmed Israel.

b They were more excessive in lamenting, then the faithful.

3 So fortie dayes were accomplished (for so long did the dayes of them that were embalmed last) and the Egyptians bewailed him ^b seventy dayes.

4 And when the dayes of his mourning were past, Ioseph spak to the house of Pharaoh, saying, If I have now found favour in your eyes, I pray you, in the eares of Pharaoh, and say,

6 Then Pharaoh said, Go up and bury thy father, ^c as he made thee to swear.

7 ¶ So Ioseph went up to bury his father, and with him went all the servants of Pharaoh, both the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt.

8 Likewise all the house of Ioseph, and his brethren, and his fathers house: onely their children, and their sheep, and their cattel left they in the land of Goshen.

15 And when Iosephs brethren saw that their father was dead, they said, ^d It may be that Ioseph will hate us, and will pay us againe all the evil, which we did unto him.

d An evil conscience is never fully at rest.

16 Therefore they sent unto Ioseph, saying, Thy father commanded before his death, saying,

17 Thus shall ye say unto Ioseph, Forgive now, I pray thee, the trespass of thy brethren, and their sin: for they rewarded thee evill. And now we pray thee, forgive the trespass of the servants of thy fathers ^e God. And Ioseph wept when [†] they spake unto him.

26 So Ioseph died, when he was an hundred and ten yeares old: and they embalmed him, and put him in a chest in Egypt.

THE

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Jaakob by Gods commandement, Gen. 46. 3. had brought his family into Egypt, where they remained for the space of foure hundred yeares, and of seventy persons grew to an infinite number, so that the King and the countrey grudged and endeavoured both by tyranny and cruell slavery to suppress them: the Lord according to his promise, Gen. 15. 14. had compassion of his Church, and delivered them, but plagued their enemies in most strange and sundry sorts, and the more that the tyranny of the wicked enraged against his Church, the more did his heavy judgements increase against them, till Pharaoh and his army were drowned in the red Sea, which gave an entry and passage to the children of God. But as the ingratitude of man is great, so did they immediately forget Gods wonderfull benefits: and albeit he had given them the Passover to be a signe and memoriall of the same, yet they fell to distrust, and tempted God with sundry murmurings and grudgings against him and his ministers: sometime moved with ambition, sometime for lack of drinke or meate to content their lusts, sometime by idolatry, or such like. Wherefore God visited them with sharpe rods and plagues, that by his corrections they might seek to him for remedy against his scourges, and earnestly repent them for their rebellions and wickednesse. And because God loveth them to the end, whom he hath once begun to love, he punished them not according to their deserts, but dealt with them in great mercies, and ever with new benefits laboured to overcome their malice: for he still governed them, and gave them his word and Law, both concerning the manner of serving him, and also the forme of judgements and civill policy: to the intent that they should not serve God after their own inventions, but according to that order, which his heavenly wisdom had appointed.

CHAP. I.

2 The children of Jaakob that came into Egypt. 8 The new Pharaoh oppresseth them. 12 The providence of God toward them. 15 The kings commandement to the midwives. 22 The sonnes of the Ebrewes are commanded to be cast into the river.

* Gen. 46. 8.
a Moses describeth the wonderfull order that God observeth in performing his promise to Abraham. Gen. 15. 14.

Now * these are the names of the children of Israel, which came into Egypt, (every man and his household came thither with Jaakob.)

2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah,
3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin,
4 Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.
5 So all the * foules that came out of the loines of Jaakob, were * seventy fouls: Joseph was in Egypt already.

6 Now Joseph died, and all his brethren, and that whole generation.

7 ¶ And the * children of Israel † brought forth fruit, and increased in abundance, and were multiplied, and were exceeding mighty, so that the ^b land was full of them.

8 Then there rose up a new king in Egypt, who * knew not Joseph.

9 And he said unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Israel are greater and mightier then we.

10 Come, let us worke wisely with them, lest they multiplie, and it come to passe, that if there be warre, they joyne themselves also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and † get them out of the land.

11 Therefore did they set task-masters over them, to keep them under with burdens: and they built the cities Pithom and Raamses, for the † treasures of Pharaoh.

12 But the more they vexed them, the more they multiplied and grew: therefore * they were more grieved against the children of Israel.

13 Wherefore the Egyptians by cruelty caused the children of Israel to serve.

14 Thus they made them weary of their lives by sore labour in clay, and in brick, and in all worke in the field, with all manner of bondage, † which they laid upon them most cruelly.

15 ¶ Moreover the king of Egypt commanded the midwives of the Ebrew women, (of which the ones name was ^e Shi-phrah,

16 And said, * When ye doe the office of a midwife to the women of the Ebrews, and see them on their † stools, if it be a sonne, then ye shall kill him: but if it be a daughter, then let her live.

† Or, seats whereupon they sat in travail.

17 Notwithstanding the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but preserved alive the men children.

18 Then the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and said unto them, Why have ye done thus, and have preserved alive the men children?

g Their disobedience herein was lawfull, but their dissembling evil.

19 And the midwives answered Pharaoh, Because the * Ebrew women are not as the women of Egypt: for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwife come at them.

20 God therefore prospered the midwives, and the people multiplied and were very mighty.

h That is, God increased the families of the Israelites by their means.

21 And because the midwives feared God, therefore he ^h made them houses.

i When tyrants cannot prevail by craft, they burst forth into open rage.

22 Then Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, Every man-child that is born, ⁱ cast ye into the river, but reserve every maid-child alive.

CHAP. II.

2 Moses is born and cast into the flage. 3 He is taken up of Pharaohs daughter, and kept. 12 He killeth the Egyptian. 15 He fleeth and marieth a wife. 23 The Israelites cry unto the Lord.

a This Levite was called Amram, who married Jochabed, Chap. 6, 20.

Then there went a man of the house of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived and bare a sonne: and when she saw that he was faire, * she hid him three moneths.

* Num. 26, 59. 1 Chron. 23, 13. A.B. 7, 20. Heb. 11, 23.

3 But when she could no longer hide him, she tooke for him an arke made of reed, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and ^b layd the childe therein, and put it among the bulrushes by the rivers brink.

b Committing him to the providence of God, whom she could not keepe from the rage of the tyrant.

4 Now his sister stood a far off, to wit, what would come of him.

5 ¶ Then the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash her in the river, and her maidens walked by the rivers side: and when she saw the arke among the bulrushes, she sent her maid to fetch it.

6 Then she opened it, and saw it was a child: and behold, the babe wept: so she had compassion on it, and said, This is one of the Ebrews children.

7 Then said his sister unto Pharaohs daughter, Shall I go and call unto thee a nurse of the Ebrew women to nurse thee the childe?

c Mans counsell cannot hinder that which God hath determined shall come to passe.

8 And Pharaohs daughter said to her, goe. So the maide went and called the childes mother.

9 To whom Pharaohs daughter said,

Take this childe away, and nurse it for me, and I will reward thee. Then the woman took the child, and nursed him.

10 Now the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaohs daughter, and he was as her sonne, and she called his name Moses, because, said she, I drew him out of the water.

11 ¶ And in those dayes, when Moses was ^d grown, he went forth unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: also he saw an Egyptian smiting an Ebrew one of his brethren.

d That is, was forty year old, Act. 7, 23.

12 And he looked † round about, and when he saw no man, he * slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand.

† Ebr. thus and thus e Being assured that God had appointed him to deliver the Israelites, Acts 7, 25.

13 Again he came forth the second day, and behold, two Ebrews strove: and hee said unto him that did the wrong, Wherefore smitest thou thy fellow?

14 And he answered, Who made thee a man of authority, and a judge over us? Thinkest thou to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian? Then Moses ^f feared and said, Certainly this thing is known.

f Though by his feare he shewed his infirmity, yet faith covered it, Hebr. 11, 27.

15 Now Pharaoh heard this matter, and sought to slay Moses: therefore Moses fled from Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian, and he sat down by a well.

16 And the † Priest of Midian had seven daughters, which came and drew water, and filled the troughs, for to water their fathers sheep.

* Or, prime.

17 Then the shepherds came and drove them away: but Moses rose up, and † defended them, and watered their sheep.

18 And when they came to Revel their † father, he said, How are ye come so soon to day?

* Or, grand father.

19 And they said, A man of Egypt delivered us from the hand of the shepherds, and also drew us water enough, and watered the sheep.

20 Then he said unto his daughters, And where is he? why have ye so left the man? call him that he may eat bread.

21 And Moses agreed to dwell with the man: who gave unto Moses Zipporah his daughter, g Wherein he declared a thankful minde, which would recompense the benefit done unto his.

22 And she bare a sonne, * whose name he called Gershom: for he said, I have been a stranger in a strange land.

* Chap. 18, 3.

23 ¶ Then in processe of time, the King of Egypt dyed, and the children of Israel sighed for the bondage, and ^h cried, and their cry for the bondage came up unto God.

h God humbleth his by afflictions, that they should cry unto him, and receive the fruit of his promise.

24 Then God heard their moan, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob.

25 So God looked upon the children of Israel, and God ⁱ had respect unto them.

i He judged their cause: or, acknowledged them to be his.

CHAP. III.

*1 Moses keepeth sheep, and God appeareth unto him in a bush.
10 He sendeth him to deliver the children of Israel. 14 The Name of God. 16 God teacheth him what to doe.*

When Moses kept the sheep of Jethro his father in law, Priest of Midian, and drove the flock to the [†] back side of the desert, and came to the ^a mountain of God, ^b Horeb, ² Then the Angel of the Lord appeared unto him in ^a a flame of fire, out of the mids of a ^c bush: and he looked, and behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed.

³ Therefore Moses said, I will turn aside now, and see this great sight, why the bush burneth not.

⁴ And when the ^d Lord saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the mids of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses. And he answered, I am here.

⁵ Then he said, Come not hither, ^e put thy shoes off thy feet: for the place whereon thou standest is ^f holy ground.

⁶ Moreover he said, ^g I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Izhak, and the God of Jaakob. Then Moses hid his face: for he was ^h afraid to look upon God.

⁸ Therefore I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them out of that land into a good land and a large, into a land that ⁱ floweth with milke and hony, even unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

¹¹ ¶ But Moses said unto God, Who am ^l I, that I should goe unto Pharaoh, and that I should bring the children of Israel out of Egypt?

¹² And he answered, ^m Certainly I will be with thee: and this shall be a token unto thee, that I have sent thee, After that thou hast brought the people out of Egypt, ye shall serve God upon this mountain.

¹³ Then Moses said unto God, Behold, when I shall come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you: if they say unto me, What is his Name? what shall I say unto them?

¹⁴ And God answered Moses, I ⁿ AM THAT I AM. Also he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

¹⁵ And God spake further unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Izhak, and the God of Jaakob hath sent me unto you: this is my Name for ever, and this is my memoriall unto all ages.

¹⁶ Goe and gather the Elders of Israel together, and thou shalt say unto them, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob appeared unto me, and said [†] I have surely remembered you, & that which is done to you in Egypt.

¹⁷ Therefore I did say, I will bring you out of the affliction of Egypt unto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, unto a land that floweth with milke and hony.

¹⁸ Then shall they obey thy voice, and thou, and the Elders of Israel shall goe unto the king of Egypt, and say unto him, The Lord God of the Ebrews hath [‡] met with us: we pray thee now therefore, let us goe three dayes journey in the wilderness, that we may [§] sacrifice unto the Lord our God.

²⁰ Therefore wil I stretch out mine hand, and smite Egypt with all my wonders, which I will doe in the middes thereof: and after that shall he let you goe.

²² ¶ For every woman shall ask of her neighbour, and of her [‡] that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment; and yee shall put them on your sons, and on your daughters, and shall spoile the Egyptians.

Then Moses answered, and said, ^a But loe, they will not beleieve me, nor hearken unto my voyce: for they will say, The Lord hath not appeared unto thee.

² And the Lord said unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he answered, A rod.

† Or, ministerie. d That is, of the Messias: or some other that is more meet then I. e Though wee provoke God justly to anger, yet he will never reject his.

13 But he said, Oh my Lord, send, I pray thee, by the † hand of him whom thou d shouldst send.

14 Then the Lord was very angry with Moses, and said, Doe not I know Aaron thy brother the Levite, that he himself shall speak? for loe, he commeth also forth to meet thee, and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his heart.

f Thou shalt instruct him what to say.

15 Therefore thou shalt speak unto him, and f put the words in his mouth, and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye ought to do.

* Chap. 7. 1. g Meaning, as a wife counsellour and full of Gods Spirit.

16 And he shall be thy spokesman unto the people: and he shall be, even he shall be as thy mouth, and thou shalt be to him as † God.

17 Moreover thou shalt take this Rod in thine hand, wherewith thou shalt do miracles.

18 ¶ Therefore Moses went and returned to Jethro his father in law, and said unto him, I pray thee, let me goe, and return to my † brethren, which are in Egypt, and see whether they be yet alive. Then Jethro said to Moses, Goe in peace.

23 Wherefore I say to thee, Let my sonne goe, that he may serve me: if thou refuse to let him goe, behold, I will slay thy sonne, even thy first born.

24 ¶ And as he was by the way in the Inne, the Lord met him, and † would have killed him.

l God punished him with sickness, for neglecting his Sacrament.

25 Then Zipporah took a sharp knife, and m cut away the fore-skin of her sonne, and cast it at his feet, and said, Thou art in deed a bloudie husband unto me.

m This act was extraordinary: for Moses was fore sicke, and God even then required it.

26 So † he departed from him, Then she said, O bloudie husband (because of the Circumcision)

27 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Aaron, Goe meet Moses in the wilderness. And he went and met him in the † Mount of God, and kissed him.

28 Then Moses told Aaron all the words of the Lord, who had sent him, and al the signes wherewith he had charged him.

29 ¶ So went Moses and Aaron, and gathered all the Elders of the children of Israel.

30 And Aaron told all the words, which the Lord had spoken unto Moses, and he did the miracles in the sight of the people.

n So that Moses had now experience of Gods promise, that he should have good success.

31 And the people beleeved, and when they heard that the Lord had visited the children of Israel, and had looked upon their tribulation, they bowed down and worshipped.

1 Moses and Aaron doe their message to Pharaoh, who letteth not the people of Israel depart, but oppresseth them more and more. 20 They cry out upon Moses and Aaron therefore, and Moses complaineth unto God.

2 And Pharaoh said, Who is the Lord, that I should heare his voice, and let Israel goe? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel goe.

† Or, God hath met us.

3 And they said, † Wee worship the God of the Ebrewes: wee pray thee, let us goe three dayes journey in the desert, and sacrifice unto the Lord our God, lest † hee bring upon us the pestilence, or sword.

4 Then said the King of Egypt unto them, Moses and Aaron, why cause yee the people to cease from their works? get you to your burthens.

5 Pharaoh said furthermore, Behold, much people^a now in the land, and yee make them leave their burthens.

c As though yee would rebel.

6 Therefore Pharaoh gave commandement the same day unto the Taske-masters of the people, and to their^d officers, saying,

10 ¶ Then went the Task-masters of the people and their officers out, and told the people, saying, Thus saith Pharaoh, I will give you no more straw.

14 And the officers of the children of Israel, which Pharaohs Taske-masters had set over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your taske in making brick, yesterday and today, as in times past?

15 ¶ Then the officers of the children of Israel came, and cried unto Pharaoh, saying, Wherefore dealest thou thus with thy servants?

16 There is no straw given to thy servants, and they say unto us, Make bricke: and loe, thy servants are beaten, and † thy people is blamed.

† Or, thy people the Egyptians are in the fault.

17 But he said, † Ye are too much idle:

therefore ye say, Let us goe to offer sacrifice to the Lord.

18 Goe therefore now and worke: for there shall no straw be given you, yet shall ye deliver the whole tale of brick.

19 Then the officers of the children of Israel † saw themselves in an evill case, because it was said, Yee shall diminish nothing of your brick, nor of every dayes task.

† Or, looked sad on them, which said.

20 ¶ And they met Moses and Aaron, which stood in their way as they came out from Pharaoh, 21 To whom they said, The Lord look upon you and judge: for yee have made our favour to † stinke before Pharaoh, and before his servants, in that yee have put a sword in their hand to slay us.

* Read. Gen. 34: 30. g It is a grievous thing to the servants of God, to be accused of evill, specially of their brethren, when they doe their duty requireth.

22 Wherefore Moses returned to the Lord, and said, Lord, why hast thou afflicted this people? wherefore hast thou thus sent me?

23 For since I came to Pharaoh to speak in thy Name, hee hath vexed this people, and yet thou hast not delivered thy people.

The genealogie of Reuben. Exodus. God hardneth Pharaohs heart.

9 ¶ So Moses told the children of Israel thus: but they hearkened ^e not unto Moses, for anguish of spirit, and for cruel bondage.

^e So hard a thing it is to shew true obedience under the crosse.

10 Then the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

11 Goe speake to Pharaoh King of Egypt, that he let the children of Israel goe out of his land.

12 But Moses spake before the Lord, saying, Behold, the children of Israel hearken not unto me, how then shall Pharaoh heare mee, which am of ^d uncircumcised lips?

^d Or, barbarous & rude in speech: and by this word (uncircumcised) is signified, the whole corruption of mans nature.

13 Then the Lord spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, and charged them to goe to the children of Israel, and to Pharaoh King of Egypt, to bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

27 These are that Moses and Aaron, which spake to Pharaoh king of Egypt, that they might bring the children of Israel out of Egypt.

28 ¶ And at that time when the Lord spake unto Moses in the land of Egypt,

29 When the Lord, I say, spake unto Moses, saying, I am the Lord, speake thou unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt all that I say unto thee,

¹ The disobedience both of Moses, and of the people, sheweth that their deliverance came onely of Gods free mercie.

30 Then Moses said before the Lord, Behold, I am of ¹ uncircumcised lippes, and how shall Pharaoh heare me?

CHAP. VII.

³ God hardeneth Pharaohs heart. 10 Moses and Aaron doe the miracles of the serpent, and the blood: and Pharaohs sorcerers do the like.

Then the Lord said to Moses, Behold, I have made thee [†] Pharaohs ^{*} God, and Aaron thy brother shall [†] be thy Prophet.

[†] Or, a God to Pharaoh.
^{*} I have given thee power and authoritie to speake in my name and to execute my judgements upon him.
[†] Or, shall speake for thee (before Pharaoh.)

2 Thou shalt speake all that I commanded thee: and Aaron thy brother shall speake unto Pharaoh, that he suffer the children of Israel to go out of his land.

3 But I will harden Pharaohs heart, and multiply my miracles and my wonders in the land of Egypt.

4 And Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you, that I may lay mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out mine armies, even my people, the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, by great ^b judgements.

^b To strengthen Moses faith, God promitteth againe to punish most sharply the oppression of his Church.

5 Then the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I stretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them.

6 So Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them, even so did they.

7 (Now Moses was ^c fourescore yeares old, and Aaron fourescore and three, when they spake unto Pharaoh)

^c Moses lived in affliction and banishment forty yeares, before he enjoyed his office to deliver Gods people.

8 ¶ And the Lord had spoken unto Moses and Aaron, saying,

9 If Pharaoh speake unto you, saying, Shew a miracle for you, then shalt thou say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and cast it before Pharaoh, and it shall be turned into a [†] serpent.

[†] Or, dragon.

10 ¶ Then went Moses and Aaron unto Pharaoh, and did even as the Lord had commanded: and Aaron cast forth his rod before Pharaoh and before his servants, and it was turned into a serpent.

11 Then Pharaoh called also for the wise men and ^d sorcerers: and those charmers also of Egypt did in like manner with their enchantments.

^d It seemeth that these were Iannes and Jambres, 2 Tim. 3. 8. and 9. ever the wicked maliciously resist the truth of God.

12 For they cast down every man his rod, and they were turned into serpents: but Aarons rod devoured their rods.

13 So Pharaohs heart was hardened, and he hearkened not to them, as the Lord had laid.

14 ¶ The

14 ¶ The Lord then said unto Moses, Pharaohs heart is [†] obstinate, he refuseth to let the people goe.

15 Goe unto Pharaoh in the morning, (lo, hee will come forth unto the water) and thou shalt stand and meet him by ^e the rivers brinke, and the rod, which was turned into a serpent, shalt thou take in thine hand.

16 And thou shalt say unto him, The Lord God of the Ebrewes hath sent me unto thee, saying, Let my people go, that they may serve me in the wilderness: and beholde, hitherto thou wouldest not heare.

17 Thus saith the Lord, In this thou shalt know that I am the Lord: behold, I will smite with the rodde that is in mine hand upon the water that is in the river, and it shall be turned to blood.

18 And the fish that is in the river shall die, and the river shall stinke, and it shall [†] grieve the Egyptians to drinke of the water of the river.

19 ¶ The Lord then spake to Moses, Say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the waters of Egypt, over their streames, over their rivers, and over their ponds, and over all pooles of their waters, and they shall be [†] blood, and there shall be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood, and of stone.

20 So Moses and Aaron did even as the Lord commanded: ^{} and he lift up the rod, and smote the water that was in the river in the sight of Pharaoh, and in the sight of his servants: and ^{} all the water that was in the river, was turned into blood.

21 And the ^f fish that was in the river, died: and the river stank, so that the Egyptians could not drinke of the water of the river: and there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt.

22 And the Enchanters of Egypt did ^g likewise with their forceries: and the heart of Pharaoh was [†] hardened: so that hee did not hearken unto them, as the Lord had said.

23 Then Pharaoh returned, and went againe into his house, [†] neither did this yet enter into his heart.

24 All the Egyptians then digged round about the river for waters to drinke: for they could not drinke of the water of the river.

25 And this [†] continued fully seven dayes after the Lord had smitten the river.

CHAP. VIII.

6 Frogs are sent. 13 Moses prayeth, and they die. 17 Lice are sent, whereby the sorcerers acknowledge Gods power. 24 Egypt is plagued with noysoe flies. 30 Moses prayeth againe: 32 But Pharaohs heart is hardened.

Afterward the Lord said unto Moses, Goe unto Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Let my people goe, that they may serve me:

2 And if thou wilt not let them goe, behold, I will smite all thy countrey with ^a frogs:

3 And the river shall be full of frogs, which shall goe up and come into thine house, and into thy chamber, where thou sleepest, and upon thy bed, and into the house of thy servants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, and [†] into thy kneading troughes.

4 Yea, the frogs shall climbe up upon thee, and on thy people, and upon all thy servants.

5 ¶ Also the Lord said unto Moses, Say thou unto Aaron, Stretch out thine hand with thy rodde upon the streames, upon the rivers, and upon the ponds, and cause frogs to come up upon the land of Egypt.

6 Then Aaron stretched out his hand upon the waters of Egypt, and the [†] frogs came up, and covered the land of ^b Egypt.

7 And the Sorcerers did likewise with their Sorceries, and brought frogs up upon the Land of Egypt.

8 Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron, and said, ^c Pray ye unto the Lord, that he may take away the frogs from me, and from my people, and I will let the people goe, that they may doe sacrifice unto the Lord.

9 And Moses said unto Pharaoh, [†] Concerning me, even [†] command when I shall pray for thee, and for thy servants, and for thy people, to destroy the frogs from thee, and from thine houses, that they may remaine in the river onely.

10 Then he said, To morrow. And hee answered, Be it [†] as thou hast said, that thou mayst know, that there is none like unto the Lord our God.

11 So the frogges shall depart from thee, and from thine houses, and from thy servants, and from thy people: onely they shall remaine in the river.

12 Then Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh: and Moses cried unto the Lord concerning the frogges, which hee had [†] sent unto Pharaoh.

13 And the Lord did according to the saying of Moses: so the frogges ^d died in the houses, in the townes, and in the fields.

14 And they gathered them together by heaps, and the land stank of them.

15 But when Pharaoh saw that he had rest given him, hee [†] hardened his heart, and hearkened not unto them, as the Lord had said.

16 ¶ Again the Lord said unto Moses, Say unto Aaron, Stretch out thy rod, and smite the dust of the earth, that it may be turned to [†] Lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

[†] Or, seven dayes were accomplished.

^a There is nothing so weak, that God cannot cause to overcome the greatest power of man.

^b But Goshen, where Gods people dwelt, was excepted.

^c Not love, but feare causeth the very infidels to seeke unto God.

[†] Ebr. have this honour over me.
[†] Or, I speak plainly unto me.

[†] Ebr. according to thy word.

[†] Or, laid up.

^d In things of this life God oftentimes heareth the prayers of the just for the ungodly.

[†] The third plague.

17 And they did so: for Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod, and smote the dust of the earth: and Lice came upon man and upon beast: all the dust of the earth was Lice thoroughout all the Land of Egypt.

18 Now the Enchanters assayed likewise with their enchantments to bring forth Lice, but they ^e could not. So the Lice were upon man and upon beast.

^f They acknowledged that this was done by Gods power and not by forcerie, Luke 11. 10.

19 Then said the enchanters unto Pharaoh, This is ^f the finger of God. But Pharaohs heart remained obstinate, and hee hearkened not unto them, as the Lord had said.

20 ¶ Moreover the Lord said to Moses, Rise up early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh (lo, he will come forth unto the water) and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Let my people goe, that they may serve me.

^g Or, a multitude of venomous beasts, as serpents, &c.

21 Else, if thou wilt not let my people goe, behold, I will send ^g swarmes of flies both upon thee, and upon thy servants, and upon thy people, and into thine houses: and the houses of the Egyptians shall be full of swarmes of flies, and the ground also whereon they are.

^h Or, I will separate.

22 But the land of Goshen, where my people are, will I cause to be ^h wonderfull in that day, so that no swarmes of flies shall be there, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord in the middes of the ^h earth.

ⁱ Or, land of Egypt.

23 And I will make a deliverance of my people from thy people: to morrow shall this miracle be.

^j The fourth plague.

24 And the Lord did so: for there came ^j great swarms of flies into the house of Pharaoh, and into his servants houses, so that through all the land of Egypt, the earth was corrupt by the swarms of flies.

25 Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron, and said, Goe, doe sacrifice unto your God in this land.

^k For the Egyptians worshipped divers beasts, as the ox, the sheep, and such like, which the Israelites offered in sacrifice: which thing the Egyptians abhorred to see.

26 But Moses answered, It is not meet to doe so: for then we should offer unto the Lord our God, that which is an ^l abomination unto the Egyptians. Lo, can we sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and they not stone us?

27 Let us go three dayes journey in the desert, and sacrifice unto the Lord our God, ^m as he hath commanded us.

ⁿ So the wicked prescribe unto Gods messengers how farre they shall goe.

28 And Pharaoh said, I will let you go, that yee may sacrifice unto the Lord your God in the wilderness: but ⁿ go not farre away, pray for me.

29 And Moses said, Behold, I will go out from thee, and pray unto the Lord, that the swarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people to morrow: but let Pharaoh from henceforth ^o deceive no more, in not suffering the people to sacrifice unto the Lord.

^o He could not judge his heart, but yet hee charged him to doe this unfeignedly.

30 So Moses went out from Pharaoh, and prayed unto the Lord.

31 And the Lord did according to the saying of Moses, and the swarmes of flies departed from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people, and there remained not one.

32 Yet Pharaoh ^k hardened his heart at this time also, and did not let the people go.

CHAP. IX.

3 The murraine of beasts. 10 The plague of botches and sores. 23 The horrible haile, thunder, and the lightning. 26 The land of Goshen is ever excepted. 27 Pharaoh confesseth his wickednes. 33 Moses prayeth for him. 35 Yet he is obstinate.

Then the Lord said unto Moses, Goe to Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord God of the Ebrewes, Let my people goe, that they may serve me.

2 But if thou refuse to let them goe, and wilt yet hold them still,

3 Behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thy flock which is in the field: for upon the horses, upon the asses, upon the camels, upon the cattell, and upon the sheepe shalbe a ^q mighty great moraine.

4 And the Lord shall doe ^r wonderfully between the beasts of Israel, and the beasts of Egypt: so that there shall nothing die, of all that pertaineth to the children of Israel.

5 And the Lord appointed a time, saying, To morrow the Lord shall finish this thing in this land.

6 So the Lord did this thing on the morrow, and all the cattell of Egypt died: but of the cattell of the children of Israel died not one.

^r Into the land of Goshen, where the Israelites dwelled.

7 Then Pharaoh ^s sent, and behold, there was not one of the cattell of the Israelites dead: and the heart of Pharaoh was obstinate, and he did not let the people goe.

^u Or, Embers.

9 And they shall be turned to dust in all the land of Egypt: & it shall be as a scab breaking out into blisters upon man, and upon beast, throughout all the land of Egypt.

10 Then they tooke ashes of the furnace, and stood before Pharaoh: and Moses sprinkled them toward the heaven, and there came ^v a scab breaking out into blisters upon man, and upon beast.

11 And the Sorcerers could not stand before Moses, because of the scabbe: for the scabbe was upon the Enchanters, and upon all the Egyptians.

12 And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkened not unto them, ^w as the Lord had said unto Moses.

^w Chap. 4. 21.

13 ¶ Also the Lord said unto Moses, Rise up early in the morning, and stand before fore Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord God of the Ebrews, Let my people goe, that they may serve me.

14 For I will at this time send all my plagues upon ^cthine heart, and upon thy servants, and upon thy people, that thou mayest know that there is none like me in all the earth.

15 For now I will stretch out mine hand, that I may smite thee and thy people with the pestilence: and thou shalt perish from the earth.

16 And indeed, * for this cause have ‡ I appointed thee, to ‡ shew my power in thee, and to declare my ^dName throughout all the world.

17 Yet thou exaltest thy self against my people, and lettest them not goe.

18 Behold, to morrow this time I will cause to raine a mighty great haile, such as was not in Egypt, since the foundation thereof was laid, unto this time.

19 Send therefore now, and ^egather thy cattell, and all that thou hast in the field: for upon all the men, and the beasts, which are found in the field, and not brought home, the haile shall fall upon them, & they shall die.

20 Such ^fthen as feared the word of the Lord among the servants of Pharaoh, made his servants and his cattell flee into the houses:

21 But such as † regarded not the ^gword of the Lord, left his servants, and his cattell in the field.

22 ¶ And the Lord said to Moses, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be haile in all the land of Egypt, upon man, and upon beast, and upon all the herbs of the field in the land of Egypt.

23 Then Moses stretched out his Rod toward heaven, and the Lord sent thunder and ‡ haile, and † lightning upon the ground: and the Lord caused haile to raine upon the land of Egypt.

24 So there was haile, and fire mingled with the haile, so grievous, as there was none throughout all the land of Egypt, ‡ since it was a Nation.

25 And the haile smote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beast: also the haile smote all the herbs of the field, and brake to pieces all the trees of the field.

26 Onely in the land of Goshen, (where the children of Israel were) was no haile.

27 Then Pharaoh sent and called for Moses and Aaron, and said unto them, I have now sinned: the Lord is righteous, but I and my people are wicked.

28 Pray yee unto the Lord (for it is enough) that there be no more † mighty thunders, and haile, and I will let you goe, and ye shall tarry no longer.

29 Then Moses said unto him, As soon as I am out of the City, I will spread mine hands unto the Lord, and the thunder shall cease, neither shall there be any more haile, that thou mayest know that * the earth is the Lords.

30 As for thee and thy servants, I know ^hbefore I pray, ye will feare before the face of the Lord God.

31 (And the flaxe, and the barley were smitten: for the barley was eared, and the flaxe was balled.

32 But the wheat and the rie were not smitten: for they were ‡ hid in the ground)

33 Then Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh, and spread his hands to the Lord, and the thunder and the haile ceased, neither rained it upon the earth.

34 And when Pharaoh saw that the raine, and the haile, and the thunder were ceased, he sinned againe, and hardned his heart, both he and his servants.

35 So the heart of Pharaoh was hardened: neither would he let the children of Israel go, as the Lord had said † by Moses.

CHAP. X.

7 Pharaohs servants counsell him to let the Israelites depart. 13 Grasshoppers destroy the countrey. 16 Pharaoh confesseth his sinne. 21 Darknesse is sent. 28 Pharaoh forbiddeth Moses to come any more in his presence.

A Gaine the Lord said unto Moses, Go to Pharaoh: for * I have hardened his heart, and the heart of his servants, that I might worke these my miracles ‡ in the mids of his realme,

2 And that thou mayest declare in the ^aears of thy son, and of thy sonnes sonne, what things I have done in Egypt, and my miracles, which I have done among them: that ye may know that I am the Lord.

3 Then came Moses and Aaron unto Pharaoh, & they said unto him, Thus saith the Lord God of the Ebrews, How long wilt thou refuse ^bto humble thy self before me? Let my people go, that they may serve me.

4 But if thou refuse to let my people go, behold, to morow will I bring ‡ grasshoppers into thy coasts.

5 And they shall cover the face of the earth, that a man cannot see the earth: and they shall eate the residue which remaineth unto you, and hath escaped from the haile: and they shall eat all your trees that bud in the field.

6 And they shall fill thine houses, and all thy servants houses, and the houses of all the Egyptians, as neither thy fathers, nor thy fathers fathers have seen, since the time that they were upon the earth unto this day. So he returned, and went out from Pharaoh.

7 Then Pharaohs servants said unto him, the godly ever charged, as Elias was by Achab.

How long shall he be † an^e offence unto us? let the men goe, that they may serve the Lord their God: wilt thou first know that Egypt is destroyed?

8 So Moses and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh, and he said unto them, Goe serve the Lord your God, but who are they that shall goe?

9 And Moses answered, We will goe with our yong, and with our old, with our sonnes, and with our daughters, with our sheep, and with our cattel will we goe: for we must celebrate a feast unto the Lord.

d That is, I would the Lord were no more affectioned am minded to let you goe.

10 And he said unto them, Let^d the Lord so be with you, as I will let you goe and your children: behold, for^e evill is before your face.

11 It shall not be so: now go ye that are men, and serve the Lord: for that was your desire. Then they were thrust out from Pharaohs presence.

12 ¶ After, the Lord said unto Moses, stretch out thine hand upon the land of Egypt for the grasshoppers, that they may come upon the land of Egypt, and eat all the herbs of the land, even all that the haile hath left.

13 Then Moses stretched forth his Rod upon the land of Egypt: and the Lord brought an East wind upon the land all that day, and all that night: and in the morning the East winde brought the † grasshoppers.

† The eighth
plague.

14 So the grasshoppers went up upon all the land of Egypt, and † remained in all quarters of Egypt: so grievous grasshoppers, like to these were never before, neither after them shall be such.

them to remaine.

15 For they covered all the face of the earth, so that the land was darke: and they did eat all the hearbes of the land, and all the fruits of the trees, which the haile had left: so that there was no green thing left upon the trees, nor among the herbes of the field throughout all the land of Egypt.

f The wicked in their miseries seek to Gods ministers for helpe, albeit they hate and detest them.

16 Therefore Pharaoh called for^f Moses and Aaron in haste, and said, I have sinned against the Lord your God, and against you.

17 And now forgive me my sinne onely this once, and pray unto the Lord your God, that he may take away from me this death onely.

18 Moses then went out from Pharaoh, and prayed unto the Lord.

19 And the Lord turned a mightie strong West winde, and tooke away the grasshoppers, and violently cast them into the^g Red sea, so that there remained not one grasshopper in all the coast of Egypt.

g The water seemed red, because the sand or gravell is red: the Ebrews call it the Sea of bulrushes.

20 But the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, and he did not let the children of Israel goe.

21 ¶ Again the Lord said unto Moses,

Stretch out thine hand toward heaven, that there may be upon the land of Egypt darknes, even darknesse that may be^h felt.

h Because it was so thick.

22 Then Moses stretched forth his hand toward heaven, and there was a † blacke darknesse in all the land of Egypt three dayes.

† The ninth
plague.

23 No man saw another, neither rose up from the place where he wasⁱ for three dayes: but all the children of Israel had light where they dwelt.

24 Then Pharaoh called for Moses, and said, Goe, serve the Lord: onely your sheep and your cattel shall abide, and your children shall go with you.

25 And Moses said, Thou must give us also sacrifices, and burnt offerings, that we may doe^j sacrifice unto the Lord our God.

26 Therefore our cattel also shall goe with us: there shall not an^k hoofe be left, for thereof must we take to serve the Lord our God: neither doe we know^k how we shall serve the Lord, untill we come thither.

i The ministers of 27 (But the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, and he would not let them goe)

k That is, with

3 And the Lord gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: also Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaohs servants, and in the sight of the people.)

* Chap. 12. 29.

5 And all the first borne in the land of Egypt shall die, from the first borne of Pharaoh that sitteth on his throne, unto the first borne of the maid servant, that is at^b the mill, and all the first borne of beasts.

b From the highest to the lowest.

6 Then there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as was never none like, nor shall be.

7 But against none of the children of Israel

Israel shall a dog move his tongue, neither against man nor beast, that ye may know that the Lord putteth a difference between the Egyptians and Israel.

8 And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and fall before me, saying, Get thee out, and all the people that are at thy feet, and after this will I depart. So he went out from Pharaoh very angry.

9 And the Lord said unto Moses, Pharaoh shall not hear you, that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 So Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh: but the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, & he suffered not the children of Israel to go out of his land.

CHAP. XII.

Then the Lord spake to Moses and to Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying,

2 This ^a moneth shall bee unto you the beginning of moneths: it shall be to you the first ^b moneth of the year.

3 Speak yee unto all the Congregation of Israel, saying, in the tenth of this moneth let every man take unto him a lambe, according to the house of the fathers, a lamb for an house.

4 And if the household be too little for the lambe, hee shall take his neighbour, which is next unto his house, according to the number of the persons: every one of you, according to his ^d eating shall make your count for the lambe.

5 Your lambe shall be without blemish, a male of a yeare old: yee shall take it of the lambs, or of the kids.

6 And yee shall keep it untill the fourteenth day of this moneth: then ^e all the multitude of the Congregation of Israel shall kill it ^f at evening.

7 After, they shall take of the blood, and strike it on the two posts, and on the upper doorepost of the houses, where they shall eat it.

8 And they shall eat the flesh the same night, rost with fire, and unleavened bread: with sower ^g herbs they shall eat it.

9 Eat not thereof raw, boiled nor sodden in water, but rost with fire, both his ^h head, his feet, and his purtenance.

10 And ye shall reserve nothing of it unto the morning: but that which remaineth of it unto the morrow, shall ye burn with fire.

11 ¶ And thus shall ye eate it; Your loines girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staves in your hands, and ye shall eat it in hast: for it is the Lords passeover.

12 For I will passe thorow the land of Egypt the same night, and will smite all the first borne in the land of Egypt, both man and beast, and I will execute judgement upon all the gods of Egypt: I am the Lord.

13 And the blood shall be a token for you upon the houses where ye are: so when I see the blood, I will passe over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destruction, when I smite the land of Egypt.

14 And this day shall be unto you a remembrance: and ye shall keep it an holy feast unto the Lord, thorowout your generations: ye shall keep it holy by an ordinance ⁱ for ever.

15 Seven dayes shall ye eat unleavened bread, and in any case ye shall put away leaven the first day out of your houses: for whosoever eateth leavened bread from the first day untill the seventh day, that person shall be cut off from Israel.

16 And in the first day shall be an holy assembly: also in the seventh day shall be an holy assembly unto you: no work shall be done in them, save about that which every man must eate: that onely may ye doe.

17 Yee shall keep also the feast of unleavened bread: for that same day I will bring your armies out of the land of Egypt: therefore ye shall observe this day throughout your posterity, by an ordinance for ever.

18 ¶ In the first moneth and in the fourteenth day of the moneth at ^k even, yee shall eate unleavened bread unto the one and twentieth day of the moneth at even.

19 Seven dayes shall no leaven be found in your houses: for whosoever eateth leavened bread, that person shall be cut off from the Congregation of Israel: whether he be a stranger, or born in the land.

20 Yee shall eat no leavened bread: but in all your habitations shall ye eate unleavened bread.

21 ¶ Then Moses called all the Elders of Israel, & said unto them, Chuse out and take you for every of your households a lamb, and kill the Passeover.

22 And take ^l a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the bason, and strike the ^m lintell, and the ⁿ doore cheeks with the blood that is in the bason, and let none of you goe out at the doore of his house untill the morning.

23 For the Lord will passe by to smite the Egyptians: and when he seeth the blood upon the lintell, and on the two doore cheeks, the Lord will passe over the doore, and will not suffer the ^o destroyer to come into your houses to plague you.

24 Therefore shall ye observe this thing as an ordinance both for thee, and thy sons for ever.

26 * And when your children aske you, What service is this ye keep?

27 Then ye shall say, It is the sacrifice of the Lords Passeeover, which passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, when he smote the Egyptians, and preserved our houses. Then the people bowed themselves, and worshipped.

28 So the children of Israel went, and did as the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron: so did they.

29 ¶ Now at * midnight the Lord † smote all the first born in the land of Egypt, from the first born of Pharaoh that sat on his throne, unto the first borne of the captive that was in prison, and all the first borne of beasts.

30 And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants, and all the Egyptians: and there was a great cry in Egypt: for there was no house where there was not one dead.

31 And he called to Moses and to Aaron by night, and said, Rise up, get you out from among my people, both ye, and the children of Israel, and go serve the Lord as ye have said.

32 Take also your sheep and your cattel, as ye have said, and depart, and † blesse me also.

33 And the Egyptians did force the people, because they would send them out of the land in haste: for they said, We die all.

34 Therefore the people took their dough before it was leavened, even their dough bound in clothes upon their shoulders.

35 And the children of Israel did according to the saying of Moses, and they asked of the Egyptians * jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment.

36 And the Lord gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: and they † granted their request: so they spoiled the Egyptians.

38 And a great multitude of sundry sorts of people went out with them, and sheep, and beeves, and cattell in great abundance.

39 And they baked the dough which they brought out of Egypt, and made unleavened cakes: for it was not leavened, because they were thrust out of Egypt, neither could they tary, nor yet prepare themselves victuals.

40 ¶ So the dwelling of the children of Israel, while they dwelled in Egypt, was † foure hundred and thirty years.

41 And when the † foure hundred and thirty years were expired, even the selfe same day departed all the hostes of the Lord out of the land of Egypt.

42 It is a night to be kept holy to the Lord, because he brought them out of the land of Egypt: this is that night of the Lord, which all the children of Israel must keep throughout their generations.

43 Also the Lord said unto Moses and Aaron, This is the law of the Passeeover: no stranger shall eat thereof.

44 But every servant that is bought for money, when thou hast circumcised him, then shall he eat thereof.

45 A stranger, or an hired servant shall not eat thereof.

46 * In one house shall it be eaten: thou shalt carry none of the flesh out of the house, * neither shall ye break a bone thereof.

47 All the Congregation of Israel shall observe it.

48 But if a stranger dwell with thee, and will observe the Passeeover of the Lord, let him circumcise all the males that belong unto him, and then let him come and observe it, and he shall be as one that is borne in the land: for none uncircumcised person shall eat thereof.

49 One * law shall be to him that is borne in the land, and to the stranger that dwelleth among you.

50 Then all the children of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron: so did they.

better for us to serve the Egyptians, then that we should die in the wilderness.

* In this figure, four chief points are to be considered.

First, that the Church of God is ever subject in this world to the cross, and to be afflicted after one sort or other. The second, that the Ministers of God following their vocation, shall be evil spoken of, and murmured against, even of them that pretend the same cause and Religion that they do. The third, that God delivereth not his Church incontinently out of dangers, but to exercise their faith and patience continueth their troubles, yea, and oftentimes augmenteth them: as the Israelites were now in less hope of their lives, then when they were in Egypt. The fourth point is, that when the dangers are most great, then Gods help is most ready to succour: for the Israelites had on either side of them huge rocks and mountains, before them the Sea, behind them most cruell enemies, so that there was no way left to escape to mans judgement.

h Only put your trust in God without grudging or doubting. i Thus in tentations faith fighteth against the flesh, and crieth with inward groanings to the Lord.

13 Then Moses said to the people, Feare ye not, stand still, and behold ‡ the salvation of the Lord which he will shew to you this day. For the Egyptians whom ye have seen this day, ye shall never see them againe.

14 The Lord shall fight for you; therefore hold you your peace.

15 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speake unto the children of Israel that they go forward:

16 And lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand upon the Sea, and divide it, and let the children of Israel goe on drie ground thorow the mids of the Sea.

17 And I behold, I will harden the heart of the Egyptians, that they may follow them, and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his host, upon his charrets, and upon his horsemen.

18 Then the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his charrets, and upon his horsemen.

19 (And the Angel of God, which went before the hoste of Israel, removed, and went behind them: also the pillar of the cloud went from before them, and stood behind them, 20 And came betweene the campe of the Egyptians and the campe of Israel: it was both a cloud and darknesse, yet gave it light by night, so that all the night long the one came not at the other)

21 And Moses stretched forth his hand upon the Sea, and the Lord caused the Sea to runne backe by a strong East wind all the night, and made the sea k The cloude sheweth light to the Israelites, but to the Egyptians it was darknesse, so that their two hosts could not joyne together.

drie land: for the waters were * divided.

22 Then the * children of Israel went thorow the mids of the Sea upon the drie ground, & the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left hand.

23 And the Egyptians pursued, and went after them to the mids of the sea, even all Pharaohs horses, his charrets, and his horsemen.

24 Now in the morning † watch, when the Lord looked unto the hoste of the Egyptians, out of the fiery and cloudie pillar, he strook the host of the Egyptians with feare.

25 For he took off their charet wheelles, and they drave them with ‡ much ado: so that the Egyptians every one said, I will flee from the face of Israel: for the Lord fighteth for them against the Egyptians.

26 ¶ Then the Lord said to Moses, Stretch thine hand upon the Sea, that the waters may returne upon the Egyptians, upon their charrets, and upon their horsemen.

27 Then Moses stretched forth his hand upon the Sea, and the sea returned to his force early in the morning, and the Egyptians fled against it: but the Lord overthrew the Egyptians in the mids of the Sea.

28 So the water returned and covered the charrets and the horsemen, even all the hoste of Pharaoh that came into the Sea after them: there remained not one of them.

29 But the children of Israel walked upon drie land thorow the mids of the Sea, and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left.

30 Thus the Lord saved Israel the same day out of the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea bank.

31 And Israel saw the mighty † power, which the Lord shewed upon the Egyptians: so the people feared the Lord, and beleived the Lord, and his ‡ servant Moses.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Israelites come to the desert of Sin, and murmur against Moses and Aaron. 13 The Lord sendeth quails, and Manna. 23 The Sabbath is sanctified unto the Lord. 27 The seventh day Manna could not be found, 32 It is kept for a remembrance to the posterity.

Afterward all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from Elim, and came to the wilderness of ^a Sin, (which is betweene Elim and Sinai) the fifteenth day of the second moneth after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

^a That is, the eight place wherein they had camped: there is another place called Sin, which was the 33. place wherein they camped: and is also called Kadesh, Num. 33. 36.

2 And the whole Congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron in the wilderness.

3 For the children of Israel said to them, Oh that we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sate by the flesh^b pots, when we ate bread our bellies full: for ye have brought us out into this wildernes, to kill this whole company with famine.

^b So hard a thing it is to the flesh, not to murmur against God when the belly is pinched.

glory of the Lord: ^d for he hath heard your grudgings against the Lord: and what are we that ye have murmured against us?

8 Again Moses said, At even shall the Lord give you flesh to eat, and in the morning your fill of bread: for the Lord hath heard your murmurings, which yee murmure against him: for what are we?
your murmurings are not against us, but against the ^e Lord.

9 ¶ And Moses said unto Aaron, Say unto all the Congregation of the children of Israel, Draw neere before the Lord: for he hath heard your murmurings.

10 Now as Aaron spake unto the whole congregation of the children of Israel, they looked toward the wilderness, and behold, the glory of the Lord appeared* in a cloud.

11 (For the Lord had spoken unto Moses, saying,

12 I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel: tell them therefore, and say, † At even ye shall eat flesh, and in the morning ye shall be filled with bread, & ye shall know that I am the Lord your God)

13 And so at even the* Quails came and covered the campe: and in the morning the dew lay round about the hoste.

14 * And when the dew that was fallen was ascended, behold, a small round thing was upon the face of the wilderness, smal as the hoare frost on the earth.

15 And when the children of Israel saw it, they said one to another, It is^f M A N, for they wist not what it was. And Moses sayd unto them, * This is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat.

16 ¶ This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded: gather of it every man according to his eating, ^g an Omer for † a man according to the number of your persons: every man shall take for them which are in his tent.

17 And the children of Israel did so, and gathered, some more, some lesse.

18 And when they did measure it with an Omer, * he that had gathered much, had nothing over, and he that had gathered little, had no^h lack: so every man gathered according to his eating.

19 Moses then said unto them, Let no man reserve thereof till morning.

20 Notwithstanding they obeyed not Moses: but some of them reserved of it til morning, and it was full of wormes, andⁱ stank:
therefore Moses was angry with them.

21 And they gathered it every morning, every man according to his eating: for when the heat of the Sunne came, it was melted.

22 ¶ And the sixth day they gathered twice so much bread, two Omers for one man: then all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moses.

23 And he answered them, This is that, which the Lord hath said, To morrow ^{is} the rest of the holy Sabbath unto the Lord:
bake that to day which ye will bake, and seeth that which ye will seeth, and all that remaineth, lay it up to be kept till the morning for you.

24 And they laid it up till the morning, as Moses bade, and it stank not, neither was there any worme therein.

25 Then Moses said, Eat that to day: for to day ^{is} the Sabbath unto the Lord: to day ye shall not^l find it in the field.

26 Six dayes shall ye gather it, but in the seventh day ^{is} the Sabbath: in it there shall be none.

27 ¶ Notwithstanding, there^m went out some of the people on the seventh day for to gather, and they found none.

28 And the Lord said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keepe my commandements, and my lawes?

29 Behold, how the Lord hath given you the Sabbath: therefore he giveth you the sixth day bread for two dayes: carried therefore every man in his place: let no man goe out of his place the seventh day.

30 So the people rested the seventh day.

31 And the house of Israel called the name of it, M A N: and it was likeⁿ to Coriander seed, but white: and the taste of it was like unto wafers made with honie.

32 And Moses said, This is that which the Lord hath commanded, Fill an Omer of it, to keepe it for your posteritie: that they may see the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you out of the land of Egypt.

33 Moses also said to Aaron, Take a pot, and put an Omer full of M A N therein, and set it before the Lord to be kept for your posterity.

34 As the Lord commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the^r Testimonie to be kept.

35 And the children of Israel did eat

3 So the people thirsted there for water, and the people murmured against Moses, and said, Wherefore hast thou thus brought us out of Egypt, to kill us and our children, and our cattell with thirst?

4 And Moses cryed to the Lord, saying, What shall I doe to this people? for they be almost ready to^c stone me.

10 So Ioshua did as Moses bade him, and fought with Amalek: and Moses, Aaron, and Hur, went up to the top of the hill.

11 And when Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed: but when hee let his hand^g down, Amalek prevailed.

12 Now Moses hands were hevie: therefore they tooke a stone and put it under him, and he sate upon it: and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side: so his hands were steadie untill the going down of the sunne.

13 And Ioshua discomfited Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword.

14 ¶ And the Lord said to Moses, Write this for a remembrance^h in the book, and [†]rehearse it to Ioshua: for^{*} I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.

When Jethro the^{*} Priest of Midian, Moses father in law, heard all that God had done for Moses, and for Israel his people, and how the Lord had brought Israel out of Egypt,

2 Then Jethro the father in law of Moses, took Zipporah Moses wife, (after he had^{*} sent her away)

4 And the name of the other was Eliezer: for the God of my father, said he, was mine helpe, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh)

5 And Jethro Moses father in law, came with his two sons and his wife unto Moses into the wilderness, where he camped by the^b mount of God.

6 And he^c said to Moses, I thy father in Law Jethro am come to thee, and thy wife and her two sons with her.

7 ¶ And Moses went out to meet his father in law, and did obeysance, and kissed him; and each asked other of his[†] welfare: and they came into the tent.

8 Then Moses tolde his father in law all that the Lord had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Israels sake, and all the travaile that had come unto them by the way, and how the Lord delivered them.

9 And Jethro rejoiced at all the goodness which the Lord had shewed to Israel, and because he had delivered them out of the hand of the Egyptians.

10 Therefore Jethro said, Blessed be the Lord, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, & out of the hand of Pharaoh: who hath also delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians.

11 Now I know that the Lord is greater then all the gods: ^{*}for as they have dealt proudly with them, so are they^e recompensed.

IN the ^a third moneth, after the children of Israel were gone out of the land of Egypt, the same ^b day came they into the wilderness of Sinai.

2 For they departed from Rephidim, and came to the desert of Sinai, and camped in the wilderness: even there Israel camped before the mount.

3 * But Moses went up unto God, for the Lord had called out of the mount unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou say to the house of ^c Jaakob, and tell the children of Israel,

4 * Ye have seene what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I caried you upon ^d eagles wings, and have brought you unto me.

5 Now therefore * if yee will heare my voyce indeede, and keepe my covenant, then ye shall be my chiefe treasure above all people, * though all the earth be mine.

6 Ye shall be unto me also a kingdome of * Priests, and an holy nation. These ^{are} the words which thou shalt speake unto the children of Israel.

7 ¶ Moses then came, and called for the Elders of the people, and proposed unto them all these things, which the Lord commanded him.

8 And the people answered all together, and said, * All that the Lord hath commanded, we will doe. And Moses reported the words of the people unto the Lord.

9 And the Lord said unto Moses, Loe, I come unto thee in a thicke cloud, that the people may heare, whiles I talke with thee, and that they may also beleve thee for ever. (For Moses had told the words of the people unto the Lord)

10 Moreover, the Lord sayd unto Moses, Goe to the people, and * sanctifie them to day and to morow, and let them wash their clothes, 11 And let them be ready on the third day: for the third day the Lord will come downe in the sight of all the people upon mount Sinai.

12 And thou shalt set markes unto the people round about, saying, Take heed to your selves that ye go not up to the mount, nor touch the border of it: whosoever toucheth the * mount, shall surely die.

13 No hand shall touch it, but he shall be stoned to death, or striken thorow with darts, whether it be beast or man, hee shall not live: when the [‡] horne bloweth long, they shall come up [‡] into the mountaine.

14 ¶ Then Moses went down from the mount unto the people, and sanctified the people, and they washed their clothes.

15 And he said unto the people, Be readie on the third day, and come not at your ^f wives.

16 And the third day, when it was morning, there was thunders and lighnings, & a thicke cloud upon the mount, & the sound of the trumpet exceeding loud, so that all the people, that was in the campe, was afraid.

17 Then Moses brought the people out of the tents to meet with God, and they stood in the nether part of the mount.

18 * And mount Sinai was all on smoke, because the Lord came down upon it in fire, and the smoke thereof ascended, as the smoke of a fornace, and all the mount trembled exceedingly.

19 And when the sound of the trumpet blew long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses Moses spake, and God answered him by his voice.

20 (For the Lord came down upon mount Sinai on the top of the mount) and when the Lord called Moses up into the top of the mount, Moses went up.

21 Then the Lord said unto Moses, Go downe, charge the people, that they break not their bounds, to goe up to the Lord to gaze, lest many of them perish.

22 And let the \dagger Priests also which come to the Lord be sanctified, lest the Lord \dagger destroy them.

23 And Moses said unto the Lord, The people cannot come up into the mount Sinai: for thou hast charged us, saying, Set markes on the mountaine, and sanctifie it.

24 And the Lord said unto him, Go, get thee downe, and come up, thou, and Aaron with thee: but let not the \dagger Priests and the people breake their bounds to come up unto the Lord, lest he destroy them.

25 So Moses went downe unto the people, and told them.

11 * For in six dayes the Lord made the heaven and the earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: therefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it.

1 The people promise to obey God. 3 Moses writeth the Civill Laws. 9. 13 Moses returneth into the Mountaine. 14 Aaron and Hur have the charge of the people. 18 Moses was forty dayes and forty nights in the Mountaine.

Now he had said unto Moses, Come up to the Lord, thou, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventie of the Elders of Israel, and ye shall worship afar off.

a When he called him up to the mountaine to give him the laws, beginning at the 20 chap. hitherto.

2 And Moses himselfe alone shall come neere to the Lord, but they shall not come neere, neither shall the people goe up with him.

3 ¶ Afterward Moses came and told the people all the words of the Lord, and all the Laws: and all the people answered with one voice, and said, * All the things which the Lord hath said, will we do.

7 After hee tooke the ‡ book of the covenant, and read it in the audience of the people : who said, all that the Lord hath said, we will doe, and be obedient.

8 Then Moses took the* bloud, and sprinkled it on the people, and said, Behold, the † bloud of the covenant, w^{ch} the Lord hath made with you concerning all these things.

9 ¶ Then went up Moses and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventie of the Elders of Israel.

10 And they^e saw the God of Israel, and under his feet was as it were a † work of a Saphir stone, and as the very heaven when it is cleare.

11 And upon the nobles of the children of Israel he^f laid not his hand: also they saw God, and^g did eat and drink.

12 ¶ And the Lord^h said unto Moses, Come up to me into the Mountaine, and be there, and I wil give theeⁱ tables of stone, and the Law, and the Commandements, which I have written, for to teach^k them.

13 Then Moses rose up, and his minister Joshua, and Moses went up into the mountain of God, 14 And said unto the Elders, Tary ye here, until we come again unto you: and behold, Aaron, and Hur^{are} with you : whosoever hath any matters, let him come to them.

15 Then Moses went up to the Mount, and the cloud covered the Mountain, 16 And the glory of the Lord abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered ‡ it six dayes: and the seventh day he called unto Moses out of the mids of the cloud.

17 And the sight of the glory of the Lord was likeⁱ consuming fire on the top of the mountain, in the eyes of the children of Israel.

18 And Moses entred into the mids of the cloud, and went up to the mountain, and Moses was in the* mount fourtie daies and fourtie nights.

2 The voluntary gifts for the making of the Tabernacle. 10 The forme of the Arke. 17 The Mercie seat. 23 The Table. 31 The Candlesticke. 40 All must be done according to the paterne.

Then the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 * Speake unto the children of Israel, that they may receive an offering for me: of every man, whose heart giveth it freely, ye shall take the offering for me.

3 And this is the offering which ye shall take of them, gold, and silver, and brasse,

4 ‡ And blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linnen, and goats^{haire},

5 And rammes skins coloured red, and the skins of badgers, and the wood^c Shittim,

6 Oyle for the light, spices for^d anointing oile, and for the perfume of sweet savour,

7 Onix stones, and stones to be set in the * Ephod, and in the * breast-plate.

8 Also they shall make me a * Sanctuary: that I may dwell among them.

9 According to all that I shew thee, even so shall ye make the form of the Tabernacle, & the fashion of all the instruments thereof.

10 ¶ They shall make also an * Arke of Shittim wood, two cubites and an halfe long, and a cubite and an half broad, and a cubite and an halfe high.

11 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold: within and without shalt thou overlay it, and shalt make upon it a ‡ crown of gold round about.

12 And thou shalt cast four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four ‡ corners thereof: that is, two rings shall be on the one side of it, and two rings on the other side thereof.

13 And thou shalt make barres of Shittim wood, and cover them with gold.

14 Then thou shalt put the barres in the rings by the sides of the Arke, to beare the Arke with them.

15 The barres shall be in the rings of the Arke: they shall not be taken away from it.

16 So thou shalt put in the Arke the^f Testimonie which I shall give thee.

17 Also thou shalt make a ‡ * Mercie seat of pure gold, two cubits and an halfe long, and a cubite and an half broad.

18 And thou shalt make two cherubims of gold: of worke beaten out with the hammer shalt thou make them at the two ends of the Mercie seat.

19 And the one Cherub shalt thou make at the one end, and the other Cherub at the other end: of the matter of the Mercie seat shall ye make the Cherubims on the two ends thereof.

20 And the Cherubims shall stretch their wings on high, covering the Mercie seat with their wings, and their faces one to another: to the Mercie seat-ward shall the faces of the Cherubims be.

21 And thou shalt put the Mercie seat above upon the Arke, and in the Arke thou shalt put the Testimonie, which I will give thee.

22 And there I will ‡ declare my self unto thee, & from above the Mercie seat * between the two Cherubims which are upon the Arke of the Testimonie, I will tell thee all things which I will give thee in commandement unto the children of Israel.

23 ¶ Thou shalt also make a Table of Shittim wood, of two cubits long, and one cubit broad, and a cubite and a half hie:

24 And thou shalt cover it with pure gold, and make thereto a crown of gold round about.

25 Thou shalt also make unto it a border

Afterward thou shalt make the Tabernacle with ten curtaines of fine twined linnen: and blew silk, and purple, and skarlet: and in them thou shalt make Cherubims of ^a broidered work.

^a That is, of most cunning or fine worke.

2 The length of one curtain shall be eight and twentie cubits, and the breadth of one curtain, four cubits: every one of the curtains shall have one measure,

3 Five curtains shall be coupled one to another: and the other five curtaines shall be coupled one to another.

4 And thou shalt make strings of blew silk upon the edge of the one curtain, ^b which is in the selvedge of the coupling: and likewise shalt thou make in the edge of the other curtain in the selvedge, in the second coupling.

^b On the side that the curtains might be tyed together.

5 Fiftie strings shalt thou make in one curtain, and fiftie strings shalt thou make in the edge of the curtain, which is in the ^c second coupling: the strings shall be one right against another.

^c In tying together both the sides.

6 Thou shalt make also fiftie ^d taches of gold, and couple the curtains one to another with the taches, and it shall be one ^d tabernacle.

^d Or, hooks.

7 ¶ Also thou shalt make curtains of goates haire, to be a ^d covering upon the Tabernacle: thou shalt make them to the number of eleven curtains.

8 The length of a curtain shall be thittie cubits, and the breadth of a curtain four cubits: the eleven curtains shall be of one measure.

9 And thou shalt couple five curtains by themselves, and the six curtains by themselves: but thou shalt double the ^e sixth curtain upon the forefront of the covering.

^e That is, five on the one side, and five on the other, and the six should hang over the doore of the Tabernacle.

10 And thou shalt make fiftie strings in the edge of one curtain, in the selvedge of the coupling, and fifty strings in the edge of the other curtain in the second coupling.

11 Likewise thou shalt make fiftie ^f taches of brasse, and fasten them on the strings, and shalt couple the covering together, that it may be one.

^f Or, hooks.

12 And the ^g remnant that resteth in the curtains of the covering, even the half curtain that resteth, shall be left at the back side of the Tabernacle;

^g For these curtains were two cubits longer then the curtains of the Tabernacle: so that they were fider by a cubite on both sides.

13 That the cubit on the one side, and the cubit on the other side of that which is left in the length of the curtains of the covering, may remain on either side of the Tabernacle to cover it.

14 Moreover, for that covering thou shalt make a ^h covering of rams skins died red, and a covering ^h of badgers skinnnes above.

ⁱ This was the third covering for the Tabernacle.

15 ¶ Also thou shalt make boards for the tabernacle of Shittim wood to stand up.

16 Ten cubits shall be the length of a board, and a cubit and an half cubit the breadth of one board.

⁴ Their garments. 12. 29 Aaron entreth into the Sanctuary in the name of the children of Israel. 30 Vrm and Tnimim. 38 Aaron beareth the iniquity of the Israelites offerings.

And cause thou thy brother Aaron to come unto thee, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may serve me in the Priests office: I meane, Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, Aarons sonnes.

2 And thou shalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, ^a glorious and beautiful.

[†] Ebr. Wise in heart.

3 Therefore thou shalt speake unto all [†] cunning men, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they make Aarons garments to ^b consecrate him, that he may serve mee in the Priests office.

^b Which is to separate him from the rest.

4 Now these shall bee the garments which they shall make, a breast-plate, and an ^c Ephod, and a robe, and a broidered coat, a mitre, and a girdle: so these holy garments shall they make for Aaron thy brother, and for his sons, that he may serve me in the Priests office.

^c A short and strait coat without sleeves put upmost upon his garments, to keep them close into him.

5 Therefore they shall take gold, and blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linnen.

6 ¶ And they shall make the Ephod of gold, blew silk, and purple, & scarlet, & fine twined linnen of broidered worke.

7 The two shoulders thereof shall be joyned together by their two edges: so shall it be closed.

8 And the ^d embroidered gard of the same Ephod, which shall be upon him, shall be of the selfe same worke and stuffe, even of gold, blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linnen.

9 And thou shalt take two Onix stones, and grave upon them the names of the children of Israel.

10 Six names of them upon the one stone, and the six names that remaine, upon the second stone, according to ^e their generations.

^e As they were in age, so should they bee graven in order.

11 Thou shalt cause to grave the two stones according to the names of the children of Israel, by a graver of signers, that worketh and graveth in stone, and shalt make them to be set & embossed in gold.

12 And thou shalt put the two stones upon the two shoulders of the Ephod, as stones of ^f remembrance of the children of Israel: for Aaron shall bear their names before the Lord upon his two shoulders for a remembrance.

^f That Aaron might remember the Israelites to Godward.

13 ¶ So thou shalt make bosses of gold,

14 And two chaines of fine gold ^g at the end, of wrethen worke shalt thou make them, and shalt fasten the wrethen chaines upon the bosses.

^g Of the bosses.

15 ¶ Also thou shalt make the breast-plate of ^h judgement with broidered work: like the worke of the Ephod shalt thou make it, of gold, blue filke, & purple, & scarlet, & fine twined linnē shalt thou make it.

^h It was so called, because the High Priest could not give sentence in judgement without that on his breast.

20 And in the fourth row a [†] chrysolite, an onix, and a jasper: and they shall be set in gold in their embossments.

[†] Ebr. Turquoise.

21 And the stones shall be according to the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names, graven in signets, every one after his name, and they shall be for the twelve tribes.

holy place in his own name, but in the name of all the children of Israel.

29 So Aaron shall ^m beare the names of the children of Israel in the breast-plate of judgement upon his heart, when he goeth into the holy place, for a remembrance continually before the Lord.

ⁿ Urim signifieth light, and Thum-min perfection:
declaring that the stones of the breast-plate were most cleare, and of perfect beautie:
by Urim also is meant knowledge, and Thummin holinesse, shewing what vertues are required in the Priests.

30 ¶ Also thou shalt put in the breast-plate of judgement the ⁿ Urim and the Thummim, which shall be upon Aarons heart, when he goeth in before the Lord: and Aaron shall beare the judgement of the children of Israel upon his heart before the Lord continually.

31 ¶ And thou shalt make the robe of the Ephod altogether of blew silk.

32 And the hole for his head shall be in the middes of it, having an edge of woven worke round about the collar of it: so shall it be as the collar of an habergion that it rent not.

33 ¶ And beneath upon the skirts thereof, thou shalt make pomegranates of blew silk, and purple, and scarlet, round about the skirts thereof, and bells of gold between them round about:

34 That is, a golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, round about upon the skirts of the robe.

35 So shall it be upon Aaron, when he ministreth, and his sound shall be heard, when he goeth into the holy place before the Lord, and when he cometh out, and he shall not die.

pertaineth to the Lord: for he is most holy, and nothing unholy may appeare before him.

36 ¶ Also thou shalt make a plate of pure gold, and grave thereon, as signets are graven, ^o HOLINESSE TO THE LORD.

37 And thou shalt put it on a blew silk lace, and it shall be upon the miter; even upon the forefront of the miter shall it be.

38 So shall it be upon Aarons forehead, that Aaron may ^p beare the iniquitie of the offerings, which the children of Israel shall offer in all their holy offerings: and it shall be alwayes upon his forehead, to make them acceptable before the Lord.

could not be so perfect, but some fault would be therein: which sinne the high Priest bare, and pacified God.

39 Likewise thou shalt imbroider the fine linnen coat, and thou shalt make a miter of fine linnen, but thou shalt make a girdle of needle work.

40 Also thou shalt make for Aarons sonnes coats, and thou shalt make them girdles, and bonets shalt thou make them for glorie and comelineffe.

41 And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and on his sonnes with him, and shalt anoint them, and ^q fill their hands, and sanctifie them, that they may minister unto me in the Priests office.

^q That is, consecrate them by giving them things to offer, and thereby admit them to their office.

42 Thou shalt also make them linnen breeches to cover their privities: from the loines unto the thighs shall they reach.

43 And they shall be for Aaron and his sonnes when they come into the Tabernacle ^r of the Congregation, or when they come unto the altar to minister in the holy place, that they ^r commit not iniquitie, and so die. This shall be a law for ever unto him, and to his seed after him.

tration.

10 After, thou shalt present the calfe before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, * and Aaron and his sonnes shall c put their hands upon the head of the calfe.

11 So thou shalt kill the calfe before the Lord, at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

12 Then thou shalt take of the blood of the calfe, and put it upon the hornes of the Altar with thy finger, and shalt powre all the rest of the blood at the foot of the Altar.

13 * Also thou shalt take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the kall, that is on the liver, and the two kidneyes, and the fat that is upon them, and shalt burne them upon the Altar.

14 But the flesh of the calfe, and his skinne, & his dounge shalt thou burne with fire without the holte: it is a † sin offering.

15 ¶ Thou shalt also take one ramme, and Aaron and his sonnes shall put their hands upon the head of the ramme.

16 Then thou shalt kill the ramme, and take his blood, and sprinkle it round about upon the Altar, 17 And thou shalt cut the ramme in pieces, and wash the inwards of him and his legs, and shalt put them upon the pieces thereof, and upon his head.

18 So thou shalt burne the whole ram upon the Altar: for it is a burnt offering unto the Lord d for a sweet savour: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

19 ¶ And thou shalt take the other ram, and Aaron and his sonnes shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

20 Then shalt thou kill the ram, and take of his blood, and put it e upon the lap of Aarons eare, and upon the lappe of the right eare of his sonnes, & upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and shalt sprinkle the blood upon the Altar round about.

21 And thou shalt take of the blood that is f upon the Altar, & of the anointing oyle, and shalt sprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his sonnes, & upon the garments of his sonnes with him: so he shall be hallowed, and his clothes, and his sonnes, and the garments of his sonnes with him.

22 Also thou shalt take of the rams the fat and the rump, even the fat that covereth the inwards, and the kall of the liver, and the two kidneyes, and the fat that is upon them, and the right shoulder, (for it is the g ramme of consecration)

23 And one loafe of bread, and one cake of bread tempered with oyle, and one wafer, out of the basket of the unleavened bread that is before the Lord.

24 And thou shalt put all this in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his sonnes, and shalt shake them to and fro before the Lord.

25 Againe, thou shalt receive them of their hands, and burne them upon the Altar besides the burnt offering for a sweet savour before the Lord: for this is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

26 Likewise thou shalt take the breast of the ram of the consecration, which is for Aaron, and shalt shake it to h and fro before the Lord, and it shall be thy part.

27 And thou shalt sanctifie the breast of the shaken offering, and the shoulder of the i heave offering, which was shaken to and fro, and which was heaved up of the ram of the consecration, which was for Aaron, and which was for his sonnes.

28 And Aaron and his sonnes shall have it by a statute for ever, of the children of Israel: for it is an heave offering, and it shall be an heave offering of the children of Israel, of their k peace offerings, even their heave offering to the Lord.

29 ¶ And the holy garments, which appertaine to Aaron, shall be his sonnes after him, to be anoynted therein, and to be consecrate therein.

30 That sonne that shall be Priest in his stead, shall put them on seven dayes, when he commeth into the Tabernacle of the Congregation to minister in the holy place.

31 ¶ So thou shalt take the ramme of the consecration, and seeth his flesh in the holy place.

32 * And Aaron and his sonnes shall eat the flesh of the ramme, and the bread that is in the basket, at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

33 So they shall eat these things, l where-by their atonement was made, to consecrate them, and to sanctifie them: but a stranger shall not eate thereof, because they are holy things.

34 Now if ought of the flesh of the consecration, or of the bread remaine unto the morning, then thou shalt burne the rest with fire: it shall not be eaten, because it is an holy thing.

35 Therefore shalt thou doe thus unto Aaron and unto his sonnes, according to all things, which I have commanded thee: seven dayes shalt thou † consecrate them, 36 And shalt offer every day a calfe for a sinne offering, for m reconciliation: and thou shalt cleanse the altar, when thou hast offered upon it for reconciliation, & shalt anoint it, to sanctifie it.

37 Seven dayes shalt thou cleanse the altar, & sanctifie it, so the altar shall be most holy:

i The Altar of incense. 13 The summe that the Israelites should pay to the Tabernacle. 18 The brasen laver. 23 The anointing Oyle. 34 The making of the perfume.

a Upon the which the sweet perfume was burnt, verse 34.

Further more, thou shalt make an altar ^a for sweet perfume, of Shittim wood thou shalt make it.

b Of the same wood and matter.

2 The length thereof a cubite, and the breadth thereof a cubite (it shall be foure square) and the height thereof two cubites: the hornes thereof shall be ^b of the same, z Or, a circle and border.

3 And thou shalt overlay it with fine gold, both the top thereof and the sides thereof round about, and his hornes: also thou shalt make unto it ^z a crowne of gold round about.

4 Besides this, thou shalt make under this crown two golden rings on either side: even on every side shalt thou make them, that they may be as places for the barres to beare it withall.

5 The which barres thou shalt make of Shittim wood, and shalt cover them with gold.

e That is, in the Sanctuarie, and not in the holiest of all.

6 After thou shalt set it ^e before the Vaile, that is neere the Ark of the Testimonie, before the Mercie seate that is upon the Testimony, where I wil appoint with thee.

7 And Aaron shall burn thereon sweet incense every morning: when he ^d dresseth the lamps thereof, shall he burn it.

d Meaning, when he trimmeth them, and refresheth the oyle.

8 Likewise at even, when Aaron setteth up the lamps thereof, he shall burn incense: this perfume shall be perpetually before the Lord, throughout your generations.

6 Ye shall offer no ^e strange incense thereon, nor burnt sacrifice, nor offering, neither powre any drink-offering ^f thereon.

e Otherwise made then this, which is described.
f But it must onely serve to burn perfume.

10 And Aaron shall make reconciliation upon the horns of it once in a yeare, with the blood of the sin-offering in the day of reconciliation: once in the yeare shall he make reconciliation upō it throughout your generations: this is most holy unto the Lord.

11 ¶ Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

* Num. 1. 2. 5.

12 * When thou takest the summe of the children of Israel after their number, then they shall give every man ^g a redemption of his life unto the Lord, when thou tellest them, that there be no plague among them, when thou countest them.

g Whereby he testifieth that he redeemed his life which he had forfeit, as is declared by David, 2 Sam. 24. 1.

13 This shall every man give, that goeth into the number, half a shekel, after the ^h shekel of the Sanctuarie: (* a shekel ^h twentie gerahs) the half shekel shall be an offering to the Lord.

h This shekel valued two common shekels: and the gerah valued about 12 pence, after five shillings sterling the ounce of silver.
* Levit. 27. 25.
Num. 3. 47.
Ezek. 45. 12.

14 All that are numbred from twentie yeare old and above, shall give an offering unto the Lord.

15 The rich shall not passe, and the poore shall not diminish from half a shekel, when ye shall give an offering unto the Lord, ⁱ for the redemption of your lives.

i That God should be mercifull unto you.

16 So thou shalt take the money of the redemption of the children of Israel, and shalt put it unto the use of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, that it may be a memorial unto the childre of Israel before the Lord, for the redemption of your lives.

17 ¶ Also the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Thou shalt also make a laver of brasse, and his foot of brasle to wash, and shalt put it between the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the Altar, and shalt put water therein.

19 For Aaron and his sonnes shall ^k wash their hands and their feet thereat.

k Signifying, that he that cometh to God, must be washed from all sinne and corruption.

20 When they go into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, or when they goe unto the Altar to minister, and to make the perfume of the burnt-offering to the Lord, they shall wash themselves with water; lest they die.

21 So they shall wash their hands and their feet that they die not: and this shall be to them an ordinance ^l for ever, both to him & to his seed throughout their generatiōs.

l So long as the Priesthood shall last.

22 ¶ Also the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Also of Cassia five hundred, after the shekel of the Sanctuary, and of oyle olive an ^a hin.

25 So thou shalt make of it the oyle of holy oyntment, even a most precious oyntment after the art of the Apothecary: this shall be the oyle of holy oyntment.

26 And thou shalt anoint the ^a Tabernacle of the Congregation therewith, and the Arke of the Testimonie:

27 Also the Table, and all the instruments thereof, and the Candlestick, with all the instruments thereof, and the Altar of incense:

28 Also the Altar of burnt-offering with all his instruments, and the laver and his foot.

29 So thou shalt sanctifie them, and they shall be most holy: all that shall touch them, shall be holy.

30 Thou shalt also anoint Aaron and his sonnes, and shalt consecrate them, that they may minister unto me in the Priests office.

31 Moreover, thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, This shall be an holy oynting oyle unto me, throughout your generations.

32 None shall anoint ^a mans flesh therewith, neither shall ye make any composition like unto it: for it is holy, and shall be holy unto you.

33 Whosoever shall make the like oyntment, or whosoever shall put any of it upon ^a a stranger, even he shall be cut off from his people.

34 And the Lord said unto Moses, Take unto thee ^a these spices, pure myrrhe and cleare gumme, and galbanum, these odours with pure frankincense, of each like weight:

35 Then thou shalt make of them perfume composed after the art of the Apothecarie, mingled together, pure and holy.

36 And thou shalt beate it to powder, & shalt put of it before the Arke of the Testimonie in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, where I will make appointment with thee: it shall be unto you most holy.

37 And ye shall not make unto you any composition like this perfume, which thou shalt make: it shall be unto thee holy for the ^a Lord.

38 Whosoever shall make like unto that to smell thereto, even he shall be cut off from his people.

C H A P. XXXI.

2 God maketh Bezaleel and Aholiab meet for his work. 13 The Sabbath day is the signe of our sanctification. 18 The Tables written by the finger of God.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Behold, I ^a have called by name, Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur, of the tribe of Judah,

3 Whom I have filled with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all ^b workmanship:

4 To find out curious works to work in gold, and in silver, and in brasse,

5 Also in the art to set stones, and to carve in timber, and to work in all manner of workmanship.

6 And behold, I have joynd with him Aholiab the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, and in the hearts of all that are ^c wise-hearted, have I put wisdom to make all that I have commanded thee:

7 That is, the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the Ark of the Testimonie, & the Mercie-seate that shall be thereupon, with all instruments of the Tabernacle:

8 Also the Table and the instruments thereof, and the ^d pure Candlestick with all his instruments, and the Altar of perfume:

9 Likewise the Altar of burnt-offering with all his instruments, and the Laver with his foot:

11 And the ^e Anointing oyle, and sweet perfume for the Sanctuary: according to all that I have commanded thee, shall they doe.

12 ¶ Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

13 Speake thou also unto the children of Israel, and say, ^f Notwithstanding keep ye my Sabbaths: for it is a signe between me and you in your generations, that ye may know that I the Lord doe sanctifie you.

14 ^g Ye shall therefore keep the ^h Sabbath: for it is holy unto you: he that defileth it, shall die the death: therefore whosoever worketh therein, the same person shall be even cut off from among his people.

15 Six dayes shall men work, but in the seventh day ⁱ is the Sabbath of the holy rest to the Lord: whosoever doth any work in the Sabbath day, shall die the death.

16 Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, that they may observe the ^j rest throughout their generations for an everlasting covenant.

CHAP. XXXII.

^a The Israelites impute their deliverance to the calf. ¹⁴ God is appeased by Moses prayer. ¹⁹ Moses breaketh the Tables. ²⁷ Hee slayeth the idolaters. ³² Moses zeale for the people.

BUT when the people saw, that Moses tarried long ere he came downe from the mountaine, the people gathered themselves together against Aaron, and said unto him, Up, ^a make us gods to goe before us: for of this Moses (the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt) we know not what is become of him.

² And Aaron said unto them, ^b Pluck off the golden eareings, which are in the eares of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me.

³ Then all the people pluckt from themselves ^c the golden eareings, which were in their eares, and they brought them unto Aaron.

⁶ So they rose up the next day in the morning, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings: also the * people fate them downe to eate and to drinke, and rose up to play.

⁸ They * are soon turned out of the way, which I commanded them: for they have made them a molten calf, and have worshipped it, and have offered therto, saying, * These be thy gods, O Israel, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt.

¹⁰ Now ^f therefore let me alone, that my wrath may waxe hot against them, for I will consume them: but I will make of thee a mighty people.

¹² * Wherefore shall the Egyptians ^g speak, & say, He hath brought them out maliciously for to slay them in the mountaines, and to consume them from the earth? turne from thy fierce wrath, and ^h change thy minde from this evill toward thy people.

¹³ Remember ⁱ Abraham, Izhak, and Israel: thy servants, to whom thou swarest by thine owne selfe, and saidst unto them, * I will multiply your seed, as the starrs of heaven, and all this land that I have spoken of, will I give unto your seed, and they shall inherit it for ever.

¹⁴ Then the Lord changed his mind from the evill, which he threatned to doe unto his people.

¹⁵ So Moses returned and went down from the mountain with the two Tables of the Testimony in his hand: the Tables were written on both their sides, even on the one side & on the other were they writtē.

¹⁶ And these Tables were the worke of God, and ^h this writing was the writing of God graven in the Tables.

¹⁷ And when Joshua hard the noise of the people, as they shouted, he said unto Moses, There is a noise of war in the host.

¹⁸ Who answered, It is not the noise of them that have the victory, nor the noise of them that are overcome: but I doe hear the noise of singing.

²⁰ * After, he took the calf, which they had made, and burned it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and strowed it upon the water, and made the children of Israel ⁱ drinke of it.

²³ And they said unto mee, Make us gods to goe before us: for wee know not what is become of this Moses (the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt.)

²⁴ Then I said unto them, Ye that have gold, pluck it off: and they brought it mee, and I did cast it into the fire, and ^{thereof} came this calf.

²⁵ Moses therefore saw that the people were ^k naked (for Aaron had made them naked unto their shame among their enemies.)

²⁶ And Moses stood in the gate of the camp, and said, Who ^{peraineth} to the Lord? let him come to mee. And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves unto him.

Lord, God of Israel, Put every man his sword by his side: go to and fro, from gate to gate, through the host, and slay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour.

28 So the children of Levi did as Moses had commanded: & there fell of the people the same day about three thousand me.

29 (For Moses had said, Consecrate your hands unto the Lord this day, even every man upon his son, and upon his brother, that there may bee given you a blessing this day.)

30 And when the morning came, Moses said unto the people, Ye have committed a grievous crime: but now I will go up to the Lord, if I may pacifie him for your sin.

31 Moses therefore went againe unto the Lord, and said, Oh, this people have sinned a great sin, and have made them gods of gold.

32 Therefore now if thou pardon their sin, thy mercy shall appear: but if thou wilt not, I pray thee, rase mee out of thy booke, which thou hast written.

33 Then the Lord said to Moses, Whosoever have sinned against mee, I will put him out of my booke.

34 Go now therefore, bring the people unto the place which I commanded thee: behold, mine Angel shall goe before thee, but yet in the day of my visitation I will visit their sins upon them.

35 So the Lord plagued the people, because they caused Aaron to make the calf which he made.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The Lord promiseth to send an Angel before his people. 4 They are said because the Lord denieth to goe up with them. 9 Moses talketh familiarly with God. 13 He prayeth for the people. 18 And desireth to see the glory of the Lord.

Afterward the Lord said unto Moses, Depart, & goe up from hence, thou, and the people (which thou hast brought up out of the land of Egypt) unto the land which I sware unto Abraham, to Izhak, and to Jakob, saying, * Unto thy seed will I give it.

2 And * I will send an Angell before thee, and will cast out the Canaanites, the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites:

3 To a land, I say, that floweth with milk and hony: for I will not goe up with thee, * because thou art a stiff-necked people, lest I consume thee in the way.

4 And when the people heard this evill tidings, they sorrowed, and no man put on his best raiment.

5 (For the Lord had said to Moses, Say unto the children of Israel, Ye are a stiff-necked people, I will come suddenly upon thee, and consume thee: therefore now put thy costly raiment from thee, that I may know ^b what to doe unto thee)

6 So the children of Israel laid their good raiment from them, after Moses came downe from the mount Horeb.

7 Then Moses took his Tabernacle, & pitched it without the host far off from the host, and called it * Ohel-moed. And when any did seeke to the Lord, he went out unto the Tabernacle of the Congregation, which was without the host.

8 And when Moses went out unto the Tabernacle, all the people rose up, and stood every man at his tent doore, and looked after Moses, untill he was gone into the Tabernacle.

9 And as soon as Moses was entred into the Tabernacle, the cloudy pillar descended, and stood at the doore of the Tabernacle, and the Lord talked with Moses.

10 Now when all the people saw the cloudy pillar stand at the Tabernacle doore, all the people rose up, and worshipped every man in his tent doore.

11 And the Lord spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. After he turned again into the host, but his servant Joshua the son of Nun a yōg man, departed not out of the Tabernacle.

12 ¶ Then Moses said unto the Lord, See, thou sayest unto me, lead this people forth, & thou hast not shewed me whom thou wilt send with mee: thou hast said moreover, I know thee by name, and thou hast also found grace in my sight.

13 Now therefore I pray thee, If I have found favour in thy sight, shew mee now thy way, that I may know thee, and that I may find grace in thy sight: consider also that this Nation is thy people.

14 And hee answered, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest.

15 Then hee said unto him, If thy presence goe not with us, carry us not hence.

16 And wherein now shall it be known, that I and thy people have found favour in thy sight? shall it not be when thou goest with us? so I, and thy people shall have preeminence before all the people that are upon the earth.

17 And the Lord said unto Moses, I will doe this also that thou hast said: for thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name.

18 Again he said, I beseech thee, shew mee thy glory.

19 And he answered, I will make all my good go before thee, and I will proclaim the Name of the Lord before thee: * for I will shew mercy to whom I will shew mercy, and will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.

20 Furthermore he said, Thou canst not see b Thus either I may shew mercy if thou repent, or else punish thy rebellion.

3 The Tables are renewed. 6 The description of God. 12 All fellowship with idolaters is forbidden. 18 The three Feasts.
28 Moses is fourty dayes in the Mount. 38 His face shineth, and he covereth it with a Vail.

And the Lord said unto Moses, * Hew thee two tables of stone, like unto the first, and I will write upon the Tables the words that were in the first Tables, which thou brakest in pieces.

2 And be ready in the morning, that thou mayest come up early unto the mount of Sinai, and † wait there for me in the top of the Mount.

3 But let no man come up with thee, neither let any man be seen throughout all the Mount, neither let the sheep nor cattel feed ‡ before this Mount.

4 ¶ Then Moses ‡ hewed two Tables of stone like unto the first, and rose up early in the morning, and went up unto the Mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, & took in his hand two Tables of stone.

5 And the Lord descended in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the Name of the Lord.

6 So the Lord passed before his face, and cried, The Lord, the Lord, strong, mercifull, and gracious, slow to anger, and abundant in goodnesse and trueth,

7 Reserving mercie for thousands, forgiving iniquitie, and transgression, and sin, and not † making the wicked innocent, * visiting the iniquitie of the fathers, upon the children, and upon childrens children, unto 8 Then Moses made haste and bowed himself to the earth, and worshipped,

9 And said, O Lord, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy sight, that the Lord would now go with us (^b for it is a stiffenecked people) and pardon our iniquitie and our sin, and take us for thine inheritance.

10 And he answered, Behold, * I will make a covenant before all thy people, and will do marveiles, such as have not been done in all the world, neither in all Nations: and all the people among whom thou art, shall see the work of the Lord: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

11 Keep diligently that which I command thee this day: Behold, I will cast out before thee the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Iebusites.

12 * Take heed to thy self, that thou make no compact with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest, least they be the cause of ^c ruine among you:

13 But ye shall overthrow their altars, and break their images in pieces, and cut down their ^d groves, him not, then thou shalt break his neck: all deem, and none shall appeare before me

ing time, and in the harvest thou shalt rest.

27 And the Lord said unto Moses, Write thou these words: for after the tenour of these words I have made a Covenant with thee and with Israel.

28 So he was there with the Lord fourtie dayes and fourtie nights, and did neither eate bread nor drink water: and he wrote in the Tables the words of the Covenant, even the ten Commandements.

29 ¶ So when Moses came down from mount Sinai, the two Tables of the Testimonie were in Moses hand, as he descended from the mount: (now Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone bright, after that God had talked with him.)

30 And Aaron and all the children of Israel looked upon Moses, and behold, the skinne of his face shone bright, and they were afraid to come neere him.

31 But Moses called them: And Aaron & all the chiefe of the Congregation returned unto him: and Moses talked with them.

32 And afterward all the children of Israel came neere, and he charged them with all that the Lord had said unto him in mount Sinai.

33 So Moses made an ende of communing with them, and had put a covering upon his face.

34 But, when Moses came before the Lord to speake with him, he took off the covering untill he came out: then he came out, and spake unto the children of Israel that which he was commanded.

35 And the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, how the skinne of Moses face shone bright: therefore Moses put the covering upon his face, untill he went to speak with God.

C H A P. XXXV.

2 The Sabbath. 5 The free gifts are required. 21 The readiness of the people to offer. 30 Bezaleel and Aholiab are praised of Moses.

Then Moses assembled all the Congregation of the children of Israel, and said unto them, These are the words which the Lord hath commanded, that ye should doe them:

2 * Six dayes thou shalt work, but the seventh day shall be unto you the holy Sabbath of rest unto the Lord: whosoever doeth any work therein, shall die.

3 Yee shall kindle no fire throughout all your habitations upon the Sabbath day.

4 ¶ Againe, Moses spake unto all the Congregation of the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the Lord commandeth, saying,

5 Take from among you an offering unto the Lord: whosoever is of a * willing heart, let him bring this offering to the Lord, namely, gold, and silver, and brasse:

6 Also blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linnen, and goats haire,

7 And rammes skinned red, and badgers skinned, with Shittim wood,

8 And oyle for light, and spices for the anointing oyle, and for the sweet incense, 9 And onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the breastplate.

10 And all the wise hearted among you, shall come and make all that the Lord hath commanded:

11 That is, the * Tabernacle, the pavilion thereof, and his covering, and his taches, and his boards, his barres, his pillars, and his sockets,

12 The Arke, and the barres thereof: the Mercie-seat, and the vaile that covereth it, 13 The Table, and the barres of it, and all the instruments thereof, & the shew-bread.

14 Also the Candlestick of light, and his instruments, and his lamps with the oyle for the light:

15 * Likewise the Altar of perfume and his barres, and the anointing oyle, and the sweet incense, and the vaile of the doore at the entering in of the Tabernacle,

16 The * Altar of burnt offering with his brasen grate, his barres and all his instruments, the laver and his foot,

17 The hangings of the Court, his pillars, and his sockets, and the vaile of the gate of the Court,

18 The pinnes of the Tabernacle, and the pinnes of the Court with their cords,

19 The * ministring garments to minister in the Holy place, & the holy garments for Aaron the Priest, and the garments of his sons, that they may minister in the Priests office, 20 ¶ Then all the Congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses.

21 And every one, whose heart + encouraged him, and every one, whose spirit made him willing, came and brought an offering to the Lord, for the work of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and for all his uses, and for the holy garments.

22 Both men and women, as many as were free-hearted, came and brought taches and earings, and rings, and bracelets, all were jewels of gold: and every one that offered, offered an offering of gold unto the Lord:

23 Every man also, which had blue silke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linnen, and goates haire, and rammes skins died red, and badgers skins, brought them.

24 All that offered an oblation of silver & of brasse, brought the offering unto the Lord: and every one, that + had Shittim wood for any manner of work of the ministration, brought it.

25 And all the women that were wise-hearted, did spin with their hands, and brought the spun work, even the blue silk, and 27 And the rulers brought Onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the breastplate.

28 Also spice, and oyle for light, and for the ^g anointing oyle, and for the sweet perfume.

29 Every man and woman of the children of Israel, whose hearts moved them willingly to bring for all the work, which the Lord had commanded them to make ^h by the hand of Moses, brought a free offering unto the Lord.

30 ¶ Then Moses said unto the children of Israel, Behold, ⁱ the Lord hath called by name Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.

31 And hath filled him ^j with an excellent spirit of wisdom, of understanding, and of knowledge, and in all maner of worke,

32 To find out curious works, to work in gold, and in silver, and in brasse, 33 And in graving stones to set them, and in carving of wood, ^k even to make any maner of fine worke.

34 And he hath put in his heart that he may teach ^l other: both he, and Aholiab the sonne of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan:

35 Them hath he filled with wisdom of heart to worke all maner of ^m cunning, and broidered, and needle worke, in blue silk, and in purple, in scarlet, and in fine linnen and weaving, ⁿ even to doe all maner of worke and subtile inventions.

CHAP. XXXVI.

3 The great readines of the people, in ^o much that he commanded them to cease. 8 The curtaines made. 19 The coverings. 20 The boards. 31 The bars. 35 And the vails.

Then wrought Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all ^p cunning men, to whom the Lord gave wisdom, & understanding, to know how to worke all maner of worke for the service of the ^q Sanctuary, according to all that the Lord had commanded.

2 For Moses had called Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all the wise-hearted men in whose hearts the Lord had given wisdom, ^r even as many as their hearts encouraged to come unto that work to worke it.

3 And they received of Moses all the offering which the children of Israel had brought for the worke of the service of the Sanctuary, to make it: also ^s they brought still unto him free gifts every morning.

4 So all the wise men that wrought all the holy worke, came every man from his worke which they wrought,

5 And spake to Moses, saying, The people bring too much, and more then enough for the use of the worke, which the Lord hath commanded to be made.

6 Then Moses gave a commandment, and they caused it to be proclaimed throughout the hoste, saying, Let neither man nor woman prepare any more worke for the oblation of the Sanctuary: So the people were stayed from offering.

7 For the stuffe they had was sufficient for all the worke to make it, and too much.

8 ^t All the cunning men therefore among the workemen, made ^u for the Tabernacle ten curtaines of fine twined linnen, and of blue silk, and purple, and scarlet: ^v Cherubims of broidered worke made they ^w upon them.

9 The length of one curtaine ^x was twenty and eight cubites: and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubites: and the curtaines were all of one size.

10 And he coupled five curtaines together, & the other five coupled he together.

11 And he made strings of blue silk by the edge of one curtaine, in the selvedge of the coupling: likewise he made on the side of the ^y other curtaine in the selvedge in the second coupling.

12 ^z Fifty strings made he in the one curtaine, and fiftie strings made he in the edge of the ^{aa} other curtaine, which was in the second coupling: the strings were set one against another.

13 After, he made fifty ^{ab} taches of gold, and coupled the curtaines one to another with the taches: so was it one Tabernacle.

14 ¶ Also he made curtaines of goats ^{ac} haire for the ^{ad} covering upon the Tabernacle: he made them ^{ae} to the number of eleven curtaines.

15 The length of one curtaine ^{af} had thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubits: the eleven curtaines were of one size.

16 And he coupled five curtaines by themselves, and six curtaines by themselves:

17 Also he made fifty strings upon the edge of ^{ag} one curtaine in the selvedge in the coupling, and fifty strings made he upon the edge of the ^{ah} other curtaine in the second coupling.

18 He made also fifty taches of brasse to couple the covering that it might be one.

19 And he made a ^{ai} covering upon the pavilion of rammes skins died red, and a covering of badgers skins above.

20 ¶ Likewise he made the boards for the Tabernacle of Shittim wood to ^{aj} stand up.

21 The length of a board ^{ak} was ten cubits, and the breadth of a board was a cubite, and an halfe.

22 One board had two tenons, set in order as the feet of a ladder, one against another: thus made he for all the boards of the Tabernacle.

23 So he made twenty boards for the 25 Also for the other side of the tabernacle toward the North, he made twenty boards, 26 And their fourty sockets of silver, two sockets under one board, and two sockets under another board.

27 Likewise toward the West side of the Tabernacle he made fixe boards.

28 And two boards made he in the corners of the Tabernacle, for either side, 29 And they were joyned beneath, and likewise were made sure above with a ring: this he did to both in both corners.

30 So there were eight boards and their sixteene sockets of silver, under every board two sockets.

31 ¶ After, he made barres of Shittim wood, five for the boards in the one side of the Tabernacle, 32 And five barres for the boards in the other side of the Tabernacle, & five barres for the boards of the Tabernacle on the side toward the West.

33 And he made the middest barre to shoote through the boards, from the one end to the other.

34 He overlayd also the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold for places for the barres, & covered the barres with gold.

35 ¶ Moreover he made a vaile of blue silk, and purple, and of scarlet, and of fine twined linnen: with Cherubims of broidered worke made he it:

36 And made therunto foure pillars of Shittim, and overlayd them with gold: whose hooks were also of gold, and he cast for them foure sockets of silver.

37 And he made an hanging for the tabernacle doore, of blue silk, and purple, & scarlet, & fine twined linnen, & needle worke, 38 And the five pillars of it with their hookes, and overlaid their chapiters and their fillets with gold, but their five sockets were of brasse.

After this, Bezaleel made the Arke of Shittim wood, two cubits and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and a cubite and an halfe high:

2 And overlaid it with fine gold within and without, and made a crown of gold to it round about,

3 And cast for it foure rings of gold for the foure corners of it: that is, two rings for the one side of it, and two rings for the other side thereof.

4 Also he made barres of Shittim wood, and covered them with gold,

5 And put the barres in the rings by the sides of the arke, to beare the arke.

6 ¶ And he made the Mercie seat of pure gold: two cubits and an halfe was the length thereof, and one cubit and an halfe the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two Cherubims of gold, upon the two ends of the Mercie seat: even of work beaten with the hammer made he them.

8 One Cherub on the one end, and another Cherub on the other end: of the Mercie seat made he the Cherubims, at the two ends thereof.

9 And the Cherubims spread out their wings on high, and covered the Mercie seat with their wings, and their faces were one towards another: toward the Mercie seat were the faces of the Cherubims.

10 ¶ Also he made the Table of Shittim wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a cubite the breadth thereof, and a cubite and an halfe the height of it.

11 And he overlaid it with fine gold, and made thereto a crown of gold round about 12 Also he made thereto a border of an hand breadth round about, & made upon the border a crown of gold round about.

13 And he cast for it foure rings of gold, and put the rings in the foure corners that were in the four feet thereof.

14 Against the border were the rings, as places for the barres to beare the Table.

15 And he made the barres of Shittim wood, and covered them with gold to beare the Table.

16 And he made the instruments for the Table of pure gold: dishes for it, and incense cups for it, and goblets for it, and coverings for it, wherewith it should be covered.

17 ¶ Likewise he made the Candlestick of pure gold: of worke beaten out with the hammer made he the Candlestick, and his shaft, and his branch, his bowles, his knops, and his flowres were of one piece.

18 And six branches came out of the sides thereof: three branches of the candlestick out of the one side of it, and three branches of the candlestick out of the other side of it.

19 In one branch three bowles made like almonds, a knop & a flowre, and in another branch three bols made like almonds, a knop & a flowre: and so throughout the six branches that proceeded out of the candlestick.

20 And upon the Candlestick were foure bowles after the fashion of almonds, the knops thereof, and the flowres thereof:

26 And he covered it with pure gold, both the top and the sides thereof round about, and the hornes of it, and made unto it a crown of gold round about.

27 And he made two rings of gold for it, under the crowne thereof, in the two corners of the two sides thereof, to put barres in for to beare it therewith.

Also he made the altar of the burnt offering * of Shittim wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof: it was square, and three cubits high.

* Chap. 27. 3.

† Or, fire-pans.

3 Also he made all the instruments of the altar: the * ashpans, and the besoms, and the basons, the flesh hooks, and the † censers: all the instruments thereof made he of brasfe.

4 Moreover, he made a brasen grate, wrought like a net to the Altar, under the compasse of it beneath in the * mids of it, a So that the grid-iron or grate, was halfe so hie as the Altar, and stood within it.

5 And cast foure rings of brasfe for the four ends of the grate to put barres in.

6 And he made the barres of Shittim wood, and covered them with brasfe.

7 The which barres he put into the rings on the sides of the Altar to beare it withall, and made it * hollow within the boards.

* Chap. 27. 8.

8 ¶ Also he made the Laver of brasfe, and the foot of it of brasfe of the ^b glasses of the women that did assemble and came together at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

b Rab. Kimhi saith, that the women brought their looking glasses which were of brasfe or fine metall, and offered them freely unto the use of the tabernacle: which was a bright thing, and of great majestie.

9 ¶ Finally, he made the Court on the Southside full South: the hangings of the Court were of fine twined linnen, having an hundred cubits.

10 Their pillars were twentie, and their brasen sockets twentie: the hookes of the pillars, and their fillets were of silver.

11 An on the Northside the hangings were an hundred cubits: their pillars twentie, & their sockets of brasfe twentie, the hookes of the pillars and their fillets of silver.

12 On the West side also were hangings of fiftie cubits, their ten pillars with their ten sockets: the hookes of the pillars, and their fillets of silver.

13 And toward the East side, full East were hangings of fiftie cubits.

14 The hangings of the one side were fiftie cubits, their three pillars, and their three sockets:

15 And of the other side of the Court-gate on both sides were hangings of fiftie cubits, with their three pillars, and their three sockets.

* Chap. 27. 14.

16 All the hangings of the Court round about were of fine twined linnen:

17 But the sockets of the pillars were of brasfe: the hookes of the pillars and their fillets of silver, and the covering of their chapters of silver: and all the pillars of the court were hooped about with silver.

18 He made also the hanging of the gate of the court of needle work, blew filke, & purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linnen, even twentie cubits long, & five cubits in height & breadth, † like the hangings of the court.

† Ebr. over against.

19 And their pillars were foure, with their foure sockets of brasfe: their hookes of silver, and the covering of their chapters, and their fillets of silver.

20 But all the * pinnes of the tabernacle, and of the court round about were of brasfe.

* Chap. 27. 19.

21 ¶ These are the parts of the tabernacle, I meane, of the tabernacle of the Testimonie, which was appointed by the commandement of Moses for the office of the * Levites, by the hand of Ithamar sonne to Aaron the Priest.

c That the Levites might have the charge thereof, and minister in the same, as did Eleazar, and Ithamar, Num. 3. 4.

22 So Bezaleel the sonne of Uri the sonne of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the Lord commanded Moses.

23 And with him Aholiab sonne of Ahimach of the tribe of Dan, a ^d cunning workman, and an embroiderer, and a worker of needle work in blue filke, and in purple, and in scarlet, and in fine linnen.

d As a graver, or carpenter, Chap. 31. 4.

24 All the gold that was occupied in all the worke wrought for the holy place (which was the gold of the offering) was nine and twentie talents, and seven hundred and thirtie shekels, according to the shekel of the Sanctuary.

25 But the silver of them that were numbered in the Congregation, was an hundred talents, and a thousand seven hundred seventy and five shekels after the shekel of the Sanctuary.

thousand, and three thousand, and five hundred and fiftie men.

27 Moreover there were an hundred talents of silver, to cast the sockets of the Sanctuary, and the sockets of the Vaile: an hundred sockets of an hundred talents, a talent for a socket.

28 But he made the hooks for the pillars of a thousand seven hundred and seventy and five shekels, and overlaid their chapiters, and made fillets about them.

29 Also the brasse of the offering was seventie talents, and two thousand, and foure hundred shekels.

30 Whereof he made the sockets to the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the brazen altar, and the brazen grate which was for it, with all the instruments of the altar, 31 And the sockets of the Court round about, and the sockets of the Court gate, and all the pins of the Tabernacle, and all the pins of the Court round about.

C H A P. XXXIX.

1 The apparel of Aaron and his sonnes. 32 All that the Lord commanded, was made and finished. 43 Moses blest the people.

^a As coverings for the Arke, the Candlestick, the Altars, and such like. * Chap. 31. 10. and 35. 19.

Moreover, they made garments of ministration to minister in the Sanctuary, of blue filke, and purple, and scarlet: they made also the holy garments for Aaron, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

2 So he made the Ephod of gold, blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linnen.

3 And they did beate the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wyers, to worke it in the blue filke, and in the purple, and in the scarlet, and in the fine linnen, with broidered worke.

4 For the which they made shoulders to couple together: for it was closed by the two edges thereof.

5 And the broidered gard of his Ephod that was upon him, was of the same stuffe, and of like work: even of gold, of blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linnen, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

* Chap. 28. 9.

6 ¶ And they wrought two onix stones closed in ouches of gold, and graved, as signs are graven, with the names of the children of Israel,

^b That is, of very fine and curious workmanship.

7 And put them on the shoulders of the Ephod, as stones for a remembrance of the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

* Chap. 28. 12.

8 ¶ Also he made the breastplate of broidered worke like the worke of the Ephod: to wit, of gold, blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linnen.

9 They made the breastplate double, and it was square, an handbreadth long, and an handbreadth broad: it was also double.

10 And they filled it with foure rowes of stones. The order was thus, a Rubie, a Topaze, and a Carbuncle in the first row:

11 And in the second row, an Emeraud, a Saphir, and a Diamond:

12 Also in the third row, a Turkeis, an Achate, an Hematite:

13 Likewise in the fourth row, a Chrysolite, an Onix, and a Jasper: closed and set in ouches of gold.

14 So the stones were according to the names of the children of Israel, even twelve after their names, graven like signets every one after his name, according to the twelve tribes.

15 After, they made upon the breastplate chaines at the ends, of wrethen worke and pure gold.

16 They made also two bosses of gold, and two gold rings, and put the two rings in the two corners of the breastplate.

17 And they put the two wrethen chaines of gold in the two rings, in the corners of the breastplate.

18 Also the two other ends of the two wrethen chaines, they fastened in the two bosses, and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod upon the forefront of it.

19 Likewise they made two rings of gold, and put them in the two other corners of the breastplate upon the edge or it, which was on the inside of the Ephod.

20 They made also two other golden rings, and put them on the two sides of the Ephod, beneath on the foreside of it, and over against his coupling above the broidered gard of the Ephod.

21 Then they fastened the breastplate by his rings unto the rings of the Ephod, with a lace of blue silk, that it might be fast upon the broidered gard of the Ephod, & that the breastplate should not be loosed from the Ephod, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

22 ¶ Moreover, he made the robe of the Ephod of woven work, altogether of blue filke.

^e Which was next under the Ephod.

23 And the hole of the robe was in the mids of it, as the collar of an habergeon, with an edge about the collar, that it should not rent.

^f Where he should put thorow his head.

24 And they made upon the skirts of the robe pomegranates, of blue filke, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linnen twined.

25 They made also bells of pure gold, and put the bells betweene the pomegranates, upon the skirts of the robe, round about betweene the pomegranates.

* Chap. 28. 33.

26 A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, round about the skirts of the robe to minister in, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

27 ¶ After, they made coats of fine linnen, of woven worke for Aaron & for his sons.

28 And the miter of fine linnen, & goodly

* Chap. 28. 42.

ly bonets of fine linnen, and linnen * breeches of fine twined linnen.

29 ¶ And the girdle of fine twined linnen, and of blue filk, and purple, and ſcarlet, even of needle worke, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

30 ¶ Finally, they made the plate for the holy crowne of fine gold, and wrote upon it a ſuperſcription like to the graving of a ſigner, * HOLINES TO THE LORD.

* Chap. 28. 36.

31 And they tied unto it a face of blue filke, to faſten it on high upon the miter, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

* Chap. 27. 21.

32 ¶ Thus was all the worke of the Tabernacle, even of the * Tabernacle of the Congregation finiſhed: and the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord had commanded Moſes: ſo did they.

33 ¶ Afterward they brought the Tabernacle unto Moſes, the Tabernacle and all his instruments, his taches, his boards, his barres, and his pillars, and his ſockets,

34 And the covering of rams ſkins died, and the coverings of badgers ſkins, and the * covering vaile,

35 The arke of the Teſtimony, and the barres thereof, and the Mercy-ſeat, 36 The Table, with all the instruments thereof, and the ſhew-bread, 37 The pure candleſtick, the lamps thereof, even the lamps * ſet in order, and all the instruments thereof, and the oyle for light:

38 Alſo the golden altar, and the anointing oyle, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging of the Tabernacle doore,

39 The braſen altar with his grate of braſſe, his barres, and all his instruments, the laver and his foot, 40 The curtaines of the Court with his pillars, and his ſockets, and the hanging to the court gate, and his coards, and his pins, and all the instruments of the ſervice of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

41 Finally, the miniſtring garments to ſerve in the Sanctuary, and the holy garments for Aaron the Prieſt, and his ſons garments to miniſter in the Prieſts office.

42 According to every point that the Lord had * commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael made all the worke.

43 And Moſes beheld all the worke, and behold, they had done it as the Lord had commanded: ſo had they done: and Moſes * bleſſed them.

CHAP. XL.

1 The Tabernacle with the appertinances is reared up. 34 The glory of the Lord appeareth in the cloud covering the Tabernacle.

Then the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 In the * fiſt day of the fiſt moneth, in the very fiſt of the ſame moneth ſhalt thou ſet up the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation:

3 And thou ſhalt put therein the arke of the Teſtimony, and cover the arke with the vaile.

4 Alſo thou ſhalt bring in the * Table, and ſet it in order as it doeth require: thou ſhalt alſo bring in the candleſtick, and light his lamps,

5 And thou ſhalt ſet the incenſe altar b of gold, before the arke of the teſtimony, and put the * hanging at the doore of the Tabernacle.

6 Moreover, thou ſhalt ſet the burnt offering altar before the doore of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

7 And thou ſhalt ſet the Laver between the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the altar, and put water therein.

8 Then thou ſhalt appoint the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court gate.

9 After, thou ſhalt take the anointing oyle, and anoint the Tabernacle, and all that is therein, and hallow it with all the instruments thereof, that it may be holy.

10 And thou ſhalt anoint the altar of the burnt offering, and all his instruments, and ſhalt ſanctifie the altar, that it may be an altar moſt holy.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt anoint the Laver and his foot, and ſhalt ſanctifie it.

12 Then thou ſhalt bring Aaron and his ſons unto the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and waſh them with water.

13 And thou ſhalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and ſhalt anoint him, and ſanctifie him, that he may miniſter unto mee in the Prieſts office.

14 Thou ſhalt alſo bring his ſons, and clothe them with garments,

15 And ſhalt anoint them as thou diſt anoint their father, that they may miniſter unto mee in the Prieſts office: for their anointing ſhall be a ſigne, that the Prieſthood, d ſhall bee everlaſting unto them throughout their generations.

16 So Moſes did according to all that the Lord had commanded him: ſo did hee.

17 ¶ Thus was the Tabernacle reared up the fiſt day of the fiſt moneth, in the e ſecond yeare.

18 Then Moſes reared up the Tabernacle, and faſtened his ſockets, and ſet up the boards thereof, and put in the barres of it, and reared up his pillars, 19 And he ſpread the covering over the Tabernacle, and put the covering of that covering on high above it, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

22 ¶ Furthermore he put the table in the tabernacle of the Congregation, in the North side of the tabernacle, without the vaile, 23 And set the bread in order before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

24 ¶ Also hee put the Candlestick in the tabernacle of the Congregation, over against the table toward the South side of the tabernacle.

^h Or, as up.

25 And he[†] lighted the lamps before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

26 ¶ Moreover he set the golden altar in the tabernacle of the Congregation before the vaile, 28 ¶ Also hee hanged up the vaile at the[‡] doore of the tabernacle.

29 After hee set the burnt offering altar without the doore of the tabernacle, called the tabernacle of the Congregation, and offered the burnt offering and the sacrifice thereon, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

30 ¶ Likewise hee set the Laver betweene the tabernacle of the Congregation and the altar, and powred water therein to wash with.

31 So Moses and Aaron, and his sons washed their hands and their feet thereat.

32 When they went into the tabernacle of the Congregation, and when they approached to the altar, they washed, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

33 Finally, hee reared up the Court round about the tabernacle and the altar, and hanged up the vaile at the court gate: so Moses finished the worke.

34 ¶^{*} Then the cloud covered the tabernacle of the Congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle.

^h Num. 9. 15.

35 So Moses could not enter into the tabernacle of the Congregation, because the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle.

36 Now when the cloud ascended up from the tabernacle, the children of Israel went forward in all their journeyes.

37 But if the cloud ascended not, then they journeyed not till the day that it ascended.

38 For^h the cloud of the Lord^{was} upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeyes.

^h Thus the presence of God preserved and guided them night and day, till they came to the land promised.

THE THIRD BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED * LEVITICVS.

^g Because in this book is chiefly contained of the Levites, and of things pertaining to their office.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS God daily by most singular benefits declared himselfe to be mindfull of his Church: so he would not that they should have any occasion to trust either in themselves, or to depend upon others, either for lack of temporall things, or ought that belonged to his Divine Service and Religion. Therefore he ordained divers kinds of oblations and sacrifices, to assure them of forgiveness of their offences (if they offered them in true faith and obedience.) Also he appointed their Priests and Levites, their apparell, offices, conversation and portion: he shewed what feast they should observe, and in what times. Moreover, he declared by these sacrifices and ceremonies that the reward of sin is death, and that without the blood of Christ, the innocent Lambe, there can be no forgiveness of sins. And because they should give no place to their owne inventions (which thing God most detesteth, as appeareth by the terrible example of Nadab and Abihu) he prescribeth even to the least things, what they should do, as what beasts they should offer and eat: what diseases were contagious and to be avoided: what order they should take for all manner of filthinesse and pollution to purge it: whose company they should flee: what marriages were lawfull: and what politike lawes were profitable. Which things declared, he promised favour and blessing to them that kept his lawes, and threatned his curse to them that transgressed them.

CHAP.

C H A P. I.

2 Of burnt offerings for particular persons. 3. 10 and 14 The manner to offer burnt offerings as well of bullocks, as of sheep and birds.

a Hereby Moses declareth, that hee taught nothing to the people, but that which he received of God.

Now the Lord called Moses, and spake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them,

If any of you offer a sacrifice unto the Lord, ye shall offer your sacrifice of cattell, as of beeves and of sheepe.

3 * If his sacrifice be a burnt offering of the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish, presenting him of his owne voluntary will at the doore of the tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord.

4 And hee shall put his hand upon the head of the burnt offering, & it shall be accepted to the Lord, to be his atonement.

5 And he shall kill the bullock before the Lord, and the Priests Aarons sons shall offer the blood, and shall sprinkle it round about upon the altar, that is by the door of the tabernacle of the Congregation.

6 Then shall hee slay the burnt offering, and cut it in pieces.

7 So the sons of Aaron the Priest shall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire.

8 Then the Priests Aarons sons shall lay the parts in order, the head and the caul, upon the wood that is in the fire which is upon the altar.

9 But the inwards thereof and the legs thereof hee shall wash in water, and the Priest shall burn all on the altar: for it is a burnt offering, an oblation made by fire, for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

10 ¶ And if his sacrifice for the burnt offering be of the flocks (as of the sheepe, or of the goats) he shall offer a male without blemish,

11 And he shall kill it on the North side of the altar before the Lord, and the Priests Aarons sons shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

12 And he shall cut it in pieces, separating his head and his caul, and the Priest shall lay them in order upon the wood that lieth in the fire which is on the altar:

13 But he shall wash the inwards, and the legs with water, and the Priest shall offer the whole, and burn it upon the altar: for it is a burnt offering, and oblation made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

14 ¶ And if his sacrifice be a burnt offering to the Lord of the fowles, then hee shall offer his sacrifice of the turtle doves, or of the young pigeons.

15 And the Priest shall bring it unto the altar, and wring the neck of it asunder, & burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof shall be pressed upon the side of the altar.

16 And he shall pluck out his maw with his fethers, and cast them beside the altar on the East part in the place of the ashes, 17 And he shall cleave it with his wings, but not divide it asunder: and the Priest shall burn it upon the altar upon the wood that is in the fire: for it is a burnt offering, an oblation made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

C H A P. II.

The meat offering is after three sorts: of fine flowre unbaken, of bread baken. 14 And of corne in the eare.

And when any will offer a meat offering unto the Lord, his offering shall be of fine flowre, and he shall powre oyl upon it, and put incense thereon,

2 And shall bring it unto Aarons sons the Priests, and he shall take thence his handfull of the flowr, and of the oyl with all the incense, and the Priest shall burn it for a memoriall upon the altar: for it is an offering made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

3 * But the remnant of the meat offering shall be Aarons and his sons: for it is most holy of the Lords offering made by fire.

4 ¶ If thou bring also a meat offering baken in the oven, it shall be an unleavened cake of fine flowre mingled with oyle, or an unleavened wafer anointed with oyle.

5 ¶ But if thy meat offering be an oblation of the frying pan, it shall be of fine flowre unleavened, mingled with oyle.

6 And thou shalt part it in pieces, and poure oyl thereon: for it is a meat offering.

7 ¶ And if thy meat offering be an oblation made in the chaldron, it shall be made of fine flowre with oyle.

8 After, thou shalt bring the meat offering (that is made of these things) unto the Lord, and shalt present it unto the Priest, and he shall bring it to the altar,

9 And the Priest shall take from the meat offering a memoriall of it, and shall burn it upon the altar: for it is an oblation made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

10 But that which is left of the meat offering shall be Aarons & his sons: for it is most holy of the offerings of the Lord made by fire.

11 All the meat offerings which ye shall offer unto the Lord, shall be made without leaven: for ye shall neither burn leaven nor hony in any offering of the Lord made by fire.

12 ¶ In the oblation of the first fruits ye shall offer them unto the Lord, but they

a. A sacrifice of thanksgiving offered for peace and prosperity, either generally or particularly.

Also, if his oblation be a * peace offering, if he will offer of the drove (whether it be male or female) he shall offer such as is without blemish, before the Lord,

c. Or, the kidneys, and the fat that is on them, and upon $\frac{1}{2}$ the flanks.

5. And Aarons sons shall burn it on the altar, with the burnt offering, which is upon the wood, that is on the fire: this is a sacrifice made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

6. ¶ Also if his oblation be a peace offering unto the Lord out of the flock, whether it be * male or female, he shall offer it without blemish.

c. In the peace offering it was indifferent to offer either male or female, but in the burnt offering only the males; so here can be offered no birds, but in the burnt offering they might: all there was consumed with fire, and in the peace offering but a part.

7. If he offer a lambe for his oblation, then he shall bring it before the Lord,

8. And lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and shall kill it before the Tabernacle of the congregation, and Aarons sons shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

d. The burnt offering was wholly consumed, and of the offering made by fire only the inwards, &c. were burnt: the shoulder & breast, with the two jaws & the maw were the Priests, and the rest his that offered.

9. After, of the peace offerings he shall offer $\frac{1}{2}$ an offering made by fire unto the Lord: he shall take away the fat thereof, & the rumpe altogether, hard by the back bone, & the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

10. Also he shall take away the two kidneys, with the fat that is upon them and upon the * flanks, and the caul upon the liver with the kidneys. * Verse 4.

11. Then the Priest shall burn it upon the altar, as the meat of an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

12. ¶ Also if his offering be a goat, then shall he offer it before the Lord,

13. And shall put his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before the * Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about.

e. Meaning at the North side of the Altar. Chap. 2. 1.

14. Then he shall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord, the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

15. Also he shall take away the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and upon the flanks, and the caul upon the liver with the kidneys.

16. So the Priest shall burn them upon the Altar, as the meat of an offering made by fire for a sweet savour: * all the fat is the Lords.

CHAP. IV.

The offering for sin done of ignorance. 3. For the Priest, 13. The Congregation, 22. The ruler, 27. And the private man.

Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2. Speake unto the children of Israel, saying, If \dagger any shall sin through * ignorance, in any of the Commandements of the Lord, (which ought not be done) but shall doe contrary to any of them, a That is, of negligence or ignorance, specially of the ceremonial law: for otherwise the punishments for crimes are appointed according to the transgression, Numb. 15. 22.

b Meaning, the high Priest.

3. If the \dagger Priest that is anointed do sin (according to the sin of the people) then shall he offer for his sin which he hath sinned, a yong bullock without blemish unto the Lord for a sin offering.

4. And he shall bring the bullock unto the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord, and shall put his hand upon the bullocks head, and \dagger kill the bullock before the Lord.

c. Hereby signifying that he deserved the same punishment which the beast suffered.

5. And the Priest that is anointed, shall take of the bullocks blood, and bring it into the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

6. Then the Priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle of the blood seven times before the Lord, before the vail of the \dagger Sanctuary.

d. Which was between the Holies of all, and the Sanctuary.

7. The Priests also shall put some of the blood before the Lord, upon the horns of the altar of sweet incense, which is in the * Tabernacle of the Congregation, then shall he poure * all the rest of the blood of the bullock at the foot of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

e. Which was in the court: meaning by the Tabernacle, the Sanctuary: and in the end of this verse it is taken for the court.
* Chap. 5. 9.

8. And

8 And he shall take away all the fat of the bullock for the sinne offering: to wit, the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is about the inwards.

9 He shall take away also the two kidneis, and the fat that is upon them, and upon the flanks, and the kail upon the liver with the kidneis,

10 As it was take away from the bullock of the peace offerings, and the Priest shall burn them upō the Altar of burnt offering.

11 * But the skin of the Bullock, and all his flesh, with his head, and his legs, and his inwards, and his dounge shall he beare out.

12 So he shall carie the whole bullock out of the * hofte unto a clean place, where the ashes are powred, and shall burn him on the wood in the fire: where the ashes are cast out, shall he be burnt.

13 ¶ And if the ^f whole Congregation of Israel shall sinne through ignorance, and the thing be * hid from the eyes of the multitude, and have done against any of the Commandements of the Lord which should not be done, and have offended:

14 When the sin which they have committed shall be known: then the Congregation shall offer a yong bullock for the sinne, and bring him before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, 15 And the ^s Elders of the Congregation shall put their hands upon the head of the bullock before the Lord, and ‡ he shall kill the bullock before the Lord.

16 Then the Priest that is anointed, shall bring of the bullocks blood into the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

17 And the Priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the Lord, even before the vaile.

18 Also he shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the Altar, which is before the Lord, that is in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: then shall he poure all the rest of the blood at the foot of the Altar of burnt offering, which is at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

19 And he shall take all his fat from him, and ‡ burn it upon the Altar.

20 And the Priest shall doe with this bullock, as he did with the bullock for his sin: so shall he doe with this: so the Priest shall make an atonement for them, and it shall be forgiven them.

21 For he shall carry the bullock without the hofte, and burn him as he burned the first bullock: for it is an offering for the sinne of the Congregation.

22 ¶ When a ruler shall sin, and doe through ignorance against any of the Commandements of the Lord his God, which should not be done, and shall offend,

23 If one shew unto him his sinne, which he hath committed, then shall he bring for his offering an ‡ hee goat without blemish, 24 And shall lay his hand upon the head of the hee goat, and kill it in ^{the} place where he should kill the burnt offering before the Lord: for it is a sin offering.

25 Then the Priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, and put it upon the hornes of the burnt offering altar, & shall poure the rest of his blood at the foot of the burnt offering Altar,

26 And shall burn all his fat upon the Altar, as the fat of the peace offering: so the Priest shall make an atonement for him, concerning his sin, and shall be forgiven him.

27 ¶ Likewise if any of the ‡ people of the land shall sinne through ignorance in doing against any of the Commandements of the Lord, which should not be done, and shall offend,

28 If one shew him his sin which he hath committed, then he shall bring for his offering, ‡ a shee goat without blemish for his sin which he hath committed,

29 * And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sin offering, and slay the sin offering in the place of burnt offering.

30 Then the Priest shall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the hornes of the burnt offering Altar, and poure all the rest of the blood thereof at the foot of the Altar.

31 And shall take away all his fat, as the fat of the peace offering is taken away, and the Priest shall burn it upon the Altar for a * sweet savour unto the Lord, and the Priest shall make an atonement for him, and it shall be forgiven him.

32 And if he bring a lamb for his sin offering, he shall bring a femal without blemish, 33 And shall lay his ¹ hand upon the head of the sin offering, and he shall slay it for a sin offering in the place where he should kill the burnt offering.

34 Then the Priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, and put it upon the hornes of the burnt offering Altar, and shall poure all the rest of the blood thereof at the foot of the altar.

35 And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lamb of the peace offerings is taken away: then the Priest shall burn it upon the altar ^m with the oblations of the Lord made by fire, and the Priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his sin that he hath committed, and it shall be forgiven him.

3 Either if he touch any uncleanness of man (whatsoever uncleanness it be that he is defiled with) and is not ware of it, and after commeth to the knowledge of it, he hath sinned.

4 Either if any ^b sweare and pronounce with his lips to doe evill, or to doe good (whatsoever it bee that a man shall pronounce with an oath) and it be hid from him, and after knoweth that he hath offended in one of these points,

6 Therefore shall he bring his trespass offering unto the Lord for his sinne which he hath committed, even a female from the flock, be it a lambe or a shee goat for a sinne offering, and the Priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his sinne.

7 But [†] if he be not able to bring a sheep, he shall bring for his trespass which he hath committed, two turtle doves, or two yong pigeons unto the Lord, one for a sinne offering, and the other for a burnt offering.

8 So he shall bring them unto the Priest, who shall offer the sinne offering first, and ^{*} wring the necke of it asunder, but not plucke it cleane off.

9 After he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sinne offering upon the side of the Altar, & the rest of the blood shall be [‡] shed at the foot of the Altar: for it is a sinne offering.

10 Also he shall offer the second for a burnt offering [‡] as the manner is: so shall the Priest ^d make an atonement for him (for his sinne which he hath committed) and it shall be forgiven him.

11 ¶ But if he ^e be not able to bring two turtle doves, or two young pigeons, then he that hath sinned, shall bring for his offering, the tenth part of an ^{*} Ephah of fine flowre for a sinne offering, he shall put none ^f oyle thereto, neither put any incense thereon: for it is a sinne offering.

13 So the Priest shall make an atonement for him, as touching his sinne that he hath committed in one of these points, and it shall be forgiven him: and the remnant shall be the Priests, as the meat offering.

14 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

15 If any person transgresse and sinne through ignorance ^g by taking away things consecrated unto the Lord, he shall then bring for his trespass offering unto the Lord a ramme without blemish out of the flock, worth two shekels of silver ^h by the estimation after the shekell of the Sanctuary, for a trespass offering.

16 So he shall restore that wherein he hath offended, in taking away of the holy thing, and shall put the fift part more thereto, and give it unto the Priest: so the Priest shall make an atonement for him with the ramme of the trespass offering, and it shall be forgiven him.

17 ¶ Also if any sinne, and ^{*} doe against any of the commandements of the Lord, which ought not to be done, and know not, and ⁱ sinne, and beare his iniquitie, 18 Then shall he bring a ram without blemish out of the flock, in thy estimation worth ^{*} two shekels for a trespass offering unto the Priest: and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his ^k ignorance wherein he erred, and was not ware: so it shall be forgiven him.

19 This is the trespass offering for the trespass committed against the Lord.

9 Command Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the burnt offering, (it is the burnt offering because it burneth upon the altar all the night unto the morning, and the fire burneth on the altar)

10 And the Priests shall put on his linnen garment, & shall put on his linnen breeches upon his flesh, and take away the ashes when the fire hath consumed the burnt offering upon the altar, and he shall put them beside the altar.

11 After, he shall put off his garments, and put on other raiment, and carry the ashes forth without the hoste, unto a clean place.

12 But the fire upon the Altar shall burn thereon, and never be put out: wherefore, the Priest shall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt offering in order upon it, and he shall burn thereon the fat of the peace offerings.

13 The fire shall ever burn upon the Altar, and never go out.

14 ¶ Also this is the law of the meat offering, which Aarons sons shall offer in the presence of the Lord, before the Altar.

15 He shall even take thence his handfull of fine flour of the meat offering and of the oyle, and all the incense which is upon the meat offering, and shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savour, as a memoriall thereof unto the Lord:

16 But the rest thereof shall Aaron & his sons eat: it shall be eaten without leaven in the Holy place: in the court of the Tabernacle of the Congregation they shall eat it.

17 It shall not be baken with leaven: I have given it for their portion of mine offerings made by fire: for it is as the sin offering, and as the trespass offering.

18 All the males among the children of Aaron shall eat of it: It shall be a statute for ever in your generations concerning the offerings of the Lord, made by fire: whatsoever toucheth them shall be holy.

19 ¶ Again the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

20 This is the offering of Aaron and his sons, which they shall offer unto the Lord in the day when he is anointed: the tenth part of an Ephah of fine flour, for a meat offering perpetual: halfe of it in the morning, and halfe thereof at night.

21 In the frying pan it shall be made with oyle: thou shalt bring it fried, and shalt offer the baken pieces of the meat offering for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

22 And the Priest that is anointed in his stead, among his sons shall offer it: It is the Lords ordinance for ever, it shall be burnt altogether.

23 For every meat offering of the Priest shall be burnt altogether, it shall not be eaten.

24 ¶ Furthermore, the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

25 Speake unto Aaron, and unto his sons, and say, This is the law of the sinne offering, In the place where the burnt offering is killed shall the sinne offering be killed before the Lord, for it is most holy.

26 The Priest that offereth this sin offering, shall eat it: in the holy place shall it be eaten, in the court of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

27 Whatsoever shall touch the flesh thereof shall be holy: and when there dropeth of the blood thereof upon a garment, thou shalt wash that whereon it droppeth in the Holy place.

28 Also the earthen pot that it is sodden in, shall be broken, but if it be sodden in a brasen pot, it shall both be scoured and washed with water.

29 All the males among the Priests shall eat thereof, for it is most holy.

30 But no sinne offering, whose blood is brought into the Tabernacle of the Congregation to make reconciliation in the holy place, shall be eaten, but shall be burnt in the fire.

CHAP. VII.

1 The law of the trespass offering: 11 Also of the peace offerings. 23 The fat and the blood may not be eaten.

Likewise this is the law of the trespass offering, it is most holy.

2 In the place where they kill the burnt offering, shall they kill the trespass offering, and the blood thereof shall he sprinkle round about upon the Altar.

3 All the fat thereof also shall he offer, the rumpe, and the fat that covereth the inwards.

4 After he shall take away the two kidneys, with the fat that is on them, and upon the flanks, and the kauls on the liver with the kidneys.

5 Then the Priest shall burn them upon the Altar, for an offering made by fire unto the Lord: this is a trespass offering.

6 All the males among the Priests shall eat thereof, it shall be eaten in the holy place, for it is most holy.

7 As the sinne offering is, so is the trespass offering, one law serveth for both: that wherewith the Priest shall make atonement, shall be his.

8 Also the Priest that offereth any mans burnt offering, shall have the skinn of the burnt offering which he hath offered.

11 Furthermore, this is the law of the peace offerings, which he shall offer unto the Lord.

12 If he offer it to give thanks, then he shall offer for his thanks offering, unleavened cakes mingled with oyle, and unleavened wafers anointed with oyle, and fine flour mixed with the cakes mingled with oyle.

13 He shall offer also his offering with cakes of leavened bread, for his peace offerings, to give thanks.

14 And of all the sacrifice he shall offer one cake for an heave offering unto the Lord, and it shall be the Priests that sprinkle the blood of the peace offerings.

15 Also the flesh of his peace offerings, for thanksgiving, shall be eaten the same day that it is offered: he shall leave nothing thereof untill the morning.

16 But if the sacrifice of his offering be a vow, or a free offering, it shall be eaten the same day that he offereth his sacrifice: and in the morning the residue thereof shall be eaten.

17 But as much of the offered flesh as remaineth unto the third day, shall be burnt with fire.

18 For if any of the flesh of his peace offerings be eaten in the third day, he shall not be accepted that offereth it, neither shall it be reckoned unto him, but shall be an abomination: therefore the person that eateth of it shall bear his iniquitie.

19 The flesh also that toucheth any unclean thing, shall not be eaten, but burnt with fire: but of this flesh all that be clean shall eat thereof.

20 But if any ear of the flesh of the peace offerings that pertaineth to the Lord, having his uncleanness upon him, even the same person shall be cut off from his people.

21 Moreover, when any toucheth any unclean thing, as the uncleanness of man, or of an unclean beast, or of any filthy abomination, and eateth of the flesh of the peace offerings, which pertaineth unto the Lord, even that person shall be cut off from his people.

22 ¶ Again the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

23 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say, Ye shall eat no fat of beeves, nor of sheep, nor of goats:

24 Yet the fat of the dead beast, & the fat of that which is torne with beasts, shall be occupied to any use, but ye shall not eat of it.

25 For whosoever eateth the fat of the beast, of the which he shall offer an offering made by fire to the Lord, even the person that eateth, shall be cut off from his people.

26 Neither shall ye eat any blood, either of fowle, or of beasts in all your dwellings.

27 Every person that eateth any blood, even the same person shall be cut off from his people.

28 ¶ And the Lord talked with Moses, saying,

29 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say, He that offereth his peace offerings unto the Lord, shall bring his gift unto the Lord of his peace offerings.

30 His hands shall bring the offerings of the Lord made by fire: even the fat with the breast that he bring, that the breast may be shaken to and fro before the Lord.

31 Then the Priest shall burn the fat upon the Altar, and the breast shall be Aarons and his sons.

32 And the right shoulder shall ye give unto the Priest for an heave offering, of your peace offerings.

33 The same that offereth the blood of the peace offerings, and the fat among the sons of Aaron, shall have the right shoulder for his part.

34 For the breast shaken to and fro, & the shoulder lifted up, have I taken of the children of Israel, even of their peace offerings, & have given them unto Aaron the Priest, and unto his sons by a statute for ever from among the children of Israel.

35 ¶ This is the anointing of Aaron, and the anointing of his sons, concerning the offerings of the Lord made by fire, in the day when he presented them to serve in the Priests office unto the Lord.

36 The which portions the Lord commanded to give them in the day that he anointed them from among the children of Israel, by a statute for ever in their generations.

37 This is also the law of the burnt offering, of the meat offering, and of the sin offering, and of the trespass offering, and of the consecrations, and of the peace offerings.

Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

3 And assemble all the company at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation

4 So Moses did as the Lord had commanded him, and the company was assembled at the door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

5 Then Moses said unto the company, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded to be done.

6 And Moses brought Aaron, and his sons,

8 After he put the breastplate thereon, and put in the breastplate the Urim and the Thummim.

9 Also he put the miter upon his head, and put upon the miter on the forefront the golden plate, and the holy crown, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

10 (Now Moses had taken the anointing oyle, and anointed the Tabernacle and all that was therein, and sanctified them, 11 And sprinkled thereof upon the Altar seven times, and anointed the Altar and all his instruments, and the laver, and his foot, to sanctifie them)

12 * And he powred of the anointing oyle upon Aarons head, and anointed him, to sanctifie him.

13 After, Moses brought Aarons sons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonets upon their heads, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

14 * Then he brought the bullock for the sinne offering, and Aaron and his sonnes put their hands upon the head of the bullock for the sinne offering.

15 And Moses slew him, and took the blood, which he put upon the hornes of the Altar, round about with his finger, and purified the Altar, and poured the rest of the blood at the foot of the Altar: so he sanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it.

16 Then he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the kall of the liver, and the two kidneys, with their fat, which Moses burned upon the Altar.

17 But the bullock and his hide, and his flesh, and his dounge, he burnt with fire without the host, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

18 ¶ Also he brought the ram for the burnt-offering, and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the ram.

19 So Moses killed it, and sprinkled the blood upon the Altar round about,

20 And Moses cut the ram in pieces, and burnt the head with the pieces, and the fat, 21 And washed the inwards and the legs in water: so Moses burnt the ram every whit upon the altar: for it was a burnt-offering for a sweet savour, which was made by fire unto the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

22 ¶ After, he brought the other ram, the ram of consecrations, and Aaron and his sons layd their hands upon the head of the ram,

23 Which Moses slew, and took of the blood of it, and put it upon the lap of Aarons right care, and upon the thumbe of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 Then Moses brought Aarons sons, and put of the blood on the lap of their right eares, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet, and Moses sprinkled the rest of the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he took the fat of the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the kall of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right shoulder.

26 Also he took of the basket of the unleavened bread that was before the Lord, one unleavened cake, and a cake of oyled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right shoulder.

27 So he put all in Aarons hands, and in his sons hands, and shook it to and fro before the Lord.

28 After, Moses took them out of their hands, and burnt them upon the altar for a burnt offering: for these were consecrations for a sweet savour which were made by fire into the Lord.

29 Likewise Moses took the breast of the ram of consecrations, and shook it to and fro before the Lord: for it was Moses portion, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

30 Also Moses took of the anointing oyl, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and sprinkled it upon Aaron, upon his garments, and upon his sons, and on his sons garments with him: so he sanctified Aaron his garments, and his sons, and his sons garments with him.

31 ¶ Afterward Moses said unto Aaron and his sons, seeth the flesh at the doore of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and there eat it with the bread that is in the basket of consecrations, as I commanded, saying, Aaron and his sons shall eat it.

32 But that which remaineth of the flesh and of the bread, shall ye burne with fire.

33 And ye shall not depart from the doore of the Tabernacle of the congregation seven dayes, untill the dayes of your consecrations be at an end: for seven dayes, said the Lord, shall he consecrate you.

34 As he hath done this day: for the Lord hath commanded to doe, to make an atonement for you.

35 Therefore shall ye abide at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night, seven dayes, and shall keep the watch of the Lord, that ye die not: for so I am commanded.

36 So Aaron and his sons did all things which the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses.

ANd in the ^a eight day Moſes called Aaron and his ſons, and the Elders of Iſrael:

² * Then he ſaid unto Aaron, Take thee a yong calfe for a ^b ſinne offering, and a ram for a burnt offering, both without blemiſh, and bring them before the Lord.

³ And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeak, ſaying, Take ye an hee goat for a ſinne offering, and a calfe, and a lamb, both of a yeare old, without blemiſh, for a burnt offering:

⁴ Alſo a bullock, and a ram for peace offerings, to offer before the Lord, and a meat offering mingled with oyle: for to day the Lord will appeare unto you.

⁵ ¶ Then they brought that which Moſes commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the aſſembly drew neer and ſtood before the ^c Lord.

⁶ (For Moſes ſaid, This is the thing, which the Lord commanded that ye ſhould doe, and the glory of the Lord ſhall appeare unto you)

⁷ Then Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Draw neer to the altar, and offer thy ſin offering, & thy burnt offering, & make an atonement for ^d thee and for the people: offer alſo the offering of the people, & make an atonement for them as the Lord hath commanded.

⁸ ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and killed the calfe of the ſinne offering, which was for himſelfe.

⁹ And the ſons of Aaron brought the blood unto him, and he dipt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the hornes of the, altar, and powred ^e the reſt of the blood at the foot of the altar.

¹⁰ But the fat and the kidneis, and the caul of the liver of the ſinne offering he ^e burnt upon the altar, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

¹¹ The fleſh alſo and the hide he burnt with fire without the hoſte.

¹² After, he ſlew the burnt offering, & Aarons ſons brought unto him the blood, wh^h he ſprinkled round about upon the altar.

¹³ Alſo they brought the burnt offering unto him with the pieces thereof, and the head, and he burnt ^e them upon the altar.

¹⁴ Likewise he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and ^f burnt them upon the burnt offering on the altar.

¹⁵ ¶ Then he offered the peoples offering, and took a goat, which was the ſinne offering for the people, and ſlew it, and offered it for ſinne, as the firſt:

¹⁶ So he offered the burnt offering, and prepared it, according to the manner.

¹⁷ He preſented alſo the meat offering, and filled his hand thereof, and ^{*} beſide the burnt ſacrifice of the morning, he burnt ^g this upon the altar.

¹⁸ He ſlew alſo the bullock, and the ram for the peace offerings, that was for the people, and Aarons ſons brought unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled upon the altar round about.

¹⁹ With the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards and the kidneis, and the caul of the liver.

²⁰ So they laid the fat upon the breasts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar.

²¹ But the ^g breasts and the right shoulder Aaron ſhook to and fro before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

²² So Aaron lift up his hand towards the people, and bleſſed them, and ^h came down from offering of the ſin offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offering.

²³ After, Moſes and Aaron went into the Tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and ⁱ bleſſed the people, and the glory of the Lord appeared to al the people.

²⁴ * And there came a fire out from the Lord, and conſumed upon the altar the burnt offering & the fat: which when all the people ſaw, they [†] gave thanks, and fell on their faces.

8 ¶ And the Lord spak unto Aaron, saying, 9 Thou shalt not drinke wine nor strong drinke, thou, nor thy sonnes with thee, when ye come into the Tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: this is an ordinance for ever throughout your generations,

10 That ye may put difference between the holy and the unholy, and between the clean and the unclean, 11 And that ye may teach the children of Israel all the statutes which the Lord hath commanded them by the hand of Moses.

12 ¶ Then Moses said unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and to Ithamar his sonnes that were left, Take the meat-offering that remaineth of the offerings of the Lord, made by fire, and eate it without leaven beside the Altar: for it is most holy:

13 And ye shall eate it in the holy place, because it is thy duty, and thy sonnes duty of the offerings of the Lord made by fire: for so I am commanded.

14 Also the shaken breast, and the heave shoulder shall ye eate in a clean place: thou, and thy sonnes, and thy daughters with thee: for they are given as thy duty and thy sons duty, of the peace-offerings of the children of Israel.

15 The heave shoulder, and the shaken breast shall they bring with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to shake it to & fro before the Lord, and it shall be thine and thy sonnes with thee by a law for ever, as the Lord hath commanded.

16 ¶ And Moses sought the goat, that was offered for sinne, and lo, it was burnt: therefore he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar the sonnes of Aaron, which were left alive, saying,

17 Wherefore have ye not eaten the sin offering in the holy place, seeing it is most Holy? and God hath given it you, to beare the iniquitie of the congregation, to make an atonement for them before the Lord.

18 Behold, the blood of it was not brought within the Holy place: ye should have eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded.

19 And Aaron said unto Moses, Behold, this day we have offered their sin-offering, and their burnt-offering before the Lord, and such things as thou knowest are come unto me: if I had eaten the sinne-offering to day, should it have been accepted in the sight of the Lord?

20 So when Moses heard it, he was content.

CHAP. XI.

Of beasts, fowles, and birds, which be clean, and which be unclean.

After, the Lord spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying unto them,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, & say, * These are the beasts, which ye shall eat, among all the beasts that are on the earth.

3 Whatsoever parteth the hoof, and is cloven footed, and cheweth the cud, among the beasts, that shall ye eat:

4 But of them that chew the cud, or divide the hoof onely, of them ye shall not eat: as the camell, because he cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoof, he shall be unclean unto you.

5 Likewise the conie, because she cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoof, he shall be unclean unto you.

6 Also the hare, because he cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoof, he shall be unclean to you.

7 And the swine, because he parteth the hoof and is cloven footed, but cheweth not the cud, he shall be unclean to you.

8 Of their flesh shall ye not eat, and their carkeis shall ye not touch: for they shall be unclean to you.

9 ¶ These shall ye eat, of all that are in the waters: whatsoever hath finnes and scales in the waters, in the seas, or in the rivers, them shall ye eat.

10 But all, that have not finnes nor scales in the seas, or in the rivers, of all that moveth in the waters, and of all living things that are in the waters, they shall be an abomination unto you.

11 They, I say, shall be an abomination to you: ye shall not eate of their flesh, but shall abhorre their carkeis.

12 Whatsoever hath not finnes nor scales in the waters, that shall be abomination unto you.

13 ¶ These shall ye have also in abomination among the fowles, they shall not be eaten: for they are an abomination, the eagle, and the goshawke, and the osprey:

14 Also the vulture, and the kite after his kinde:

15 And all ravens after their kinde:

16 The ostrich also, and the night-crow, and the seameaw, and the hawke after his kinde:

36 Yet the fountaines and welles where there is plenty of water shall be clean: but that which ^o toucheth their carkeises, shall be unclean.

37 And if there fall of their dead carkeis upon any seed which useth to be sown, it shall be clean.

^l He speaketh of seed that is laid to sleep before it be sown.

38 But if any ^l water be powred upon the seed, and there fall of their dead carkeis thereon, it shall be unclean unto you:

39 If also any beast, whereof ye may eat, die, he that toucheth the carkeis thereof, shall be unclean untill the even.

40 And he that eateth of the carkeis of it, shall wash his clothes, and be unclean untill the even: he also that beareth the carkeis of it, shall wash his clothes, and be unclean untill the even.

41 Every creeping thing therefore that creepeth upon the earth shall be an abomination, and not be eaten.

42 Whatsoever goeth upon the breast, and whatsoever goeth upon all four, or that hath many feet among all creeping things that creep upon the earth, ye shall not eat of them, for they shall be abomination.

43 Ye shall not pollute your selves with any thing that creepeth, neither make your selves unclean with them, neither defile your selves thereby: ye shall not, I say, be defiled by them:

44 For I am the Lord your God: be sanctified therefore, and be ^m holy, for I am holy, and defile not your selves with any creeping thing, that creepeth upon the earth.

CHAP. XIII.

2 What considerations the Priest ought to observe in judging the leprosie. 28 The blacke spot or scab. 47 And the leproy of the garment.

Moreover, the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying, a That it may be suspected to be the leproy.

2 The man that shall have in the skin of his flesh a swelling or a scab, or a white spot, so that in the skin of his flesh it be like the plague of leprosie, then he shall be brought unto Aaron the Priest, or unto one of his sonnes the Priests, b That is, shrunk in, and be lower then the rest of the skin.

† Ebr. shall pollute him.

3 And the Priest shall look on the sore in the skin of his flesh: if the haire in the sore be turned into white, and the sore seem to be lower then the skin of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosie: therefore, the Priest shall look on him, and shall pronounce him unclean.

† Ebr. in his eye.

4 But if the white spot be in the skin of his flesh, and seem not to be lower then the skin, nor the haire thereof be turned into white, then the Priest shall shut up him that hath the plague, seven dayes.

c As having the skin drawn together, or blackish.

5 After, the Priest shall look upon him the seventh day: and if the plague seem to him to abide still, and the plague grow not in the skin, the Priest shall shut him up yet seven dayes more.

6 Then the Priest shall look on him again the seventh day, and if the plague be darke, and the sore grow not in the skin, then the Priest shall pronounce him clean, for it is a scab: therefore, he shall wash his clothes, and be clean.

7 But if the scab grow more in the skin, after that he is seene of the Priest for to be purged, he shall be seene of the Priest yet againe.

d As toucheth his bodily disease: for his disease was not imputed to him for sin, before God, though it were the punishment of sinne.

8 Then the Priest shall consider, and if the scab grow in the skin, then the Priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is leprosie.

9 ¶ When the plague of leprosie is in a man, he shall be brought unto the Priest,

10 And the Priest shall see him: and if the swelling be white in the skin, and have made the haire white, and there be raw flesh in the swelling,

11 It is an old leprosie in the skin of his flesh: and the Priest shall pronounce him, unclean, and shall not shut him up, for he is unclean.

12 Also if the leprosie breake out in the skin, and the leprosie cover all the skin of the plague, from his head even to his feet, whereforever the Priest looketh, 13 Then the Priest shall consider, and if the leprosie cover all his flesh, he shall pronounce the plague to be clean, because it is all turned into whitenesse: so he shall be clean.

14 But if there be raw flesh on him when he is seene, he shall be unclean.

15 For the Priest shall see the raw flesh, & declare him to be unclean, for the raw flesh is unclean: therefore, it is the leprosie.

16 Or if the raw flesh change & be turned into white, then he shall come to the Priest, 17 And the Priest shall behold him, and if the sore be changed into white, then the Priest shall pronounce the plague clean, for it is clean.

18 ¶ The flesh also in whose skin there is a bile and is healed, 19 And in the place of the bile there be a white swelling, or a white spot somewhat reddish, it shall be seene of the Priest.

20 And when the Priest seeth it, if it appeare lower then the skin, & the haire thereof be changed into white, the Priest then shall pronounce him unclean: for it is a plague of leprosie broken out in the bile.

21 But if the Priest look on it, and there be no white haire therein, and if it be not lower then the skin, but be darke, then the Priest shall shut him up seven dayes.

22 And if it spread abroad in the flesh, the Priest shall pronounce him unclean, for it is a sore.

23 But if the spot continue in his place, and grow not, it is a burning bile: therefore the Priest shall declare him to be clean.

24 ¶ If there be any flesh, in whose skin there is an hot burning, and the quick flesh of the burning have a white spot somewhat reddish or pale,

25 Then the Priest shall look upon it: and if the haire in that spot be changed into white, and it appear lower then the skin, it is a leprosie broken out in the burning: therefore the Priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is the plague of leprosie.

26 But if the Priest look on it, and there be no white hair in the spot, & be no lower then the other skin, but be darke, then the Priest shall shut him up seven dayes.

27 After, the Priest shall looke on him the seventh day: if it be grown abroad in the skin, then the Priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is the plague of leprosie.

28 And if the spot abide in his place, not growing in the skin, but is darke, it is a rising of the burning: the Priest shall therefore declare him cleane, for it is the drying up of the burning.

29 ¶ If also a man or woman hath a sore on the head or in the beard, 30 Then the Priest shall see the sore: and if it appeare lower then the skin, and there be in it a small yellow hair, then the Priest shall pronounce him uncleane: for it is a black spot, and leprosie of the head or of the beard.

31 And if the Priest looke on the sore of the black spot, and if it seem not lower then the skin, nor have any black haire in it, then the Priest shall shut up him that hath the sore of the black spot, seven dayes.

32 After, in the seventh day the Priest shall look on the sore: and if the black spot grow not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the black spot seeme not lower then the skin, 33 Then he shall be shaven: but the place of the black spot shall he not shave: but the Priest shall shut up him that hath the black spot, seven dayes more.

34 And the seventh day the Priest shall look on the black spot: and if the black spot grow not in the skinné, nor seeme lower then the other skinné, then the Priest shall cleanse him, and he shall wash his clothes, and be cleane.

35 But if the black spot grow abroad in the flesh after his cleansing, 36 Then the Priest shall look on it: and if the black spot grow in the skin, the Priest shall not seeke for the yellow haire: for he is uncleane.

37 But if the black spot seeme to him to abide, and that black haire grow therein, the black spot is healed, he is cleane, and the Priest shall declare him to be cleane.

38 ¶ Furthermore if there be many white spots in the skin of the flesh of man or woman, 39 Then the Priest shall consider: and if the spots in the skin of their flesh be somewhat darke and white withall, it is but a white spot broken out in the skin: therefore he is cleane.

40 And the man whose haire is fallen off his head, and is bald, is cleane.

41 And if his head lose the haire on the forepart, and be bald before, he is cleane.

42 But if there be in the bald head, or in the bald fore head a white reddish sore, it is a leprosie springing in his bald head, or in his bald forehead.

43 Therefore the Priest shall look upon it and if the rising of the sore be white reddish in his bald head, or in his bald fore head, appearing like leprosie in the skin of the flesh, 44 He is a leper and uncleane: therefore the Priest shall pronounce him altogether uncleane: for the sore is in his head.

45 The leper also in whom the plague is, shall have his clothes rent, and his head bare, and shall put a covering upon his lips, and shall cry, I am uncleane, I am uncleane.

46 As long the disease shall be upon him, he shall be polluted, for he is uncleane: he shall dwell alone, without the camp shall his habitation be.

47 ¶ Also the garment that the plague of leprosie is in, whether it be a wollen garment, or a linnen garment,

48 Whether it be in the warpe or in the woofe of linnen, or of wollen, either in a skin, or in any thing made of skin, 49 And if the sore be green or somewhat reddish in the garment, or in the skin, or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in any thing that is made of skin, it is a plague of leprosie, and shall be shewed unto the Priest.

50 Then the Priest shall see the plague, and shut up him that hath the plague, seven dayes.

51 And shall looke on the plague the seventh day: if the plague grow in the garment, or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in the skin, or in any thing that is made of skinné, that plague is a fretting leprosie, and uncleane.

52 And he shall burne the garment, or the warpe, or the woofe, whether it be woollen or linnen, or any thing that is made of skin, wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leprosie, therefore it shall be burnt in the fire.

53 If the Priest yet see that the plague grow not in the garment, or in the woofe, or in whatsoever thing of skin it be,

54 Then the Priest shall command them to wash the thing wherein the plague is, and he shall shut it up seven dayes more,

55 Again the Priest shall look on the plague after it is washed: and if the plague have not changed his colour, though the plague have spread no further, it is uncleane: thou shalt burne it in the fire, for it is a fret inward, whether the spot be in the bare place of the whole, or in part thereof.

56 And if the Priest see that the plague be darker, after that it is washed, he shall cut it out of the garment, or out of the skin, or out of the warpe, or out of the woofe.

57 And if it appeare still in the garment, or in the warp, or in the woofe, or in any thing made of skin, it is a spreading leprosie: thou shalt burne the thing wherein the plague is in the fire.

58 If thou hast washed the garment, or the warpe, or the woofe, or whatsoever thing of skin it be, if the plague be departed therefrom, then shall it be washed the second time, and be cleane.

59 This is the law of the plague of leprosie in a garment of wollen or linnen, or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in any thing of skin, to make it clean or uncleane.

3 The cleansing of the leper, 34 And of the house that he is in.

And the Lord spak unto Moses, saying, A * This is the law of the leper in the day of his cleansing: that is, he shall be brought unto the Priest,

3 And the Priest shall goe out of the camp, and the Priest shall consider him: and if the plague of leprosie be healed in the leper,

4 Then shall the Priest command to take for him that is cleansed, two \dagger sparrows alive, and cleane, and cedar wood, and a scarlet lace, and hyssope.

5 And the Priest shall command to kill one of the birds over pure water in an earthen vessell.

6 After, he shall take the live sparrow with the Cedar wood, and the scarlet lace, and the hyssope, and shall dip them and the living sparrow in the blood of the sparrow slain, over the pure water.

7 And he shall sprinkle upon him, that must be cleansed of his leprosie, seven times, and cleanse him; and shall \dagger let go the live sparrow into the broad field.

8 Then he that shall be cleansed, shall wash his clothes, and shave off all his haire, and wash himself in water, so shall he be clean: after that shall he come into the host, but shall carrie without his tent seven dayes.

9 So in the seventh day he shall shave off all his haire, both his head, and his beard, and his eyebrows: even all his haire shall he shave, and shall wash his clothes, and shall wash his flesh in water: so he shall be clean.

10 Then in the eighth day he shall take two hee lambes without blemish, and an ewe lamb of a yeare old without blemish, and three tenth deales of fine flower for a meat-offering, mingled with oyle, and a pint of oile.

11 And the Priest that maketh him clean, shall bring the man which is to be made clean, & those things before the Lord, at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 Then the Priest shall take one lamb, and offer him for a trespass-offering; and the pint of oyle, and \dagger shake them to and fro before the Lord.

13 And he shall kill the lamb in the place where the sin-offering and the burnt offering are slaine, even in the Holy place: for as the sin-offering is the Priests, so is the trespass-offering: for it is most holy.

14 So the Priest shall take of the blood of the trespass offering, and put it upon the lap of the right eare of him that shall be cleansed, and upon the thum of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

15 The Priest shall also take of the pint of oyle, and powre it into the palme of his left hand, 16 And the Priest shall dip his \dagger right finger in the oyle that is in his left hand, and sprinkle of the oyle with his finger seven times before the Lord.

17 And of the rest of the oyle that is in his hand, shall the Priest put upon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumbe of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, \dagger where the blood of the trespass-offering was put.

18 But the remnant of the oyle that is in the Priests hand, he shall powre upon the head of him that is to be cleansed: so the Priest shall make an atonement for him before the Lord.

19 And the Priest shall offer the sinne offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleansed of his uncleanness: then after shall he kill the burnt-offering.

20 And the Priest shall offer the burnt-offering and the meat offering upon the altar: and the Priest shall make an atonement for him; so he shall be clean.

21 But if he be poore, and \dagger not able, then he shall bring one lamb for a trespass offering to be shaken, for his reconciliation, & a tenth deal of fine flour mingled with oyle, for a meat-offering, with a pint of oyle.

22 Also two Turtle doves, or two yong Pigeons; as he is able, whereof the one shall be a sinne offering, and the other a burnt-offering.

23 And he shall bring them the eighth day, for his cleansing unto the Priest, at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the Lord.

24 Then the Priest shall take the lambe of the trespass offering, and the pint of oyle, and the Priest shall \dagger shake them to and fro before the Lord.

25 And he shall kill the lambe of the trespass-offering, and the Priest shall take of the blood of the trespass-offering, and put it upon the lap of his right eare that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumbe of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

26 Also the Priest shall poure of the oyle into the palme of his owne \dagger left hand.

27 So the Priest shall with his right finger sprinkle of the oyle that is in his left hand, seven times before the Lord.

28 Then the Priest shall put of the oyle that is in his hand, upon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumbe of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot: upon the place \dagger of the blood of the trespass-offering.

29 But the rest of the oyle that is in the Priests hand, he shall put upon the head of him that is to be cleansed, to make an atonement for him before the Lord.

30 Also he shall present one of the Turtle doves:

32 This is the ^k law of him which hath the plague of leprosie, who is not able in his cleansing ^{to offer the whole.}

33 ¶ The Lord also spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying, l This declareth that no plague nor punishment cometh to man without Gods providence and his sending.

34 When ye be come unto the land of Canaan, which I give you in possession, if I send the plague of leprosie in an house of the land of your possession, 35 Then he that oweth the house, shall come and tell the Priest, saying, Me thinke there is like a plague of leprosie in the house.

36 Then the priest shall command them to emptic the house before the priest goe into it to see the plague, that all that is in the house be not made unclean; and then shall the Priest goe in to see the house;

† Or, blacknes, or hollow streaks.

37 And he shall marke the plague: and if the plague be in the wals of the house, and that there be † deep spots, greenish or reddish, which seem to be lower then the wall,

38 Then the Priest shall goe out of the house to the doore of the house, and shall cause to shut up the house seven dayes.

39 So the Priest shall come again the seventh day: and if he see that the plague be increased in the wals of the house,

40 Then the Priest shall command them to take away the stones wherein the plague is, and they shall cast them into a † foule place without the citie.

41 Also he shall cause to scrape the house within round about, and powre the dust, that they have pared off, without the citie in ^m an unclean place.

m Where carions were cast, and other filth, that they people might not be therewith infected.

42 And they shall take other stones, and put them in the places of those stones, and shall take other mortar, to plaister the house with.

43 But if the plague come again, and breake out in the house, after that he hath taken away the stones, and after that he hath scraped and plaistered the house, 44 Then the Priest shall come and see: and if the plague grow in the house, it is a fretting leprosie in the house: it is therefore unclean.

n That is, he shall command it to be pulled down, as ver. 40.
† Or, dust.

45 And he shall ⁿ breake down the house, with the stones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the † mortar of the house, and he shall carie them out of the citie unto an unclean place.

46 Moreover he that goeth into the house all the while that it is shut up, he shall be unclean until the even.

47 He also that sleepeth in the house, shall wash his clothes: he likewise that eateth in the house, shall wash his clothes.

48 But if the Priest shall come and see, that the plague hath spread no further in the house, after the house be plaistered, the priest shall pronounce the house clean, for the plague is healed.

49 Then shall he take to purifie the house, two sparrows, and Cedar wood, and ^o skarlet lace, and hyssope,

50 And he shall kill one sparrow over pure water in an earthen vessel, 51 And shall take the Cedar wood, and the hyssope, and the skarlet lace with the live sparrow, and dip them in the blood of the slain sparrow, and in the pure water, and sprinkle the house seven times.

52 So shall he cleanse the house with the blood of the sparrow, and with the pure water, and with the live sparrow, and with the Cedar wood, and with the hyssope, and with the skarlet lace.

53 Afterward he shall let goe the live sparrow out of the towne into the broad fields: so shall he make atonement for the house, and it shall be clean.

54 This is the law for every plague of leprosie and ^p black spot.

55 And of the leprosie of the garment, and of the house, 56 And of the † swelling, and of the scab, and of the white spot.

CHAPTER XV

2 19 The manner of purging the unclean issues both of man and women. 31 The children of Israel must be separated from all uncleannes.

Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel; and say unto them, whosoever hath an issue from his ^a flesh, is unclean, because of his issue.

3 And this shall be his uncleannes in his issue: when his flesh avoideth his issue, or if his flesh be stopped from his issue, this is his ^b uncleannes.

4 Every bed whereon he lieth that hath the issue, shall be unclean, and every thing whereon he sitteth shall be unclean.

5 Whosoever also toucheth his bed, shall wash his clothes, and wash him self in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

6 And he that sitteth on any thing, whereon he sate that hath the issue, shall wash his clothes, and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

7 Also he that toucheth the flesh of him that hath the issue, shall wash his clothes and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

18 If he also, that hath the issue, spit upon him that is clean, he shall wash his clothes, and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean untill the even.

19 And what saddle soever he rideth upon, that hath the issue, shall be unclean, 20 And whosoever toucheth any thing that was under him, shall be unclean unto the even: and he that beareth those things, shall wash his clothes, & wash himself in water, and shall be unclean untill the even.

21 Likewise whomsoever he toucheth that hath the issue (and hath not washed his hands in water) shall wash his clothes, and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean untill the even.

22 * And the vessell of earth that he toucheth, which hath the issue, shall be broken: and every vessell of wood shall be rinsed in water, 23 But if he that hath an issue, be cleansed of his issue, then shall he count him seven dayes for his cleansing, and wash his cloths, and wash his flesh in pure water: so shall he be clean.

24 Then the eighth day he shall take unto him two Turtle doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the Lord at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and shall give them unto the Priest.

25 And the Priest shall make of the one of the a sin-offering, & of the other a burnt-offering: so the Priest shall make an atonement for him before the Lord for his issue.

26 Also if any mans issue of seed depart from him, he shall wash all his flesh in water, and be unclean untill the even.

27 And every garment, and every skin whereupon shall be issue of seed, shall be even washed with water, and be unclean unto the even.

28 If he that hath an issue of seed do ly with a woman, they shall both wash themselves with water, and be unclean untill the even.

29 ¶ Also when a woman shall have an issue, and her issue in her flesh shall be blood, she shall be put apart seven dayes: and whosoever toucheth her, shall be unclean unto the even.

30 And whatsoever she lieth upon in her separation, shall be unclean, and every thing that she sitteth upon, shall be unclean, 31 Whosoever also toucheth her bed, shall wash his clothes, and wash himself with water, and shall be unclean unto the even.

32 And whosoever toucheth any thing that she sate upon, shall wash his clothes, and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean unto the even:

33 So that whether he toucheth her bed, or any thing whereon she hath sate, he shall be unclean unto the even.

34 And if a man lie with her, & she have flowers of her separation, touch him, he shall be unclean seven dayes, and all the whole bed whereon he lieth, shall be unclean.

25 Also when a womans issue of blood runneth long time besides the time of her flowers, or when she hath an issue longer then her flowers, all the dayes of the issue of her uncleanness she shall be unclean, as in the time of her flowers.

26 Every bed whereon she lieth (as long as her issue lasteth) shall be to her as the bed of her separation: & whatsoever she sitteth upon, shall be unclean, as her uncleanness when she is put apart.

27 And whosoever toucheth these things, shall be unclean, and shall wash his clothes, and wash himself in water, and shall be unclean unto the even.

28 But if she be cleansed of her issue, then she shall count her seven dayes, and after she shall be clean.

29 And in the eighth day she shall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, and bring them unto the Priest at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

30 And the Priest shall make of the one a sin-offering, and of the other a burnt-offering, and the Priest shall make an atonement for her before the Lord, for the issue of her uncleanness.

31 Thus shall ye separate the children of Israel from their uncleanness, that they die not in their uncleanness, if they defile my Tabernacle, that is among them.

32 This is the law of him that hath an issue, and of him from whom goeth an issue of seed, whereby he is defiled.

33 Also of her that is sick of her flowres, and of him that hath a running issue, whether it be man or woman, and of him that lieth with her which is unclean.

Chap. xvi.

1 The Priest shall not at all times come into the most holy Place, until he have offered the stinking incense.

2 ¶ Furthermore the Lord spake unto Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they came in offer before the Lord, and died.

3 And the Lord said unto Moses, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the Holy place within the Vaile, before the Mercy-sear, which is upon the Ark, that he die not: for I will appeare in the cloud upon the Mercy-sear.

4 After this sort shall Aaron come into the Holy Place: even with a young bullock for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering.

5 He shall put on the holy linnen coat, and shall have linnen breeches upon his flesh, and shall be girded with a linnen girdle, die; and shall cover his head with alinnen mitre: these are the holy garments: therefore shall he wash his flesh in water; when he doth put them on;

5 And he shall take of the congregation of the children of Israel, two hee goats for a sinne-offering, and a ramme for a burnt-offering.

6 Then Aaron shall offer the bullock for his sinne-offering, and make an atonement for himself, and for his house.

7 And he shall take the two hee goats, & present them before the Lord at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 Then Aaron shall cast lots over the two hee goats: one lot for the Lord, and the other for the Scape goat.

9 And Aaron shall offer the goat, upon which the Lords lot shall fall, and make him a sinne-offering.

10 But the goat, on which the lot shall fall to be the Scape goat, shall be presented alive before the Lord, to make reconciliation on by him; and to let him go (as a Scape goat) into the wilderness.

11 Then Aaron shall offer the bullock for his sinne-offering, and make a reconciliation for himself, and for his house, and shall offer the bullock for his sin-offering.

12 And he shall take a censurfull of burning odours from of the altar before the Lord, and his handfull of sweet incense bearen small, and bring it within the vail;

13 And shall put the incense upon the fire before the Lord, that the cloud of the incense may cover the Mercy seat that is upon the Testimonie: so he shall not die.

14 And he shall take of the blood of the bullock, and sprinkle it with his finger upon the Mercy seat: and before the Mercy seat shall he sprinkle of the blood with his finger seven times.

15 Then shall he kill the goat that is the peoples sinne-offering, and bring his blood within the vail, & do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bullock, and sprinkle it upon the Mercy seat, and before the Mercy seat.

16 So he shall purge the holy place from the uncleanness of the children of Israel: and from their trespasses of all their finnes, so shall he do also for the tabernacle of the Congregation placed with them, in the midst of their uncleanness.

17 And there shall be no man in the Tabernacle of the congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the Holy place, untill he come out and have made an atonement for himself, & for his household, and for all the congregation of Israel.

18 After, he shall go out unto the Altar that is before the Lord, and make a reconciliation upon it, and shall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the hornes of the Altar round about:

19 So shall he sprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger six times, and cleanse it, and hallow it from the uncleanness of the children of Israel.

20 ¶ When he hath made an end of purging the Holy place, and the Tabernacle of the congregation, and the Altar, then he shall bring the live goat:

21 And Aaron shall put both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confesse over him all the iniquities of the children of Israel, and all their trespasses, in all their finnes, putting them upon the head of the goat, and shall send him away (by the hand of a man appointed) into the wilderness.

22 So the goat shall beare upon him all their iniquities into the land that is not inhabited, and he shall let the goat go into the wilderness.

23 After, Aaron shall come into the Tabernacle of the congregation, and put off the linnen clothes, which he put on when he went into the Holy place, and leave them there.

24 He shall wash also his flesh with water in the Holy place, and put on his own raiment, and come out, and make his burnt offering, and the burnt offering of the people, and make an atonement for himself, and for the people.

25 Also the fat of the sinne-offering shall he burn upon the Altar.

26 And he that carried forth the goat, called the Scape goat, shall wash his clothes and wash his flesh in water, and after that shall come into the host.

27 Also the bullock for the sinne-offering, and the goat for the sinne-offering (whose blood was brought to make a reconciliation in the Holy place) shall one carry out without the host to be burnt in the fire, with their skins, and with their flesh, and with their dung.

28 And he that burneth them shall wash his clothes, and wash his flesh in water, and afterward come into the host.

29 ¶ So this shall be an ordinance for ever unto you: the tenth day of the seventh moneth, ye shall humble your souls, and do no work at all, whether it be one of the same country, or a stranger that sojourneth among you.

30 For that day shall the Priest make an atonement for you to cleanse you: ye shall be clean from all your finnes before the Lord.

31 This shall be a Sabbath of rest unto you, and ye shall humble your souls by an ordinance for ever.

31 And the Priest whom he shall anoint,

10 ¶ Likewise whosoever he be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among them, that eateth any blood, I wil even set * my face against that person that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people:

g I will declare my wrath by taking vengeance on him as Chap. 20. 3.

11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it unto you to offer upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls: for this blood shall make an atonement for the soul.

12 Therefore I said unto the children of Israel, None of you shall eat blood: neither the stranger that sojourneth among you, shall eat blood.

13 Moreover, whosoever he be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among them, which by hunting taketh any beast or fowle that may be ^h eaten, he shall poure out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust:

h Which the law permitteeth to be eaten, because it is clean.

14 For the life of all flesh is his blood, it is joynted with his life: therefore I said unto the children of Israel, * Ye shall eat the blood of no [†] flesh, for the life of all flesh is the blood thereof: whosoever eateth it, shall be cut off.

13 Thou shalt not discover the shame of thy mothers sister: for she is thy mothers kinswoman.

14 * Thou shalt not uncover the shame of thy fathers brother: that is, thou shalt not go in to his wife, for she is thine aunt.

15 * Thou shalt not discover the shame of thy daughter in law: for she is thy sons wife: therefore shalt thou not uncover her shame.

16 * Thou shalt not discover the shame of thy brothers wife: for it is thy brothers shame.

17 Thou shalt not discover the shame of the wife & of her daughter, neither shalt thou take her sons daughter, nor her daughters daughter, to uncover her shame: for they are thy kinsfolks, & it were wickednes

18 Also thou shalt not take a wife with her sister, during her life, to vex her, in uncovering her shame upon her.

19 * Thou shalt not also go unto a woman to uncover her shame, as long as she is put apart for her disease.

20 Moreover, thou shalt not give thy self to thy neighbours wife by carnall copulation, to be defiled with her.

21 * Also thou shalt not give thy children to offer them unto Molech, neither shalt thou defile the Name of thy God: for I am the Lord.

22 Thou shalt not lie with the male as one lieth with a woman: for it is abomination.

23 * Thou shalt not also lie with any beast to be defiled therewith, neither shall any woman stand before a beast, to lie down thereto: for it is abomination.

24 Ye shal not defile your selves in any of these things: for in all these the nations are defiled, which I will cast out before you:

25 And the land is defiled: therefore I will visit the wickednesse thereof upon it, & the land shall vomit out her inhabitants.

26 Ye shall keep therefore mine ordinances, and my judgements, and commit none of these abominations, as well he that is of the same countrey, as the stranger that sojourneth among you.

27 (For all these abominations have the men of the land done, which were before you, and the land is defiled:

28 And shall not the land spue you out if ye defile it, as it spued out the people that were before you?)

29 For whosoever shall commit any of these abominations, the persons that do so, shall be cut off from among their people.

30 Therefore shall ye keep mine ordinances that ye do not any of the abominable customes, which have been done before you, and that ye defile not your selves therein: for I am the Lord your God.

2 For whom the Priests may lament. 6 How pure the Priests ought to be, both in themselves, and in their families.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Speake unto the Priests the sons of Aaron, and say unto them, Let none be † defiled by the dead among his people, a By touching the dead, lamenting, or being at their buriall.

2 But by his kinsman that is neere unto him: to wit, by his mother, or by his father, or by his sonne, or by his daughter, or by his brother,

3 Or by his sister a † maid, that is neere unto him, which hath not had a husband: for her † he may lament.

b For being married, she seemed to be cut off from his family.

4 He shall not lament for the Prince among his people, to pollute himselfe.

† Ebr. he may be defiled.
c The priest was permitted to mourn for his next kindred only.

5 They shall not make * bald parts upon their head, nor shave off the locks of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their flesh. * Chap. 19. 7.

6 They shall be holy unto their God, and not pollute the Name of their God: for the sacrifices of the Lord made by fire, and the bread of their God they doe offer: therefore they shall be holy.

7 They shall not take to wife an whore, or † one polluted, neither shall they marrie a woman divorced from her husband: for such one is holy unto his God.

9 ¶ If a Priests daughter fall to play the whore, she polluteth her father: therefore shall she be burnt with fire.

10 ¶ Also the high Priest among his brethren, (upon whose head the anointing oyle was poured, and hath consecrated his hand to put on the garments) shall not † uncover his head, nor rent his clothes, g He shall use no such ceremonies as the mourners observed.

11 Neither shall he goe to any † dead body, nor make himselfe uncleane by his father or by his mother, his people: for I am the Lord which sanctifie him.

16 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

17 Speake unto Aaron, and say, Whosoever of thy seed in their generations hath any blemishes, shall not prease to offer the bread of his God:

18 For whosoever hath any blemish, shall not come neere: ^ma man blind, or lame, or that hath ⁿa flat nose, or that hath any ^pmisshappen member,

19 Or a man that hath a broken foot, or a broken hand,

20 Or ^qa crooke backt, or bleare eyed, or hath a blemish in his eye, or be scurvie, or scabbed, or hath ^rhis stones broken.

21 None of the seed of Aaron the priest that hath a blemish, shall come neere to offer the sacrifices of the Lord made by fire, having a blemish: he shall not prease to offer the ^sbread of his God.

22 The bread of his God, ^teven of the ^umost holy, and ^vof the holy shall he eate:

23 But he shall not goe in unto the vaile, nor come neere the altar, because he hath a blemish, lest he pollute my Sanctuaries: for I am the Lord that sanctifie them.

24 Thus spake Moses unto Aaron, and to his sons, and to all the children of Israel.

CHAP. XXII.

¹ Who ought to abstaine from eating the things that were offered.

15 What oblations should be offered.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speake unto Aaron, and to his sons, that they be separated from the holy things of the children of Israel, and that they pollute not mine holy Name, in those things which they hallow unto me: I am the Lord.

3 Say unto them, Whosoever ^hbee be of all your seed among your generations after you, that ⁱtoucheth the holy things which the children of Israel hallow unto the Lord, having his uncleannesse upon him, even that person shall be cut off from my sight: I am the Lord.

4 * Whosoever also of the seed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running issue, he shall not eat of the holy things untill he be cleane: and who ^jso toucheth any that is ^kuncleane by reason of the dead, or a man whose issue of seed runneth from him,

5 Or the man that toucheth any creeping thing, whereby he may be made uncleane, or a man by whom he may take uncleannes, ^lwhatsoever uncleannesse he hath,

6 The person that hath touched such, shall therefore be uncleane untill the even, and shall not eate of the holy things, ^mexcept he have washed his flesh with water:

7 But when the Sunne is down, he shall be cleane, and shall afterward eate of the holy things: for it is his ⁿfood:

8 * Of a beast that dieth, or is rent ^owith ^pbeastes, whereby he may be defiled, he shall not eat: I am the Lord.

9 Let them keep therefore mine ordinance, lest they beare ^qtheir sin for it, and die for it: if they defile it: I the Lord sanctifie them.

10 There shall no ^rstranger also eate of the holy thing, neither ^sthe guest of the Priest, neither shall an hired servant eate of the holy thing:

11 But if the Priest buy any with money, he shall eate of it; also he that is born in his house: they shall eate of his meat.

12 If the priests daughter also be married unto a ^tstranger, she may not eate of the holy offerings.

13 Notwithstanding if the Priests daughter be a widow or divorced, and have no childe, but is returned unto her fathers house, she shall eate of her fathers bread, as she did in her ^uyouth: but there shall no stranger eat thereof.

14 ¶ If a man eat of the holy thing unwittingly, he shall put the ^vfirst part thereunto, and give it unto the Priest with the hallowed thing.

15 So they shall not defile the holy things of the children of Israel which they offer unto the Lord:

16 Neither cause the ^wpeople to beare the iniquitie of ^xtheir trespass, while they eat their holy thing: for I the Lord doe hallow them.

17 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Speake unto Aaron, and to his sons, and to all the children of Israel, & say unto them, Whosoever ^ybe be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers in Israel, that will offer his sacrifice for all their vowes, and for all their free offerings, which they use to offer unto the Lord, for a burnt offering:

19 ^zTe shall offer of your free mind a male without blemish of the beeves, of the sheep, or of the goats.

20 Yee shall not offer any thing that hath a blemish: for that shall not be acceptable for you.

21 * And whosoever bringeth a peace offering unto the Lord to accomplish his vow, or for a free offering of the beeves, or of the sheep, his free offering shall be perfect, no blemish shall be in it.

22 Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a ^{aa}wen, or skirvy, or scabbed: these shall ye not offer unto the Lord, nor make an offering by fire of these upon the altar of the Lord.

23 Yet a bullock, or a sheep that hath ^{ab}any ^{ac}member superfluous, or lacking, such mayest thou present for a free offering, but for a vow it shall not be accepted.

25 Neither of the hand of a stranger shall ye offer the bread of your God of any of these, because their corruption is in them, there is a blemish in them: therefore shall they not be accepted for you.

26 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

32 Neither shall ye pollute mine holy Name, but I will be hallowed among the children of Israel. I the Lord sanctifie you, 33 Which have brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord.

CHAPTER XXIII.

2 The feasts of the Lord. 3 The Sabbath. 5 The passover. 6 The feast of unleavened bread. 10 The feast of first fruits. 16 Whitsuntide. 24 The feast of blowing of trumpets. 34 The feast of Tabernacles.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, The feasts of the Lord which ye shall call the holy assemblies, even these are my feasts.

* Or, convocations.

3 Six dayes shall worke be done, but in the seventh day shall be the Sabbath of rest, an holy convocation: ye shall do no worke therein, it is the Sabbath of the Lord, in all your dwellings.

* Exod. 20. 9. 10.

* Or, ye may worke.

* Or, assembly.

4 ¶ These are the feasts of the Lord, and holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons.

a For the Sabbath was kept every week, and these other were kept but once every yeare.

5 In the first moneth, and in the fourteenth day of the moneth at evening shall be the passeover of the Lord.

* Exod. 12. 15.

* Num. 28. 17.

6 And on the fifteenth day of this moneth shall be the feast of unleavened bread unto the Lord: seven dayes shall ye eat unleavened bread.

b Or, bodily labour, save about that which one must eate. Exod. 12. 16.

c The first day of the feast, and the seventh were kept holy: in the sixth they might worke, except any feast were intermeddied, as the feast of unleavened bread the fifteenth day, and the feast of sheaves the sixteenth day.

7 In the first day ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall doe no servile worke therein.

8 Also ye shall offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord seven dayes, and in the seventh day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall doe no servile worke therein.

9 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When yee be come in to the land which I give unto you, and reap the harvest thereof, then ye shall bring a sheafe of the first fruits of your harvest unto the Priest:

* Or, anomer, reade Deut. 24. 19. Ruth. 2. 15. Psal. 129. 7.

11 And he shall shake the sheafe before the Lord, that it may be acceptable for you: the morrow after the Sabbath, the Priest shall shake it.

d That is, the second Sabbath of the passeover.

12 And that day when ye shake the sheafe, shall ye prepare a lambe without blemish of a yeare old, for a burnt offering unto the Lord:

13 And the meat offering thereof shall be two tenth deales of fine floure mingled with oyle, for a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord of sweet savour: and the drinke offering thereof the fourth part of an Hin of wine.

e Which is the fifth part of an Ephah, out two Omers: reade Exod. 16. 16. f Reade Exod. 29. 40.

14 And ye shall eat neither bread nor parched corn, nor greene eares, until the self same day that ye have brought an offering unto your God: this shall be a law for ever in your generations, & in all your dwellings.

* Or, full eared.

15 ¶ Ye shall count also to you from the morrow after the Sabbath, even from the day that yee shall bring the sheafe of the shake offering, seven Sabbaths, they shall be compleat.

g That is, the seventh day after the first Sabbath of the Passeover. * Or, weeks.

16 Unto the morrow after the seventh Sabbath shall ye number fifty dayes, then ye shall bring a new meat offering unto the Lord.

17 Yee shall bring out of your habitations bread for the shake offering: they shall be two loaves of two tenth deales of fine floure, which shall be baken with leaven for first fruits unto the Lord.

h Because the Priest should eat them, as Chap. 7. 13. & they should not be offered to the Lord upon the altar.

18 Also yee shall offer with the bread seven lambes without blemish of one yeare old, and a young bullock and two rams: they shall be for a burnt offering unto the Lord, with their meat offerings, and their drinke offerings, for a sacrifice made by fire of a sweet savour unto the Lord.

19 Then ye shall prepare an hee goat for a sinne offering, and two lambes of a yeare old for peace offerings.

20 And the Priest shall shake them to and fro with the bread of the first fruits before the Lord, and with the two lambes: they shall be holy to the Lord, for the Priest.

i That is, offered to the Lord, and the rest should be for the Priest.

21 So ye shall proclaim the same day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you: ye shall doe no servile worke therein: it shall be an ordinance for ever in all your dwellings, throughout your generations.

22 ¶ And when you reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not rid cleane the corners of thy field when thou reapest, neither shalt thou make any after gathering of thy harvest, but shalt leave them unto the poore & to the stranger: I am the Lord your God.

* Chap. 19. 9. Deut. 24. 19.

23 ¶ And

23 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say, In the ^kseventh moneth, and in the first day of the moneth shall yee ^lhave a Sabbath, for the remembrance of ^mblowing the trumpets; an holy convocation.

25 Ye shall do no servile work therein, but offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

26 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

27 The ^{*}tenth also of this seventh moneth shall be a day of reconciliation: it shall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye shall ⁿhumble your soules, and offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

28 And ye shall do no work that same day: for it is a day of reconciliation, to make an attonement for you before the Lord your God.

29 For every person that humbleth not himselfe that same day, shall even bee cut off from his people.

30 And every person that shall doe any worke that same day, the same person also will I destroy from among his people.

31 Ye shall do no manner work therefore: this shall be a law for ever in your generations throughout all your dwellings.

32 This shall be unto you a Sabbath of rest, & yee shall humble your souls: in the ninth day of the moneth at even, from ^oeven to ^eeven shall ye [†]celebrate your Sabbath.

33 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

34 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say, ^{*}In the fifteenth day of this seventh moneth shall be for seven dayes the feast of Tabernacles unto the Lord.

35 In the first day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein.

36 Seven dayes ye shall offer ^{*}sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, and in the eight day shall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye shall offer sacrifices made by fire unto the Lord: it is the ^psolemn assembly, ye shall doe no servile work therein.

37 These are the feasts of the Lord (wherein ye shall call holy convocations) to offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, ^qas burnt offering, and meat offering, ^rsacrifice; and drinke offerings, every one upon his day, 38 Beside the Sabbaths of the Lord, and beside your gifts, and beside all your vows, and beside all your free offerings, which yee shall give unto the Lord.

39 But in the fifteenth day of the seventh moneth, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, yee shall keepe an holy feast unto the Lord seven dayes: in the first day shall be a ^{*}Sabbath: likewise in the eight day shall be a Sabbath.

40 And ye shall take you in the first day the fruit of goodly trees, branches of palm trees, and the boughes of [†]thick trees, and willowes of the brooke, and shall rejoyce before the Lord your God seven dayes.

41 So ye shall keep this feast unto the Lord seven dayes in the year, by a perpetuall ordinance thorow your generations: in the seventh moneth shall you keepe it.

42 Yee shall dwell in bootes seven dayes: all that are Israelites born shall dwell in bootes, 43 That your posterity may know that I have made the children of Israel to dwell in ^fbooths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

44 So Moses declared unto the children of Israel the feasts of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIV.

2 The oyle for the lamps. 3 The shewbread. 14 The blasphemer shall be stoned. 17 He that killeth shall be killed.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 ^a Command the children of Israel that they bring unto thee pure oyle olive beaten, for the light, to cause the lampes to burn continually.

3 Without the vaile ^bof the Testimony, in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, shall Aaron dresse them, both even and morning before the Lord alwayes: this shall be a law for ever through your generations.

4 He shall dresse the lamps upon the ^{*}pure Candlestick before the Lord perpetually.

5 ¶ Also thou shalt take fine floure, and bake twelve ^{*}cakes thereof: two ^ctenth deales shall be in one cake.

6 And thou shalt set them in two rows fix in a row upon the pure table before the Lord.

7 Thou shalt also put pure incense upon the rowes, that ^dinstead of the bread it may be for a remembrance, and an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

8 Every Sabbath he shall put them in rowes before the Lord evermore, receiving them of the children of Israel for an everlasting covenant.

9 ^{*}And the bread shall be Aarons & his sons, & they shall eat it in the holy place: for it is most holy unto him of the offrings of the Lord made by fire by a perpetual ordinance.

10 ¶ And there went ^eout among the children of Israel the son of an Israelitish woman, whose father was an Egyptian: and this son of the Israelitish woman, and a man of Israel strove together in the host.

11 So the Israelitish womans son ^fblasphemed the Name of the Lord, and cursed, and they brought him unto Moses (his mothers name also was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan)

12 And they put ^{*}him in ward, till he told them the mind of the Lord:

15 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, Whosoever curseth his God, shall beare his sinne.

16 And he that blasphemeth the Name of the Lord, shall bee put to death: all the Congregation shall stone him to death: as well the stranger, as he that is born in the land, when he blasphemeth the Name of the Lord, let him be slaine.

17 ¶ * He also that † killeth any man, he shall be put to death.

18 And he that killeth a beast, he shall restore it, † beast for beast.

19 Also if a man cause any blemish in his neighbour: as he hath done, so shall it bee done to him:

20 * Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: such a blemish as he hath made in any, such shall be repayed to him.

21 And he that killeth a beast shall restore it: but he that killeth a man shall bee slaine.

22 Ye shall have * one Law: it shall be as well for the stranger, as for one born in the country: for I am the Lord your God.

23 ¶ Then ^h Moses told the children of Israel, and they brought the blasphemer out of the host, and stoned him with stones: so the children of Israel did as the Lord had commanded Moses.

CHAP. XXV.

^a The Sabbath of the seventh year. ^b The jubile in the fiftieth year. 14 Not to oppress their brethren. 23 The sale, and redeeming of lands, houses, and persons.

And the Lord spake unto Moses in Mount Sinai, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When yee shall come into the land which I give you, the * land shall † keepe Sabbath unto the Lord.

3 * Six yeares thou shalt sow thy field, and six yeares thou shalt cut thy Vineyard, and gather the fruit thereof.

4 But the seventh year shall be a Sabbath of rest unto the land: it shall be the Lords Sabbath: thou shalt neither sow thy field, nor cut thy Vineyard.

5 That which groweth of it ^b owne accord of thy harvest, thou shalt not reap, neither gather the grapes that thou hast ^c left unlaboured: for it shall be a yeare of rest unto the land.

6 And the ^d rest of the land shall bee meat for you, even for thee, and for thy servant, and for thy maid, and for thy hired servant, for the stranger that sojourneth with thee:

7 And for thy cattell, and for the beasts that are in thy land, shall all the increase thereof bee meat.

8 ¶ Also thou shalt number seven † Sab-baths of yeares unto thee, even seven times seven year, and the space of the seven Sab-baths of yeares, will be unto thee nine and forty yeare.

9 * Then thou shalt cause to blow the trumpet of the Jubile in the tenth day of the seventh moneth: even in the day of reconciliation shall yee make the trumpet blow thorowout all your land.

10 And yee shall hallow that year, even the fiftieth yeare, and proclaime liberty in the land to all the ^f inhabitants thereof: it shall be the Jubile unto you, and yee shall return every man unto his ^g possession, and every man shall return unto his family.

11 This fiftieth yeare shall bee a yeare of Jubile unto you: yee shall not sow, neither reape that which groweth of it selfe, neither gather the grapes thereof, that are left unlaboured.

12 For it is the Jubile, it shall be holy unto you: yee shall eate of the increase thereof out of the field.

13 In the yeare of this Jubile, yee shall returne every man unto his possession.

14 And when thou sellest ought to thy neighbour, or buyest at thy neighbours hand, yee shall ^h not oppress one another:

15 But according to the number of ⁱ yeares after the Jubile thou shalt buy of thy neighbour: also according to the number of the yeares of the revenues, hee shall sell unto thee.

16 According to the multitude of yeares, thou shalt increase the price thereof, and according to the fewnesse of yeares, thou shalt abate the price of it: for the number of ^k fruits doth he sell unto thee.

17 Oppresse not ye therefore any man his neighbour, but thou shalt feare thy God: for I am the Lord your God.

18 ¶ Wherefore ye shall obey mine ordinances, and keep my Lawes, and do them, and yee shall dwell in the land † in safety.

19 And the land shall give her fruit, & ye shall eat your fil, & dwell therein in safety.

20 And if yee shall say, What shall we eat the seventh yeare, for wee shall not sow, nor gather in our increase?

21 I will † send my blessing upon you in the sixth year, and it shall bring forth fruit for three yeares.

22 And ye shall sow the eighth year, & eat of the old fruit untill the ninth year: untill the fruit thereof come, ye shall eat the old.

23 ¶ Also the land shall not be sold to be ^l cut off from the family: for the land is mine, and yee be but strangers and sojourners with mee.

24 Therefore in all the land of your possession yee shall ^m grant a redemption for the land.

l It could not bee sold for ever, but must return to the family in the Jubile.

m Yee shall sell it on condition that it may bee redeemed.

25 ¶ If thy brother be impoverished, and sell his possession, then his redeemer shall come, even his neer kinsman, and buy out that which his † brother sold.

26 And if hee have no redeemer, but † hath gotten and found to buy it out, 27 Then shall he ^a count the yeares of his sale, and restore the overplus to the man to whom he sold it: so shall he return to his possession.

28 But if he cannot get sufficient to restore to him, then that which is sold, shall remaine in the hand of him that hath bought it, untill the yeare of the jubile: and in the jubile it shall come ^o out, and he shall returne unto his possession.

29 Likewise if a man sell a dwelling house in a walled city, he may buy it out againe within a whole year after it is sold: within a yeare may he buy it out.

30 But if it be not bought out within the space of a full yeare, then the house that is in the walled city shall be established ^p as cut off from the family; to him that bought it, throughout his generations: it shall not goe out in the jubile.

31 But the houses of villages, which have no walles round about them, shall be esteemed as the field of the countrey: they may be bought out again, and shall † goe out in the jubile.

32 Notwithstanding, the Cities of the Levites, and the houses of the cities of their possession, may the Levites redeeme † at all seasons.

33 And if a man purchase of the Levites, the house that was sold, & the city of their possession shall go out in the jubile: for the houses of the cities of the Levites are their possession among the children of Israel.

34 But the field of the suburbs of their cities shall not be sold: for it is their perpetuall possession.

35 ¶ Moreover, if thy brother be impoverished, and ^r fallen in decay with thee, thou shalt relieve him, and ^s as a stranger and sojourner, so shall hee live with thee.

36 * Thou shalt take no usury of him, nor vantage, but thou shalt feare thy God, that thy brother may live with thee.

37 Thou shalt not give him thy money to usury, nor lend him thy victuailes for increase.

38 I am the Lord your God, which have brought you out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

39 ¶ * If thy brother also that dwelleth by thee be impoverished, and be sold unto thee, thou shalt not compell him to serve as a bond servant,

40 But as an hired servant, and as a sojourner he shall be with thee: he shall serve thee unto the yeare of the jubile.

41 Then shall he depart from thee, both he, and his children with him, and shall returne unto his family, and unto the possession of his fathers shall he returne:

42 For they are my servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt: they shall not be ^t sold as bondmen are sold.

43 * Thou shalt not rule over him cruelly, but shalt feare thy God.

44 Thy bond servant also, and thy bond maid, which thou shalt have, shall be of the heathen that are round about you: of them shall yee buy servants and maids.

45 And moreover of the children of the strangers, that are sojourners among you, of them shall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begate in your land: these shall be your ^u possession.

46 So ye shall take them as inheritance for your children after you, to possess them by inheritance; yee shall use their labours for ever: but over your brethren the children of Israel yee shall not rule one over another with cruelty.

47 ¶ If a sojourner or a stranger dwelling by thee ^v get rich, and thy brother by him be impoverished, and sell himself unto the stranger or sojourner dwelling by thee, or to the stock of the strangers family,

48 After that he is sold, hee may be bought out: one of his brethren may buy him out, 49 Or his uncle, or his uncles son may buy him out, or any of the kindred of his flesh among his family, may redeeme him: either if he can ^w get so much, he may buy himselfe out.

50 Then he shall reckon with his buyer from the yeare that hee was sold to him, unto the yeare of jubile: and the money of his sale shall be according to the number of ^x yeares: according to the time of an hired servant shall he be with him.

51 If there be many yeares behind, according to them shall hee give againe for his deliverance, of the money that he was bought for.

52 If there remaine but few yeares unto the yeare of jubile, then he shall count with him, and according to his yeares give againe for his redemption.

53 He shall be with him yeare by yeare as an hired servant: he shall not rule cruelly over him in thy ^y sight.

54 And if he be not redeemed thus, he shall goe out in the yeare of jubile, he, and his children with him.

12 Also I will walk among you, and I will bee your God, and yee shall be my people.

13 I am the Lord your God which have brought you out of the land of Egypt, that yee should not bee their bondmen, and I have broken the c bonds of your yoke, and made you goe upright.

14 ¶ \ast But if ye will not obey mee, nor doe all these commandments,

15 And if ye shall despise mine ordinances, either if your soule abhor my lawes, so that yee will not doe all my commandments, but breake my f covenant:

16 Then I will also do this unto you, I will appoint over you \ddagger fearfulnesse; a consumption, and the burning ague to consume the eyes, and make the heart heavy, and you shall sow your seed in vaine: for your enemies shall eat it:

17 And I will set my g face against you, and ye shall fall before your enemies, and they that hate you, shall reigne over you, \ast & ye shall flee when none pursueth you.

18 And if yee will not for these things obey mee, then will I punish you h seven times more, according to your sins,

19 And I will breake the pride of your power, and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brasse:

20 And your \ddagger strength shall be spent in vaine: neither shall your land give her increase, neither shall the trees of the land give their fruit.

21 ¶ And if yee walke \ast stubbornly against mee, and will not obey mee, I will then bring seven times more plagues upon you, according to your sins.

22 I will also send wild beasts upon you, which shall i spoile you, and destroy your cattell, and make you few in number: so your high m wayes shall be desolate.

23 Yet if by these yee will not be reformed by mee, but walke stubbornly against mee,

24 Then will I also walk \ast stubbornly against you, and I will finite you yet seven times for your sins:

25 And I will send a sword upon you, that shall avenge the quarrell of my covenant: and when yee are gathered in your cities, I will send the pestilence among you, and yee shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.

26 When I shall break the staffe n of your bread, then ten women shall bake your bread in one o oven, and they shall deliver your bread againe by weight, and yee shall eat, but not be satisfied.

27 Yet if ye will not for this obey mee, but walke against mee stubbornly, 28 Then will I walk stubbornly in mine anger against you, and I will also chastise you seven times p more according to your sins.

29 \ast And yee shall eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters shall yee devour.

30 I will also destroy your high places, and \ast cut away your images, and cast your carkeises upon the q bodies of your idoles, and my soule shall abhor you.

31 And I will make your cities desolate and bring your Sanctuary unto naught, and r will not smell the savour of your sweet odours.

32 I will also bring the land unto a wilderness, and your enemies which dwell therein, shall be astonished thereat.

33 Also I will scatter you among the heathen, and s will draw out a sword after you, and your land shall be wast, and your cities shall bee desolate.

35 All the dayes that it lieth void, it shall rest, because it did not rest in your Sabbaths, when ye dwelt upon it.

36 And upon them that are left of you, I will send even a faintnesse into their hearts in the land of their enemies, and the sound of a leafe shaken shall chase them, and they shall flee as fleeing from a sword, and they shall fall, no man pursuing them.

37 They shall fall also one upon another, as before a sword, though none pursue them, and ye shall not be able to stand before your enemies:

39 And they that are left of you, shall pine away for their iniquitie in your enemies lands, and for the iniquities of their fathers shall they pine away with them also.

40 Then they shall confesse their iniquitie, and the wickednesse of their fathers for their trespasses, which they have trespassed against me, & also because they have walked stubbornly against me.

41 Therefore I will walke stubbornly against them, and bring them into the land of their enemies: so then their uncircumcised hearts shall be humbled, and then they shall willingly beare the punishment of their iniquitie.

42 Then I will remember my covenant with Jaakob, and my covenant also with Izhak, and also my covenant with Abraham will I remember, and will remember the land.

43 The land also in the mean season shall be left of them: and shall enjoy her Sabbaths while she lyeth wast without them, but they shall willingly suffer the punishment of their iniquitie, because they despised my laws, and because their soul abhorred mine ordinances.

44 Yet notwithstanding this, when they shall be in the land of their enemies, I will not cast them away, neither will I abhorre them, to destroy them utterly, nor to break my covenant with them: for I am the Lord their God:

45 But I will remember for them the covenant of old, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, in the sight of the heathen, that I might be their God: I am the Lord.

46 These are the ordinances, & the judgments, and the laws, which the Lord made between him, and the children of Israel, in mount Sinai, by the hand of Moses.

CHAP. XXVII.

Of divers vows, and the redemption of the same, 28 A thing separate from the use of man cannot be sold nor redeemed, but remaineth to the Lord.

Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, If any man shall make a vow of a person unto the Lord, by thy estimation,

3 Then thy estimation shall be this: a male from twentie yeare old unto sixtie yeare old shall be by thy estimation even fiftie shekels of silver, after the shekel of the Sanctuary.

4 But if it be a female, then thy valuation shall be thirtie shekels.

5 And from five yeare old to twentie yeare old, thy valuation shall be for the male twentie shekels, and for the female ten shekels.

6 But from a moneth old unto five yeare old, thy price of the male shall be five shekels of silver, and thy price of the female, three shekels of silver.

7 And from sixtie yeare old and above, if he be a male, then thy price shall be fifteen shekels, and for the female ten shekels.

8 But if he be poorer, then thou hast esteemed him, then shall he present himselfe before the Priest, and the Priest shall value him, according to the abilitie of him that vowed, so shall the Priest value him.

9 And if it be a beast, whereof men bring an offering unto the Lord, all that one giveth of such unto the Lord, shall be holy.

10 He shall not alter it nor change it, a good for a bad, nor a bad for a good: & if he change beast for beast, then both this & that, which was changed for it, shall be holy.

11 And if it be any unclean beast, of which men do not offer a sacrifice unto the Lord, he shall then present the beast before the Priest.

12 And the Priest shall value it, whether it be good or bad: and as thou valuest it, which art the Priest, so shall it be.

13 But if he will buy it again, then he shall give the fifth part of it more, above thy valuation.

14 ¶ Also when a man shall dedicate his house to be holy unto the Lord, then the Priest shall value it, whether it be good or bad, and as the Priest shall price it, so shall the value be:

15 But if he that sanctified it, will redeem his house, then he shall give thereto the fifth part of money more than thy estimation, and it shall be his.

16 If also a man dedicate to the Lord any ground of his inheritance, then shall thou esteem it according to the seed thereof: an Homer of barley seed shall be at fiftie shekels of silver.

17 If he dedicate his field immediately from the yeare of jubile, it shall be worth as thou dost esteeme it.

18 But if he dedicate his field after the jubile,

THE ARGUMENT.

Forasmuch as God hath appointed that his Church in this world shall be under the Croſſe, both because they should learn not to put their trust in worldly things, & also feel his comfort, when all other help faileth: he did not straightway bring his people, after their departure out of Egypt, into the land which he had promised them: but led them to & fro for the space of fourtie yeares, and kept them in continuall exercises before they enjoyed it, to trie their faith, and to teach them to forget the world and to depend on him. Which triall did greatly profit to discerne the wicked and the hypocrites from the faithfull and true servants of God, who served him with pure hearts, whereas the other, preferring their carnall affections to Gods glory, and making religion to serve their purpose, murmured when they lacked to content their lust, and despised them whom God had appointed rulers over them. By reason whereof they provoked Gods terrible judgements against them, and are set forth as a most notable example for all ages, to beware how they abuse Gods word, preferre their own lusts to his will, or despise his ministers. Notwithstanding, God is ever true in his promise, and governeth his by his holy Spirit, that either they fall not to such inconveniences, or else return to him quickly by true repentance: and therefore he continueth his graces toward them, he giveth them ordinances and instructions, as well for religion as outward policie: he preserveth them against all craft and conspiracie, and giveth them manifold victories against their enemies. And to avoid all controversies that might arise, he taketh away the occasion, by dividing among all the tribes, both the land which they had wonne, and that also which he had promised, as seemed best to his godly wisdom.

C H A P. I.

2 Moses and Aaron with the twelve Princes of the tribes are commanded of the Lord to number them that are able to go to warre. 49 The Levites are exempted for the service of the Lord.

He Lord spake again unto Moses in the wilderness of ^a Sinai, in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, in the first ^b day of the second moneth, in the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2 * Take ye the sum of all the Congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, and households of their fathers, with the number of their names: to wit, all the males, [†] man by man:

3 From twentieth year old and above, all that go forth to the warre in Israel, thou and Aaron shall number them throughout their armies.

4 And with you shall be ^c men of every tribe, such as are the heads of the house of their fathers.

5 And these are the names of the men that shall ^d stand with you, of the tribe of Reuben, Elizur, the son of Shedeur:

6 Of Simeon, Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai:

7 Of Judah, Nahshon the son of Amminadab:

8 Of Issachar, Nethaneel the son of Zuar:

9 Of Zebulun, Eliab, the son of Helon:

10 Of the children of Joseph: of Ephraim, Elisama, the son of Amihud: of Manasseh, Gamliel, the son of Pedahzur:

11 Of Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni:

12 Of Dan, Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai:

13 Of Asher, Pagiel, the son of Ocran:

14 Of Gad, Eliasaph, the son of Deuel:

15 Of Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enani:

16 These were famous in the Congregation, ^e Princes of the tribes of their fathers, and heads over thousands in Israel.

17 ¶ Then Moses and Aaron took these men which are expressed by their names:

18 And they called all the Congregation together in the first day of the second moneth, who declared their ^f kindreds by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names, from twentieth year old and above, man by man.

19 As the Lord had commanded Moses, so he numbered them in the wilderness of Sinai.

20 So were the sons of [†] Reuben Israel's eldest son by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names, man by man, every male from twentieth year old and above, as many as [†] went forth to warre:

21 The number of them, I say, of the tribe of Reuben, was six and forty thousand, and five hundred.

22 Of the sons of [†] Simeon by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, the sum thereof by the number of their names, man by man, every male from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

23 The sum of them, I say, of the tribe of Simeon was nine and fifty thousand, and three hundred.

24 ¶ Of the sons of [†] Gad by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

25 The number of them, I say, of the tribe of Gad, was five and forty thousand, and six hundred and fifty.

26 ¶ Of the sons of [†] Judah by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names, from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

27 The number of them, I say, of the tribe of Judah, was threescore and fourteen thousand, and six hundred.

28 ¶ Of the sons of [†] Issachar, by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names, from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

29 The number of them also of the tribe of Issachar, was four and fifty thousand and four hundred.

30 ¶ Of the sons of [†] Zebulun by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names, from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

31 The number of them also of the tribe of Zebulun, was seven and fifty thousand and four hundred.

32 ¶ Of the sons of Joseph, namely of the sons of [†] Ephraim by their generations, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, according to the number of their names from twentieth year old and above, all that went forth to warre:

33 The number of them also of the tribe of Ephraim, was forty thousand and five hundred.

‡ Or, full count.

44 These are the ‡ sums which Moses, and Aaron numbred, and the Princes of Israel, the twelve men, which were every one for the house of their fathers.

45 So this was all the sum of the sons of Israel, by the houses of their fathers, from twentie yeare old and above, all that went to warre in Israel, 46 And all they were in number six hundreth and three thousand, five hundreth and fiftie.

47 But the Levites, after the tribes of their fathers, were not numbred among them.

g Which were warriors, but were appointed to the use of the Tabernacle.

48 For the Lord had spoken unto Moses, and said,

49 Onely thou shalt not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the sum of them among the children of Israel:

50 But thou shalt appoint the Levites over the Tabernacle of the Testimonie, and over all the instruments thereof, & over all things that belong to it: they shall bear the Tabernacle, & all the instruments thereof,

2 The order of the tents, and the names of the Captains of the Israelites.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 ^a Every man of the children of Israel shall camp by his stander, and under the ensigne of their fathers house: far off about the Tabernacle of the Congregation shall they pitch.

a In the twelve tribes were four principall standers, so that every three tribes had their stander.

3 On the Eastside toward the rising of the sun, shall they of the stander of the hoste of Judah pitch according to their armies: and Nahshon the son of Amminadab shall be ‡ Captain of the sons of Judah.

‡ Or, Prince;

4 And his hoste and the number of them were seventie and four thousand and six hundreth.

5 Next unto him shall they of the tribe ^b of Issachar pitch, and Nethaneel the son of Zuar shall be the captain of the sons of Issachar:

b Judah, Issachar and Zebulun the sons of Leah were of the first stander.

6 And his hoste, and the number thereof were four and fiftie thousand, and four hundreth.

7 Then the tribe of Zebulun, and Eliab the son of Helon, Captaine over the sons of Zebulun:

8 And his hoste, and the number thereof seven and fiftie thousand and four hundreth:

9 The whole number of the ^c hoste of Judah are an hundreth fourscore and six thousand, and four hundreth, according to their armies: they shall first set forth.

c Of them which were contained under that name.

10 ¶ On the south side shall be the stander of the hoste ^d of Reuben according to their armies, and the Captain over the sons of Reuben shall be Elizur the son of She-deur.

d Reuben and Simeon, the sons of Leah, and Gad the son of Zilpah her maid, were of the second stander.

11 And his hoste, and the number thereof six and forrie thousand & five hundreth.

12 And by him shall the tribe of Simeon pitch, pitch, and the captaine over the sons of Simeon shall be Shelumiel the sonne of Zuri-shaddai:

13 And his hoste, and the number of them, nine and fifty thousand and three hundred.

14 And the tribe of Gad, and the captaine over the sons of Gad shall be Eliasaph the sonne of Deuel:

15 And his hoste and the number of them were five and fourty thousand, six hundred and fifty.

16 All the number of the campe of Reuben were an hundred and one and fifty thousand, and foure hundred and fifty according to their armies, and they shall set forth in the second place,

17 ¶ Then the Tabernacle of the Congregation shall go with the hoste of the Levites, in the ^e mids of the campe as they have pitched, so shall they go forward, every man in his order according to their standards.

18 ¶ The standard of the campe of Ephraim shall be toward the West according to their armies: and the captaine over the sons of Ephraim shall be Elishama the sonne of Ammihud:

19 And his hoste and the number of them were, fortie thousand and five hundred.

20 And by him shall be the tribe of Manasseh, and the captaine over the sons of Manasseh shall be Gamliel the sonne of Pedahzur:

21 And his hoste and the number of them were two and thirty thousand, and two hundred.

22 And the tribe of Benjamin, and the captaine over the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the sonne of Gideoni:

23 And his hoste, and the number of them were five and thirtie thousand and foure hundred.

24 All the number of the campe of Ephraim were an hundred and eight thousand and one hundred according to their armies, and they shall goe in the third place.

25 ¶ The stander of the hoste of Dan shall be toward the North according to their armies: and the captaine over the children of Dan shall be Ahiezer the sonne of Ammishaddai:

26 And his hoste and the number of them were threescore and two thousand, and seven hundred.

27 And by him shall the tribe of Asher pitch, and the captaine over the sonnes of Asher shall be Pagiel the sonne of Ocran:

28 And his hoste and the number of them were one & fortie thousand and five hundred

29 ¶ Then the tribe of Naphtali, and the captaine over the children of Naphtali shall be Ahira the sonne of Enan:

30 And his hoste and the number of them were three and fifty thousand and foure hundred.

31 All the number of the hoste of Dan was an hundred and seven and fifty thousand and six hundred: they shall goe hindmost with their standards, 32 ¶ These are the ^h summes of the children of Israel by the houses of their fathers, all the number of the hoste, according to their armies, six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty.

33 But the Levites were not numbred among the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses:

34 And the Children of Israel did according to all that the Lord had commanded Moses: so they pitched according to their ⁱ standards, and so they journeyed every one with their families according to the houses of their fathers.

THESE also were the ^a generations of Aaron and Moses, in the day that the Lord spake with Moses in Mount Sinai.

2 So these are the names of the sons of Aaron, ^{*} Nadab the first born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron the anointed Priests, whom Moses did ^{*} consecrate to minister in the Priests office.

4 ^{} And Nadab and Abihu died ^b before the Lord, when they offered ^{} strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai, and had no children: but Eleazar and Ithamar served in the priests office in the ^c sight of Aaron their father.

5 Then the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

6 Bring the tribe of Levi, and ^d set them before Aaron the Priest, that they may serve him.

7 And take the charge with him, even the charge of the whole congregation ^e before the Tabernacle of the congregation, to doe the service of the Tabernacle.

8 They shall also keep all the instruments of the tabernacle of the Congregation, and have the charge of the children of Israel to doe the service of the Tabernacle.

9 And thou shalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his ^f sons: for they are given him freely from among the children of Israel.

10 And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons to execute their Priests office: and the ^g stranger that commeth neer, shall be slain.

11 ¶ Also the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

12 Behold, I have even taken the Levites from among the children of Israel: for all the first borne that openeth the matrice among the children of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine.

14 ¶ Moreover, the Lord spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying, 15 Number the children of Levi after the houses of their fathers, in their families: every male from a month old and above shalt thou number.

16 Then Moses numbered them according to the word of the Lord, as he was commanded.

17 And these were the sons of Levi by their names, * Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari.

18 Also these are the names of the sons of Gershon by their families: Libni and Shimei.

19 The sons also of Kohath by their families: Amram, and Izechar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And the sons of Merari by their families: Mahli and Mushi. These are the families of Levi, according to the houses of their fathers.

21 Of Gershon came the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimeites: these are the families of the Gershonites.

22 The summe whereof (^h after the number of all the males from a month old and above) was counted seven thousand and five hundred.

23 ¶ The families of the Gershonites shall pitch behind the Tabernacle Westward.

24 The captain and [†] ancient of the house of the Gershonites shall be Eliafah the son of Lael.

25 And the charge of the sons of Gershon in the Tabernacle of the congregation shall be the ⁱ Tabernacle, and the pavilion, the covering thereof, and the vail of the doore of the Tabernacle of the congregation, 26 And the hanging of the court, and the vail of the doore of the court, which is neere the Tabernacle, and neere the altar round about, and the cords of it for all the service thereof.

28 The number of all the males from a month old and above was eight thousand and six hundred, having the ^k charge of the Sanctuary.

29 The families of the sons of Kohath shall pitch on the South side of the Tabernacle.

30 The captain and ancient of the house, and families of the Kohathites shall be Eliafah the sonne of Uzziel:

31 And their charge shall be the ^l Arke, and the Table, and the candlestick, and the Altars, and the instruments of the Sanctuary that they minister with, and the vail, and all that serveth thereto.

32 And Eleazar the son of Aaron the Priest shall be [†] chief captaine of the Levites, having the oversight of them that have the charge of the Sanctuary.

33 ¶ Of Merari came the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites: these are the families of Merari.

34 And the summe of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and above was six thousand and two hundred.

35 The captain and the ancient of the house of the families of Merari shall be Zurriel the son of Abihail: they shall pitch on the North side of the Tabernacle.

36 And in the charge and custody of the sons of Merari shall be ^m the boards of the Tabernacle, and the barres thereof, and his pillars, and his socket, and all the instruments thereof, and all that serveth thereto, 39 The whole sum of the Levites, which Moses & Aaron numbered at the commandment of the Lord throughout their families, ^o even all the males from a month old and above was two and twenty ⁿ thousand.

40 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Number all the first born that are males among the children of Israel, from a month old and above, and take the number of their names.

41 And thou shalt take the Levites to me: for all the first born of the children of Israel, (I am the Lord) and the cattell of the Levites for all the first born of the cattell of the children of Israel.

42 And Moses numbered, as the Lord commanded him, all the first born of the children of Israel.

43 And all the first born males rehearsed by name (from a month old and above) according to their number, were two and twentie thousand two hundred seventy and three.

44 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

48 And thou shalt give the money, wherewith the odde number of them is redeemed, unto Aaron and to his sonnes.

49 Thus Moses took the redemption of them that were redeemed, being more then the Levites:

50 Of the ^a firstborn of the children of Israel took he the money: even a thousand three hundred threescore and five shekels, after the shekel of the Sanctuary.

51 And Moses gave the money of them that were redeemed, unto Aaron, and to his sons, according to the word of the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

CHAP. IV.

⁵ The offices of the Levites, when the host removed. 46 The number of the three families of Korath, Gershon, and Merari.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 Take the sum of the sonnes of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, after their families, and houses of their fathers;

3 From ^a thirty yeare old, and above, even untill fifty yeare old, all that enter into the assembly to do the work in the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

4 This shall be the office of the sons of Kohath in the Tabernacle of the congregation, about the Holiest of all.

5 ¶ When the host removeth, then Aaron and his sons shall come and take down ^b the covering vail, and shall cover the Ark of the Testimony therewith.

6 And they shall put thereon a covering of badgers skins, and shall spread upon it a cloth altogether of blew silk, and put to the ^c barres thereof:

7 And upon the ^d table of shew bread they shall spread a cloth of blew silk, & put thereon the dishes, and the incense cups, and goblets, and coverings to cover it ^e with, and the bread shall be thereon continually:

8 And they shall spread upon them a covering of scarlet, and cover the same with a covering of badgers skins, and put to the barres thereof.

9 Then they shall take a cloth of blue silk, and cover the ^f candlestick of light, with his lamps, and his snuffers, ^g and his snuffe dishes, and all the oyl vessels thereof, which they occupie about it.

10 So they shall put it, and all the instruments thereof in a covering of badgers skins, and put it upon the ^h barres.

11 Also upon the golden ⁱ Altar they shall spread a cloth of blue silk, and cover it with a covering of badgers skins, and put to the barres thereof.

12 And they shall take all the instruments of the ministry, wherewith they minister in the Sanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue silk, & cover them with a covering of badgers skins, and put them on the barres.

13 Also they shall take away the ashes from the ^j altar, and spread a purple cloth upon it: ^g Of the burnt offering.

14 And shall put upon it all the instruments thereof, which they occupy about it: the censers, the flesh hooks, & the besoms, & the basins, even all the instruments of the altar: and they shall spread upon it a covering of badgers skins, and put to the bars of it.

15 And when Aaron and his sons have made an end of covering the ^k Sanctuary, and all the instruments of the Sanctuary, at the removing of the host, afterward the sonnes of Kohath shall come to beare it, but they shall not ^l touch any holy thing, lest they die. This is the charge of the sons of Kohath in the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

16 ¶ And to the office of Eleazar the son of Aaron the Priest pertaineth the oyl for the light, and the ^m sweet incense, and the ⁿ daily meat-offering, and the ^o anointing oyl, with the oversight of all the Tabernacle, and of all that therein is, both in the Sanctuary, and in all the instruments thereof.

17 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

18 Ye shall not ^p cut off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites:

19 But thus do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they come neere to the most holy things: let Aaron and his sons come and appoint ^q them, every one to his office, and to his charge.

20 But let them not go in, to see when the Sanctuary is folden up, lest they die.

21 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

22 Take also the summe of the sons of Gershon, every one by the houses of their fathers throughout their families:

23 From thirty year old and above, untill fiftie yeare old shalt thou number them, all that ^r enter into the assembly for to doe service in the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

24 This shall be the service of the families of the Gershonites, to serve, & to beare.

25 They shall beare the curtaines of the Tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the Congregation, his covering, and the covering of badgers skins, that is on high upon it, and the vaile of the ^s doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

33 This is the service of the families of the sons of Merari, according to all their service in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, under the hand of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron the Priest.

34 ¶ Then Moses and Aaron and the princes of the Congregation numbred the sons of the Kohathites, by their families, and by the houses of their fathers.

28 But if the woman be not defiled, but be ⁿ cleane, she shall be free, and shall conceive and beare.

29 This is the law of jealousy, when a wife turneth from her husband and is defiled;

30 Or when a man is moved with a jealous mind, being jealous over his wife, then shall he bring the woman before the Lord, and the Priest shall do to her according to all this law.

31 And the man shall be ^o free from sin, but this woman shall bear her iniquitie.

18 And * the Nazarite shall shave the head ^h of his consecration at the doore of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall take the haire of the head of his consecration, and ⁱ put it in the fire, which is under the peace offering.

19 Then the Priest shall take the foddren shoulder of the ram, and an unleavened cake out of the basket, and a wafer unleavened, and put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after he hath shaven his consecration.

20 And the Priest shall * shake them to and fro before the Lord: this is an holy thing for the Priest [†] besides the shaken breast, and besides the heave shoulder: so afterward the Nazarite may drink wine.

21 This is the law of the Nazarite, which he hath vowed, and of his offering unto the Lord for his consecration, ^k besides that that he is able to bring: according to the vow which he vowed, so shall he do after the law of his consecration.

22 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

CHAPTER VII.

ⁿ The heads or Princes of Israel offer as the setting up of the Tabernacle. 10 And at the dedication of the altar. 19 God speaketh to Moses from the Mercy seat.

Now when Moses had finished the setting up of the Tabernacle, and * anointed it and sanctified it, and all the instruments thereof, and the altar withall the [†] instruments thereof, and had anointed them, and sanctified them,

2 Then the [‡] Princes of Israel, heads over the houses of their fathers (they were the princes of the tribes, who were over them that were numbred) offered,

3 And brought their offering before the Lord, six ^a covered charers, and twelve oxen: one charet for two Princes, and for every one an ox, and they offered them before the Tabernacle.

4 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

5 Take ^b these of them, that they may be to do the ^b service of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according unto his office.

6 So Moses tooke the charers and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites:

7 Two charers and foure oxen he gave to the sons of Gershon, according unto their ^c office.

8 And foure charers and eight oxen he gave to the sonnes of Merari, according unto their office, under the hand of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron the Priest.

9 But unto the sons of Kohath he gave none, ^d because the charge of the Sanctuary belonged to them, which they did beare upon their shoulders.

10 ¶ The princes also offered in the * dedication for the altar in the day that it was anointed: then the Princes offered their offering before the altar.

11 And the Lord said unto Moses, One Prince one day, and another Prince another day shall offer their offering, for the dedication of the altar.

12 ¶ So then on the first day did [†] Nahshon the son of Amminadab of the tribe of Judah offer his offering.

13 And his offering was a silver charger of an hundred and thirtie shekels weight, a silver bowl of seventy shekels, after the shekel of the Sanctuary, both full of fine floure, mingled

CHAP. XI.

1 The people murmur and are punished with fire. 4 The people lust after flesh. 6 They loath Manna. 11 The weak faith of Moses. 16 The Lord divideth the burden of Moses to seventy of the Ancients. 31 The Lord sendeth quails. 33 Their lust is punished.

When the people became [†] murmurers, [†] it displeased the Lord: and the Lord heard it, therefore his wrath was kindled, & the fire of the Lord burnt among them and ^{*} consumed the utmost part of the host.

† Ebr. as unjust complainers.
† Ebr. it was evil in the ears of the Lord

2 Then the people cried unto Moses: and when Moses prayed unto the Lord the fire was quenched.

* Psal. 78. 21.

3 And he called the name of that place [‡] Taberah, because the fire of the Lord burnt among them.

‡ Or, burning.

4 ¶ And a number of ^a people that was among them, fell a lusting, and ^b turned away, and the children of Israel also wept, and said, who shal give us flesh to eat?

b From God.

5 We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt for ^c nought, the cucumbers, and the pepons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garleek.

c For a small price, or good cheape.

6 But now our soule is ^d dried away, we can see nothing but this MAN.

d For the greedy lust of flesh.

7 (The MAN also was as ^{*} coriander seed, and his colour like the colour of ^e bdelium.

* Exod. 16. 31.
† Psal. 78. 24.
Isa. 63. 1.

8 The people went about and gathered it, and ground it in milles, or beat it in morters, and baked it in a caldron, and made cakes of it, and the tast of it was like unto the tast of fresh oyle.

e Which is, a white pearle or precious stone.

9 And when the dew fell down upon the host in the night, the MAN fell upon it.

10 ¶ Then Moses heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the doore of his tent, and the wrath of the Lord was grievously kindled: also Moses was grieved.

11 And Moses said unto the Lord, Wherefore hast thou [‡] vexed thy servant? And why have I not found [‡] favour in thy sight, seeing thou hast put the charge of all this people upon me?

‡ Or, evil intreated.
‡ Or, wherein have I displeased thee.

12 Have I [‡] conceived all this people? or have I begotten them, that thou shouldst say unto me, Carie them in thy bosome (as a nurse beareth the sucking child) unto the [‡] land, for the which thou swarest unto their fathers?

‡ Am I their father, & none may have the charge of them but I?

13 Where should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh that we may eat.

h Of Canaan promised by an oath to our fathers.

14 I am

14 I am not able to beare all this people alone, for it is to heavy for me.

15 Therefore if thou deale thus with me, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, kill me, that I behold not my misery.

i I had rather die then to see my griefe and misery thusdayly increate by their rebellion.

16 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Moses, Gather unto me seventy men of the Elders of Israel, whom thou knowest, that they are the Elders of the people, and governours over them, and bring them unto the Tabernacle of the congregation, and let them stand there with thee.

k I will distribute my spirit among them, as I have done to thee.

17 And I will come down, and talk with thee there, and take of the spirit, which is upon thee, and put upon them, and they shall beare the burthen of the people with thee: so thou shalt not beare it alone.

l Prepare your selves that ye be not unclean.

18 Furthermore thou shalt say unto the people, Be sanctified against to morrow, and ye shall eat flesh: for you have wept in the eares of the Lord, saying, Who shall give us flesh to eat? for we were better in Egypt: therefore the Lord will give you flesh, and ye shall eat.

19 Ye shall not eat one day, nor two daies, nor five daies, neither ten daies, nor twenty daies, m Or, cast him off because ye refused Manna, which he appointed as most meet for you. n Who leadeth & governeth you.

20 But a whole moneth, untill it come out at your nostrils, and be loathsome unto you, because ye have contemned the Lord, which is among you, and have wept before him, saying, Why came we hither out of Egypt?

o Of whom I have the charge.

21 And Moses said, Six hundred thousand footmen are there of the people, among whom I am: and thou sayest, I will give them flesh, that they may eat a month long.

22 Shall the sheep, and the beeves be slain for them, to find them? either shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them to suffice them?

* I Ja. 50. 2. and 59. 1.

23 And the Lord said unto Moses, Is the Lords hand shortened? thou shalt see now whether my word shall come to passe unto thee, or no.

24 ¶ So Moses went out, and told the people the words of the Lord, and gathered seventy men of the Elders of the people, and set them round about the Tabernacle.

† Or, separated, as vers. 17.

25 Then the Lord came down in a cloud, and spake unto him, and took of the spirit that was upon him, and put it upon the seventy Ancient men: and when the spirit rested upon them, then they prophesied, and did not cease.

p From that day the spirit of prophesie did not fail them.

26 But their remained two of the men in the host: the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad, and the spirit rested upon them, (for they were of them that were written, & went not out unto the Tabernacle) & they prophesied in the host.

27 Then there ran a young man, and told Moses, and said, Eldad and Medad doe prophesie in the host.

28 And Joshua the son of Nun the servant of Moses one of his young men answered & said, my lord Moses, forbid them.

q Or, among men whom he had chosen from his youth. r Such blinde zeale was in the Apostles. Matt. 23. Luk. 9. 49.

29 But Moses said unto him, Enviest thou for my sake? Yea, would God that all the Lords people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his Spirit upon them.

30 And Moses returned unto the host, he and the Elders of Israel.

* Exod. 16. 13. Tsal. 78. 26. 27.

31 Then there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought Quailes from the Sea, and let them fall upon the camp, a daies journey on this side, and a daies journey on the other side, round about the host, and they were about two cubits above the earth.

32 Then the people arose, all that day, and all the night, and all the next day, and gathered the Quailes: he that gathered the least, gathered ten Homers full, and they spread them abroad for their use round about the host.

r Of Homer read Levit. 27. 16. also it signifieth an heape, as Exod. 14. Judg. 15. 16.

33 While the flesh was yet between their teeth, before it was chewed, even the wrath of the Lord was kindled against the people, and the Lord smote the people with an exceeding great plague.

* Psa. 78. 31.

34 So the name of the place was called, Kibroth-hattaavah: for there they buried the people that fell a lusting.

† Or, graves of lust.

35 From Kibroth-hattaavah the people took their journey to Hazeroth, and abode at Hazeroth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Aaron and Miriam grudge against Moses. 10 Miriam is stricken with leprosie, and healed as the prayer of Moses.

† Or, murmured.

Afterward Miriam and Aaron spake against Moses, because of the woman of Ethiopia whom he had married (for he had married a woman of Ethiopia) a Zipporah Moses wife was a Midianite, & because Midian bordered on Ethiopia. It is sometime in the Scripture comprehended under this name. b And so bare with their grudgings, although he knew them.

2 And they said, What; hath the Lord spoken but only by Moses? hath he not spoken also by us? and the Lord heard this.

3 (But Moses was a very meek man, above all the men that were upon the earth)

4 And by and by the Lord said unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, come out ye three unto the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and they three came forth.

5 Then the Lord came down in the pillar of the cloud, and stood in the doore of the Tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both came forth.

c These were the two ordinary meanes.

6 And he said, Heare now my words, If there be a Prophet of the Lord among you, I will be known to him by a vision, and will speake unto him by dreame.

d In all Israel which was his Church.

7 My servant Moses is not so, who is faithful in all mine house.

* Exo. 33. 11.

8 Unto him will I speake mouth to mouth, and by vision, & not in dark words, but he shall see the similitude of the Lord. Wherefore then were ye not afraid to speake speake against my servant, even against Moses?

9 Thus the Lord was very angry with them, and departed:

10 Also the cloud departed from the ^{f From the doore of the Tabernacle.} Tabernacle: and behold, Miriam was leproous like snow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, she was leproous.

11 Then Aaron said unto Moses, Alas, my Lord, I beseech thee, lay not the sin upon us, which we have foolishly committed, and wherein wee have sinned.

12 Let her not, I pray thee, bee as one ^{g As a child that commeth out of his mothers belly dead, having as it were but the skin.} dead, of whom the flesh is halfe consumed, when he commeth out of his mothers wombe.

13 Then Moses cried unto the Lord, saying, O God, I beseech thee, heale her now.

14 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, If her father had ^{h In his displeasure.} spit in her face, should she not have beene ashamed seven dayes? let her bee shut ^{* Levit. 13. 46.} out of the hoste seven dayes, and after shee shall be received.

15 So Miriam was shut out of the hoste seven dayes, and the people removed not, till Miriam was brought in againe.

CHAP. XIII.

^{4 Certain men are sent to search the land of Canaan. 24 They bring of the fruit of the land. 31 Caleb comforteth the people against the discouraging of the other spies.}

THEN afterward the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderness of ^a Paran.

^{a That is in Rithma, which was in Paran. Chap. 33. 17.} 2 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

3 ^{b After the people had required it of Moses, as it is in Deut. 1. 22, then the Lord spake to Moses to dooe.} Send thou men out to search the land of Canaan which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers shall ye send a man, such as are all rulers among them.

4 Then Moses sent them out of the wilderness of Paran, at the commandement of the Lord: all those men were ^{c Or, rulers.} heads of the children of Israel.

5 Also their names are these: of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur:

6 Of the tribe of Simeon: Shaphat the son of Hori:

7 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh:

8 Of the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph:

^{d Or, Joshua.} 9 Of the tribe of Ephraim, ^e Oshea the son of Nun:

10 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu:

11 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi:

12 Of the tribe of Joseph, to wit, of the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi the son of Sufi:

13 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli:

14 Of the tribe of Asher, Shethur the son of Michael:

15 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi:

16 Of the tribe of Gad, Gevel the son of Machi.

17 These are the names of the ^{e Which in number were twelve, according to the twelve tribes.} men, which Moses sent to spie out the land: and Moses called the name of Oshea the son of Nun, Jehoshua.

18 So Moses sent them to spie out the land of Canaan, and said unto them, Go up this way toward the South, and goe up into the ^{f Or, high country.} mountains.

19 And consider the land what it is, and the people that dwell therein, whether they bee strong or weake, either few or many.

20 Also what the land ^{g Plentifull or barren.} is that they dwell in, whether it be ^h good or bad: and what cities they be, that they dwell in, whether they dwell in tents, or in walled townes:

21 And what the land ⁱ is: whether it be fat or lean, whether there be trees therein, or not. And bee of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land (for then was the time of the first ripe grapes.)

22 ¶ So they went up, and searched out the land, from the wilderness of ^{j Which was in the wilderness of Paran.} Zin unto Rehob, to goe to Hamath, 23 And they ascended toward the South, and came unto Hebron, where were Ahiman, Sheshai and Talmi, the sons of ^{k Which were a kind of giants. g Declaring the antiquity thereof: also Abraham, Sara, Izhak and Jacob, were buried there. * Gen. 1. 24.} Anak. And Hebron was built ^l seven year before Zoan in Egypt.

24 ^m Then they came to the river of Eshcol, and cut downe thence a branch with one cluster of grapes, and they bare it upon a barre betweene two, and brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

25 That place was called the ^{n Or, the valley of Eshcol, thus is grapes.} river Eshcol, because of the cluster of grapes, ^o which the children of Israel cut down thence.

26 Then after forty dayes, they turned againe from searching of the land.

27 And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the Congregation of the children of Israel, in the wilderness of ^{p Called also Kadeth-barnea.} Paran, to Kadeth, and brought to them, and to all the Congregation tidings, and shewed them the fruit of the land.

28 And they told ^{q That is, Moses.} him, and said, Wee came unto the land whither thou hast sent us, and surely it floweth with ^{r Exod. 33. 3.} milke and hony: and here is of the fruit of it.

29 Nevertheless, the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled and exceeding great: and moreover, we saw the ^s sons of Anak there.

30 The Amalekites, dwell in the South country, and the Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains, and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan.

31 Then Caleb stilled the people ^{t Or, murmuring against Moses.} before Moses,

M

Moses,

Moses, and said, Let us goe up at once, and possesse it: for undoubtedly we shall overcome it.

32 But the men, that went up with him, said, We be not able to goe up against the people: for they are stronger then wee.

33 So they brought up an evill report of the land which they had searched for the children of Israel, saying, The land which wee have gone thorow to search it out, is a land that ¹ eateth up the inhabitants thereof: for all the people that wee saw in it, are men of great stature.

34 For there we saw giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants, so that wee seemed in our sight like grasshoppers: and so we were in their sight.

CHAP. XIV.

² The people murmure against Moses. ¹⁰ They would have stoned Caleb and Joshua. ¹³ Moses pacifieth God by his prayer. ⁴⁵ The people that would enter into the land contrary to Gods will are slaine.

Then all the Congregation lifted up their voice, and cried: and ^a the people wept that night,

2 And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron: and the whole assembly said unto them, Would God wee had died in the land of Egypt, or in this wilderness: would God wee were dead.

3 Wherefore now hath the Lord brought us into this land to fall upon the sword? our wives, and our children shall bee ^b a prey: were it not better for us to returne into Egypt?

4 And they said one to another, Let us make a captains, and returne into Egypt.

5 Then Moses and Aaron ^c fell on their faces before all the assembly of the Congregation of the children of Israel.

6 And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, ^d two of them that searched the land, ^e rent their clothes,

7 And spake unto all the assembly of the children of Israel, saying, The land which wee walked thorow to search it, is a very good land.

8 If the Lord love us, he will bring us into this land, and give it us, which is a land that floweth with milke and hony.

9 But rebell not yee against the Lord, neither feare ye the people of the land: for they are ^e but bread for us: their shield is departed from them, and the Lord is with us, feare them not.

10 And all the multitude said, ^f Stone them with stones: but the glory of the Lord appeared in the Tabernacle of the Congregation before all the children of Israel.

11 And the Lord said unto Moses, How long will this people provoke mee, & how long will it be, ere they beleve mee, for all the signes ^g which I have shewed among them?

12 I will smite them with the pestilence and destroy them, & will make thee a greater Nation and mightier then they.

13 But Moses said unto the Lord, ^{*} When the Egyptians shall heare it (for thou broughtest this people by thy power from among them)

14 Then they shall say to the inhabitants of this land, (for they have heard, that thou, Lord, art among this people, and that thou, Lord, art seen [†] face to face, and that thy cloud standeth over them, & that thou ^{*} goest before them by day time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night)

15 That thou wilt kill this people as ^g some man: so the heathen which have heard the fame of thee, shall thus say, 16 Because the Lord was not able ^{*} to bring this people into the land, which hee sware unto them, therefore hath hee slaine them in the wilderness.

17 And now, I beseech thee, let the power of my Lord bee great, according as thou hast spoken, saying,

18 The Lord is ^{} slow to anger, and of great mercy, and ^{} forgiving iniquity, and sin, but not making the wicked innocent, and ^{*} visiting the wickednes of the fathers upon the children, in the third and fourth generation:

19 Bee mercifull, I beseech thee, unto the iniquity of this people, according to thy great mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people, from Egypt, even untill now.

20 And the Lord said, I have forgiven ^h it, according to thy request.

21 Notwithstanding, as I live, all the earth shall bee filled with the glory of the Lord.

22 For all those men which have seene my glory, and my miracles which I did in Egypt, and in the wilderness, and have tempted mee this ⁱ tenth times, and have not obeyed my voyce, 23 Certainly they shall not see the land, whereof I sware unto their fathers: neither shall any that provoke mee, see it.

24 But my servant ^{*} Caleb, because hee had another ^k Spirit, and hath followed me still, even him wil I bring into the land whether he went, and his seed shall inherite it.

25 Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites ^l remaine in the valley: wherefore turne back to morrow, and get you into the wilderness by the way of the Red sea.

26 ¶ After, the Lord spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying,

27 ^{} How long shall I suffer this wicked multitude to murmure against mee? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel, which they murmure against me, 28 Tell them: ^{} As I live, (saith the Lord) I will surely doe unto you, even as yee have spoken in mine eares.

36 And all the Congregation brought him without the host, and stoned him with stones, and he died, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

37 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

* Chap. 26. 9.

3 Who gathered themselves together against Moses, and against Aaron, and said unto them, ^r Yee take too much upon you, seeing all the Congregation is holy, ^s every one of them, and the Lord ^t is among them: wherefore then lift yee your selves above the Congregation of the Lord?

^r Or, let it suffice you: meaning, to have abused them thus long.

^s All are alike holy: therefore none ought to be preferred above others: thus the wicked reason ^t against Gods ordinance.

4 But when Moses heard it, he fell upon his face,

5 And spake to Korah, and unto all his company, saying, To morrow the Lord will shew who is his, and who is holy, and who

^c To be the Priest, and to offer.

who ought to approach neere unto him:
and whom he hath^c chosen, he will cause to come neere to him.

6 This doe therefore, Take you censers, both Korah, and all his company,

7 And put fire therein, and put incense in them before the Lord to morrow: and the man whom the Lord doth chuse, the same shall be holy: ^d yeetake too much upon you, yee sons of Levi.

8 Again Moses said unto Korah, Hear,
I pray you, yee sons of Levi.

9 Seemeth it a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel, to take you neere to himselfe, to doe the service of the Tabernacle of the Lord, and to stand before the Congregation, and to minister unto them?

10 He hath also taken thee to ^e him, and all thy brethren, the sons of Levi with thee, and seek yee the office of the Priest also?

11 For which cause, thou, and all thy company are gathered together against the Lord: and what is Aaron that yee murmur against him?

12 ¶ And Moses sent to call Dathan, and Abiram the sons of Eliab: who answered,
We will not come up.

13 Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us out ^f of a land that floweth with milk and hony, to kill us in the wil-dernesse, except thou make thy selfe lord, and ruler over us also?

14 Also thou hast not brought us unto a land that floweth with milk and hony, neither given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou ^g put out the eyes of these men? we will not come up.

15 Then Moses waxed very angry, and said unto the Lord, ^h Look not unto their offring: I have not taken so much as an asse from them, neither have I hurt any of them.

16 And Moses said unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company ⁱ before the Lord: both thou, they, and Aaron to morrow:

17 And take every man his censer, and put incense in them, and bring yee every man his censer before the Lord, two hundred and fifty censers: thou also and Aaron, every one his censer.

18 So they took every man his censer, & put fire in them, and laid incense thereon, and stood in the door of the Tabernacle of the congregation with Moses and Aaron.

19 And Korah gathered all the multitude against them unto the door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation: then the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the Congregation.

20 And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

21 Separate your selves from among this Congregation, that I may consume them at once.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said, O God, the God of the spirits [†] of all flesh, hath not one man only, sinned, & wilt thou be wroth with all the Congregation?

23 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the Congregation, and say, Get you away from about the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

25 Then Moses rose up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram, and the Elders of Israel followed him.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest yee perish ^k in all their sins.

27 So they gate them away from the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram on every side: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and stood in the door of their tents, with their wives, and their sons, and their little children.

28 And Moses said, Hereby yee shall know that the Lord hath sent mee to doe all these works: for I have not done them of mine owne ^l mind.

29 If these men die the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men, the Lord hath not sent me.

30 But if the Lord make ^m a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up with all that they have, and they go down quick into ⁿ the pit, then yee shall understand that these men have provoked the Lord.

31 ¶ And as soone as he had made an end of speaking all these words, even the ground clave asunder that was under the,

32 And the earth ^o opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, with their families, and all the men that were with Korah, and all their goods.

33 So they and all that they had, went down alive into the pit, and the earth covered them: so they perished from among the Congregation.

34 And all Israel that were about them, fled at the crie of them: for they said, Let us flee, lest the earth swallow us up.

35 But there came out a fire from the Lord, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered the incense.

36 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

37 Speake unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the Priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning, and scatter the fire beyond the altar: for they are hallowed.

39 Then Eleazar the Priest tooke the brasen censers, which they, that were burnt had offered, and made broad plates of them for a covering of the Altar.

40 It is a remembrance unto the children of Israel, that no stranger which is not of the seed of Aaron, come neere to offer incense before the Lord, that he be not like Korah and his company, as the Lord said to him by the hand of Moses.

41 ¶ But on the morrow all the multitude of the children of Israel murmured against Moses, and against Aaron, saying, Yee have killed the people of the Lord.

^r Or, fled, to wit, Moses and Aaron.

42 And when the Congregation was gathered against Moses, and against Aaron, then they turned their faces toward the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the Lord appeared.

43 Then Moses and Aaron were come before the tabernacle of the Congregation.

44 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

^s For it was not lawfull to take any other fire, but of the Altar of burnt offering. Levit. 10. 1.

45 Get you up from among this Congregation: for I will consume them quickly: then they fell upon their faces.

46 And Moses said unto Aaron, Take the censer and put fire therein of the Altar, and put therein incense, and goe quickly unto the Congregation, & make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the Lord: the plague is begun.

^t God had begun to punish the people.

47 Then Aaron took as Moses commanded him, and ran into the mids of the Congregation, and behold the plague was begun among the people, and he put in incense, and made an atonement for the people.

^u God drew back his hand and ceased to punish them.

48 And when he stood betweene the dead, and them that were alive, the plague was stayed.

49 So there died of this plague fourteen thousand and seven hundred, beside them that died in the conspiracy of Korah.

50 And Aaron went againe unto Moses before the door of the Tabernacle of the congregation, and the plague was stayed.

1 The twelve rods of the twelve princes of the tribes of Israel.

2 Aarons rod buddeth, and beareth blossoms, for a testimony against the rebellious people.

^v While hee was in the doore of the Tabernacle.

¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and take of every one of them a rod, after the house of their fathers, of all their princes according to the family of their fathers, even twelve rods: and thou shalt write every mans name upon his rod.

^w That is, the things which are committed to thee: or which thou dost enjoy them.

3 And write Aarons name upon the rod of Levi: for every rod shall be for the head of the house of their fathers.

4 And thou shalt put them in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, before the Arke of the Testimony, where I will declare my selfe to you.

* Exod. 25. 22.

5 And the mans rod, whom I choose, shall blossom: and I will make cease from mee the grudgings of the children of Israel, which grudge against you.

^b To be the chief Priest.

6 ¶ Then Moses spake unto the children of Israel, & all their princes gave him a rod, one rod for every Prince, according to the houses of their fathers, even twelve rods, and the rod of Aaron was among their rods.

^c Though Josephs tribe was divided into two, in the distribution of the land, yet here it is but one, and Levi maketh a tribe.

7 And Moses laid the rods before the Lord in the Tabernacle of the Testimony.

8 And when Moses on the morrow went into the Tabernacle of the Testimony, behold, the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and brought forth blossomes, and bare ripe almonds.

^d To declare that God did chuse the house of Levi, to serve him in the Tabernacle.

9 Then Moses brought out all the rods from before the Lord unto all the children of Israel: and they looked upon them, and tooke every man his rod.

10 ¶ After, the Lord said unto Moses, Bring Aarons rod againe before the Testimony, to be kept for a token to the rebellious children, and thou shalt cause their murmurings to cease from me, that they die not.

* Hebr. 9. 4.

11 So Moses did as the Lord had commanded him: so did he.

12 ¶ And the children of Israel spake unto Moses, saying, Behold, we are dead, we perish, we are all lost: we perish.

^e The Chaldees describeth thus their murmuring: Yee die by the sword: the earth swalloweth us up: the pestilence doeth consume us.

13 Whosoever commeth neere, or approacheth to the Tabernacle of the Lord, shall die: shall we be consumed and die?

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The office of Aaron and his sons, 2 with the Levites. 3 The Priests part of the offerings. 20 God is their portion. 26 The Levites have the tithes, and offer the tenth thereof to the Lord.

¶ And the Lord said unto Aaron, thou, and thy sons, and thy fathers house with thee, shall bear the iniquity of the Sanctuary: both thou and thy sons with thee shall beare the iniquity of your Priests office.

^f If you trespass in any thing concerning the ceremonies of the Sanctuary, or your office, you shall be punished.

2 And bring also with thee thy brethren of the tribe of Levi, of the family of thy father, which shall be joyned with thee, and minister unto thee: but thou, and thy sons with thee shall minister before the Tabernacle of the Testimony.

3 And they shall keep thy charge, even the charge of all the Tabernacle: but they shall not come neere the instruments of the Sanctuary, nor to the Altar, lest they die, both they and you:

^g That is, the things which are committed to thee: or which thou dost enjoy them.

4 And they shall be joyned with thee, and keep the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation for all the service of the Tabernacle: and no ^e stranger shall come neer unto you.

5 Therefore shall yee keep the charge of the Sanctuary, and the charge of the Altar: so there shall fall no more wrath upon the children of Israel.

6 For loe, I have ^{*} taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel, ^{which} as a gift of yours, are given unto the Lord, to doe the service of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

7 But thou, and thy sons with thee shall keep your Priests office for all things of the Altar, and within the vaile: therefore shall ye serve: ^{for} I have made your Priests office ^{an} office of service: therefore the stranger that commeth neer, shall be slain.

8 ¶ Again the Lord spake unto Aaron, Behold, I have given thee the keeping of mine ^d offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Israel: unto thee I have given them for the anointings sake, and to thy sons for a perpetuall ordinance.

9 This shall be thine of the most holy things, ^{reserved} from the ^e fire: all their offering of all their meat offering, and of all their sin offering, and of all their trespass offering, which they bring unto mee, that shall be most holy unto thee, and to thy sons.

10 In the most ^f holy place shalt thou eat it: every male shall eat of it: it is holy unto thee.

11 This also shall be thine: the heave offering of their gift, with all the shake offerings of the children of Israel: I have given them unto thee, and unto thy sons, and to thy daughters with thee, to be a duty for ever: all the clean in thine house shall eat of it.

12 All the ^h fat of the oyle, and all the fat of the wine, and of the wheat, which they shall offer unto the Lord for their first fruits, I have given them unto thee:

13 And the first ripe of all that is in their land, which they shall bring unto the Lord, shall be thine: all the clean in thine house shall eat of it.

14 ^{*} Every thing separate from the common use in Israel, shall be thine.

15 All that ^{first} openeth the ^{*} marriage of any flesh, which they shall offer unto the Lord, of man or beast, shall be thine: but the first born of man shalt thou redeem, and the first born of the unclean beast shalt thou redeem.

16 And those that are to be redeemed, shalt thou redeem from the age of a month, according to thy estimation, for the money of five shekels, after the shekell of the Sanctuary, ^{*} which is twenty gerahs.

17 But the first born of a kow, or the first born of a sheep, or the first born of a goat shalt thou not ⁱ redeem: ^{for} they are holy: thou shalt sprinkle their blood at the Altar, and thou shalt burn their fat: ^{it is} a sacrifice made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

18 And the flesh of them shall be thine, ^{*} as the shake breast, and as the right shoulder shall be thine.

19 All the heave offerings of the holy things which the children of Israel shall offer unto the Lord, have I given thee, and thy sons, and thy daughters with thee, to be a duty for ever: ^{it is} a perpetuall covenant ^k of salt before the Lord, to thee, and to thy seed with thee.

20 ¶ And the Lord said unto Aaron, Thou shalt have none inheritance in their ^l land, neither shalt thou have any part among them: ^{*} I am thy part, and thine inheritance among the children of Israel.

21 For behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Israel for an inheritance, for their service which they serve in the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 Neither shall the children of Israel any more ^m come neere the Tabernacle of the Congregation, lest they sustain sin, and die.

23 But the Levites shall doe the service in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and they shall bear ⁿ their sin: ^{it is} a law for ever in your generations, that among the children of Israel they possesse none inheritance.

24 For the tithes of the children of Israel, which they shall offer as an offering unto the Lord, I have given the Levites for an inheritance: therefore I have said unto them, Among the children of Israel yee shall possesse no inheritance.

25 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Speak also unto the Levites and say unto them, When ye shall take of the children of Israel the tithes, which I have given you of them for your inheritance, then shall yee take an heave offering of that same for the Lord, ^{even} the tenth part of the tithes.

27 And your heave offering shall be reckoned unto you, as the ^o corn of the barn, or as the abundance of the wine presse.

28 So ye shall also offer an heave offering unto the Lord of all your tithes, which yee shall receive of the children of Israel, and yee shall give thereof the Lords heave offering to Aaron the Priest.

29 Ye shall offer of all your ^p gifts all the Lords heave offerings: of all the fat of the same shall yee offer the holy things thereof.

7 Then shall the^c Priest wash his clothes, and he shall wash his flesh in water, and then come into the hoste, and the Priest shall be unclean unto the even.

d The inferior Priest who killed her and burned her.

8 Also hee that^d burneth her, shall wash his clothes in water, and wash his flesh in water, and be unclean untill even.

9 And a man, that^e is, clean, shall take up the ashes of the kow, and put them without the host in a clean place: and it shall be kept for the Congregation of the children of Israel for^e a sprinkling water: it is a sin offering.

e Or, the water of separation, because that they that were separated for their uncleanness were sprinkled therewith and made clean, chap. 8. 7. It is also called holy water, because it was ordained to an holy use, chap. 5. 17.

10 Therefore hee that gathereth the ashes of the kow, shall wash his clothes, and remain unclean untill even: and it shall be unto the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that dwelleth among them, a statute for ever.

11 He that toucheth the dead body of any man, shall be unclean even seven dayes.

f With the sprinkling water.

12 He shall purifie himself^f therewith the third day, and the seventh day he shall be clean: but if he purifie not himselfe the third day, then the seventh day he shall not be clean.

13 Whosoever toucheth the corps of any man that is dead, and purgeth not himselfe, defileth the Tabernacle of the Lord, and that person shall be^g cut off from Israel, because the sprinkling water was not sprinkled upon him: he shall be uncleane, and his uncleanness shall remain still upon him.

g So that hee should not be esteemed to be of the holy people, but as a polluted and excommunicate person.

l Because hee had been among them that were unclean: or else had touched the water, as verse 21.

20 But the man that is unclean, and purifieth not himself, that person shall be cut off from among the Congregation, because he hath defiled the Sanctuary of the Lord: and the sprinkling water hath not beene sprinkled upon him: therefore shall he be unclean.

21 And it shall be a perpetuall law unto them, that hee that sprinkleth the sprinkling water, shall wash his clothes: also he that toucheth the sprinkling water, shall be unclean untill even.

1 Miriam dieth. 2 The people murmur. 3 They have water out of the rock. 14 Edom denieth the Israelites passage. 25 28. The death of Aaron, in whose roomes Eleazar succeeded.

Then the children of Israel came with the whole Congregation to the desert of Zin in the firstⁿ moneth, and the people abode at Kadesh: where^b Miriam died, and was buried there.

n This was forty years after their departure from Egypt.

b Moses and Aarons sister.

c Another rebellion was in him, Exod. 17. 1. and this was in Kadesh.

2 But there was no water for the Congregation, and they^c assembled themselves against Moses, and against Aaron.

3 And the people chode with Moses, & spake, saying, Would God we had perished, when our brethren died before the Lord.

* Chap. 11. 13.

* Exod. 17. 3.

4 * Why have yee thus brought the Congregation of the Lord unto this wilderness, that both wee and our cattell should die there?

5 Wherefore now have yee made us to come up from Egypt, to bring us into this miserable place, which is no place of seed, nor figs, nor vines, nor pomegranates? neither is there any water to drink.

6 Then Moses and Aaron went from the assembly unto the door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and fell upon their faces: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto them.

7 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, d Where with thou didst miracles in Egypt, and didst divide the Sea.

8 Take the rod, and gather thou and thy brother Aaron the Congregation together, and speake yee unto the rock before their eyes, and it shall give forth his water, and thou shalt bring them water out of the rock: so thou shalt give the Congregation, and their beasts drink.

9 Then Moses took the rod from before the Lord as he had commanded him.

10 And Moses and Aaron gathered the Congregation together before the rock, and Moses said unto them, Heare now, yee rebels: shall we bring you water out of this rock?

e The punishment which followed hereof, declared that Moses and Aaron beleevd not Lords promise, as appeareth ver. 12.

11 Then Moses lift up his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twise, and the water came out abundantly: so the Congregation, and their beasts drank.

12 ¶ Again the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, Because yee beleevd mee not, to sanctifie mee in the presence of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this Congregation into the land which I have given them.

f That the children of Israel should beleve and acknowledge my power, and to honour mee.

13 This is the water of Meribah, because the children of Israel strove with the Lord, and he was sanctified in them.

g Or, strife, and contention, Chap. 27. 14.

15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we dwelt in Egypt a long time, where the Egyptians handled us evill and our fathers.

16 But when we cried unto the Lord, he heard our voice, and sent an Angel, & hath brought us out of Egypt, & behold, we are in the city Kadesh, in thine utmost border.

17 I pray thee that we may passe through thy country: we will not goe through the fields nor the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the kings way, and neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left, untill we be past thy borders.

18 And Edom answered him, † Thou shalt not passe by mee, lest I come out against thee with the sword.

† Or, come not.

19 Then the children of Israel said unto him, We will go up by the hie way: and if I and my cattell drink of thy water, I will then pay for it: I will onely (without any harm) go through on my feet.

20 He answered again, Thou shalt not go through. Then † Edom came out against him with much people, and with a mighty power.

Hor by the way of the red Sea, to^b compass the land of Edom: and the people were foregrieved because of the way.

5 And the people spake against God & against Moses, saying, Wherefore have yee brought us out of Egypt, to die in the wilderness? for here is neither bread nor water, and our soule^c lotheth this light^c bread.

6 * Wherefore the Lord sent^d fiery serpents among the people, which stung the people: so that many of the people of Israel died.

7 Therefore the people came to Moses, and said, We have sinned: for we have spoken against the Lord, and against thee: pray to the Lord, that he take away the serpents from us: and Moses prayed for the people.

8 And the Lord said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and set it up[†] for a sign, that as many as are bitten, may looke upon it, and live.

9 * So Moses made a serpent of brass, and set it up for a sign: and when a serpent had bitten a man, then he looked to the serpent of brass, and[‡] lived.

10 * And the children of Israel departed thence, and pitched in Oboth.

11 ¶ And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in[‡] Ije-abarim, in the wilderness, which is before Moab on the Eastside.

12 ¶ They removed thence, and pitched upon the river of Zared.

13 ¶ Thence they departed, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness, and commeth out of the coasts of the Amorites: (for Arnon[‡] is the border of Moab, betwene the Moabites and the Amorites)

14 Wherefore it shall be spoken in the book of the^e battels of the Lord, [‡] what thing he did in the red sea, and in the rivers of Arnon, 15 And at the streame of the rivers that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab.

16 ¶ And from thence they turned to Beer: the same is the well where the Lord said unto Moses, assemble the people, and I will give them water.

17 ¶ Then Israel sang this song, [‡] Rise up well, ^f sing yee unto it.

18 The princes digged this well, the captains of the people digged it, even the^g lawgiver, with their staves, And from the wilderness they came to Mattanah:

19 ¶ And from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth:

20 ¶ And from Bamoth in the valley, that is in the plaine of Moab, to the top of Pisgah, that looketh toward Jeshimon.

21 ¶ Then Israel sent messengers unto Sihon, king of the Amorites, saying,

22 * Let mee go through thy land: we will not turn aside unto the fields, nor into the vineyards, neither drink of the waters of the wells: we will goe by the kings way, untill we be past thy country.

23 * But Sihon gave Israel no licence to passe through his country, but Sihon assembled all his people, and went out against Israel into the wilderness: and he came to Jahoz, and fought against Israel.

24 * But Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and conquered his land, from Arnon unto^h Jabok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon wasⁱ strong.

25 And Israel tooke all these cities, and dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites in Heshbon, and in all the[†] villages thereof.

26 For^k Heshbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, which had fought before time against the king of the Moabites, and had taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

27 Wherefore they that speake in proverbs, say, Come to Heshbon, let the city of Sihon be built and repaired:

28 For^l a fire is gone out of Heshbon, and a flame from the city of Sihon, and hath consumed Ar of the Moabites, and the lords of Bamoth in Arnon.

29 Wo be to thee, Moab: O people of^m Chemosh, thou art undone: he hath suffered his sons to be pursued, and his daughters to be in captivity to Sihon the king of the Amorites.

30 Their[†] Empire also is lost from Heshbon unto Dibon, and we have destroyed them unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba.

31 ¶ Thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

32 And Moses sent to search out Jaazer, and they tooke the townes belonging thereto, and rooted out the Amorites that were there.

33 ¶ * And they turned and went up toward Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan came out against them, he, and all his people, to fight at Edrei.

34 Then the Lord said unto Moses, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thine hand, and all his people, and his land: * and thou shalt doe to him as thou diddest unto Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

35 They smote him therefore, and his sons, and all his people, untill there was none left him: so they conquered his land.

After, the children of Israel departed, and pitched in the plaine of Moab, on the ^a other side of Jordan from Jericho.

2 ¶ Now Balak the son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites.

3 And the Moabites were fore afraid of the people, because they were many, and Moab fretted against the childre of Israel.

4 Therefore Moab said unto the ^b Elders of Midian, Now shall this multitude lick up all that are round about us, as an ox licketh up the grasse of the field: and Balak the son of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time.

5 * He sent messengers therefore unto Balaam the son of Beor to Perhor (which is by the ^c river of the land of the children of his folk) to cal him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, w^{ch} cover the face of the earth, & lie over against me.

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, and curse mee this people (for they are stronger then I) so it may be that I shall be able to smite them, and to drive them out of the land: for I know that hee, whom thou blest, is blessed, and he whom thou cursest, shall bee cursed.

7 And the Elders of Moab, and the Elders of Midian departed, having ^d the reward of the soothsaying in their hand, and they came unto Balaam, and told him the words of Balak.

8 Who answered them; Tary here this night, and I will give you an answer, as the Lord shall say unto mee, So ^e the Princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

9 Then God came unto Balaam, and said, What men are these with thee?

10 And Balaam said unto God, Balak the son of Zipor, king of Moab hath sent unto mee, saying, 11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, and covereth the face of the earth: come now, curse them for my sake: so it may bee that I shall be able to overcome them in battell, and to drive them out.

12 And God ^f said unto Balaam, Goe not thou with them, neither curse the people; for they are blessed:

13 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the Princes of Balak, Returne unto your land: for the Lord hath refused to give ^g me leave to goe with you.

14 So the Princes of Moab rose up, and went unto Balak, and said, Balaam hath refused to come with us.

15 ¶ Balak yet sent againe more Princes, and more honourable then they.

16 Who came to Balaam, and said to him, Thus saith Balak the son of Zippor, ^h Be not thou staid, I pray thee, from coming unto mee.

17 For I will promote thee unto great honour, and will doe whatsoever thou sayest unto mee: come therefore, I pray thee curse mee this people.

18 And Balaam answered, and said unto the servants of Balak, * If Balak would give mee his housefull of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God, to doe lesse or more.

19 But now, I pray you, tary here this night, that I may know, what the Lord will say unto mee ⁱ more.

20 And God came unto Balaam by night, and said unto him, If the men come to call thee, rise up, and goe with them: but onely what thing I say unto thee, that shalt thou doe.

21 So Balaam rose up earely, and saddled his asse, and went with the Princes of Moab.

22 And the wrath of God was kindled, because hee ^k went: and the Angel of the Lord stood in the way to bee against him, as he rode upon his asse, and his two servants were with him.

23 And * when the asse saw the Angel of the Lord stand in the way, & his sword drawne in his hand, the asse turned out of the way, and went into the field: But Balaam smote the asse, to turne her into the way.

24 ^l Again the Angel of the Lord stood in a path of the vineyards, having a wall on the one side, and a wall on the other.

25 And when the asse saw the Angel of the Lord, she thrust her selfe unto the wall, and dashed Balaams foot against the wall: wherefore he smote her againe.

26 Then the Angel of the Lord went further, and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turne, either to the right hand, or to the left.

27 And when the asse saw the Angel of the Lord, she ^m lay downe under Balaam: therefore Balaam was very wroth, and smote the asse with a staffe.

28 Then the Lord ⁿ opened the mouth of the asse, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten mee now three times?

29 And Balaam said unto the asse, because thou hast mocked me: I would there were a sword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.

30 And the asse said unto Balaam, Am not I thine asse, which thou hast ridden upon ^o since thy first time unto this day? have I used at any time to doe thus unto thee? Who said, Nay.

31 And the Lord ^p opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the Angel of the Lord standing in the way with his sword drawn in his hand: then hee bowed himselfe, and fell flat on his face.

32 And the Angel of the Lord said unto him;

12 And hee answered, and said, Must I not take heed to speake that, which the Lord hath put in my mouth?

* 1 Cor. 10. 8.

⁹ * And there died in that plague, foure and twenty thousand.

¹⁰ Then the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

* Psal. 106. 30.

¹¹ * Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, hath turned mine anger away from the children of Israel, while he was ^f zealous for my sake among them: therefore I have not consumed the children of Israel in my jealousy.

^f He was zealous to maintaine my glory.

¹² Wherefore say ^{to him}, behold, I give unto him my covenant of peace.

¹³ And he shall have it, and his seed after him, ^{even} the covenant of the Priests office for ever, because he was zealous for his God, and hath made an [†] atonement for the children of Israel.

[†] He hath pacified Gods wrath.

¹⁴ And the name of the Israelite ^{thus} slaine, which was killed with the Midianitish woman, was Zimri the son of Salu, prince [†] of the family of the Simeonites.

[†] Elr, of the house of the father.

¹⁵ And the name of the Midianitish woman, that was slaine, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur, who was head over the people of his fathers house in Midian.

¹⁶ ¶ Again the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

¹⁷ * Vex the Midianites, and smite them: * Chap. 31. 2.

¹⁸ For they trouble you with their ^h wiles, wherewith they have beguiled you, as concerning Peor, and as concerning their sister Cozbi the daughter of a Prince of Midian, which was slaine in the day of the plague, because of Peor.

30 These are the sons of Gilead: of Jezer the family of the Jezerites: of Helek, the family of the Helekites:

31 Of Asriel, the family of the Asrielites: of Shechem, the family of the Shichemites.

32 Of Shemida, the family of the Shemidaïtes: of Hephher, the family of the Hephherites.

* Chap. 27, 1.

33 ¶ And * Zelophehad the son of Hephher had no sons, but daughters: & the names of the daughters of Zelophehad were Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

34 These are the families of Manasseh, and the number of them, two and fifty thousand and seven hundred.

35 ¶ These are the sons of † Ephraim after their families: of Shuthelah came the family of the Shuthalhites: of Becher, the family of the Bachrites: of Tahan, the family of the Tahanites.

36 And these are the sons of Shuthelah: of Eran, the family of the Eranites.

37 These are the families of the sons of Ephraim after their numbers, two and thirty thousand and five hundred: these are the sons of Joseph after their families.

† Benjamin.

38 ¶ These are the sons of † Benjamin after their families: of Bela came the family of the Belaïtes: of Ashbel, the family of the Ashbelites: of Ahiham, the family of the Ahihamites:

39 Of Shupham, the family of the Shuphamites: of Hupham, the family of the Huphamites.

40 And the sons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: of Ard came the family of the Ardites: of Naaman, the family of the Naamites.

41 These are the sons of Benjamin after their families, and their numbers, five and forty thousand and six hundred.

42 ¶ These are the sons of † Dan after their families: of Shuham came the family of the Shuhamites: these are the families of Dan after their households.

† Dan.

43 All the families of the Shuhamites were after their numbers, threescore and foure thousand and foure hundred.

44 ¶ The sons of † Asher after their families were: of Jimnah, the family of the Jimnites: of Isui, the family of the Isuites: of Beriah, the family of the Beriites.

inheritance, and to few thou shalt give lesse inheritance: to every one according to his number shall be given his inheritance.

* 10/11. 23. and 14. 2.

55 Notwithstanding, the land shall be divided by lot: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they shall inherit:

56 According to the lot shall the possession thereof be divided between many and few.

* Exod. 6. 16, 17, 18, 19.

57 ¶ These also are the number of the Levites, after their families: of Gershon came the family of the Gershonites: of Kohath, the family of the Kohathites: of Merari, the family of the Merarites.

58 These are the families of Levi, the family of the Libnites: the family of the Hebronites: the family of the Mahlites: the family of the Mulhites: the family of the Korhites: and Kohath begate Amram.

* Exod. 2. 2. and 6. 20.

59 And Amrams wife was called * Jochebed the daughter of Levi, which was born unto Levi in Egypt: and she bare unto Amram, Aaron, and Moses, and Miriam their sister.

60 And unto Aaron were born Nadab, and Abihu, Eliazar, and Ithamar.

* Levit. 10. 2. Chap. 3. 4. 1 Chron. 24. 2.

61 * And Nadab and Abihu died, because they offered strange fire before the Lord.

62 And their numbers were three and twenty thousand, all males from a moneth old and above: for they were not numbred among the children of Israel, because there was none inheritance given them among the children of Israel.

63 ¶ These are the numbers of Moses and Eleazar the Priest, which numbred the children of Israel in the plaine of Moab, neer Jordan, towards Jericho.

g Wherein appeareth the great power of God, that so wonderfully increased his people. Chap. 14. 28, 29. 1 Cor. 10. 1, 6.

64 And among these there was not a man of them, whom Moses and Aaron the Priest numbred, when they told the children of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai.

65 For the Lord said of them, * They shall die in the wilderness: so there was not left a man of them, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

a According as all men die, for as much as they are sinners.

4 Wherefore should the name of our father be taken away from among his family because he hath no sonne? give us a possession among the brethren of our father.

5 Then Moses brought their * cause before the Lord.

b That is, their matter to be judged, to know what he should determine, as he did all hard matters.

6 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

7 The daughters of Zelophehad spake right: thou shalt give them a possession to inherit among their fathers brethren, and shall turne the inheritance of their father unto them.

8 Also thou shalt speake unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die and have no sonne, then ye shall turn his inheritance unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto his fathers brethren.

11 And if his father have no brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto his next kinsman of his family, and he shall possess it: and this shall be unto the children of Israel a law of * judgement, as the Lord hath commanded Moses.

c Meaning, an ordinance to judge by.

12 ¶ Again the Lord said unto Moses, * Go up into this mount of Abarim, and behold the land which I have given unto the children of Israel.

* Deut. 32. 49.

4 The daily sacrifice. 9 The sacrifice of the Sabbath. 11 Of the Moneth. 16 Of the Passeeover. 26 Of the first fruits.

And the Lord spak unto Moses, saying, 2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall observe to offer unto me in their due season mine offering, and^a my bread for my sacrifices made by fire for a sweet favour unto me.

^a By bread he meaneth all manner of sacrifice.

* Exod. 29.38.

3 Also thou shalt say unto them, * This is the offering made by fire, which ye shall offer unto the Lord, two lambs of a yeare old without spot daily, for a continuall burnt offering.

4 One lamb shalt thou prepare in the morning, and the other lambe shalt thou prepare at even.

* Exod. 16.36.

* Levit. 2.1.

* Exod. 29.40.

5 * And the tenth part of an Ephah of fine floure for a^a meat offering mingled with the fourth part of an * Hin of beaten oyle.

6 This shall be, a daily burnt offering, as was made in the mount Sinai for a sweet favour: it is a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

7 And the drink offering thereof the fourth part of an Hin for one lambe: in the holy place cause to poure the drink offering unto the Lord.

8 And the other lamb thou shalt prepare at even: as the meat offering of the morning, and as the drink offering thereof shalt thou prepare this^b for an offering made by fire of sweet favour unto the Lord.

^b The meat offering and drink offering of the evening sacrifice.

9 ¶ But on the Sabbath day ye shall offer two lambs of a yeare old, without spot, and two^c tenth deales of fine floure for a meat offering mingled with oyle, and the drink offering thereof.

^c Of the measure, Ephah.

10 This is the burnt offering of every Sabbath, beside the^d continuall burnt offering, and drink offering thereof.

^d Which was offered every day, at morning and at evening.

11 ¶ And in the beginning of your moneths ye shall offer a burnt offering unto the Lord, two young bullocks, and a ram, and seven lambs of a yeare old, without spot,

12 And three tenth deales of fine floure for a meat offering mingled with oyle for one bullock, and two tenth deales of fine floure for a meat offering, mingled with oyl for one ram,

13 And a tenth deale of fine floure mingled with oyle for a meat offering unto one lamb: for a burnt offering of sweet favour:

it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

14 And their^e drink offerings shall be halfe an Hin of wine unto one bullock, and the third part of an Hin unto a ram, and the fourth part of an Hin unto a lambe: this is the burnt offering of every moneth, thorowout the moneths of the yeare.

^e That is, the wine that shall be poured upon the sacrifice.

15 And one hee goat for a sin offering unto the Lord, shall be prepared, besides the continuall burnt offering, and his drink offering.

16 * Also the fourteenth day of the first moneth is the Passeeover of the Lord.

* Exod. 12.18. and 23.15. Levit. 23.5.

17 And in the fifteenth day of the same moneth is the feast: seven dayes shall unleavened bread be eaten.

18 In the^f first day shall be an holy^f convocation, ye shall doe no servile worke therein.

* Levit. 23.7. ^f Or, solemne assembly.

19 But ye shall offer a sacrifice made by fire for a burnt offering unto the Lord, two young bullocks, one ram, and seven lambs of a yeare old: see that they be without blemish.

20 And their meat offering shall be of fine floure mingled with oyle: threecenth deals shall ye prepare for a bullock, and two tenth deals for a ram:

21 One tenth deale shalt thou prepare for every lamb, even for the seven lambs.

22 And an hee goat for a sin offering, to make an atonement for you.

23 Ye shall prepare these, beside the burnt offering in the morning, which is a continuall burnt sacrifice.

24 After this manner ye shall prepare thorowout all the seven dayes, for the[†] maintaining of the offering made by fire for a sweet favour unto the Lord: it shall be done beside the continuall burnt offering, and drink offering thereof.

[†] Ebr. bread.

25 And in the seventh day ye shall have an holy convocation, wherein ye shall doe no servile work.

26 ¶ Also in the day of your first fruits, when ye bring a new meat offering unto the Lord, according to^g your weekes ye shall have an holy convocation, and ye shall doe no servile worke in it:

^g In counting seven weekes from the Passeeover to Whitsuntide, as Levit. 23.15.

27 But ye shall offer a burnt offering for a sweet favour unto the Lord, two young bullocks, a ram, and seven lambs of a yeare old,

28 And their meat offering of fine floure mingled with oyle, three tenth deales unto a bullock, two tenth deals to a ram,

29 And one tenth deale unto every lamb throughout the seven lambs,

30 And an hee goat to make an atonement for you:

31 (Ye shall doe this besides the continuall burnt offering, and his meat offering:) [†] see they be without blemish, with their drink offerings.

[†] Ebr. they shall be to you.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Of the three principall feasts of the seventh moneth. to wit, the feast of trumpets. 7 The feast of reconciliation. 12 And the feast of Tabernacles.

^a Which containeth part of September and part of October.

Moreover, in the first day of the ^a seventh moneth ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein: ^{*} it shalbe a day of blowing the trumpets unto you.

2 And ye shall make a burnt offering for a sweet savour unto the Lord: one young bullock, one ram, and seven lambes of a yeare old, without blemish.

3 And their meat offering shall be of fine floure mingled with oyle, three tenth deals unto the bullock, and two tenth deales unto the ram,

4 And one tenth deale unto one lambe, for the seven lambes,

5 And an hee-goat for a sin offering, to make an atonement for you,

^b Which must be offered in the beginning of every moneth.
^c Which is for morning and evening.

6 Beside the burnt offering of the ^b moneth, and his meat offering, and the continuall burnt offering, and his meat offering, and the drink offerings of the same, according to their manner, for a sweet savour: it is a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord.

^{*} Levit. 16, 30, 31, and 23, 27.

^d Which is the feast of reconciliation.

^{*} Levit. 16, 29.

7 ¶ ^{*} And ye shal have in the tenth day of the seventh moneth, an holy ^d convocation: and ye shall ^{*} humble your soules, and shall not doe any work therein:

8 But ye shall offer a burnt offering unto the Lord for a sweet savour: one young bullock, a ram, and seven lambes of a yeare old: see they be without blemish.

9 And their meat offering shall be of fine floure mingled with oyle, three tenth deales to a bullock, and two tenth deales to a ram,

10 One tenth deale unto every lambe thorowout the seven lambes, 11 An hee-goat for a sin offering, (beside the sin offering to make the atonement, and the continuall ^e burnt offering and the meat offering thereof) and their drink offerings.

^e That is, offered every morning and evening.

12 ¶ And in the fifteenth day of the seventh moneth, ye shall have an holy ^f convocation: ye shal do no servile work therein, but ye shall keepe a feast unto the Lord seven dayes.

^f Meaning, the feast of the Tabernacles.

13 And ye shall offer a burnt offering for a sacrifice made by fire of sweet savour unto the Lord, thirteen young bullocks, two rams, and fourteene lambes of a yeare olde: they shall be without blemish.

14 And their meat offering shall be of fine floure mingled with oyle, three tenth deals unto every bullock of the thirteene bullocks, two tenth deals to either of the two rams,

15 And one tenth deale unto each of the fourteene lambes, 16 And one he-goat for a sin offering, beside the continuall burnt offering, his meat offering, and his drink offering.

17 ¶ And the [†] second day ye shall offer twelve young bullocks, two rams, fourteene lambes of a yeare old without blemish,

[†] The second day of the feast of the Tabernacles.

18 With their meat offering and their drink offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes according to their number, after the manner,

19 And an hee-goat for a sin offering (beside the continuall burnt offering, and his meat offering) and their drink offerings.

20 ¶ Also the [†] third day ye shall offer eleven bullocks, two rams, and fourteene lambes of a yeare old without blemish,

[†] The third day.

21 With their meat offering and their drink offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, after their number, according to the ^g manner,

^g According to the ceremonies appointed thereunto.

22 And an he-goat for a sin offering, beside the continuall burnt offering, and his meat offering, and his drink offering.

23 ¶ And the [†] fourth day ye shall offer ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteene lambes of a yeare old without blemish.

[†] The fourth day.

24 Their meat offering, and their drink offerings, for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes according to their number, after the manner,

25 And an hee-goat for a sin offering, beside the continuall burnt offering, his meat offering, and his drinke offering.

26 ¶ In the [†] fifth day also ye shall offer nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteene lambes of a yeare old without blemish,

[†] The fifth day.

27 And their meat offering, and their drink offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes, according to their number, after the manner,

28 And an hee-goat for a sin offering, beside the continuall burnt offering, and his meat offering, and his drink offering.

29 ¶ And in the [†] sixth day ye shall offer eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteene lambes of a yeare old without blemish,

[†] The sixth day.

30 And their meat offering, and their drink offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambes according to their number, after the manner,

31 And an he-goat for a sin offering, beside the continuall burnt offering, his meat offering, and his drink offering.

38 And an hee-goat for a sin-offering, beside the continuall burnt-offering, and his meat-offering; and his drink-offering.

39 These things ye shall do unto the Lord in your feasts, beside your^h vows, and your free offerings, for your burnt-offerings, and for your meat-offerings, and for your drink-offerings, and for your peace-offerings.

CHAP. XXX.

3 Concerning vows. 4 The vow of the maid. 7 Of the wife, 10 Of the widow, or divorced.

Then Moses spake unto the children of Israel according to all that the Lord had commanded[†] him.

2 Moses also spake unto the heads of the tribes^a concerning the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded,

3 Whosoever voweth a vow unto the Lord, or sweareth an oath to binde himself[†] by a bond, he shall not[†] breake his promise, but shall doe according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth.

4 If a woman also vow a vow unto the Lord, and bind herself by a bond, being in her fathers house, in the time of her youth,

5 And her father heare her vow and bond, wherewith she hath bound herself, and her father hold his^b peace concerning her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond, wherewith she hath bound herself, shall stand.

6 But if her father^c disallow her the same day that he heareth all her vows and bonds, wherewith she hath bound herself, they shall not be of value, and the Lord will forgive her, because her father disallowed her.

7 And if she have an husband when she voweth or^d pronounceth ought with her lips, wherewith she bindeth herself,

8 If her husband heard it, and holdeth his peace concerning her, the same day he heareth it, then her vow shall stand, and her bonds, wherewith she bindeth herself, shall stand in effect.

9 But if her husband disallow her the same day that he heareth it, then shall he make her vow which she hath made, and that that she hath pronounced with her lips, wherewith she bound herself, of none effect: and the Lord will forgive her.

10 But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced (wherewith she hath bound herself) shall stand in effect with her.

11 And if she vowed in her husbands house, or bound herself straightly with an oath, 12 And her husband hath heard it, and held his peace concerning her, not disallowing her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond, wherewith she bound herself, shall stand in effect.

13 But if her husband disanulled them, the same day that he heard them, nothing that proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning[†] her bonds, shall stand in effect: for her husband hath disanulled them: and the Lord will forgive her.

14 So every vow, and every oath or bond, made to^h humble the soul, her husband may establish it, or her husband may breake it.

15 But if her husband hold his peace concerning her fromⁱ day to day, then he establisheth all her vows and all her bonds which she hath made: he hath confirmed them, because he held his peace concerning her the same day that he heard them.

16 But if he^k break them after that he hath heard them, then shall he beare her iniquity.

17 These are the ordinances which the Lord commanded Moses, between a man & his wife, & between the father & his daughter, being young in her fathers house.

CHAP. XXXI.

8 Five kings of Midian and Balaam are slain. 18 Onely the maidens are reserved alive. 27 The prey is equally divided. 30 A present given of Israel.

And the Lord spak unto Moses, saying; 2 * Revenge the children of Israel of the Midianites, and afterward shalt thou be^{*} gathered unto thy people.

3 And Moses spake to the people saying, Harness some of you unto warre, and let them go against Midian, to execute the vengeance of the Lord^a against Midian.

4 A thousand of every tribe throughout all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the warre.

5 So there were taken out of the thousands of Israel, twelve thousand prepared unto warre, of every tribe a thousand.

6 And Moses sent them to the warre, even a thousand of every tribe, & sent them with^b Phinehas the son of Eleazar the Priest to the warre: and the holy instruments, that is, the trumpets to blow, were in his hand.

7 And they warred against Midian, as the Lord had commanded Moses, and slew all the males.

8 They slew also the kings of Midian among them that were slain: * Evi and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian, and they slew^{*} Balaam the sonne of Beor with the sword:

9 But the children of Israel took the women of Midian prisoners, and their children, dren, and spoiled all their cattell, and all their flocks, and all their goods.

10 And they burnt all their cities, wherein they dwelt, & all their [†] villages with fire.

11 And they took all the spoile and all the prey, ^{both} of men and beasts.

12 And they brought the ^d captives, and that which they had taken, & the spoile unto Moses and to Eleazar the Priest, and unto the Congregation of the children of Israel, into the camp in the plain of Moab, which was by Jorden, ^{toward} Jericho.

13 ¶ Then Moses & Eleazar the Priest, and all the princes of the congregation went out of the camp to meet them.

14 And Moses was angry with the captains of the host, with the captaines over thousands, and captaines over hundreds, which came from the warre and battell.

15 And Moses said unto them, What? have ye saved all the ^e women?

16 Behold, ^{* these} caused the children of Israel thorow the ^{* counsell} of Balaam to commit a trespassse against the Lord, ^{† as} concerning Peor, and there came a plague among the congregation of the Lord.

17 Now therefore, ^{* slay} al the males among the ^g children, and kill all the women that have known man by carnal copulation

18 But all the women children that have not known carnall copulation, keep alive for your selves.

19 And ye shall remain without the host seven daies, all that have killed any person, ^{* and} all that have touched any dead, ^{and} purifie both your selves and your prisoners the third day and the seventh.

20 Also ye shall purifie every garment and all that is made of skins, and all work of goats haire, and all things made of wood

21 ¶ And Eleazar the Priest said unto the men of warre, which went to the battell, This is the ordinance [†] of the law which the Lord ^{*} commanded Moses.

22 As for gold, and silver, brasse, iron, tinne, and lead:

23 ^{Even} all that may abide the fire, ye shall make it go thorow the fire, and it shall be clean: yet, it shall be ^h purified with ^{*} the water of purification: and all that suffereth not the fire, ye shall cause to passe by the ⁱ water.

24 Ye shall wash also your clothes the seventh day, and ye shall be clean: and afterward ye shall come into the host.

25 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Take the sum of the prey that was taken, ^{both} of persons and of cattell, thou and Eleazar the Priest, and the chieffathers of the congregation.

27 And divide the prey [†] between the souldiers that went to warre, and all the congregation.

28 And thou shalt take a tribute unto the Lord of the ^k men of warre, which went out to battell: one person of five hundred, ^{both} of the persons, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

29 Ye shall take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the Priest, ^{as} an heave-offering of the Lord.

30 But of the half of the children of Israel thou shalt take ^l one, taken out of fifty, ^{both} of the persons, of the beeves, of the asses, & of the sheep, ^{even} of all the cattell: and thou shalt give ^{the} unto the Levites, which have the charge of the Tabernacle of the Lord.

31 And Moses and Eleazar the Priest did as the Lord had commanded Moses.

32 And the booty, ^{to wit}, the rest of the prey which the men of warre had spoiled, was six hundredth seventy and five thousand sheep.

33 And seventy & two thousand beeves,

34 And threescore & one thousand asses,

35 And two and thirty thousand persons in all, of women that had [†] lien by no man.

36 And the half, ^{to wit}, the part of them that went out to warre touching the number of sheep, was three hundredth seven and thirty thousand, and five hundredth.

37 And the ^m Lords tribute of the sheep was six hundredth and seventy and five:

38 And the beeves ^{were} six and thirty thousand, whereof the Lords tribute was seventy and two.

39 And the asses ^{were} thirty thousand and five hundredth, whereof the Lords tribute ^{was} threescore and one:

40 And ⁿ of persons sixteen thousand, whereof the Lords tribute ^{was} two and thirtie persons.

41 And Moses gave the tribute of the Lords offering unto Eleazar the priest, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The request of the Reubenites and Gadites. 16 And their promise unto Moses. 20 Moses granteth their request. 33 The Gadites, Reubenites, and halfe the tribe of Manasseh, conquer and build cities on this side Jordan.

^a Reuben came of Leah, and Gad of Zilpah her handmaid.

NOW the children of ^aReuben and the children of Gad had an exceeding great multitude of cattell: and they saw the land of Jazer, and the land of ^bGilead, that it was an apt place for cattell.

^b Which mountain was so named of the heape of stones that Iakob made as a signe of the covenant between him and Laban, Gen. 31. 47.

2 Then the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben came, and spake unto Moses and to Eleazar the Priest, and unto the Princes of the congregation, saying,

3 The land of Araroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Hehbon, and Elealeh, and Sheban, and Nebo, and Beon,

4 Which countrey the Lord smote before the congregation of Israel, is a land meet for cattell, and thy servants have cattell:

5 Wherefore, said they, if we have found grace in thy sight, let this land be given unto thy servants for a possession, and bring us not over Jordan.

6 And Moses said unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to warre, and ye tarry here?

13 And the Lord was very angry with Israel, and made them wander in the wilderness forty years, untill all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the Lord were consumed.

^c Because they murmured, neither would beleeve their report, which told the truth as concerning the land.

14 And behold, ye are risen up in your fathers stead, as an increase of sinfull men, still to augment the fierce wrath of the Lord, toward Israel.

15 For if ye turn away from following him, he will yet again leave the people in the wilderness, and ^dye shall destroy all this folke.

16 And they went neere to him, and said, We will build sheepfolds here for our sheep, and for our cattell, and cities for our children.

17 But we our selves will be ready armed to go before the children of Israel, untill we have brought them unto their ^eplace: but our children shall dwel in the defended cities, because of the inhabitants of the land

^e In the land of Canaan.

18 We will not return unto our houses, untill the children of Israel have inherited, every man his inheritance.

19 Neither will we inherit with them beyond Jordan and on that side, because our inheritance is fallen to us on this side Jordan Eastward.

20 ¶ And Moses said unto them, If ye will do this thing, and go armed before the Lord to warre:

^{*} In Gen. 1. 13.
[†] Before the Ark of the Lord.

21 And will go every one of you in harness over Jordan before the Lord, untill he hath cast out his ^genemies from his sight:

22 And untill the land be subdued before the Lord, then ye shall return and be innocent toward the Lord, and toward Israel: and this land shall be your possession ^hbefore the Lord.

^h The Lord will grant you this land which yee require, Josh. 1. 15.

23 But if ye will not doe so, behold, ye have sinned against the Lord, and be sure, that your sinne will finde you out.

ⁱ Yee shall assuredly be punished for your sinne.

24 Build you ⁱthen cities for your children, and folds for your sheep, and do that ye have spoken.

25 Then the children of Gad and the children of Reuben spake unto Moses, saying, Thy servants will doe as my lord commandeth:

26 Our children, our wives, our sheep, and all our cattell shall remain there in the cities of Gilead.

* 1s/6.4. 12.

27 But * thy servants will go every one armed to warre before the Lord for to fight as my lord faith.

k Moses gave charge that his promise made to the Reubenites & others, should be performed after his death, so that they breake not theirs.

28 So concerning them, Moses^k commanded Eleazer the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chiefe fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel :

29 And Moses said unto them, If the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben, will go with you over Jordan, all armed to fight before the Lord, then when the land is subdued before you, ye shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession :

30 But if they will not go over with you armed, then they shall have their possessions among you in the land of Canaan.

l That is, attributed to the Lord, which his messengers speaketh.

31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben answered, saying, As the Lord hath said unto thy servants, so will we doe.

32 We will go armed before the Lord into the land of Canaan: that the possession of our inheritance may be to us on this side Jordan.

* Dent. 3. 12, 1s/6. 13. 8. and 22. 4.

33 * So Moses gave unto them, even to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and to half the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdome of Sihon king of the^m Amorites, and the kingdome of Og king of Bashan, the land with the cities thereof and coasts, even the cities of the country round about.

m The Amorites dwelled on both the sides of Jordan: but here he maketh mention of them that dwell on this side: and Josh. 10. 12. he speaketh of them that inhabited beyond Jordan.

34 ¶ Then the children of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, 34 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jazer, and Jogbehah.

36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, defended cities: also sheepfolds.

5 And the border shall compass from Azmon unto the ^b river of Egypt, and shall go out to the Sea.

b Which was Nilus, or, as some thinke, Rhinocorura.

6 And your West quarter shall be the great ^c Sea: even that border shall be your West coast.

c Which is called Mediterraneum.

7 And this shall be your North quarter: ye shall mark out your border from the great Sea unto mount ^d Hor.

d Which is a mountain neere Tyre and Sidon, & not that Hor in the wilderness, where Aaron died.

8 From mount Hor ye shall point out till it come unto Hamath, and the end of the coast shall be at Zedad.

9 And the coast shall reach out to Ziphron, and go out at Hazar-enan, this shall be your North quarter.

10 And ye shall marke out your East quarter from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

11 And the coast shall go down from Shepham to Riblah, and from the East side of Ain: and the same border shall descend and go out at the side of the Sea of * Chinnereth Eastward.

e Which is the Gospell is called the lake of Genezareth.

12 Also that border shall go down to Jordan: and leave at the salt sea: this shall be your land with the coasts thereof round about.

13 ¶ Then Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying, This is the land which ye shall inherit by lot, which the Lord commanded to give unto nine tribes, and half the tribe.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chiflon.

22 Also of the tribe of the sons of Dan, the Prince Bukki the son of Jogli.

23 Of the sons of Joseph: of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, the Prince Hanniel the son of Ephod.

24 And of the tribe of the sonnes of Ephraim, the prince Kemuel, the sonne of Shiphtan.

25 Of the tribe also of the sons of Zebulun, the prince Elizaphan, the son of Parnach.

26 So of the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the Prince Paltiel, the son of Azzan.

27 Of the tribe also of the sons of Asher, the Prince Ahihud, the son of Shelomi.

28 And of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, the Prince Pedahel, the son of Ammihud.

29 These are they, whom the Lord commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel, in the land of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 Unto the Levites are given cities and suburbs. 11 The cities of refuge. 16 The law of murther. 30 For one mans witness shall no man be condemned.

And the Lord spake unto Moses in the plain of Moab by Jordan, toward Jericho, laying,

2 * Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the * Levites of the inheritance of their possession, ^b cities to dwell in: ye shall give also unto the Levites the suburbs of the cities round about them.

3 So they shall have the cities to dwell in, and their suburbs shall be for their cartell, and for their substance, and for all their beasts.

4 And the suburbs of the cities, which ye shall give unto the Levites, from the wall of the city outward, shall be a thousand cubits round about.

5 And ye shall measure without the citie of the East side, ^c two thousand cubits: and of the South side, two thousand cubits: and of the West side, two thousand cubits: and of the North side, two thousand cubits: and the citie shall be in the mids: this shall be the measure of the suburbs of their cities.

6 And of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, * there shall be six cities for refuge, which ye shall appoint, that he which killeth may flee thither: and to them ye shall adde two and fortie cities moe.

7 All the cities which ye shall give to the Levites, shall be eight and fortie cities: them shall ye give with their suburbs.

8 And concerning the cities which ye shall give, of the possession of the children of Israel: of many ye shall take moe, and of few ye shall take lesse: every one shall give of his cites unto the Levites, according to his inheritance, which he inheriteth.

9 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, * When ye be come over Jordan into the land of Canaan, 11 Ye shall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you, that the slayer, which slayeth any person unawares, may flee thither.

12 And these cities shall be for you a refuge from the ^d avenger, that he which killeth, die not, untill he stand before the Congregation in judgement.

13 And of the cities which ye shall give, six cities shall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye shall appoint three ^e on this side Jordan, and ye shall appoint three cities in the land of * Canaan which shall be cities of refuge.

15 These six cities shall be a refuge for the children of Israel, and for the stranger, and for him that dwelleth ^f among you, that every one which killeth any person unawares, may flee thither.

16 * And if one ^g smite another with an instrument of yron that he die, he is a murtherer, and the murtherer shall die the death

17 Also if he smite him by casting a stone, wherewith he may be slain, and he die, he is a murtherer, and the murtherer shall die the death.

18 Or if he smite him with an hand weapon of wood, wherewith he may be slain, if he die, he is a murtherer, and the murtherer shall die the death.

19 The revenger of the blood himselfe shall slay the murtherer: when he meeteth him, he shall slay him.

20 But if he thrust him ^h of hate, or hurle at him by laying of wait, that he die, 21 Or smite him through enmitie with his hand, that he die, he that smote him shall die the death: for he is a murtherer: the revenger of the blood shall slay the murtherer when he meeteth him.

22 But if he pushed him ⁱ unadvisedly, and * not of hatred, or cast upon him any ^j thing, without laying of wait:

23 Or any stone (whereby he might be slain) and saw him not, nor caused it to fall upon him, and he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought him any harm,

24 Then the Congregation shall judge between the slayer and the ^k avenger of blood according to these laws.

25 And the Congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the avenger of blood, and the Congregation shall restore him unto the citie of his refuge, whither he was fled: and he shall abide there unto the death of the ^l high Priest, which is anointed with the holy oyle.

26 But if the slayer come without the borders of the citie of his refuge, whither he was fled,

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the citie of his refuge, and the revenger of blood slay the ^m murtherer, he shall be guiltlesse,

28 Because he should have remained in the citie of his refuge, untill the death of the high Priest: and after the death of the high Priest, b Meaning, Moses.

Then the chief fathers of the familie of the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of the sons of Joseph, came, and spake before Moses, and before the Princes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel,

2 And said, * The Lord commanded my Lord to give the land to inherit by lot to the children of Israel: and my lord was commanded by the Lord, to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother unto his daughters.

3 If they be married to any of the sons of the other tribes of the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereof they shall be: so shall it be taken away from the lot of our inheritance.

4 Also when the Jubile of the children of Israel commeth, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereof they shall be: so shall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

c Signifying that at no time it could return, for in the Jubile all things returned to their own tribes.

5 Then Moses commanded the children of Israel, according to the word of the Lord, saying, The tribe of the sons of Joseph have said well.

6 This is the thing that the Lord hath commanded, concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, They shall be wives, to whom they thinke best, onely to the familie of the tribe of their father shall they marrie:

d For the tribe could not have
inheritance which was the maine-nance thereof should have been abandoned to others.

7 So shall not the inheritance of the children of Israel remove from tribe to tribe, for every one of the children of Israel shall joyne himself to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that possesseth any inheritance of the tribes of the children of Israel, shall be wife unto one of the familie of the tribe of her father: that the children of Israel may enjoy every man the inheritance of their fathers.

e When there is no male to inherite.

9 Neither shall the inheritance go about from tribe to tribe: but every one of the tribes of the children of Israel shall stick to his own inheritance.

10 As the Lord commanded Moses, so did the daughters of Zelophehad, 11 For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah the daughters of Zelophehad were married unto their fathers brother sons.

* Chap. 27. 1.

12 They were wives to certain of the families of the sons of Manasse the son of Joseph: so their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

13 These are the commandments and laws which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moses, unto the children of Israel in the plain of Moab, by Jordan toward Jericho.

* That is a second law: so called because the law which God gave in mount Sinai, is here repeared, although it were a new law: and this book is a commentarie or exposition of the ten commandments.

The wonderfull love of God toward his Church, is lively set forth in this book. For albeit through their ingratitude and sundry rebellions against God for the space of 40 yeares, Deut. 9. 7. they had had deserved to have been cut off from the number of his people, and for ever to have been deprived of the use of his holy word and Sacraments: yet he did ever preserve his Church even for his own mercies sake, and would still have his name called upon among them. Wherefore he bringeth them into the land of Canaan, destroyeth their enemies, giveth them their countrey, towns, and goods, and exhorteth them by the example of their fathers (whose infidelitie, idolatry, adulteries, murmurings, and rebellion, he had most sharply punished) to fear and obey the Lord, to embrace and keep his law without adding therunto, or diminishing therefrom. For by his word he would be known to be their God, and they his people: by his word he would govern his Church, and by the same they should learn to obey him: by his word he would discern the false prophet from the true, light from darknesse, ignorance from knowledge, and his own people from all other nations and infidels: teaching them thereby to refuse and detest, destroy and abolish whatsoever is not agreeable to his holy will, seem it otherwise never so good or precious in the eyes of man. And for this cause God promised to raise up Kings and Governours, for the setting forth of his word, and preservation of his Church; giving unto them an especiall charge for the executing thereof: whom therefore he willet to exercise themselves diligently in the continuall study and meditation of the same: that they might learn to fear the Lord, love their subjects, abhor covetousnesse and vice, and whatsoever offendeth the majestie of God. And as he had tofore instructed their fathers in all things appertaining both to his spirituall service, and also for the maintenance of that societie which is between men: so he prescribeth heere anew, all such laws and ordinances, which either concern his divine service, or else are necessary for a Common weale: appointing unto every estate and degree their charge and duty: as well how to rule and live in the fear of God, as to nourish friendship toward their neighbours, and to preserve that order which God hath established among men: threatening withall, most horrible plagues to them that transgresse his Commandements, and promising all blessings and felicitie to such as observe and obey them.

C H A P. I.

^a A brief rehearſall of things done before, from Horeb unto Kadesh-barnea. ³² Moses reproveth the people for their incredulitie. ⁴⁴ The Israelites are overcome by the Amorites, because they fought against the commandement of the Lord.

Here be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel, on ^a this side Jordan in the wilderness, in the plain, ^b over against the red Sea, between Paran and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Di-zahab.

² There are eleven dayes journey from ^c Horeb unto Kadesh-barnea, by the way of mount Seir.

³ And it came to passe in the first day of the eleventh moneth, in the fortieth year, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the Lord had given him in commandement unto them, ⁴ After that he had slain ^d ^e Sihon the king of the Amorites which dwelt in Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, which dwelt at Ashtaroth in Edrei.

⁵ On this side Jordan, in the land of Moab, ^f began Moses to declare this Law, saying,

⁶ The Lord our God spake unto us in ^g Horeb, saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount,

⁷ Turn you and depart, and go unto the mountain of the Amorites, and unto all places neer thereunto: in the plain, in the mountain, or in the valley: both Southward, and to the Sea side, to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon: ^h even unto the great River, the river ⁱ Perath,

⁸ Behold, I have set the land before you: go in and ^j possesse that land which the Lord sware unto your fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob, to give unto them, and to their seed after them.

⁹ ¶ And I spake ^k unto you the same time, saying, I am not able to bear you my self alone:

¹⁰ The Lord your God hath ^l multiplied you: and behold, ye are this day as the stars of heaven in number:

¹¹ (The Lord God of your fathers make you a thousand times so many more as ye are, and blesse you, as he hath promised you)

¹² How can I alone ^m bear your cumbrance, and your charge, and your strife?

¹³ Bring you men of wisdom and of understanding, & ⁿ known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you:

¹⁴ Then ye answered me and said, The thing is good that thou hast commanded us to doe.

¹⁶ And I charged your Judges that same time, saying, Heare the ^p controversies between your brethren, and ^q judge righteously between every man and his brother, and the stranger that is with him.

¹⁷ Ye shall have no respect of person in Judgement, ^r but shall hear the small as well as the great: ye shall not fear the face of man: for the judgement is ^s Gods: and the cause that is too hard for you, bring unto me, and I will heare it.

18 Also I commanded you the same time all the things which ye should doe.

19 ¶ Then we departed from Horeb, and went through all that great & terrible wilderness (as ye have seene) by the way of the mountaine of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us: and we came to Kadesh-barnea.

n So that the fault was in themselves that they did not sooner possesse the inheritance promised.

20 And I said unto you, Ye are come unto the mountaine of the Amorites, which the Lord our God doth give unto us.

21 Behold, the Lord thy God hath laid the land before thee: goe up and possesse it, as the Lord the God of thy fathers hath said unto thee: feare not, neither be discouraged.

22 ¶ Then ye came unto me every one, and said, We will send men before us, to search us out the land, and to bring us word again, what way we must goe up by, and unto what cities we shall come.

23 So the saying pleased me well, and I took twelue men of you, of every tribe one.

p To wit, Caleb, and Ioshua: Moyses preferreth & better part to the greater, that is, two to ten.

26 Notwithstanding, ye would not goe up, but were disobedient unto the Commandement of the Lord your God, 27 And murmured in your tents, and said, because the Lord hated us, therefore hath he brought us out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, and to destroy us.

29 But I said unto you, Dread not, nor be afraid of them.

f Declaring that to renounce our owne force, and constantly to follow our vocation, and depend on the Lord, is the true boldness, and agreeable to God.

30 The Lord your God, ^r who goeth before you, he shall fight for you, according to all that he did unto you in Egypt before your eyes:

31 And in the wilderness, where thou hast seene how the Lord thy God bare thee, as a man doth beare his son, in all the way which ye have gone, untill ye came unto this place.

32 Yet for all this ye did not beleeeve the Lord your God,

* Exod. 13. 21.

33 * Who went in the way before you, to search you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night, that ye might see what way to goe, and in a cloud by day.

34 Then the Lord heard the voyce of 39 Moreover, your children, which ye said should be a prey, and your sons, which in that day had no knowledge between good and evill, they shall goe in thither, and unto them wil I give it, and they shall possesse it.

u Which were under twentie years old, as Num. 14. 31.

40 But as for you, turne back, and take your journey into the wilderness by the way of the red sea.

41 Then ye answered and said unto me, We have sinned against the Lord, * we wil go up, and fight, according to all that the Lord our God hath commanded us: and ye armed you every man to the warre, and were ready to goe up into the mountaine.

x This declareth mans nature, who wil do that which God forbiddeh, and will not doe that which he commandeth.

42 But the Lord said unto me, Say unto them, Goe not up, neither fight, (for I am not among you) lest ye fall before your enemies.

y Signifying, that man hath no strength, but when God is at hand to helpe him.

43 And when I told you, ye would not heare, but rebelled against the commandement of the Lord, and were presumptuous, and went up into the mountaine.

44 Then the Amorites which dwelt in that mountaine came out against you, and chased you (as Bees use to doe) & destroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah.

45 And when ye came again, ye wept before the Lord, but the Lord would not hear your voyce, nor incline his eares unto you.

z Because yetther feared your hypocricie, then true repentance: rather lamenting the losse of your brethren, then repenting for your finnes.

46 So ye abode in Kadesh a long time, according to the time that ye had remained before.

CHAP. II.

4 Israel is forbidden to fight with the Edomites, 9 Moabites, 19 And Ammonites. 33 Sihon king of Heshbon is discomfited.

Then we turned, and took our journey into the wilderness, by the way of the red sea, as the Lord spake unto me: and we compassed mount Seir a long time.

a They obeyed, after that God had chastised them.
b Eight and thirty years, as vers. 14.

2 And the Lord spake unto me, saying, 3 Ye have compassed this mountaine long enough: turne you Northward.

c This was the second time: for before they had caused the Israelites to returne, Num. 20. 21.

4 And warn thou the people, saying, Ye shall goe through the coast of your brethren the the children of Esau, which dwell in Seir, and they shall be afraid of you: take ye good heed therefore.

5 Ye shall not provoke them: for I will not give you of their land so much as a foot breadth,*because I have given mount Seir unto Esau for a possession.

6 Ye shall buy meat of them for money to eat, and ye shall also procure water of them for money to drink.

7 For the Lord thy God hath^d blessed thee in all the works of thine hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderness, and the Lord thy God hath been with thee this fourtie years, and thou hast lacked nothing.

8 And when we were departed from our brethren the children of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain: from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, We turned and went by the way of the wilderness of Moab.

9 Then the Lord said unto me, Thou shalt not vex Moab, neither provoke them to battel: for I will not give thee of their land for a possession, because I have given Ar unto the children^e of Lot for a possession.

10 The^f Emims dwelt therein in times past, a people great and many, and tall, as the Anakims.

11 They also were taken for giants, as the Anakims: whom the Moabites call Emims.

12 The^g Horims also dwelt in Seir before time, whom the children of Esau chased out and destroyed them before them, and dwelt in their stead: as Israel shall doe unto the land of his possession, which the Lord hath given them.

13 Now rise up, said I, and get you over the river^h Zered: and we went over the river Zered.

14 Theⁱ space also wherein we came from Kadesh-barnea, untill we were come over the river Zered, was eight and thirty years, untill all the generation of the men of warre were wasted out from among the hoste, as the Lord sware unto them.

15 For indeed the^j hand of the Lord was against them, to destroy them from among the hoste, till they were consumed.

16 ¶ So when all the men of war were consumed and dead from among the people:

17 Then the Lord spake unto me, saying, 18 Thou shalt go through Ar the coast of Moab this day:

19 And thou shalt come neer over against the children of Ammon: but shalt not lay siege unto them, nor move warre against them: for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any possession:

for I have given it unto the children of Lot for a possession.

20 That also was taken for a land of giants: for giants dwelt therein afore time, whom the Ammonites called Zamzummins.

21 A people^k that was great, and many, and tall, as the Anakims: but the Lord destroyed them before them, and they succeeded them in their inheritance, and dwelt in their stead:

22 As he did to the children of Esau which dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims before them, and they possessed them, & dwelt in their stead unto this day.

23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazerim even unto^l Azzah, the Caphtorims which came out of Caphtor destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.

24 ¶ Rise up therefore, said the Lord, take your journey, and passe over the river Arnon: behold, I have given into thy hand Sihon, the^m Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land: begin to possesse it, and provoke him to battell.

25 This day will Iⁿ begin to send thy fear & thy dread, upon all people under the whole heaven, which shall hear thy fame, and shall tremble and quake before thee.

26 Then I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth unto Sihon king of Heshbon with words of peace, saying, 27 ¶ Let me passe thorow thy land: I will go by the high way: I will neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left.

28 Thou shalt sell me meat for money, for to eat, and shalt give me water for money for to drink: onely I will go thorow on my feet,

29 (As the^o children of Esau which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did unto me) untill I be come over Jordan, into the land which the Lord our God giveth us, 30 But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us passe by him: for the Lord thy God had^p hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate, because he would deliver him into thine hand, as appeareth this day.

31 And the Lord said unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee: begin to possesse and inherit his land.

32 * Then came out Sihon to meet us, himself with all his people to fight at Jahaz.

33 But the Lord our God delivered him into our power, and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people.

34 And we took all his cities the same time, & destroyed every citie, men, & women, and children: we let nothing remain.

CHAP. III.

³ Og King of Bashan is slain. ¹¹ The bignesse of his bed. ¹² The Reubenites and Gadites are commanded to goe over Jordan armed before their brethren. ²¹ Ioshua is made capitaine. ²⁷ Moses is permitted to see the land, but not to enter, albeit he desired it.

Then we returned, and went up by the way of Bashan: * and Og king of Bashan * came out against us, hee and all his people to fight at Edrei.

^g Num. 21. 33. Chap. 29. 7. ^a Therefore beside the commandement of ^h Lord they had just occasion of his part to fight against him.

2 And the Lord said unto me, Feare him not, for I wil deliver him, and all his people, and his land into thine hand, and thou shalt doe unto him as thou diddest unto * Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

^h Num. 21. 24.

3 So the Lord our God delivered also into our hand, * Og the King of Bashan, and all his people: and we smote him, untill none was left him alive.

^h Num. 21. 33.

4 And we tooke all his cities the same time, neither was there a citie which we took not from them, even threescore cities, and all the countrey of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

5 All these cities were fenced with high walles, gates, and bars, beside ^b unwalled towns a great many.

^b As villages and small towns.

6 And we overthrew them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heshbon, destroying every citie, with men, ^c women, & children.

^c Because this was Gods appointment, therefore it may not be judged cruel.

7 But all the cattell, and the spoile of the cities, we took for our selves.

8 Thus we took at that time out of the hand of two kings of the Amorites, the land that was on this side Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon:

9 (Which Hermon the Sidonians call Shirion, but the Amorites call it Shenir)

10 All the cities of the plain, and al Gilead, and all Bashan unto Salchah, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

11 For onely Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of the giants, ^d whose bed was a bed of yron: is it not at Rabbath among the children of Ammon? the length thereof ^e nine cubits, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man.

^d The more terrible ^f this giant was, the greater occasion had they to glorifie God for the victory.

12 And this land which we possessed at that time, from Aroer, which is by the river of Arnon, and half mount Gilead, * and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites and Gadites.

^h Num. 32. 33.

13 And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh: even all the countrey of Argob, with all Bashan, which is called, The land of giants.

14 Iair the son of Manasseh took all the countrey of Argob, unto the coasts of Geshuri, and of Maachathi: and called them after his own name, Bashan, * Havoth Iair unto ^e this day.

^h Num. 32. 41.

^e Meaning when he wrote this history.

15 And I gave part of Gilead unto Machir.

16 And unto the Reubenites and Gadites I gave the rest of Gilead, and unto the river of Arnon, halfe the river and the borders, even unto the river ^f Iabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon:

^f Which separateth the Ammonites from the Amorites.

17 The plaine also and Jordan, and the borders from Chinnereth even unto the Sea of the plaine, ^g to wit, the salt Sea ^h under the springs of Pisgah Eastward.

^g Or, at Pisgah.

18 ¶ And I commanded you the same time, saying, The Lord your God hath given you this land to possesse it: ye shall goe over armed before your brethren the children of Israel, all men of warre.

^g That is, the Reubenites, Gadites, and half Manasseh, as Num. 32. 21.

19 Your wives onely, and your children, and your cattell (for I know that ye have much cattell) shall abide in your cities, which I have given you, 20 Untill the Lord have given rest unto your brethren, as unto you, and that they also possesse the land, which the Lord your God hath given them beyond Jordan: then shall ye * return every man unto his possession, which I have given you.

^h 10. 22. 4.

21 ¶ And I charged Ioshua the same time, saying, Thine eyes have seen all that the ⁱ Lord your God hath done unto these two kings: * so shall the Lord doe unto all the kingdoms whither thou goest.

^h Num. 27. 18. 19. 23.

ⁱ So that the victories came not by your own wisdom, strength, or multitude. ^h 10. 21. 5. and 10. 8. 25.

22 Ye shall not feare them: for the Lord your God, he shall fight for you.

23 And I besought the Lord the same time, saying,

24 O Lord God, thou hast begun to shew thy servant thy greatnes, and thy mighty hand: for where is there a God in heaven or in earth, that can ^j doe like thy works, and like thy ^k power?

25 I pray thee let me go over and see the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly ^k mountain, and Lebanon.

^j He speaketh according to the common and corrupt speech of them which attribute that power unto idols that onely appertaineth to God.

26 But the Lord was angry with me for your sakes, and would not hear me: and the Lord said unto me, Let it suffice thee, speake no more unto me of this matter.

^k Or, wonders. ^k He meaneth Zion where the Temple should be built, and God honoured.

27 Get thee up into the top of Pisgah, and ^l lift up thine eyes Westward, and Northward, and Southward, and Eastward, & behold it with thine eyes, for thou shalt not go over this Jordan:

^l As before hath been by ^h spirit of prophesie the good mountain, which was Zion: so hee his eyes were lifted up above ^h order of nature, to behold all the plentiful land of Canaan.

28 But charge Ioshua, & encourage him, and bolden him: for he shall go before this people, and he shall divide for inheritance

CHAP. IV.

¹ An exhortation to observe the law without adding thereto or diminishing. 6 Therein standeth our wisdom. 9 We must teach it to our children. 15 No image ought to be made to worship it. 26 Threatnings against them that forsake the law of God. 37 God chose the Jews because he loved their fathers. 43 The three cities of refuge.

NOW therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the ordinances, and to the laws which I teach you to doe, that ye may live, & goe in, and possesse the land, which the Lord God of your fathers giveth you.

2 *Ye shall ^b put nothing unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye ^c take ought therefrom, that ye may keep the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you.

3 Your ^d eyes have seen what the Lord did because of Baal-peor, for all the men that followed Paal-peor, the Lord thy God hath destroyed every one from among you.

4 But ye that did ^e cleave unto the Lord your God, are alive every one of you this day.

5 Behold, I have taught you ordinances, and lawes, as the Lord my God commanded me, that ye should doe even so within the land whither ye goe to possesse it.

6 Keep them therefore, and doe them: for that is your ^f wisdom, and your understanding in the sight of the people, which shall heare all these ordinances, and shall say, ^g Onely this people ^h is wise, and of understanding, and a great nation.

7 For what nation ⁱ is so great, unto whom the gods come so neere unto them, as the Lord our God ^j is neere unto us, in all that we call unto him for?

8 And what nation ^k is so great, that hath ordinances and lawes so righteous, as all this law which I set before you this day?

9 But take heed to thy selfe, and ^l keepe thy soule diligently, that thou forget not the things which thine eyes have seene, and that they depart not out of thine heart, all the dayes of thy life: but teach them thy sonnes, and thy sonnes sonnes:

10 Forget not the day that thou stoodest before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord said unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will cause them heare my words, that they may learne to feare me all the dayes that they shall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children:

11 Then came you neere, and ^m stood under the Mountain, and the Mountain ⁿ burnt with fire unto the mids of heaven, and there ^o was darknesse, clouds, and mist.

12 And the Lord spake unto you out of the mids of the fire, and ye heard the voyce of the words, but saw no similitude, save a voyce.

13 Then he declared unto you his Covenant which he commanded you to ^p doe, even the ten ^q Commandements, and wrote them upon two Tables of stone.

14 ¶ And the Lord commanded me that same time, that I should teach you ordinances and lawes, which ye should observe in the land, whither ye go, to possesse it.

15 Take therefore good heed unto your ^r selves: for ye saw no ^s image in the day that the Lord spake unto you in Horeb out of the mids of the fire:

16 That ye corrupt not your selves, and make you a graven image or representation of any figure: ^t whether it be the likenesse of male or female,

17 The likenesse of any beast that is on earth, or the likenesse of any feathered fowl that flieth in the aire:

18 Or the likenesse of any thing that creepeth on the earth, or the likenesse of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth, 19 And lest thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou seest the Sunne, and the Moone, & the starres, with all the hoste of heaven, shouldest be driven to worship them, and serve them, which the Lord thy God hath ^u distributed to all people under the whole heaven.

20 But the Lord hath taken you and brought you out of the ^v yron furnace: out of Egypt, to be unto him a people and inheritance, as ^w appeareth this day.

21 And the Lord was angry with me for your words, and sware that I should not goe over Jordan, and that I should not goe in unto that good land, which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

22 For I must die in this land, and shall not goe over Jordan: but ^x ye shall goe over, and possesse that good land.

23 Take heed unto your selves, lest ye forget the Covenant of the Lord your God, which he made with you, and ^y lest ye make you any graven image, or likenesse of any thing, as the Lord thy God hath charged thee.

24 For the Lord thy God is a ^z consuming fire, and a jealous God.

25 ¶ When thou shalt beget children, and childrens children, and shalt have remained long in the land, if ye ^{aa} corrupt your selves, and make any graven image, or likenesse of any thing, and work evill in the sight of the Lord thy God, to provoke him to anger,

26 I ^{ab} call heaven and earth to record against you this day, that ye shall shortly perish from the land, whereunto ye goe over Jordan to possesse it: ye shall not prolong ⁷ He sheweth the cause why God wrought these miracles.

35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest ² know, that the Lord he is God, and that there is none but he alone.

36 Out of heaven he made thee hear his voice to instruct thee, and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou hearest his voyce out of the mids of the fire.

19 To cast out all thine enemies before thee, as the Lord hath said.

20 Whenⁱ thy son shall aske thee in time to come, saying, What mean these testimonies, and ordinances, and laws, which the Lord our God hath commanded you?

21 Then thou shalt say unto thy son, We were Pharaohs bondmen in Egypt: but the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mightie hand.

23 And^k brought us out from thence, to bring us in, and to give us the land which he sware unto our fathers.

24 Therefore the Lord hath commanded us, to doe all these ordinances, and to fear the Lord our God, that it may go ever well with us, and that he may preserve us alive, as at this present.

25 Moreover, this shall be our^l righteousness before the Lord our God, if we take heed to keep all these Commandments, as he hath commanded us.

* Exod. 19. 5.
1. Pet. 2. 9.

7 The Lord did not set his love upon you, nor chuse you, because yee were more in number then any people: for yee were the fewest of all people:

8 But because the Lord^c loved you, and because he would keep the othe which he had sworn unto your fathers, the Lord hath brought you out by a mightie hand, and delivered you out of the house of bondage from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, c Freely finding no cause in you more then in others to so doe

9 That thou mayest know, d that the Lord thy God, he is God, the faithful God which keepeth covenant and mercie unto them that love him and keepe his commandments, even to a thousand generations, d And to put difference between him and idoles.

10 And rewardeth^e them to their face that hate him, to bring them to destruction:

e Meaning, manifestly, or in this life.

he

he will not deferre to reward him, that hateth him to his face.

11 Keep thou therefore the commandments, and the ordinances, and the laws, which I command thee this day to doe them.

12 ¶ For if ye hearken unto these laws, and observe and doe them, then the Lord thy God shall keep with thee the covenant, and the^e mercy which he sware unto thy fathers.

13 And he will love thee, and blesse thee, and multiplie thee: he will also blesse the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy wine, & thyne oyle, and the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep in the land, which he sware unto thy fathers to give thee.

14 Thou shalt be blessed above all people: * there shall be neither male nor female Barren among you, nor among your cattel.

15 Moreover, the Lord will take away from thee all infirmities, and will put none of the evill diseases of * Egypt (which thou knowest) upon thee, but will send them upon all that hate thee.

16 Thou shalt therefore consume all people which the Lord thy God shall give thee: * thine eye shall not spare them, neither shalt thou serve their gods, for that shall be thy * destruction.

17 If thou say in thine heart, These nations are moe then I, how can I cast them out?

18 Thou shalt not fear them, but remember what the Lord thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt:

19 The great & tentations which thine eyes saw, and the signes, and wonders, and the mightie hand, and stretched out arme, whereby the Lord thy God brought thee out: so shall the Lord thy God do unto all the people, whose face thou fearest.

20 * Moreover, the Lord thy God will send^a hornets among them, untill they that are left and hide themselves from thee, be destroyed.

21 Thou shalt not fear them: for the Lord thy God * among you, a God mighty and dreadfull.

22 And the Lord thy God will root out these nations before thee by litle and litle: thou mayst not consume them at once, lest the beasts of the field increase upon thee.

23 But the Lord thy God shall give them before thee, and shall destroy them with a mightie destruction, untill they be brought to nought.

24 And he shall deliver their Kings into thine hand, and thou shalt destroy their name from under heaven: there shall no man be able to stand before thee, untill thou hast destroyed them.

25 The graven images of their gods shall ye * burn with fire, and * cover not the silver and gold, that is on them, nor take it unto thee, lest thou * be snared therewith: for it is an abomination before the Lord thy God.

26 Bring not therefore abomination into thine house, lest thou be accursed like it, but utterly abhorre it, and count it most abominable: for it is * accursed.

C H A P. VIII.

2 God humbleth the Israelites to trie what they have in their heart. 5 God chastiseth them as his children. 14 The heart ought not to be proud for Gods benefits. 19 The forgetfulness of Gods benefits causeth destruction.

YE shall keep all the commandments^a which I command thee this day, for * to do them: that ye may live, and be multiplied, and go in, and possesse the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers.

2 And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee this fourtie year in the wilderness, for to humble thee, and to^b prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments or no.

3 Therefore he humbled thee, and made thee hungry, and fed thee with MAN, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know it, that he might teach thee that man liveth not by bread onely, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, doth a man live.

4 Thy rayment waxed not old upon thee, neither did thy foot^d swell those fourtie yeares.

5 Know therefore in thine heart, that as a man nurtureth his son, so the Lord thy * God nurtureth thee.

6 Therefore shalt thou keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, that thou maiest walk in his waies, and fear him.

7 For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land in the which are rivers of water, and fountains, and depths, that spring out of valleys and mountains:

8 A land of wheat and barley, and of vineyards, and figtrees, and pomegranats: a land of oyle olive, and honie:

9 A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarcity, neither shalt thou lack any thing therein: a land^f whose stones are yron, and out of whose mountains thou shalt dig brasse.

10 And when thou hast eaten and filled thy self, thou shalt * blesse the Lord thy God for the good land, which he hath given thee.

11 Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, not keeping his commandments, and his laws, and his ordinances; which I command thee this day:

12 Lest when thou hast eaten and filled thy self, and hast built goodly houses and dwelt therein,

13 And

^f This covenant is grounded upon his free grace: therefore in recompensing their obedience, he hath respect to his mercy, and not to their merits.

⁴ God doth them not good for their own righteousness, but for his own sake. ⁷ Moses putteth them in remembrance of their sins. ¹⁷ The two tables are broken. ²⁶ Moses prayeth for the people.

^a Meaning shortly.

Hear O Israel, thou shalt passe over Jordan ^a this day, to go in and to possess nations greater and mightier then thy self, and cities great and walled up to heaven, ^b By the report of the spies, Num. 13. 29.

2 A people great and tall, even the children of the Anakims, whom thou knowest, and of whom thou hast ^b heard say, Who can stand before the children of Anak?

^c To guide thee &c govern thee.

3 Understand therefore that this day the Lord thy God is he which ^c goeth over before thee as a consuming fire : he shall destroy them, and he shall bring them down before thy face : so thou shalt cast them out and destroy them suddenly, as the Lord hath said unto thee.

^d Man of himself can deserve nothing but Gods anger, and if God spare any, it cometh of his great mercie.

4 Speak not thou in thine heart (after that the Lord thy God hath cast them out before thee) saying, For my ^d righteousness the Lord hath brought me in, to possess this land : but for the wickedness of these nations the Lord hath cast them out before thee.

5 For thou entrest not to inherit their land for thy righteousness, or for thy upright heart : but for the wickedness of those nations the Lord thy God doth call them out before thee, and that he might perform the word which the Lord thy God sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob.

6 Understand therefore, that the Lord thy God giveth thee not this good land to possess it for thy righteousness : for thou art ^e a stiffnecked people.

^e Like stubborn oxen, which will not endure their masters yoke.

7 ¶ Remember and forget not, how thou provokedst the Lord thy God to anger in the wilderness : ^f since the day that thou diddest depart out of the land of Egypt, untill ye came unto this place, ye have rebelled against the Lord.

^f He proveth by the length of time, that their rebellion was most great and intolerable.

8 Also in Horeb ye provoked the Lord to anger, so that the Lord was wroth with you, even to destroy you.

9 When I was gone up into the mount, to receive the tables of stone, the tables, I say, of the covenant, which the Lord made with you : and ^g I abode in the mount fourtie dayes and fourtie nights, and I neither ate bread nor yet drank water :

* Exod. 24. 18. and 34. 28.

10 * Then the Lord delivered me two Tables of stone, written with the ^g finger of God, and in them was contained according to all the words which the Lord had said unto you in the mount out of the midst of the fire, in the day of the assembly.

* Exod. 31. 18. ^g That is miraculously, and not by the hand of man.

11 And when the fourtie dayes and fourtie nights were ended, the Lord gave me the two tables of stone, the tables, I say, of the covenant.

12 And the Lord said unto me, * Arise, get thee down quickly from hence : for thy people which thou hast brought out of Egypt, have ^h corrupted their wayes : they are soon turned out of the way, which I commanded them : they have made them a molten image.

* Exod. 32. 7.

^h So soon as men declineth from the obedience of God, his wayes are corrupt.

13 Furthermore, the Lord spake unto me, saying, I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiffnecked people.

14 ⁱ Let me alone, that I may destroy them, and put out their name from under heaven, and I will make of thee a mightie nation, and greater then they be.

ⁱ Signifying that the prayers of the faithful are a bar to stay Gods anger, that in consequence not all.

15 So I returned, and came down from the mount (and the mount burned with fire, and the two Tables of the covenant were in my two hands,)

16 Then I looked, and behold, ye had sinned against the Lord your God : for ye had made you a molten calf, and had turned quickly out of the ^k way which the Lord had commanded you.

^k That is, from the Law: wherein he declaredth what is the cause of our perdition.

17 Therefore I took the two Tables, and cast them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes.

18 And I fell down before the Lord, fourty dayes, and fourty nights, as before : I neither ate bread, nor drank water, because of all your sinnes, which ye had committed in, in doing wickedly in the fight of the Lord, in that ye provoked him unto wrath.

19 (For I was afraid of the wrath and indignation, wherewith the Lord was moved against you, even to destroy you) yet the Lord heard me at that time also.

20 Likewise the Lord was very angry with Aaron, even to ¹destroy him: but at that time I prayed also for Aaron.

21 And I tooke your sin, *f*meane the calf which ye had made, & burnt him with fire, and stamped him, and ground him small, even unto verie dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the river, that descended out of the ^m mount.

22 Also ^{}in Taberah, and in ^{}Massah, ^{*}and in Kibroth-hattaavah ye provoked the Lord to anger.

23 Likewise when the Lord sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, Goe up, and possesse the land which I have given you, then ye ^arebelled against the commandment of the Lord your God, and beleevd him not, nor hearkened unto his voyce.

24 Ye have been rebellious unto the Lord, since the day that I knew you.

25 Then I fell down before the Lord ^ofourtie dayes and fourtie nights, as I fell down before, because the Lord had said, that he would destroy you.

26 And I prayed unto the Lord, and said, O Lord God, destroy not thy people and thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed through thy greatnes, whom thou hast brought out of Egypt by a mighty hand.

27 ^pRemember thy servants Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob: looke not to the stubbornes of this people, nor to their wickednesse, nor to their sin, 28 Lest the countrey, whence thou broughtest them, say, ^{*}because the Lord was not able to bring them into the Land which he promised them, or because he hated them, he caried them out to slay them in the wildernesse.

29 Yet they are thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out by thy mightie power, and by thy stretched out arme.

¹ IN the same time the Lord said unto me, ^{*}Hew thee two Tables of stone like unto the first, and come up unto me into the Mount, and make thee an Arke of wood,

2 And I will write upon the Tables, the words that were upon the first Tables, which thou brakest, and thou shalt put them in the Arke.

3 And I made an Arke of ^aShittim wood, and hewed two Tables of stone like unto the first, and went up into the mountaine? and the two Tables in mine hand.

4 Then he wrote upon the Tables according to the first writing (the ten commandements, which the Lord spake unto you in the Mount, out of the mids of the fire, in the day of the ^bassembly) and the Lord gave them unto me.

5 And I departed, and came down from the Mount, and put the Tables in the Arke which I had made: and there they be, as the Lord commanded me.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel tooke their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan to ^cMoferah, where Aaron died, and was buried, and Eleazar his son became Priest in his stead.

ⁱ An exhortation to love God, and keep his law. ¹⁰ The praises of Canaan. ¹⁸ To meditate continually the word of God. ¹⁹ To teach it unto the children. ²⁶ Blessing and cursing.

Therefore thou shalt love the Lord thy God, and shalt keep that, which hee commandeth to bee kept: that is, his ordinances, and his lawes, and his commandements alway.

^a Yee which have seene Gods graces with your eyes, ought rather to bee mooved then your children which have onely heard of them.

2 And ^a consider this day (for I speake not to your children, which have neither known nor seene) the chastisement of the Lord your God, his greatnesse, his mighty hand, and his stretched out arme,

3 And his signes, and his acts which he did in the mids of Egypt unto Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and unto all his land:

4 And what he did unto the hoste of the Egyptians, unto their horses, and to their charrets, when he caused the waters of the red Sea to overflow them, as they pursued after you, and the Lord destroyed them unto this day:

^b As wel concerning his benefits, as his corrections.

5 And ^b what hee did unto you in the wilderness, until ye came unto this place:

6 And what hee did unto Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben, when the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them, with their households, and their tents, and al their substance that [†] they had in the mids of all Israel.

[†] Ebr. was at their feet.

7 For your eyes have seene all the great acts of the Lord which he did.

^c Because ye have felt both his chastisements, and his benefits.

8 Therefore shall ye keep ^e all the commandements, which I command you this day, that ye may be strong, & go in & possesse the land whither ye go to possesse it:

9 Also that ye may prolong ^{your} dayes in the land, which the Lord sware unto your fathers, to give unto them and to their seed, ^{even} a land that floweth with milk and honie.

[†] Or, labour.
^d As by making gutters for the water to come out of the river Nilus to water the land.

10 ¶ For the land whither thou goest to possesse it, is not as the land of Egypt, from whence yee came, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wateredst it with thy [†] ^a fec^a as a garden of herbes:

11 But the land whither yee go to possesse it, ^{is} a land of mountaines and valleyes, and drinketh water of the raine of heaven.

12 This land doth the Lord thy God care for: the eyes of the Lord thy God are alwayes upon it, from the beginning of the yeare even unto the end of the yeare.

13 ¶ If ye shall hearken therefore unto my Commandements, which I command you this day, that yee love the Lord your God and serve him with all your heart, and with al your soule, 14 I also wil give raine unto your land in due time, ^e the first raine and the latter, that thou mayest gather in thy wheat, and thy wine, and thine oyle.

^e In the seed time, and toward harvest.

15 Also I will send grasse in thy fields for thy cattell, that thou mayest eat and have enough.

16 But beware lest your heart ^f deceive you, and lest ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them, ^f By dividing to your selves foolish devotions, according to your owne fantasies.

17 And ^{so} the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and he shut up the heaven, that there be no rain, & that your land yeeld not her fruit, and yee perish quickly from the good land, which the Lord giveth you 18 ¶ Therefore shall ye lay up these my words in your heart and in your soule, and ^{*} bind them for a signe upon your hand, that they may bee as a frontlet betweene your eyes.

* Chap. 6. 8.

19 And ye shall ^{*} teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

* Chap. 4. 10; and 6. 6, 7.

20 And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thine house, and upon thy gates, 21 That your dayes may be multiplied, and the dayes of your children, in the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers to give them, as long as ^g the heavens are above the earth.

^g As long as the heavens endure. 2. Pet. 3. 10, 11.

22 ¶ For if ye keep diligently al these commandements, which I command you to do, ^{that is}, to love the Lord your God, to walke in al his wayes, and to cleave unto him, 23 Then will the Lord cast out al these nations before you, and yee shall possesse great nations, and mightier then you.

These are the ordinances and the lawes which ye shall observe and doe in the land, (which the Lord God * of thy fathers giveth thee to possesse it) as long as ye live upon the earth.

a Whereby they are admonished to seek none other God.

* Chap. 7. 5.

2 * Ye shall utterly destroy all the places wherein the nations which ye shal possesse, served their gods upon the high mountaines, and upon the hills, and under every greene tree.

* 1. 2. 2.

3 * Also ye shal overthrow their altars, and break downe their pillars, and burne their ^b groves with fire: and yee shall hew down the graven images of their gods, and abolish their names out of that place.

b Wherein they sacrificed to their idoles.

4 Yee shall ^c not doe so unto the Lord your God, c Yee shall not serve the Lord with superstitions.

5 But ye shal seeke the place which the Lord your God shal * chuse out of al your tribes, to put his Name there, and there to dwell, and thither thou shalt come,

* 1. King. 8. 29. 2. Chron. 6. 5. and 7. 12. 16.

6 And ye shall bring thither your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and the ^d offering of your hands, and your voves, and your free offerings, and the first born of your kine, & of your sheep

d Meaning, the first fruits.

7 And there yee shall eat ^e before the Lord your God, and yee shall rejoyce in all that ye put your hand unto, both yee, and your households, because the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

e Where his Arke shall bee.

8 Ye shall not doe after all these things that we doe ^f heere this day: that is, every man whatsoever seemeth him good in his own eyes.

f Not that they sacrificed after their fantasies, but that God would bee served more purely in the land of Canaan.

9 For ye are not yet come to rest, and to the inheritance which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

10 But when yee go over Jordan, and dwell in the land, which the Lord your God hath given you to inherite, and when hee hath given you ^g rest from al your enemies round about, and ye dwell in safetie, g It had not been enough to conquer, except God had maintained them in rest under his protection.

11 When there shall bee a place which the Lord your God shal chuse, to cause his name to dwell there, thither shall ye bring all that I command you: your burnt offerings, & your sacrifices, your tithes, and the offering of your hands, and al your † special voves which ye vow unto the Lord.

† Or, that which ye chuse out for your voves.

12 And yee shall rejoyce before the Lord your God, ye, and your sons, and your daughters, and your servants, and your maidens, and the Levite that is within your gates: * for he hath no part nor inheritance with you.

* Chap. 10. 9.

13 Take heed that thou offer not thy burnt offerings in every place that thou seest:

14 But in the place which the Lord shal ^h chuse in one of thy tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burnt offerings, and there thou shalt doe al that I command thee.

h As was declared ever by the placing of the Arke, as in Shiloh 243 years, or as come write, more then 300 yeares, and in other places till the Temple was built.

15 Notwithstanding thou mayest kill and eat flesh in all thy gates, whatsoever thine heart desireth, according to the ⁱ blessing of the Lord thy God which hee hath given thee: both the unclean and the clean may eat thereof, ^k as of the Roe buck, and of the Hart.

i As God hath given thee power and ability. k Every one might eat at home as well the beast appointed for sacrifice as the other.

16 Onely ye shal not eat the blood, but poure it upon the earth as water.

17 ¶ Thou majest not eat within thy gates the ^l tithe of thy corne, nor of thy wine, nor of thine oyle, nor the first borne of thy kine, nor of thy sheep, neither any of thy voves which thou vovest, nor thy free offerings, nor the offerings of thine hands.

l Meaning, whatsoever was offered to the Lord, might not be eaten, but where hee had appointed.

18 But thou shalt eat it before the Lord thy God, in the place which ^m the Lord thy God shal chuse, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy servant, and thy maid, & the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou shalt rejoyce before the Lord thy God, in all that thou puttest thine hand to.

19 Beware that thou forsake not the Levite as long as thou livest upon the earth.

20 ¶ When the Lord thy God shal enlarge thy border, as ⁿ he hath promised thee, and thou shalt say, I will eat flesh, (because thine heart longeth to eat flesh) thou majest eat flesh, whatsoever thine heart desireth.

n And deliver what thou shalt have, and thou shalt say, I will eat flesh, because thine heart longeth to eat flesh, thou majest eat flesh, whatsoever thine heart desireth.

21 If the place which the Lord thy God hath chosen to put his Name there, bee far from thee, then thou shalt kil of thy bullocks and of thy sheepe which the Lord hath given thee, as I have commanded thee, and thou shalt eat in thy gates, whatsoever thine heart desireth.

22 Even as the roe buck, and the Hart is eaten, so shalt thou eat them: both the unclean and the clean shall eat of them alike.

m Because the life of beasts is in their blood.

23 Onely be † sure that thou eate not the blood: for the blood ^m is the life, and thou majest not eat the life with the flesh.

24 Therefore thou shalt not eat it, but poure it upon the earth as water.

25 Thou shalt not eat it, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, when thou shalt doe that which is right in the sight of the Lord:

n That which thou wilt offer in sacrifice.

26 But thine ^a holy things which thou hast, and thy vowes thou shalt take up, and come unto the place which the Lord shall chuse.

27 And thou shalt make thy burnt offerings of the flesh, and of the blood upon the altar of the Lord thy God, and the blood of thine offerings shall bee poured upon the Altar of the Lord thy God, and thou shalt eat the flesh.

o God by promise bindeth himselfe to doe good to them that obey his word.

28 Take heed, and heare all these words which I command thee, that it may goe well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doest that which is good and right in the sight of the Lord thy God.

29 ¶ When the Lord thy God shall destroy the nations before thee, whither thou goest to possesse them, and thou shalt possesse them and dwell in their land, p By following their superstitions and idolatries, and thinking to serve mee thereby.

30 Beware, lest thou bee taken in ^a a snare after them, after that they bee destroyed before thee, and lest thou aske after their gods, saying, How did these nations serve their gods, that I may doe so likewise?

CHAP. XIII.

5 The inticers to idolatry must be slain, seems they never so holy,
6 So near of kinred or of friendship, 12 Or great in multitude or power.

IF there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of ^a dreames, (and give thee a signe or wonder, s Which saith that hee hath things revealed unto him in dreames.

b He sheweth whereunto the false prophets tend.

2 And the signe and the wonder, which he hath told thee, come to passe) saying,

^b Let us goe after other gods, which thou hast not knowen, and let us serve them, c God ordaineth all these things that his may bee known.

3 Thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or unto that dreamer of dreames: for the Lord your God ^c proveth you, to know whether yee love the Lord your God withal your heart, and with all your soule.

4 Yee shall walke after the Lord your God and feare him, and shall keep his commandements, and hearken unto his voice, and ye shall serve him, and cleave unto him.

5 But that prophet, or that dreamer of dreames, he shall ^d be slaine, because he hath spoken to turn you away from the Lord your God (which brought you out of the land of Egypt, and delivered you out of the house of bondage) to thrust thee out of the way, wherein the Lord thy God commanded thee to walke: so shalt thou take the evil away forth of the mids of thee.

d Being convicted by testimonies, and condemned by the Iudges.

6 ¶ If ^e thy brother, the son of thy mother, or thine own son, or thy daughter, or the wife, that lieth in thy bosom, or thy friend, which is as thine own ^f soul, intice thee secretly, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, (which thou hast not knowen, thou, I say, nor thy fathers)

f Whom thou lovest as thy life.

7 Any of the gods of the people which are round about you, neere unto thee or farre off from thee, from the one end of the earth unto the other:

8 Thou shalt not consent unto him, nor heare him, neither shall thine eye pity him, nor shew mercy, nor keep him secret:

9 But thou shalt even kill him: ^g thine hand shall bee first upon him to put him to death, and then the hands of al the people.

g As the wines is charged, Chap. 17. 7.

10 And thou shalt stone him with stones, that he die (because he hath gone about to thrust thee away from the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage)

11 That ^h all Israel may heare and feare, and doe no more any such wickednesse as this among you.

* Chap. 17. 13.

12 ¶ If thou shalt heare say (concerning any of thy cities, which the Lord thy God hath given thee to dwell in) 13 † Wicked men are gone out from among you, & have drawn away the inhabitants of their city, saying, Let us go & serve other gods, which yee have not knowen.

14 Then ^h thou shalt seek, and make search, and inquire diligently: and if it bee true, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought among you,

h Which are appointed to see faults punished.

15 Thou shalt even slay the inhabitants of that citie with the edge of the sword: destroy it utterly, & al that is therein, & the cattell thereof with the edge of the sword.

16 And ⁱ thou shalt gather al the spoyle of it into the mids of the streets thereof, and burne with fire the city and all the spoyle thereof every whit, unto the Lord thy God: and it shall be an heap for ever, it shall not be built again.

i Signifying, that no idolatry is so execrable, nor more grievously to bee punished, then of them which once professed God.

17 And there shall cleave nothing of the ^k damned

^k Of the spoyle of that idolatrous and cursed cite, read Chap. 7. 26. and Ezech. 7. 11.

^k damned thing to thine hand, that the Lord may turne from the fiercenesse of his wrath, and shew thee mercy, and have compassion on thee, and multiply thee, as hee hath sworn unto thy fathers:

18 When thou shalt obey the voyce of the Lord thy God, and keep all his commandements which I command thee this day, that thou doe that which is right in the eyes of the Lord thy God.

3 ¶ Thou shalt eat no manner of abomination.

6 And every beast that parteth the hoofe, and cleaveth the clift into two clawes, and is of the beasts that cheweth the cud, that shall ye eat.

7 But these ye shal not eat, of them that chew the cud, and of them that divide and cleave the hoofe only: the camel, nor the hare, nor the conie: for they chew the cud, but divide not the hoofe: therefore they shal be uncleane unto you:

8 Also the swine, because he divideth the hoofe, and cheweth not the cud, shal be uncleane unto you: yee shall not eat of their flesh, nor touch their dead carkeises.

22 Thou shalt ^egive the tithe of all the increase of thy seed, that commeth forth of the field yeare by yeare.

^e The tithes were ordained for the maintenance of the Levites, which had none inheritance.

23 And thou shalt eat before the Lord thy God (in the place which he shall chuse to cause his Name to dwel there) the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oyle, and the first born of thy kine, and of thy sheep, that thou majest learn to feare the Lord thy God alway.

24 And if the way bee too long for thee, so that thou art not able to carie it, because the place is farre from thee, where the Lord thy God shal chuse to set his Name, ^f when the Lord thy God shall blesse thee, 25 Then shalt thou make it in money, and [‡]take the money in thine hand, and go unto the place which the Lord thy God shal chuse.

^f When he shall give thee abilitie.

[‡] Or, bind up.

26 And thou shalt bestow the money for whatsoever thine heart desireth: whether it be oxe, or sheep, or wine, or strong drink, or whatsoever thine heart desireth: ^g and shalt eat it there before the Lord thy God, and rejoyce, both thou, and thine household.

^g After the Priest hath received the Lords part.

27 And the Levite that is within thy gates, shalt thou not forsake: for he hath neither part nor inheritance with thee.

28 ¶ At the end of three yeares thou shalt ^hbring forth all the tithes of thine increase of the same yeare, and lay it up within thy gates.

^h Besides the yearly tithes that were given to the Levites, these were laid up in store for the poore.

29 Then the Levite shal come, because he hath no part nor inheritance with thee, and the stranger, and the fatherlesse, and the widow, which are within thy gates, and shall eat, and be filled, that the Lord thy God may blesse thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doest.

CHAP. XV.

ⁱ The yeare of releasing of debts. ⁵ God blesseth them that keep his commandments. ⁷ To helpe the poore. ¹² The freedome of servants. ¹⁹ The first born of the cattel must be offered to the Lord.

AT the terme of seven yeares thou shalt make a freedome.

2 And this is the manner of the freedom: every ^acreditour shall quit the lone of his hand which he hath lent to his neighbour:

^a He shall only release his debtors, which are not able to pay for that yeare.

he shall not aske it again of his neighbour, nor of his brother: for the year of the Lords freedome is proclaimed.

3 Of a stranger thou mayest require it: but that which thou hast with thy brother, thine hand shall remit:

^b For if thy debtor bee rich, hee may bee constrained to pay.

4 ^b Save when there shall bee no poore with thee: for the Lord shall blesse thee in the land, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, for an inheritance to possesse it:

5 So that thou hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to observe and doe all these commandments, which I command thee this day.

^{*} Chap. 28, 12.

6 For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee, as he hath promised thee: and ^{*} thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou thy self shalt not borrow, and thou shalt reigne over many nations, and they shall not reigne over thee.

[†] Or, any of thy cities.

7 ¶ If one of thy brethren with thee be poor [†] within any of thy gates in thy land, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut thine hand from thy poore brother:

^{*} Matt. 5. 42. Luke 6. 34.

8 ^{*} But thou shalt open thine hand unto him, and shalt lend him sufficient for his need which he hath.

[†] Ebr. thine eyes be evil.

9 Beware that there be not a wicked thought in thine heart, to say, the seventh year, the year of freedome is at hand: therefore [†] it grieveth thee to look on thy poor brother, and thou givest him nought, and he cry unto the Lord against thee, so that sin be in thee:

[†] Ebr. let not thine heart be evil.

10 Thou shalt give him, and let it not grieve [†] thine heart to give unto him: for because of this the Lord thy God shall blesse thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttest thine hand to.

^a To trie your charitie, Matt. 26. 11.

11 ^c Because there shall be ever some poor in the land, therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt ^d open thine hand unto thy brother, to thy needy, and to thy poore in thy land.

^{*} Exod. 21. 2. Iere. 34. 14.

12 ¶ If thy brother an Ebrew sel himself to thee, or an Ebrewesse, and serve thee six yeares, even in the seventh year thou shalt let him goe free from thee:

13 And when thou sendest him out free from thee, thou shalt not let him goe away empty:

^e In token that thou doest acknowledge the benefit which God hath given thee by his labours.

14 But shalt ^e give him a liberal reward of thy sheep, and of thy corne, and of thy wine: thou shalt give him of that where-with the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

15 And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God delivered thee: therefore I command thee this thing to day.

16 And if he say unto thee, I will not go away from thee, because he loveth thee & thine house, ^e because he is wel with thee,

17 ^{*} Then shalt thou take a naule and pierce his eare thorow against the doore, & he shall be thy servant for ever: and unto thy maide servant thou shalt do likewise. ^f To the year of Jubile, Levit. 25. 40.

18 Let it not grieve thee, when thou lettest him go out free from thee: for hee hath served thee six years, which is the double worth of ^g an hired servant: and the Lord thy God shall blesse thee in all that thou doest. ^g For the hired servant served but three yeares, and hee six.

19 ¶ ^{} All the first born males that come of thy cattel, and of thy sheep, thou shalt sanctifie unto the Lord thy God. ^h Thou shalt doe no work with thy first born bullock, nor sheare thy first born sheep. ^{} Exod. 34. 19.

20 Thou shalt eat it before the Lord thy God year by year, in the place which the Lord shall chuse, both thou, & thine household

21 ^{*} But if there be any blemish therein, as if it be lame, or blind, or have any evil fault, thou shalt not offer it unto the Lord thy God, ^h For they are the Lords.

^{*} Levit. 22. 20. 22 chap. 17. 1.

22 But shalt eat it within thy gates: the uncleane; and the cleane shall eat it alike, ⁱ as the Roe buck, and as the Hart. ⁱ Thou shalt as well eat them, as the roe buck, and other wild beastes.

23 Only thou shalt not eat the blood thereof, but pour it upon the ground as water.

¹ Of Easter, ¹⁰ Whitsuntide. ¹³ And the feast of Tabernacles. ¹⁸ What officers ought to be ordained. ²¹ Idolatry forbidden.

Thou shalt keep the moneth of ^a Abib, and thou shalt celebrate the Passeeover unto the Lord thy God: for in the moneth of Abib the Lord thy God brought thee out of Egypt by night. ^a Read Exod. 13. 4.

2 Thou shalt therefore ^b offer the Passeeover unto the Lord thy God, of sheep and bullocks, ^{} in the place where the Lord shall chuse to cause his Name to dwell. ^b Thou shalt eat the Easter lamb. ^{} Chap. 12. 5.

3 Thou ^{*} shalt eat no leavened bread with it: but seven dayes shalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of ^c tribulation: for thou camest out of the land of Egypt in haste, that thou mayest remember the day when thou camest out of the land of Egypt, all the dayes of thy life. ^c Which signified that affliction which thou hadst in Egypt. ^{*} Exod. 12. 14. 15.

4 And there shall bee no leaven seene with thee in all thy coasts seven daies long: neither shall there remaine the night any of the flesh untill the morning which thou offeredst the first day at even.

5 Thou mayest ^d not offer the Passeeover within any of thy gates, which the Lord thy God giveth thee: ^d This was chiefly accomplished when the Temple was built.

6 But in the place which the Lord thy God shall chuse to place his Name, there thou shalt offer the ^e Passeeover at even, about the going downe of the Sunne, in the season that thou camest out of Egypt. ^e Which was instituted to put them in remembrance of their deliverance out of Egypt: and to continue them in the hope of Iesus Christ, of whom this lamb was a figure.

7 And thou shalt roste and eat it in the place which the Lord thy God shall chuse, and and shalt return on the morrow, and goe unto thy tents.

8 Six dayes shalt thou eat unleavened bread, and the seventh day shal be a solemn assembly to the Lord thy God: thou shalt do no work therein.

9 ¶ Seven weeks shalt thou ^fnumber unto thee, and shalt begin to number the seven weeks, when thou beginnest to put the sickle to the corn:

10 And thou shalt keep the feast of weeks unto the Lord thy God, [‡] even a free gift of thine hand, which thou shalt give unto the Lord thy God, as the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

11 And thou shalt rejoyce before the Lord thy God, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy servant, and thy maide, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the stranger, and the fatherlesse, and the widow, that are among you, in the place which the Lord thy God shal chuse to place his Name there, 12 And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant in Egypt: therefore thou shalt observe and do these ordinances.

13 ¶ Thou shalt ^gobserve the feast of the Tabernacles seven dayes, when thou hast gathered in thy corn, and thy wine.

14 And thou shalt rejoyce in thy feast, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy servant, and thy maid, and the Levite, and the stranger, and the fatherlesse, and the widow, that are within thy gates.

15 Seven dayes shalt thou keep a feast unto the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord shall chuse: when the Lord thy God shall blesse thee in all thine increase, and in all the works of thine hands, thou shalt in any case be glad.

16 ¶ ^{*} Three times in a yeare shal all the males appeare before the Lord thy God in the place which hee shal chuse: in the feast of the unleavened bread, and in the feast of the weeks, and in the feast of the Tabernacles: and they shal not appeare before the Lord empty.

17 Every man shal give according to the gift of his ^h hand, and according to the blessing of the Lord thy God, which hee hath given thee.

18 ¶ ⁱ Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy cities, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with righteous judgement.

16 Wrest not thou the law, nor respect any person, neither take reward: for the reward blindeth the eyes of the wise, and perverteth the words of the just.

20 That which ^k is just and right shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and possesse the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

21 ¶ Thou shalt plant thee no grove of any trees neere unto the altar of the Lord thy God, which thou shalt make thee.

22 Thou shalt set thee up no [‡] pillar, [‡] Or, image. which thing the Lord thy God hateth.

Thou shalt offer unto the Lord thy God no bullock nor sheep, wherein is ^{*} a blemish or any evill favoured thing: for that is an abomination unto the Lord thy God.

2 ¶ If there be found among you in any of thy cities, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, man or ^b woman that hath wrought wickednes in the sight of the Lord thy God, in transgressing his covenant.

3 And hath gone and served other gods, and worshipped them, as the Sun, or the Moon, or any of the host of heaven, which I have not ^c commanded,

4 And it be told unto thee, and thou hast heard it, then shalt thou inquire diligently: and if it be true, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought in Israel,

5 Then shalt thou bring forth that man, or that woman (which have committed that wicked thing) unto thy gates, whether it be man or woman, and shalt stone them with stones, till they die.

6^{*} At the mouth [†] of two or three witnesses shal he that is worthy of death, dy: but at the mouth of one witness, he shal not dy.

7 The hands of the ^d witnesses shal be first upon him, to kill him: and afterward the hands of all the ^e people: so thou shalt take the wicked away from among you.

8 ¶ If there rise a matter too hard for thee in judgement between blood & blood, between plea and plea, between plague and plague, in the matters of controversie within thy gates, then shalt thou arise, and goe up unto the place which the Lord thy God shall chuse,

9 And thou shalt come unto the Priests of the Levites, and unto the ^f judge that shal be in those dayes, and ask, and they shal shew thee the sentence of judgement,

10 And thou shalt do according to that thing which they of that place (which the Lord hath chosen) shew thee, and thou shalt observe to doe according to all that they inform thee.

11 According to the law which they shal teach thee, and according to the judgement which they shal tell thee, shalt ^g thou doe: thou shalt not decline from the thing which they shall shew thee, neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 Thou shalt ^{*} prepare thee the way, and divide the coasts of the land, which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit, into three parts, that every ^b manslayer may flee thither.

4 ¶ This also is the cause wherefore the manslayer shal flee thither, and live: who so killeth his neighbour ignorantly, and hated him not in time passed:

g Some read. For man shal bein stead of the tree of the field, to come out in the siege against thee.

20 Onely those trees which thou knowest are not for meat, those shalt thou destroy and cut down, and make forts against the city that maketh warre with thee, until thou subdue it.

2 Inquisition for murther. 11 Of the woman taken in war. 15 The birthright cannot be changed for affection. 18 The disobedient child. 23 The body may not hang all night.

I F one be found ^a slain in the land, which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it, lying in the field, and it is not known who hath slain him, a This law declareth how horrible a thing murther is seeing that for one mans whole country should be punished, except a remedy be found.

2 Then thine Elders and thy Judges shal com forth, and measure unto the cities that are round about him that is slain.

3 And let the Elders of that city, which is next unto the slain man, take out of the drove an heifer that hath not been put to labour, nor hath drawn in the yoke.

4 And let the Elders of that city bring the heifer unto a ^b stony valley, which is neither eared nor sowed, and strike off the heifers neck there in the valley.

b Or, rough. That the bloodshed of the innocent beast in a solitary place might make them abhor the fact.

5 Also the Priests the sonnes of Levi (whom the Lord thy God hath chosen to minister, and to blesse in the Name of the Lord) shal come forth, and by their word shal al strife and plague be tried.

6 And all the Elders of that city that came neer to the slain man, shal wash their hands over the heifer that is beheaded in the valley:

7 And shal restifie, and say, Our hands have not shed this blood, neither have our eyes seen it.

8 O Lord, be merciful unto thy people Israel, whom thou hast redeemed, and lay no innocent blood to the charge of thy people Israel, and the blood shall be forgiven them.

c This was the prayer which the Priest made in the audience of the people.

9 So shalt thou take away the cry of innocent blood from thee, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the Lord.

10 ¶ When thou shalt go to warre against thine enemies, & the Lord thy God shall deliver them into thine hands, and thou shalt take them captives,

11 And shalt see among the captives a beautifull woman, and hast a desire unto her, and wouldest take her to thy wife,

12 Then thou shalt bring her home to thine house, ^d and shee shall shave her head, and pare her nailes, d Signifying that her former life must be changed, before shee could be joynted to the people of God.

13 And shee shall put off the garment that shee was taken in, and shee shall remain in thine house, ^e and bewaill her father and her mother a moneth long: and after that shalt thou go in unto her, and marrie her, and shee shall be thy ^f wife.

e As having renounced parents and country.

14 And if thou have no favour unto her, then thou mayest let her goe whither shee wil, but thou shalt not sell her for money, nor make merchandise of her, because thou hast humbled her.

f This onely was permitted in the warres: otherwise the Israelites could not marrie strangers.

15 ¶ If a man have two wives, one loved and another ^g hated, and they have borne him children, both the loved & also the hated:

g This declared that the pluralitie of wives came of a corrupt affection ted: if the first borne be the son of the hated;

16 Then when the time cometh, that he appointeth his sons to be heires of that which he hath, he may not make the son of the beloved first-borne [‡] before the son of the hated, which is the first-born:

17 But hee shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the first-born, and give him [‡] double portion of al that he hath: for he is the first of his strength, and to [‡] him belongeth the right of the first-born.

18 ¶ If any man have a son that is stubborn and disobedient, which wil not hearken unto the voice of his father, nor the voice of his ^k mother, and they have chastened him, and he would not obey them,

19 Then shal his father and his mother take him, and bring him out unto the Elders of his city, and unto the gate of the place where he dwelleth,

20 And shall say unto the Elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and disobedient, and he wil not obey our admonition: he is a riotour, and a drunkard.

21 Then all the men of his city shall ^l stone him with stones unto death: so thou shalt take away evil from among you, that all Israel may heare it, and feare.

22 ¶ If a man also have committed a trespasse worthy of death, and is put to death, and thou hangest him on a tree, 23 His body shal not remain ^m al night upon the tree, but thou shalt bury him the same day: for the ^{*} curse of God is on him that is hanged. Defile not therefore thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit.

3 In like manner shalt thou do with his ^c asse, and so shalt thou do with his raiment, and shalt so doe with all lost things of thy brother, which he hath lost: if thou hast found them, thou shalt not withdraw thy selfe from them.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not see thy brothers asse nor his ox fall downe by the way, and withdraw thy selfe from them, but shalt lift them up with him.

1 Divorcement is permitted. 5 He that is newly married is exempted from war. 6 Of the pledge. 14 Wages must not be retained. 16 The good must not be punished for the bad. 17 The care of the stranger, fatherlesse and widow.

WHen a man taketh a wife, and marrieth her, if so be she find no favour in his eyes, because he hath espied some filthinesse in her, ^a then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and put it in her hand, and send her out of his house.

2 And when she is departed out of his house, and gone her way, and marry with another man,

3 And if the latter husband hate her, and write her a letter of divorcement, and put it in her hand, and send her out of his house, or if the latter man die which took her to wife:

4 Then her first husband which sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after that she is ^b defiled: for that is abomination in the sight of the Lord, and thou shalt not cause the land to sin, which the Lord thy God doth give thee to inherit.

5 ¶ When a man taketh a new wife, he shall not go a warfare, ^c neither shall be charged with any businesse, but shall be free at home one year, and rejoyce with his wife which he hath taken.

6 ¶ No man shall take the nether nor the upper ^d mistone to pledge: for this gage is ^e his living.

7 ¶ If any man be found stealing any of his brethren of the children of Israel, and maketh merchandize of him, or selleth him, that thief shall die: so shalt thou put evill away from among you.

8 ¶ Take heed of the ^f plague of leprosie, that thou observe diligently, and do according to all that the Priests of the Levites shall teach you: take heed you do as I commanded them.

12 Furthermore, if it be a poor body, thou shalt not sleep with his pledge, 13 But shalt restore him the pledge when the sun goeth down, that he may sleep in his raiment, and blesse thee: and it shall be righteousness unto thee ⁱ before the Lord thy God.

14 ¶ Thou shalt not oppresse an hired servant that is needy and poor, ^j neither of thy brethren, nor of the stranger that is in thy land within thy gates.

15 ^k Thou shalt give him his hire for his day, neither shall the Sun go down upon it: for he is poor, and therewith sustaineth his life: lest he cry against thee unto the Lord, and it be sin unto thee.

16 ¶ ^l The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor the children put to death for the fathers, but every man shall be put to death for his own sin.

17 ¶ Thou shalt not pervert the right of the ^m stranger, nor of the fatherlesse, nor take a widows raiment to pledge.

2 And when ye shall passe^{*} over Jordan unto the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt set thee up great stones, and plaister them with plaister,

3^b And shalt write upon them all the words of this Law, when thou shalt come over, that thou mayest go into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, a land that floweth with milk & hony: as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promised thee.

4 Therefore when ye shall passe over Jordan, ye shall set up these stones, which I command you this day, in mount Ebal, and thou shalt plaister them with plaister.

5^{*} And there shalt thou build unto the Lord thy God an Altar, even an Altar of stones: thou shalt lift none yron instrument upon them.

6 Thou shalt make the Altar of the Lord thy God of whole stones, and offer burnt offerings thereon unto the Lord thy God.

7 And thou shalt offer peace-offerings, and shalt eat there, and rejoyce before the Lord thy God.

8 And thou shalt write upon the stones all the words of this Law, well and plainly.

9 ¶ And Moses and the Priests of the Levites spake unto all Israel, saying, Take heed and hear, O Israel, this day thou art become the people of the Lord thy God.

10 Thou^{*} shalt hearken therefore unto the voyce of the Lord thy God, and do his Commandements and his Ordinances, which I command thee this day.

11 ¶ And Moses charged the people the same day, saying,

12 These shall stand upon mount Gerizim, to blesse the people, when ye shall passe over Jordan, Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and^f Joseph, and Benjamin.

13 And these shall stand upon mount Ebal to^{*} curse: Reuben, Gad, and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

14 And the Levites^{*} shall answer and say unto all the men of Israel with a loud voyce, 15 ¶ Cursed be the man that shall make any carved or molten^h image, which is an abomination unto the Lord, the work of the hands of the Craftsmen, and putteth it in a secret place: And all the people shall answer, and say: So be it.

16 Cursed be he thatⁱ curseth his father, and his mother: And all the people shall say: So be it.

17 Cursed be he that removeth his neighbours^k marke: And all the people shall say: So be it.

18 Cursed be he that maketh the^l blind to go out of the way: And all the people shall say: So be it.

19 Cursed be he that hindreth the right of the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow: And all the people shall say: So be it.

20 Cursed be he that lyeth with his fathers wife: for he hath uncovered his fathers^m skirt: And all the people shall say: So be it.

21 Cursed be he that lieth with any beast: And all the people shall say: So be it.

22 Cursed be he that lyeth with his sister, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother: And all the people shall say: So be it.

23 Cursed be he that lyeth with hisⁿ mother in law: And all the people shall say: So be it.

24 Cursed be he that smitteth his neighbour^o secretly: And all the people shall say: So be it.

IF* thou shalt obey diligently the voice of the Lord thy God, and observe and do all his commandments, which I command thee this day, then the Lord thy God will ^aset thee on high above all the Nations of the earth.

2 And all these blessings shall come on thee, and ^bovertake thee, if thou shalt obey the voice of the Lord thy God.

3 Blessed shalt thou be in the ^cCity, and blessed also in the field.

4 Blessed shall be the fruit ^dof thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattell, the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep.

5 Blessed shall be thy basket and thy dough.

6 Blessed shalt thou be, When thou ^ecomest in, and blessed also when thou goest out.

7 The Lord shall cause thine enemies that rise against thee, to fall before thy face: they shall come out against thee on way, and shall flee before thee ^fseven wayes.

8 The Lord shall command the blessing to be with thee in thy store houses, and in all that thou setteest thine ^ghand to, and will blesse thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

9 The Lord shall make thee an holy people unto himselfe, as he hath sworne unto thee, if thou shalt keep the Commandments of the Lord thy God, and walk in his wayes.

10 Then all people of the earth shall see that the Name of the Lord is ^hcalled upon over thee, and they shall be afraid of thee.

11 And the Lord shall make thee plentiful in goods: in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattell, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the Lord fware unto thy fathers, to give thee.

12 The Lord shall open unto thee his good treasure; even the ⁱheaven to give rain unto thy land in due season, and to blesse all the work of thine hands: and ^{*}thou shalt lend unto many nations, but shalt not borrow thy self.

² The people are exhorted to observe the commandments. ¹⁰ The whole people from the highest to the lowest are comprehended under Gods covenant. ¹⁹ The punishment of him that flattereth himselfe in his wickednesse. ²⁴ The cause of Gods wrath against his people.

THese are the ^a words of the Covenant, which the Lord commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab beside the Covenant which he had made with them in ^b Horeb.

^a That is, the articles or conditions.

² ¶ And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Ye have seen all that the Lord did before your eyes in the land of Egypt unto Pharaoh and unto all his servants, and unto all his land.

^c The proofes of my power.

³ The ^c great tentations which thine eyes have seene, those great miracles and wonders:

^d He sheweth that it is not in mans power to understand the mysteries of God, if it be not given him from above.

⁴ Yet the Lord hath not ^d given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.

⁵ And I have led you forty yeares in the wilderness: your clothes are not waxed old upon you, neither is thy shoos waxed old upon thy foot, ⁶ Ye have eaten no ^e bread, neither drunk wine, nor strong drink, that ye might know how that I am the Lord your God.

^e Made by man art, but Manna, which is called the bread of Angels.

⁷ After, ye came unto this place, and Sihon King of Heshbon, and Og King of Bashan came out against us unto battell, and we slew them, ⁸ And took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to the halfe tribe of Manasseh.

⁹ ^{*} Keep therefore the words of this covenant and do them, that ye may prosper in all that ye shall do.

* Chap. 4. 6.
1 King. 2. 3.

¹⁰ Ye stand this day every one of you before the Lord your ^f God: your heads of your tribes, your Elders and your officers, even all the men of Israel:

^f Who knoweth your hearts, and therefore ye may not think to dissemble with him.

¹¹ Your children, your wives, and thy stranger that is in thy camp, from the hewer of thy wood, unto the drawer of thy water,

¹² That thou shouldest ^g passe into the Covenant of the Lord thy God, and into his oath which the Lord thy Lord maketh with thee this day, ^g Alluding to them, that when they made a sure covenant, divided a beast in twaine, and past between the parts divided. Gen. 15. 10.

¹³ For to establish thee this day a people unto himselfe, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath said unto thee, and as he hath sworne unto thy fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob.

¹⁴ Neither make I this Covenant, and this oath with you onely, ¹⁵ But as well with him that standeth here with us this day before the Lord our God, as with him ^h that is not here with us this day.

^h Meaning, their posterity.

¹⁶ For ye know, how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we passed through the midst of the nations, which ye passed by.

¹⁷ And ye have seen their abominations and their Idols (wood, and stone, silver, and gold) which were among them.

¹⁸ That there should not be among you man, nor woman, nor family, nor tribe, which should turn his heart away this day from the Lord our God, to go and serve the gods of these Nations, and that there should not be among you ⁱ any root that bringeth forth ^{*} gall and wormwood, ⁱ Such sin, as is bitter fruit thereof might choke and destroy you. * Jer. 8. 23.

¹⁹ So that when he heareth the words of this curse, he ^z blesse himselfe in his heart, saying, I shall have peace, although I walk according to the stubbornnes of mine own heart, thus adding ^{*} drunkennes to thirst.

^z Or, flatter. ^k For as he is thiristie, desirous to drink much, so he that followeth his appetite, seeketh by all means, and yet cannot be satisfied.

²⁰ The Lord will not be mercifull unto him, him, but then the wrath of the Lord and his jealousy shall smoke against that man, and every curse that is written in this book, shall light upon him, and the Lord shall put out his name from under heaven, 21 And the Lord shall separate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Israel, according unto all the curses of the Covenant, that is written in the book of this Law.

g Gods plagues upon them that rebel against him, shall be so strange, that all ages shall be astonished.

22 So that the¹ generation to come, even your children, that shall rise up after you, and the stranger, that shall come from a far land, shall say, when they shall see the plagues of this land, and the diseases thereof, wherewith the Lord shall smite it:

h Gen. 19. 24. 25.

23 (For all that land shall burn with brimstone and salt: it shall not be sown; nor bring forth, nor any grasse shall grow therein, like as in the overthrowing of ^{*} Sodom, and Gomorah, Admah, and Zeboim, which the Lord overthrew in his wrath and in his anger.)

i 1. King. 9. 8. Jer. 22. 8.

24 Then shall all Nations say ^{*} Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this land? how fierce is this great wrath?

25 And they shall answer, Because they have forsaken the Covenant of the Lord God of their fathers, which he had made with them, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt, j Or, which had not given them a land to possess.

26 And went and served other gods, and worshipped them: even gods which they knew not, and [†] which had given them nothing.

27 Therefore the wrath of the Lord waxed hote against this land, to bring upon it every curse that is written in this book.

28 And the Lord hath rooted them out of their land in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and hath cast them into another land, as appeareth this day.

k Moses hereby reproveth their curiostie, which seek those things that are onely known to God, and their negligence that regard not that which God hath revealed unto them, as the Law.

29 The ^m secret things belong to the Lord our God, but the things revealed belong unto us, and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this Law.

CHAP. XXX.

l Mercy shewed when they repent. 6 The Lord doth circumcise the heart. 11 All excuse of ignorance is taken away. 15 19 Life and death is set before them. 20 The Lord is their life which obey him.

NOW when all these things shall come upon thee, either the blessing or the curse which I have set before thee, and thou shalt ^a turn into thine heart, among all the Nations whither the Lord thy God hath driven thee;

a Bre calling to remembrance both his mercies and his plagues.

2 And shalt return unto the Lord thy God, and obey his voice in all that I command thee this day: thou, and thy children with all thine ^b heart and with all thy soul, b In true repentance is none hypocrisy.

3 Then the Lord thy God will cause thy captives to return, and have compassion upon thee, and will return to gather thee out of all the people; where the Lord thy God had scattered thee:

4 Though thou werest cast unto the utmost part of ^c heaven, from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence will he ^d take thee:

c Even to the worlds end.

d And bring thee into thy country.

5 And the Lord thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it, and he will shew thee favour, and will multiply thee above thy fathers.

e God will purge all thy wicked affections, which thing is not in thine own power to do.

6 And the Lord thy God will ^e circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, that thou mayest love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live.

7 And the Lord thy God will lay all these curses upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, and that persecute thee.

8 ^f Return thou therefore, and obey the voice of the Lord; and do all his commandments, which I command thee this day.

f If we will have God to work in us with his holy Spirit, we must turn again to him by repentance.

9 And the Lord thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattell, and in the fruit of the land for thy wealth: for the Lord will turn again, and ^g rejoyce over thee to do thee good, as he rejoyced over thy fathers:

g He meaneth not that God is subject to these passions, to rejoyce or to be sad: but he useth this manner of speech to declare the love that he beareth unto us.

10 Because thou shalt obey the voice of the Lord thy God in keeping his commandments, and his ordinances, which are written in the book of this law, when thou shalt return unto the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy soul.

11 ¶ For this Commandment which I command thee this day, is ^h not hid from thee, neither is it far off.

h The law is so evident that none can pretend ignorance.

12 It is not in heaven, that thou shouldest say, ^{*} Who shall go up for us to heaven, and bring it us, and cause us to hear it, that we may do it?

i Rom. 10. 6.

13 Neither is it beyond the ⁱ sea, that thou shouldest say, Who shall go over the sea for us, and bring it us, and cause us to hear it, that we may do it?

i By heaven and the sea, he meaneth places most far distant.

14 But the ^k word is very neer unto thee: even in thy mouth and in thine heart, for to ^l do it.

k Even the law & the Gospel.

l By faith in Christ.

15 Behold, I have set before thee this day life and good, death and evil:

16 In that I command thee this day, ^m to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his wayes, and to keep his Commandments, and his ordinances, and his laws, that thou mayest ⁿ live and be multiplied, and that the Lord thy God may blesse thee in the land; whither thou goest to possess it.

m So that to love and obey God, is only life and felicity.

n He addeth these promises to signify, that it is for our profit that we love him, and not for his.

17 But if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not obey, but shalt be seduced and worship other gods, and serve them,

18 I pronounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, ye shall not prolong your dayes in the land, whither thou passest over Jordan to possesse it.

* Chap. 4. 26.

o That is, love & obey God: which thing is not in mans power, but Gods spirit onely worketh it in his elect.

19 * I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore ^o chuse life, that both thou and thy seed may live, 20 By loving the Lord thy God, by obeying his voice, and by cleaving unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy daies: that thou mayest dwell in the land which the Lord sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob, to give them.

21 7 Moses preparing himselfe to die, appointeth Joshua to rule the people. 9 He giveth the Law to the Levites, that they should read it to the people. 19 God giveth them a song as a witness betweene him and them. 23 God confirmed Joshua. 29 Moses sheweth them that they will rebell after his death.

Then Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel, a I can no longer execute mine office.

* Num. 20. 12.
Chap. 3. 26.

2 And said unto them, I am an hundred and twenty yeare old this day: I ^a can no more go out and in: also the Lord hath said unto me, * Thou shalt not goe over this Jordan.

* Num. 27. 18.

3 The Lord thy God he will go over before thee: he will destroy these nations before thee, and thou shalt possesse them. * Joshua, he shall go before thee, as the Lord hath said.

* Num. 21. 24.

4 And the Lord shall do unto them, as he did to * Sihon and to Og kings of the Amorites, & unto their land whom he destroyed.

b Into your hands

5 And the Lord shall give them ^b before you that ye may doe unto them according unto every * commandment, which I have commanded you.

* Chap. 7. 2.

* Or, be of good courage.

6 [†] Pluck up your hearts therefore, and be strong: dread not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God himselfe doth goe with thee: he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

c For he that must governe the people, hath need to be valiant to repress vice, and constant to maintain vertue.

7 ¶ And Moses called Joshua, and said unto him in the sight of al Israel, Be ^c of a good courage and strong: for thou shalt go with this people unto the land which the Lord hath sworn unto their fathers, to give them, and thou shalt give it them to inherit.

d Signifying, that man can never be of good courage, except he be perswaded of Gods favour and assistance.

8 And the Lord himselfe doth ^d goe before thee: he will be with thee: he will not faile thee, neither forsake thee: feare not therefore, nor be discomfited.

9 ¶ And Moses wrote this Law, and delivered it unto the Priests the sonnes of Levi (which bare the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord) and unto all the Elders of Israel,

* Nohem. 8. 2.
* Chap. 15. 1.

10 And Moses commanded them, saying, * Every seventh year * when the yeare of freedome shall be in the feast of the Tabernacles.

11 When all Israel shall come to appear * before the Lord thy God, in the place which he shall chuse, thou shalt read this law before all Israel that they may hear it.

e Before the Arke of the covenant, which was the signe of Gods presence and the figure of Christ.

12 Gather the people together: men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learne, and feare the Lord your God, and keep and observe all the words of this Law.

13 And that their children which ^f have not known it, may heare it, and learne to feare the Lord your God, as long as ye live in the land, whither ye go over Jordan to possesse it.

f Which were not born when the Law was given.

14 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, thy dayes are come, that thou must die: call Joshua, and stand ye in the Tabernacle of the congregation that I may give him [†] charge. So Moses and Joshua went, and stood in the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

* Or, commandment.

15 And the Lord appeared in the Tabernacle, in the pillar of a ^g cloud: and the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the Tabernacle.

g In a cloud that was fashioned like a pillar.

16 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, and this people will rise up, and go a whoring after the gods of a strange land (whither they go ^h to dwell therein) and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them.

17 Wherefore my wrath will wax hot against them at that day, and I will forsake them, and will ^h hide my face from them: then they shall be consumed, and many adversities and tribulations shall come upon them: so then they will say, Are not these troubles come upon me, because God is not with me?

h That is, I will take my favour from them, as to turn his favour toward us, is to shew us his favour.

18 But I will surely hide my face in that day, because of all the evill which they shall commit, in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 Now therefore write ye this ⁱ song for you, and teach it the children of Israel: put it in their mouths, that this song may be my witness against the children of Israel.

i To preserve you and your children from idolatry, by remembering of Gods benefits.

20 For I will bring them into the land (which I sware unto their fathers) that floweth with milk and hony, and they shall eat, and fill themselves, and wax fat: ^k then shall they turn unto other gods, and serve them, and contemne me, and breake my Covenant.

k For this is the nature of flesh, no longer to obey God, then it is under the rod.

21 And then when many adversities and tribulations shall come upon them, this song shall ^l answer them to their faces as a witness: for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their posterity: for I know their imagination, which they goe about even now, before I have brought them into the land which I sware.

l That these evils are come upon them, because they forsook me.

22 ¶ Moses

22 ¶ Moses therefore wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Israel.

23 And God gave Joshua the son of Nun a charge, and said, * Be strong, and of a good courage: for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land, which I swore unto them, and I will be with thee.

24 ¶ And when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this Law in a book untill he had finished them,

25 Then Moses commanded the Levites, which bare the Ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying, 26 Take the book of this Law, and put ye it in the side of the Ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a^m witness against thee.

27 For I know thy rebellion and thy stiff neck: behold, I being yet alive with you this day, ye are rebellious against the Lord: how much more then after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the Elders of your tribes, and yourⁿ officers, that I may speak these words in their audience, and call heaven and earth to record against them.

29 For I am sure that after my death ye will utterly be corrupt and turn from the way, which I have commanded you: therefore evil will come upon you at the length, because ye will commit evill in the sight of the Lord, by provoking him to anger through the^o work of your hands.

30 Thus Moses spake in the audience of all the Congregation of Israel the words of this song, untill he had ended them.

CHAP. XXXII.

The song of Moses, containing, 7 Gods benefits towards the people. 15 and their ingratitude toward him. 20 God menaceth them. 21 and speaketh of the vocation of the Gentiles. 46 Moses commandeth to teach the law to the children. 49 God forewarneth Moses of his death.

Hearken, ye^a heavens, and I will speak: And let the earth hear the words of my mouth.

2 My^b doctrine shall drop as the rain, and my speech shall still as the dew, as the showre upon the herbes, and as the great rain upon the grasse.

3 For I will publish the Name of the Lord: give ye glory unto our God.

4 Perfect is the worke of the^c mighty God: for all his wayes are judgement. God is true, and without wickednes: just, and righteous is he.

5 They have corrupted themselves toward him by their vice, not being his children, but a froward & crooked generation.

6 Do ye so reward the Lord, O foolish people and unwise? is not he thy father, that hath bought thee? he hath^d made thee, and proportioned thee.

7 ¶ Remember the dayes of old: confider the yeares of so many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew thee: thine Elders, and they will tell thee.

8 When the most high God divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he appointed the borders of the^e people, according to the number of the children of Israel.

9 For the Lords portion is his people: Jaakob is the lot of his inheritance.

10 He found him in the land of the wilderness, in a wast and roaring wilderness: he led him about, he taught him, and kept him as the apple of his eye.

11 As an eagle stirreth up her nest, f^f fluttereth over her birds, stretcheth out her wings, taketh them, and beareth them on her wings.

12 So the Lord alone led him, and there was no^g strange god with him.

13 He carried him up to the high places of the^g earth, that he might eat the fruits of the fields, and he caused him to suck^h hony out of the stone, and oyl out of the hard rock:

14 Butter of kine, and milk of sheep, with fat of the lambs, and rams fed in Bashan, and goats, with the fat of the grains of wheat, and the red[†] liquour of the grape hast thou drunk.

15 ¶ But he that should have been upright, when he waxed fat, spurned with his heel: thou art fat, thou art grosse, thou art laden with fatnesse: therefore he forsook God that made him, and regarded not the strong God of his salvation.

16 They provoked him with^k strange gods: they provoked him to anger with abominations.

17 They offered unto devils, not to God, but to gods whom they knew not: ^l new gods that came newly up, whom their fathers feared not.

18 Thou hast forgotten the mighty God, that begate thee, and hast forgotten God that formed thee.

19 The Lord then saw it, and was angry, for the provocation of his^m sons and of his daughters.

20 And he said, I will hide my face from them: I will see what their end shall be: for they are a froward generation, children in whom is no faith.

21 They have moved me to jealousy with that which is not God: they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: * and I will move them to jealousy with those which are noⁿ people: I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation.

22 For fire is kindled in my wrath, and shall burn unto the bottom of hell, and shall consume the earth with her increase, & set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

THE BOOKE OF JOSHUA.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this book the holy Ghost setteth most lively before our eyes the accomplishment of Gods promise, who as he promised by the mouth of Moses that a Prophet should be raised up unto the people like unto him, whom he willeth to obey, Deut. 18. 15. so he sheweth himself here true in his promise, as at all other times, and after the death of Moses his faithfull servant, he raised up Ioshua to be ruler and governor over his people, that neither they should be discouraged for lack of a captain, nor have occasion to distrust Gods promises hereafter. And because that Ioshua might be confirmed in his vocation, and the people also might have none occasion to grudge, as though he were not approved of God: he is adorned with most excellent gifts and graces of God, both to govern the people with counsell, and to defend them with strength, that he lacked nothing which either belonged to a valiant captain, or a faithfull minister. So he overcommeth all difficulties, and bringeth them into the land of Canaan: the which according to Gods ordinance he divideth among the people, and appointeth their borders: he establisheth laws and ordinances, and putteth them in remembrance of Gods manifold benefites, assuring them of his grace and favour, if they obey God, and contrariwise of his plagues and vengeance, if they disobey him. This history doth represent Iesus Christ the true Ioshua, who leadeth us into eternall felicity, which is signified unto us by this land of Canaan. From the beginning of Genesis to the end of this booke are contained 2576 years. For from Adam unto the flood are 1656. from the flood unto the departing of Abraham out of Caldea, 423. and from thence to the death of Joseph, 290. So that Genesis containeth 2369. Exodus, 140. the other three books of Moses, 40. Ioshua, 27. So the whole maketh 2576 years.

k They doe not only promise to obey him so long as God is with him: but to help to punish all that rebell against him.

my servant hath commanded thee: * thou shalt not turne away from it to the right hand nor to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.

8 Let not this Book of the Law depart out of thy mouth, but meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe and doe according to all that is written therein: for then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then shalt thou have good successe.

9 Have not I commanded thee, saying, Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be discouraged: for I the Lord thy God will be with thee, whithersoever thou goest.

10 ¶ Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying,

11 Passe through the host, and command the people, saying, Prepare you viuals: for after three dayes ye shall passe over this Jordan, to go in to possesse the land, which the Lord your God giveth you to possesse it.

12 ¶ And unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of Manasseh spake Joshua, saying, 13 * Remember the word, which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, saying, The Lord your God hath given you rest, and hath given you this land.

14 ¶ Your wives, your children, and your cattell shall remaine in the land which Moses gave you on this side Jordan: but ye shall goe over before your brethren armed, all that be men of warre, and shall help them, 15 Untill the Lord have given your brethren rest, as well as to you, and untill they also shall possesse the land, which the Lord your God giveth them: then shall ye returne unto the land of your possession, and shall possesse it, which land Moses the Lords servant gave you on this side Jordan toward the sunne rising.

16 Then they answered Joshua, saying, All that thou hast commanded us, we will doe, and whithersoever thou sendest us, we will goe.

17 As we obeyed Moses in all things, so will we obey thee: onely the Lord thy God be with thee, as he was with Moses.

18 Whosoever shall rebell against thy commandment, and will not obey thy words in all that thou commandest him, let him be put to death: onely be strong and of good courage.

CHAP. II.

1 Joshua sendeth men to spy Jericho, whom Rahab hideth. 2 She confesseth the God of Israel. 12 She requesteth a signe for her deliverance. 22 The spies returne to Joshua with comfortable tidings.

Then Joshua the son of Nun sent out of Shittim two men to spy secretly, saying, Go, view the land, and also Jericho: and they went, and came into an harlots house, named Rahab, and lodged there.

2 Then report was made to the king of Jericho, saying, Behold, there came men hither to night, of the children of Israel, to spy out the countrey.

3 And the King of Jericho sent unto Rahab, saying, Bring forth the men that are come to thee, and which are entred into thine house: for they be come to search out all the land.

4 (But the woman had taken the two men, and hid them) Therefore said she thus, There came men unto me, but I wist not whence they were.

5 And when they shut the gate in the darke, the men went out, whither the men went I wote not: follow ye after them quickly, for ye shall overtake them.

6 (But she had brought them up to the rooffe of the house, and hid them with the stalks of flaxe, which she had spread abroad upon the roof:)

7 And certaine men pursued after them, the way to Jordan, unto the fords, and as soon as they which pursued after them, were gone out, they shut the gate.

8 ¶ And before they were asleep, she came up unto them upon the roof, 9 And said unto the men, I know that the Lord hath given you the land, and that the feare of you is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land faint because of you.

10 For we have heard, how the Lord dried up the water of the red sea before you, when ye came out of Egypt, and what you did unto the two Kings of the Amorites, that were on the other side Jordan, unto Sihon and to Og, whom ye utterly destroyed:

11 And when we heard it, our hearts did faint, and there remained no more courage in any because of you: for the Lord your God, he is the God in heaven above, and in the earth beneath.

12 Now therefore, I pray you, swear unto me by the Lord, that as I have shewed you mercy, ye will also shew mercy unto my fathers house, and give me a true token,

13 And that ye will save alive my father and my mother, and my brethren, and my sisters, and all that they have: and that ye will deliver our souls from death.

14 And the men answered her, Our life for you to die, if ye utter not this our business: and when the Lord hath given us the land, we will deale mercifully and truly with thee.

15 Then she let them down by a cord throow the window: for her house was upon the town wal, and she dwelt upon the wall:

CHAP. III.

3 Joshua commandeth them to depart when the Arke remooveth. 7 The Lord promiſeth to exalt Joshua before the people. 9 Joshua exhortation to the people. 16 The waters part aſunder while the people paſſe.

Then Joshua roſe very early, and they removed from Shittim, and came to Jordan, he, and all the children of Iſrael, and lodged there, before they went over:

2 And after three dayes the Officers went throughout the hoſte,

3 And commanded the people, ſaying, When ye ſee the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord your God, and the Priests of the Levites bearing it, ye ſhall depart from your place, and go after it.

4 Yet there ſhall be a ſpace between you and it, about two thouſand cubites by meaſure: ye ſhall not come neer unto it, that ye may know the way, by the which ye ſhall goe: for ye have not gone this way in times paſt.

5 (Now Joshua had ſaid unto the people, Sanctifie yourſelves: for to morrow the Lord will do wonders among you.)

6 Alſo Joshua ſpake unto the Priests, ſaying, Take up the Ark of the Covenant, and go over before the people: ſo they tooke up the Arke of the Covenant, and went before the people.

7 ¶ Then the Lord ſaid unto Joshua, This day wil I begin to magnifie thee in the fight of all Iſrael, which ſhal know, that as I was with Moſes, ſo will I bee with thee.

8 Thou ſhalt therefore command the Priests that bear the Ark of the Covenant, ſaying, When ye are come to the brink of the waters of Jordan, ye ſhall ſtand ſtill in Jordan.

9 ¶ Then Joshua ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Come hither, and hear the words of the Lord your God.

10 And Joshua ſaid, Hereby ye ſhall know that the living God is among you, and that he will certainly caſt out before you the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Hivites, and the Perizzites, and the Girgathites, and the Amorites, and the Jebuſites.

11 Behold the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord of all the world paſſeth before you into Jordan.

12 Now therfore take from among you twelve men out of the tribes of Iſrael, out of every tribe a man.

13 And as ſoone as the ſoles of the feet of the Priests (that beare the Arke of the Lord God, the Lord of all the world) ſhall ſtay in the waters of Jordan, the waters of Jordan ſhall be cut off: for the waters that come from above, ſhall ſtand ſtill upon an heape.

14 ¶ Then when the people were departed from their tents to go over Jordan, the Priests bearing the Arke of the Covenant went before the people.

15 And as they that bare the Ark came unto Jordan, and the feet of the Priests that bare the Ark were dipped in the brink of the water (* for Jordan uſeth to fill all his banks all the time of harveſt.)

16 Then the waters that came downe from above, ſtayed and roſe up on an heape, and departed farre from the city of Adam, that was beſide Zaretan: but the waters that came down toward the Sea of the wilderneſſe, even the ſalt Sea, failed, and were cut off: ſo the people went right over againſt Jericho.

C H A P. IV.

² God commanded Ioshua to set up twelve stones in Jordan.
¹⁸ The waters returne to their old course. ²⁰ Other twelve stones are set up in Gilgal. ²¹ This miracle must be declared to the posterity.

ANd when all the people were wholly gone * over Jordan, (after the Lord had spoken unto Ioshua, saying,

² Take you twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man,

⁴ Then Ioshua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared of the children of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

⁸ Then the children of Israel did even so as Ioshua had commanded, and tooke up twelve stones out of the mids of Jordan as the Lord had said unto Ioshua, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, and caried them away with them unto the lodging, and laid them down there.

¹⁰ ¶ So the Priests, which bare the Ark, stood in the mids of Jordan; untill every thing was finished that the Lord had commanded Ioshua to say unto the people, according to all that Moses charged Ioshua: then the people hasted and went over.

¹¹ When all the people were cleane passed over, the Ark of the Lord went over also, and the Priests * before the people.

¹² * And the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh went over before the children of Israel armed, as Moses had charged them.

¹³ Even fourty thousand prepared for war, went before the * Lord unto battell, into the plain of Jericho.

¹⁴ That day the Lord magnified Ioshua in the sight of all Israel, and they † feared him; as they feared Moses; all the dayes of his life.

¹⁵ And the Lord spake unto Ioshua, saying,

¹⁶ Command the Priests that bear the Arke of the Testimonie, to come up out of Jordan.

¹⁷ Ioshua therefore commanded the Priests, saying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

¹⁸ And when the Priests that bare the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord were come up out of the mids of Jordan, and as soone as the soles of the Priests feet were set on the dry land; the waters of Jordan returned unto their place, and flowed over all the banks thereof, as they did before.

¹⁹ ¶ So the people came up out of Jordan the tenth day of the ^b first month, and pitched in Gilgal, in the Eastside of Jericho.

²⁰ And the twelve stones, which they tooke out of Jordan, did Ioshua pitch in Gilgal.

²¹ And he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, When your children shall aske their fathers in time to come, and say, What mean these stones?

²² Then ye shall shew your children, and say, Israel came over this Jordan on dry land,

²⁴ That all the people of the ⁱ world may know that the hand of the Lord is mighty, that ye might fear the Lord your God continually.

NOW when all the kings of the * Amorites, which were beyond Jordan Westward, and all the kings of the Canaanites which were by the Sea, heard that the Lord had dried up the waters of Jordan before the children of Israel untill they were gone over, their heart fainted: and there was no courage in them any more, because of the children of Israel.

² ¶ That same time the Lord said unto Ioshua, * make thee sharp knives, ^b and return, and circumcise the sons of Israel the second time.

5 For all the people that came out were circumcised: but all the people that were born in the wildernesse by the way after they came out of Egypt, were ^d not circumcised.

^d For they looked daily to remove at the Lords commandment, which thing they that were new circumcised could not doe without great danger.

6 For the children of Israel walked forty years in the wildernesse, till all the people of the men of war that came out of Egypt were consumed, because they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: unto whom the Lord sware that hee would not shew them the land, ^{*} which the Lord had sworn unto their fathers, that he would give us, ^{even} a land that floweth with milke and honey.

³ The Lord instructeth Joshua what he should doe as touching Jericho. ⁶ Joshua commandeth the Priests and warriors what to doe. ²⁰ The walls fall. ²³ Rahab is saved. ²⁴ All is burnt save gold and metall. ²⁶ The curse of him that buildeth the City.

NOW Jericho was ^a shut up, and ^b closed, ^c because of the children of Israel: none might go out, nor enter in.

^a That none could goe out.
^b That none could come in.
^c For feare of the Israelites.

2 And the Lord said unto Joshua, Behold, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, ^{and} the strong men of warre.

3 All ye therefore ^{that be} men of warre, shall compass the City, in going round about the city ^d once: thus shall you do six days:

^d Every day once.

4 And seven Priests shall beare seven trumpets of ^e rams horns before the Arke: and the seventh day yee shall compass the city seven times, and the Priest shall blow with the trumpets.

^e That the conquest might not be assigned to mans power, but to the mercy of God, which with most weak things can overcome that which seemeth most strong.

5 And when they make a long blast with the rams horns, and ye heare the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout: then shall the wall of the city fall down flat, and the people shall ascend up, every man straight before him.

6 ¶ Then Joshua the son of Nun called the Priests, and said unto them, Take up the Ark of the Covenant, and let seven Priests beare seven Trumpets of rams horns before the Ark of the Lord.

7 But he said unto the people, ^f Go and compass the City: and let him that is armed go forth before the Ark of the Lord.

^f This is chiefly meant by the Reubenites, Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh.

8 ¶ And when Joshua had spoken unto the people, the seven Priests bare the seven trumpets of rams horns, and went forth before the Arke of the Lord, and blew with the trumpets, and the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord followed them.

9 ¶ And the men of arms went before the Priests, that blew the trumpets: then the ^g gathering host came after the Arke, as they went and blew the trumpets.

^g Meaning, the reward wherein was the standard of the tribe of Dan, Num. 10. 35.

10 (Now Joshua had commanded the people, saying, Ye shall not shout, neither make any noise with your voice, neither shall a word proceed out of your mouth, untill the day that I say unto you, Shout, then shall ye shout.)

11 So the Arke of the Lord compassed the city, and went about it ^h once: then they returned into the host, and lodged in the Campe.

^h For that day.

12 And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the Priests bare the Ark of the Lord.

13 Also seven Priests bare seven trumpets of rams horns, & went before the Ark of the Lord, & going, blew with the trumpets: and the men of arms went before them, but the ⁱ gathering host came after the Arke of the Lord, as they went and blew the trumpets.

ⁱ The tribe of Dan, was so called, because it marched last, and gathered up whatsoever was left of others.

14 And the second day they compassed the city once, and returned into the host: thus they did six dayes.

15 And when the seventh day came, they rose early, ^{even} with the dawning of the day, and and compassed the city after the same manner ^k seven times: only that day they compassed the city seven times.

16 And when the Priests had blowne the trumpets the seventh time, Joshua said unto the people, Shout: for the Lord hath given you the city.

^l That is, appointed wholly to be destroyed.

17 And the city shall be ^l an execrable thing, both it, and all that are therein, unto the Lord: only Rahab the harlot shall live, she, and all that are with her in the house: for ^{*} she hid the messengers that we sent.

^{*} Chap. 2. 4.

18 Notwithstanding, be ye ware of the execrable thing, lest ye make your selves execrable, and in taking of the execrable thing, make also the hoste of Israel ^{*} execrable, and trouble it.

^{*} Levit. 27. 21. Num. 21. 2. Deut. 13. 15. 17.

19 But all silver, and gold, and vessels of brasse, and yron shall be ^m consecrate unto the Lord, and shall come into the Lords treasure.

^m And therefore cannot bee put to any private use, but must be first molten, and then serve for the Tabernacle.

20 So the people shouted, when they had blown the trumpets: for when the people had heard the sound of the trumpet, they shouted with a great shout: & the ^{*} wall fell down flat: so the people went up into the city, every man straight before him: and they took the city.

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young, and old, and ox, and sheep, and asse, with the edge of the sword.

22 But Joshua had said unto the two men that had spied out the countrey, Go into the harlots house, and bring out thence the woman, & all that she hath, ^{*} as ye sware to her.

^{*} Chap. 2. 14. Hebr. 11. 31.

23 So the young men that were spies, went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: also they brought out all her family, and put them ⁿ without the hoste of Israel.

ⁿ For it was not lawful for strangers to dwell among the Israelites, till they were purged.

24 After, they burnt the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver and the gold, and the vessels of brasce and yron, they put into the treasure of the ^o house of the LORD.

^o Meaning, the Tabernacle.

25 So Joshua saved Rahab the harlot, and her fathers household, and all that she had, and she ^p dwelt in Israel even unto this day, because she had hid the messengers, which Joshua sent to spie out Jericho.

^p For she was married to Salmon prince of the tribe of Judah, Mat. 1. 5.

26 ¶ And Joshua sware at that time, saying, Cursed be the man before the Lord, that riseth up, and buildeth this city Jericho: ^q he shall lay the foundation thereof in his eldest son, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it.

^q He shall build it to the destruction of all his stocke, which thing was fulfilled in Hiel of Beth-el, 1 King. 16. 34.

27 So the Lord was with Joshua, and he was famous throughall the world.

CHAP. VII.

¹ The Lord is angry with Achan. ⁴ They of Ai put the Israelites to flight. ⁶ Joshua prayeth to the Lord. ¹⁶ Joshua enquireth out him that sinned, and stoned him, and all his.

BUt the children of Israel committed a trespass in the ^a excommunicate thing: for ^{*} Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the excommunicate thing: wherefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against the children of Israel.

^a In taking that which was commanded to be destroyed. ^{*} Chap. 22. 20. 1 Chron. 2. 7.

2 And Joshua sent men from Jericho to ^b Ai, which is beside Bethaven, on the East-side of Beth-el, and spake unto them, saying, Go up, and view the countrey. And the men went up and viewed Ai, ^b This was a city of the Amorites: for there was another so called among the Amorites. Jer. 49. 3. The first Ai is called Aiath, Isa. 19. 28.

3 And returned to Joshua, and said unto him, Let not all the people goe up, but let as it were two or three thousand men goe up, and smite Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither, for they are few.

4 So there went up thither of the people about three thousand men, and they fled before the men of Ai.

5 And the ^c men of Ai smote of them upon a thirty and six men: for they chased them from before the gate unto Shebarim, and smote them in the going down: wherefore the hearts of the people melted away like water.

^c God would by this overthrow, make them more earnest to search out and punish the sin committed.

6 ¶ Then Joshua rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face before the Arke of the Lord, untill the eventide, he, and the Elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads.

7 And Joshua said, Alas, O Lord God, wherefore hast thou brought this people over Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, and to destroy us? would God we had bin content to dwell on the ^d other side Jordan.

^d This infirmity of his faith, sheweth how wee are inclined of nature to distrust.

8 O Lord, what shall I say, when Israel turn their backs before their enemies?

9 For the Canaanites, and all the inhabitants of the land shall heare of it, and shall compass us, and destroy our name out of the earth: and what wilt thou doe unto thy mighty ^e Name?

^e When thine enemies shall blaspheme thee, and say, that thou wast not able to defend us from them.

10 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, Get thee up: wherefore liest thou thus upon thy face?

11 Israel hath sinned, and they have transgressed my Covenant, which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the excommunicate thing, and have also stollen, and dissembled also, and have put it even with their own stuffe.

12 Therefore the children of Israel cannot stand before their enemies, but have turned their backs before their enemies, because they be execrable: neither will I be with you any more, except ye ^f destroy the excommunicate from among you.

^f Then to suffer wickedness unpunished, is to refuse God willingly.

13 Up therefore, sanctifie the people, and say, Sanctifie your selves against to morrow: for thus saith the Lord God of Israel, There is an execrable thing among you, O g Meaning, the man that tooke of the thing forbidden.

Israel, therefore ye cannot stand against your enemies, untill ye have put the ^g execrable thing from among you.

14 In the morning therefore ye shall come according to your tribes, & the tribe which the Lord taketh, shall come according to the families: and the family which the Lord shall take, shall come by the households: and the household which the Lord shall take, shall come man by man.

h That is found guilty, either by lots, or by the judgement of Urim, Numb. 27. 21.

15 And he that is ^h taken with the excommunicate thing, shall be burnt with fire, he, and all that he hath, because he hath transgressed the covenant of the Lord, and because he hath wrought folly in Israel.

16 ¶ So Joshua rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes: and the tribe of Judah was taken.

17 And he brought the families of Judah, and took the family of the Zarahites, and he brought the family of the Zarahites, man by man, and Zabdi was taken.

18 And he brought his household, man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah was taken.

19 Then Joshua said unto Achan, my son, I beseech thee, give glory to the Lord God of Israel, and ⁱ make confession unto him, and shew me now what thou hast done: hide it not from me.

20 And Achan answered Joshua, and said, Indeed, I have sinned against the Lord God of Israel, and thus, and thus have I done.

22 ¶ Then Joshua sent messengers, which ran unto the tent, and behold, it was hid in his tent, and the silver under it.

23 Therefore they tooke them out of the tent, and brought them unto Joshua, and unto all the children of Israel, and laid them before the Lord.

3 The siege, 19 and winning of Ai. 29 The King thereof is hanged. 30 Joshua setteth up an Altar. 32 He writeth the Law upon stones, 35 And readeth it to all the people.

AFTER, the LORD said unto Joshua, ^{*} Fear not, neither be thou faint-hearted: take all the men of warre with thee, and arise, go up to Ai: behold, I have given into thine hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.

* Deut. 1. 21, 25, and 7. 18.

a Meaning, on the West side, as ver. 9.

3 ¶ Then Joshua arose, and all the men of warre to go up against Ai: and Joshua chose out thirty thousand strong men, and valiant, and sent them away by night.

4 And he commanded them, saying, Behold, ye ^b shall lie in wait against the city on the backe side of the city: go not very far from the city, but be ye all in a readinesse.

b God would not destroy Ai by miracle, as Jericho, to the intent that other nations might feare the power and policy of his people.

5 And I and all the people that are with me, will approach unto the city: and when they shall come out against us, as they did at the first time, then will we flee before them.

6 For they will come out after us, till we have brought them out of the city: for they will say, They flee before us as at the first time: so we will flee before them.

7 Then you shall rise up from lying in wait, and [†] destroy the city: for the Lord your God will deliver it into your hand.

† Or, drive out (the inhabitants) of the city.

8 And when ye have taken the city, ye shall set it on fire: according to the commandment of the Lord shall ye do: behold, I have charged you.

9 ¶ Joshua then sent them forth, and they went to lie in wait, and abode between Bethel & Ai, on the Westside of Ai: but Joshua lodged that night ^c among the people.

c With the rest of the army.

10 And Joshua rose up early in the morning, and ^d numbred the people: and he and the Elders of Israel went up before the people against Ai.

d That is, viewed or mustered them, and set them in aray.

11 Also all the men of warre that were with him, went up and drew neer, and came against the city, and pitched on the Northside of Ai: and there was a valley between them and Ai.

12 And he tooke about five thousand men, ^e and set them to lie in wait between Beth-el and Ai, on the Westside of the city.

e He sent these few, that the other which lay in ambush might not be discovered.

13 And the people set all the host that was on the North side against the city, and the the liers in wait on the West, against the city: and Joshua went the same night into the mids of the valley.

14 ¶ And when the king of Ai saw it, then the men of the city hastened and rose up early, and went out against Israel to battle, he and all his people, at the time appointed, before the plain: for he knew not that any lay in wait against him on the back side of the city.

15 Then Joshua and all Israel ^{as} beaten before them, fled by the way of the wilderness.

16 And all the people of the city were called together, to pursue after them: and they pursued after Joshua, and were drawn away out of the city, 17 So that there was not a man left in Ai, nor in Beth-el, that went not out after Israel: and they left the city open, and pursued after Israel.

18 Then the LORD said unto Joshua, Stretch out the spear that is in thine hand, toward Ai: for I will give it into thine hand: and Joshua stretched out the spear that he had in his hand toward the city.

19 And they that lay in wait, arose quickly out of their place, and ran as soone as he had stretched out his hand, and they entered into the city, and took it, and hastened, and set the city on fire.

20 And the men of Ai looked behinde them, and saw it: for lo, the smoke of the city ascended up to ^{the} heaven, and they had no ^{power} to flee this way or that way: for the people that fled to the wilderness, turned back upon the pursuers.

21 When Joshua and all Israel saw that they that lay in wait, had taken the city, and that the smoke of the City mounted up, then they turned againe and slew the men of Ai.

22 Also the ^{other} issued out of the city against them: so they were in the mids of Israel, these being on the one side, and the rest on the other side: and they slew them, so that they let none of them remain nor escape.

23 And the King of Ai they took alive, and brought him to Joshua.

24 And when Israel had made an end of slaying all the inhabitants of Ai in the field, that is, in the wilderness, where they chased them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the sword, untill they were consumed, all the Israelites returned unto Ai, and smote it with the edge of the sword.

25 And all that fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thousand, even all the men of Ai.

26 For Joshua drew not his hand back again which he had stretched out with the spear, untill he had utterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Ai.

27 * Onely the cattell and the spoil of this city, Israel took for a prey unto themselves, according unto the word of the Lord, which he commanded Joshua.

28 And Joshua burnt Ai, and made it an heap for ever, ^{or} a wilderness unto this day.

29 And the king of Ai he hanged on a tree, unto the evening. And as soon as the Sun was down, Joshua commanded ^{that} they should take his carkeis down from the tree, and cast it at the entering of the gate of the city, and ^{lay} thereon a great heape of stones, that remaineth unto this day.

30 ¶ Then Joshua built an Altar unto the Lord God of Israel, in mount Ebal, 31 As Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded the children of Israel, as it is written in the ^{book} of the Law of Moses, an altar of whole stone, over which no man had lift an iron: and they offered thereon burnt-offerings unto the Lord, and sacrificed peace-offerings.

32 Also he wrote there upon the stones, a rehearfall of the Law of Moses, which he wrote in the presence of the children of Israel.

33 And all Israel (and their Elders, and officers, and their Judges stood on this side of the Ark, and on that side, before the Priests of the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord) as well the stranger, as he that is born in the country: half of them were over against mount Gerizim, and half of them over against mount Ebal, ^{as} Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded before, that they should blesse the people of Israel.

34 Then afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessings and cursings, according to all that is written in the book of the law.

35 There was not a word of all that Moses had commanded, which Joshua read not before all the congregation of Israel, ^{as well before} the women and the children, as the stranger that was conversant among them.

heard what Joshua had done unto Jericho, and to Ai.

4 And therefore they wrought craftily: for they went, and feigned themselves ambassadors, and took old sacks upon their asses, and old bottels for wine, both rent and ^c bound up,

^c Because they were all worn.

5 And old shoes and clouted upon their feet: also the raiment upon them was old, and all their provision of bread was dried, and moulded.

6 So they came unto Joshua into the host to Gilgal, and said unto him, and unto the men of Israel, we become from a far country: now therefore make a league with us.

7 Then the men of Israel said unto the ^d Hivites, It may be that thou dwellest among us, how then can I make a league with thee?

^d For the Gibeonites and the Hivites were all one people.

8 And they said unto Joshua, We are thy servants. Then Joshua said unto them, Who are ye? and whence come ye?

9 And they answered him, From a very farre country thy servants are come, for ^e the Name of the Lord thy God: for we have heard his fame, and all that he hath done in Egypt, ^e Even the idolaters for feare of death will pretend to honour the true God, and receive his religion.

10 And all that he hath done to the two kings of the Amorites that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heibon, and to Og king of Bashan, which were at Ashtoroth.

11 Wherefore our Elders, and all the inhabitants of our country spake to us, saying, Take victuals ^f with you for the journey, and go to meet them, and say unto them, We are your servants: now therefore make ye a league with us.

^f Eat in your hand

^f The wicked lack no art, nor spare no lies to set forth their policy, when they will deceive the servants of God.

12 This our ^g bread we took it hot with us for victuall out of our houses, the day we departed to come unto you: but now behold, it is dried, and it is moulded.

13 Also these bottels of wine which we filled, were new, and lo, they be rent, and these our garments and our shoes are old, by reason of the exceeding great journey.

14 ¶ And the ^h men accepted their tale concerning their victuals, and counselled not with the mouth of the Lord.

15 So Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, that he would suffer them to live: also the princes of the congregation sware unto them.

16 ¶ But at the end of three dayes, after they had made a league with them, they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

17 And the children of Israel took their ^h journey, and came unto their Cities the third day, and their Cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, and Kiriath-jearim.

^h From Gilgal.

18 And the children of Israel slew them not, because the Princes of the congregation had sworn unto them by the Lord God of Israel: wherefore all the congregation ⁱ murmured against the Princes.

ⁱ Fearing lest for their fault & plague of God should have light upon them all.

19 Then all the princes said unto all the congregation, We have sworn unto them by the Lord God of Israel: now therefore we may not touch them.

20 But this we will do to them, and let them live, lest the wrath be upon us, because of the ^k oath which we sware unto them.

^k This doth we establish rash oaths, but sheweth Gods mercy toward his, which would not punish the for their fault.

21 And the princes said unto them again, Let them live, but they shall hew wood, and draw water unto all the congregation, as the princes appoint them.

22 Joshua then called them, and talked with them, and said, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, saying, We are very farre from you, when ye dwell among us?

23 Now therefore ye are cursed, and there shall none of you be freed from being bondmen, and hewers of wood, and drawers of water, for ^l the house of my God.

^l For the uses of the Tabernacle, & of the Temple when it shall be built.

24 And they answered Joshua, and said: Because it was told thy servants, that the Lord thy God had ^m commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land out of your sight, therefore we were exceeding sore afraid for our lives at the presence of you, and have done this thing:

25 And behold now, we are in thine hand: do as it seemeth good and right in thine eyes to do unto us.

26 Even so did he unto them, and delivered them out of the ⁿ hand of the children of Israel, that they slew them not.

ⁿ Who were minded to put them to death for feare of Gods wrath.

27 And Joshua appointed them that same day to be hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the Congregation, and for the ⁿ Altar of the Lord unto this day, in the place which he should chuse.

ⁿ That is, for the sacrifices of the Temple, as verbe 23.

CHAP. X.

¹ Five kings make warre against Gibeon, whom Joshua discomfith. ¹¹ The Lord rained hailstones and slew many. ¹² The Sunne standeth at Joshuas prayer. ²⁶ The five kings are hanged. ²⁹ Many more cities and kings are destroyed.

Now when Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem had heard how Joshua had taken Ai and had destroyed it, (^o for as he had done to Jericho and to the king thereof, so he had done to ^p Ai, and to the king thereof) and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel, and were among them, ^o Chap. 6. 15. 21.

^p Chap. 8. 3. 23. 29.

2 Then they feared exceedingly: for Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities: for it was greater then Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty.

3 Wherefore ^q Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto ^q That is, Lord of Justice: so they take to themselves glorious names, when indeed they be very enemies against God and all justice.

Japia

Japia king of Lachish, and unto Debir king of Eglon, saying,

4 Come up unto me, and help me, that we may smite Gibeon: for they have made peace with Joshua, and with the children of Israel.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, gathered themselves together, and went up, they with all their hosts, and besieged Gibeon, and made war against it.

^b So envious the wicked are, when any depart from their band.

6 And the men of Gibeon sent unto Joshua, even to the host to Gilgal, saying, Withdraw not thine hand from thy servants: come up to us quickly, and save us, and help us: for all the kings of the Amorites which dwell in the mountaines, are gathered together against us.

7 So Joshua ascended from Gilgal, he, and all the people of war with him, and all the men of might.

8 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, c Feare them not: for I have given them into thine hand: none of them shall stand against thee.

^c Left Joshua should have thought that God had sent his great power against him, for his unlawfull league with the Gibeonites, the Lord there strengtheneth him.

9 Joshua therefore came unto them suddenly: for he went up from Gilgal all the night.

10 And the Lord discomfited them before Israel, and slew them with a great slaughter at Gibeon, and chased them along the way that goeth up to Beth-horon, and smote them to Azekah and to Makkedah.

11 And as they fled from before Israel, and were in the going down to Beth-horon, the Lord cast down great stones from heaven upon them, untill Azekah, and they died: they were more that died with the ^d hail-stones, then they whom the children of Israel slew with the sword.

^d So we see that all things serve to execute Gods vengeance against the wicked.

12 ¶ Then spake Joshua to the Lord, in the day when the Lord gave the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, * Sunne, stay thou in Gibeon, and thou Moon in the valley of Ajalon.

* Isa. 28. 21.

13 And the Sun abode, and the Moon stood still, untill the people avenged themselves upon their enemies: (is not this written in the book of * Jasher?) so the Sunne abode in the mids of the heaven, and hasted not to go down for a whole day.

^e Some read the booke of the righteous, meaning Moses: the Chaldee text readeth, in the book of the law: but it is like that it was a book thus named, which is now lost. ^f By taking away the enemies hearts and destroying them with hail-stones.

14 And there was no day like that before it, nor after it, that the Lord heard the voice of a man: for the Lord ^f fought for Israel.

15 ¶ After, Joshua returned, and all Israel with him unto the camp to Gilgal:

16 But the five kings fled and were hid in a cave at Makkedah.

17 And it was told Joshua, saying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 Then Joshua said, Roule great stones upon the mouth of the cave, and set men by it for to keep them.

19 But stand ye not still: follow after your enemies, and [†] smite all the hindmost, [†] suffer them not to enter into their Cities: for the Lord your God hath given them into your hand. [†] Bbr. cut off all their train, or tail.

20 And when Joshua and the children of Israel had made an end of slaying them with an exceeding great slaughter, till they were consumed, and the rest that remained of them were entred into walled cities, 21 Then all the people returned to the camp to Joshua at Makkedah in ^g peace: no man moved his tongue against the children of Israel. ^g Or, in safety, so that none gave them so much as an evil word.

22 After, Joshua said, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out these five kings unto me forth of the cave.

23 And they did so, and brought out those five kings unto him forth of the cave; even the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon.

24 And when they had brought out those kings unto Joshua, Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the chief of the men of warre, which went with him, Come neer, set your feet upon the ^h necks of these kings: and they came neer and set their feet upon their necks. ^h Signifying, what should become of the rest of Gods enemies, seeing these kings themselves were not spared.

25 And Joshua said unto them, Feare not, nor be faint-hearted, but be strong and of a good courage: for thus will the Lord do to all your enemies, against whom ye fight.

26 So then Joshua smote them, and slew them, and hanged them on five trees, and they hanged still upon the trees untill the evening.

27 And at the going down of the Sun, Joshua gave commandement, that they should take * them down off the trees, and cast them into the cave (wherein they had been hid) and they laid great stones upon the caves mouth, which remaine untill this day. ^{* Deut. 21. 23. Chap. 8. 29.}

28 ¶ And that same day Joshua tooke [†] Makkedah, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof destroyed he with them; and [†] all the souls that were therein, he let none remaine: for he did to the king of Makkedah * as he had done to the king of Jericho. [†] Joshua taketh Makkedah. [†] Or, every person. ^{* Chap. 6. 21.}

29 Then Joshua went from Makkedah, and all Israel with him unto Libnah, and fought against Libnah.

6 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Joshua, Be not afraid for them: for to morrow about this time will I deliver them all slain before Israel: thou shalt † hough their horses, and burn their charrets with fire.

d That neither they should serve to the use of war, nor the Israelites should put their trust in them.

7 Then came Joshua and all the men of war with him against them by the waters of Merom suddenly, and fell upon them.

8 And the Lord gave them into the hand of Israel: and they smote them, and chased them unto great Zidon, and unto † Misrephothmaim, and unto the valley of Mizpeh Eastward, and smote them untill they had none remaining of them.

9 And Joshua did unto them as the Lord bad him: he houghed their horses, and burnt their charrets with fire.

10 ¶ At that time also Joshua turned back, and took Hazor, and smote the king thereof with the sword: for Hazor before time was the head of all those kingdoms.

11 Moreover, they smote all the † persons that were therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying all, leaving none alive, and he burnt Hazor with fire.

20 For it came of the Lord, to ¹ harden their hearts, that they should come against Israel in battell, to the intent that they should destroy them utterly, and slaw them no mercy, but that they should bring them to nought: as the Lord had commanded Moses.

21 ¶ And that same season came Joshua, and destroyed the Anakims out of the mountains: as out of Hebron, out of Debir, out of Anab, and out of all the mountains of Judah, and out of all the mountains of Israel: Joshua destroyed them utterly with their Cities.

22 There was no Anakim left in the land of the children of Israel: onely in Azzah, ^m in Gath, and in Ashdod were they left.

23 So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the Lord had said unto Moses: and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel ^{*} according to their portions through their tribes: then the land was at rest without war.

Thou art old and † grown in age, and there remaineth exceeding much land to be possessed:

2 This is the land that remaineth, all the † regions of the Philistims, and all Geshuri,

3 From † Nilus which is † in Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron northward: this is counted of the Canaanites, even five lordships of the Philistims, the Azzithites, and the Ashdodites, the Elshkelonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites, and the Avites:

4 From the South, all the land of the Canaanites, and the † cave that is beside the Sidonians, unto Aphek, and to the borders of the Amorites:

5 And the land of the Giblites, and all Lebanon, toward the sun rising from † Bahal-gad under mount Hermon, untill one come to Hamath.

6 All the inhabitants of the mountains from Lebanon unto † Misrephothmaim, and all the Sidonians, I will cast them out from before the children of Israel: onely divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites, to inherit, as I have commanded thee.

7 Now therefore divide this land to inherit, unto the nine tribes, and to the half tribe of Manasseh.

8 For with halfe thereof the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance, * which Moses gave them beyond Jordan Eastward, even as Moses the servant of the Lord had given them,

9 From Aroer that is on the brink of the river Arnon, and from the city that is in the mids of the † river, and all the plain of Medeba unto Dibon,

10 And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heshbon, unto the borders of the children of Ammon,

11 And Gilead, and the borders of the Geshurites, and of the Maachathites, and all mount Hermon, with all Bashan unto Salcha:

12 All the kingdom of Og in Bashan, which reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei: (who remained of the * rest of the giants) for these did Moses smite, and cast them out.

13 But the children of Israel ^d expelled not the Geshurites nor the Maachathites: but the Geshurites & the Maachathites dwell among the Israelites even unto this day.

14 Onely unto the tribe of Levi he gave none inheritance, ^e but the sacrifices of the Lord God of Israel are ^e his inheritance, as he said unto him.

15 ¶ Moses then gave unto the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance, according to their families,

16 And their coast was from Aroer, that is on the brink of the river Arnon, and from the city that is in the mids of the river, and all the plain which is by Medeba:

17 Heshbon with all the cities thereof, that are in the plain: Dibon and † Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon:

18 And Jahazah, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath:

19 Kiriathaim also, and Sibmah, and Zereh-shahar in the mount of † Emek:

20 And Beth-Peor, and * Ashdodh-piggah, and Beth-jeshimoth:

21 And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses smote * with the princes of Midian, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, the Dukes of Sihon, dwelling in the country.

22 And Balaam the son of Beor the soothsayer did the children of Israel slay with the sword, among them that were slain.

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan with the coasts. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben, according to their families, with the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ Also Moses gave inheritance unto the tribe of Gad, even unto the children of Gad according to their families.

25 And their coasts were Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon unto Aroer, which is before Rabbah:

26 And from Heshbon unto Ramoth, Mizpeh, and Betonim: and from Mahanaim unto the borders of Debir.

27 And in the valley Beth-aram, & Beth-nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, unto Jordan and the borders, even unto the Sea coast of Cinnereth, * beyond Jordan Eastward.

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad, after their families, with the cities, and their villages.

29 ¶ Also Moses gave inheritance unto the half tribe of Manasseh: and this belonged to the half tribe of the children of Manasseh according to their families.

30 And their border was from Mahanaim, even all Bashan, to wit, all the kingdom of Og King of Bashan, and all the townes of Jair which are in Bashan, threescore cities.

31 And half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, * were given unto the † children of Machir the sonne of Manasseh, to half of the children of Machir after their families.

b So though Levi lacked, yet were there still twelve tribes by this meane.

3 For Moses had given inheritance unto ^a two tribes and a halfe tribe, beyond Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.

5 * As the Lord had commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did when they divided the land.

6 ¶ Then the children of Judah came unto Joshua in Gilgal: and Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenézite said unto him, Thou knowest what the Lord said unto Moses the man of God, concerning mee and thee in Kadesh-barnea.

c Which was, that they two onely should enter into the land: Numb. 14. 24.

7 Fourty yeare old was I, when Moses the servant of the Lord sent mee from Kadesh-barnea to espy the land, and I brought him word againe, as I thought in mine heart.

8 But my ^d brethren that went up with mee, discouraged the heart of the people: yet I followed still the Lord my God.

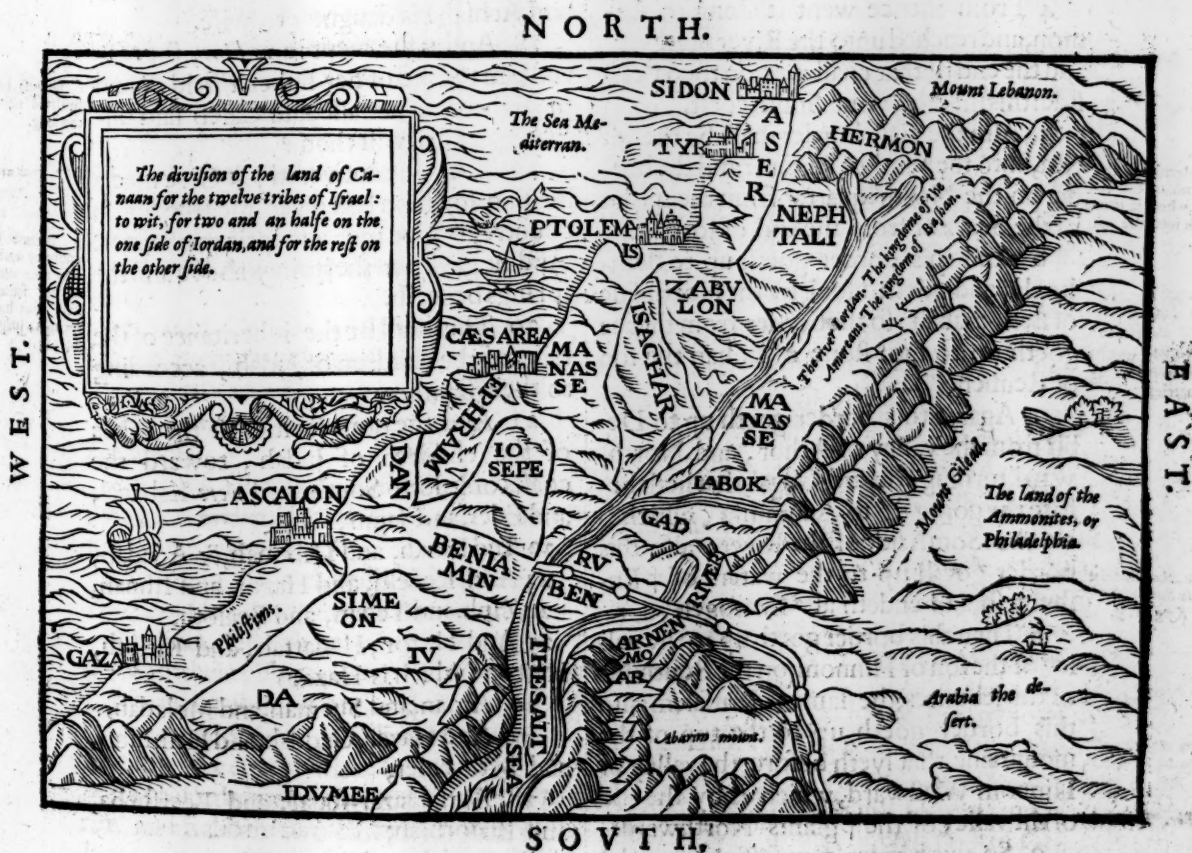

d Which were the ten other spies.

9 Wherefore Moses sware the same day, saying, Certainly the land whereon thy feet have troden, shall be thine inheritance, and thy childrens for ever, because thou hast followed constantly the Lord my God.

10 Therefore behold now, the Lord hath kept mee alive, as he promised: this is the fourty and fift yeare since the Lord spake this thing unto Moses, while the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness: and now loe, I am this day fourescore and five yeare old:

11 And yet am as * strong at this time, as I was when Moses sent mee: as strong as I was then, so strong am I now, either for warre, or † for government.

13 Then Joshua blessed him, and gave unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh, Hebron for an inheritance.

14 * Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite, unto this day: because he followed constantly the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the name of * Hebron was before time, Kiriath-arba: which Arba was a \dagger great man among the Anakims: thus the land ceased from warre.

CHAP. XV.

The lot of the children of Judah, and the names of the Cities and villages of the same. 13 Caleb's portion. 18 The request of Achsah.

THis then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah by their families: even * to the border of Edom, & the wilderness of * Zin, Southward on the South coast.

2 And their Southborder was the salt Sea coast, from the * point that looketh Southward.

3 And it went out on the South side toward Maaleth-akrabbim, and went along to Zin, and ascended up on the Southside unto Kadesh-barnea, and went along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and set a compass to Karkaa.

4 From thence went it along to Azmon, and reached unto the River of Egypt, and the end of that coast was on the Westside: this shall be your South coast.

5 Also the East border shall be the salt Sea, unto the \dagger end of Jordan: and the border on the North quarter from the point of the Sea, and from the end of Jordan.

6 And this border goeth up to Bethhogla, and goeth along by the North side of Beth-arabah: so the border from thence goeth up to the \dagger stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.

7 Again this border goeth up to Debir from the valley of Achor, and Northward, turning toward Gilgal, that lieth before the going up to Adummin, which is on the South side of the River: also this border goeth up to the waters of \dagger En-shemesh, and endeth at * En-rogel.

8 Then this border goeth up to the valley of the son of Hinnom, on the Southside of the Jebusites, the same is Jerusalem: also this border goeth up to the top of the mountaine that lyeth before the valley of Hinnom Westward, which is by the end of the valley of the \dagger giants Northward.

9 So this border compasseth from the top of the mountain unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, & goeth out to the Cities of mount Ephron: and this border draweth to Baalah, which is \dagger Kiriath-jearim.

10 Then this border compasseth from Baalah Westward unto mount Scir, and goeth along unto the side of mount Jearim, which is Chefalon on the Northside: so it commeth downe to Beth-shemesh, and goeth to Timnah.

11 And this border goeth out unto the side of Ekron Northward: and this border draweth to Shicron, and goeth along to mount Baalah, and stretcheth unto Jabneel: and the ends of this coast are to the \dagger Sea.

12 And the West border is to the great Sea: so this border shall be the bounds of the children of Judah round about, according to their families.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh did Joshua give a part among the children of Judah, as the Lord commanded him, even * Kiriath-arba of the father of 14 And Caleb \dagger drove thence three sons of Anak, Sesshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the sons of Anak.

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir: and the name of Debir before time was Kiriath-sepher.

16 Then Caleb said, Hee that smiteth Kiriath-sepher, and taketh it, even to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

17 And Othniel, the son of Kenaz, the \dagger brother of Caleb tooke it: and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

18 And as she went in to him, she moved him to aske of her father a field: \dagger and she lighted off her asse, and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

19 Then she answered, \dagger Give mee a blessing: for thou hast given mee the South country: \dagger give mee also springs of water. And he gave her the springs above and the springs beneath.

20 This shall be the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah, according to their families.

21 And the utmost cities of the tribes of the children of Judah, toward the coasts of Edom Southward were Kabzeel, and Eder, and Jagur, 22 And Kinah, and Dibonah, & Adadah, 23 And Kedesh, and Hazor, and Ithnan, 24 Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth, then Manasseh.

5 ¶ Also the borders of the children of Ephraim according to their families, even the borders of their inheritance on the Eastside were Atroth-addar, unto Bethhoron the upper.

6 And this border goeth out to the Sea, unto Michmethah on the Northside, and this border returneth Eastward unto Taanath-shiloh, and passeth it on the Eastside unto Janohah,

7 And goeth downe from Janohah to Ataroth, and Naarath, and commeth to Jericho, ^d and goeth out at Jordan.

^d For so farre the coasts reach.

8 And this border goeth from Tap-puah Westward unto the river Kanah, and the ends thereof are at the Sea: this is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

9 And the ^{*} separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheri-

3 ¶ * But Zelophehad the son of Hephher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasse, had no sons, but daughters: and these are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah:

4 Which came before Elcazar the Priest, and before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the princes, saying, The Lord commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our ^b brethren: therefore according to the commandment of the Lord he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fell ten portions to ^c Manasse, beside the land of Gilead and Bashan, which is on the other side of Jordan,

6 Because the daughters of Manasse did inherit among his sons, and Manasse's other sons had the land of Gilead,

7 ¶ So the borders of Manasse were from Asher to Michmethah that lieth before Shechem, and this border goeth on the right hand, even unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 The land of Tappuah belonged to Manasse, but ^d Tappuah beside the border of Manasse belongeth to the sons of Ephraim.

9 Also this border goeth downe unto the ^e river Kanah Southward to the river: these cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasse: and the border of Manasse is on the Northside of the river, and the ends of it are at the ^f Sea.

10 The South pertaineth to Ephraim, and the North to Manasse, and the Sea is his border: and they met together in ^g Asher Northward, and in Issachar Eastward.

11 And Manasse had in Issachar and in Asher, Beth-shean, and her townes, and Ibleam, and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor, with the townes thereof, and the inhabitants of En-dor, with the townes thereof, and the inhabitants of Taanach with her townes, and the inhabitants of Megiddo with the townes of the same, even three countries:

12 Yet the children of Manasse ^h could not destroy those cities, but the Canaanites dwelled still in that land.

13 Nevertheless, when the children of Israel were strong, they put the Canaanites under tribute, but cast them not out wholly.

14 Then the children of Joseph spake unto Joshua, saying, Why hast thou given mee but one lot, and one portion to inherit, seeing I am a great people, for as much as the Lord hath ^b blessed mee: hitherto?

15 Joshua then answered them, If thou be much people, get thee up to the wood, and cut trees for thy selfe there in the land of the Perizzites, and of the giants, ⁱ if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.

16 Then the children of Joseph said, The mountain will not be enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the low country have charrets of yron, as well they in Beth-shean, and in the townes of the same, as they in the valley of Izrael.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, to Ephraim, and to Manasse, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power, and shalt not have one lot.

18 Therefore the mountaine shall be thine: for it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it downe: and the ends of it shall be thine, ^k and thou shalt cast out the Canaanites, though they have yron charrets, and though they be strong.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Tabernacle set in Shiloh. 4 Certaine are sent to divide the land to the other seven tribes. 11 The lot of the children of Benjamin.

And the whole congregation of the children of Israel, came together at Shiloh: for they set up the ^a Tabernacle of the congregation there, after the land was subject unto them.

2 Now there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes, to whom ^b they had not divided their inheritance.

3 Therefore Joshua said unto the children of Israel, How long are yee so slack to enter and possesse the land which the Lord God of your fathers hath given you?

4 Give from among you for every tribe three men, that I may send them, and that they may rise, and walke thorow the land, and distribute it according to ^c their inheritance, and returne to mee.

5 And that they may divide it unto them into seven parts, (Judah shall abide in his coast at the South, and the house of Joseph shall ^d stand in their coasts at the North)

6 Yee shall describe the land therefore into seven parts, and shall bring them hither to mee, and I will cast lots for you here before the ^e Lord our God.

7 But the Levites shall have no part among you: for the ^f Priesthood of the Lord is their inheritance: also Gad and Reuben, and halfe the tribe of Manasse have received their inheritance beyond Jordan Eastward, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them.

8 ¶ Then the men arose and went their way: and Joshua charged them that went to describe the land, saying, depart and go thorow the land, and describe it, and returne to me, that I may here cast lots for you before the Lord in Shiloh.

9 So the men departed, and passed thorow the land, and described it by cities into seven parts in a booke, and returned to Joshua into the camp at Shiloh.

10 ¶ Then Joshua^h cast lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord, and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel, according to their portions.

11 ¶ And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came forth according to their families, and the coast of their lot lay^l betweene the children of Judah, and the children of Joseph.

12 And their coast on the Northside was from Jordan, and the border went up to the side of Jericho on the North part, and went up thorow the mountaines Westward, and the ends thereof are in the wildernesse of Beth-aven:

13 And this border goeth along from thence to Luz, even to the Southside of Luz (the same is^k Beth-el) and this border descendeth to Atroth-addar, neer the mount, that lieth on the Southside of Beth-horon the nether.

14 So the border turneth, and compasseth the corner of the Sea Southward, from the mount that lieth before Beth-horon Southward: and the ends thereof are at Kiriath-baal (which is Kiriath-jearim) a city of the children of Judah: this is the West quarter.

15 And the South quarter^u from the end of Kiriath-jearim, and this border goeth out[†] Westward, and commeth to the fountaine of waters of Nephtoah.

16 And this border descendeth at the end of the mountaine, that lieth before the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is in the valley of the[†] giants Northward, and descendeth into the valley of Hinnom by the side of[†] Jebusi Southward, and goeth down to En-rogel,

17 And compasseth from the North, & goeth forth to^l En-hemesh, and stretcheth to Geliloth, w^{ch} is toward the going up unto Adummin, and goeth downe to the^{*} stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.

18 So it goeth along to the side over against the plaine Northward, and goeth downe into the plaine.

19 After, this border goeth along to the side of Beth-hoglah Northward, and the ends thereof, that is, of the border, reach to the point of the salt Sea Northward, and to the^m end of Jordan Southward: this is the South coast.

20 Also Jordan is the border of it on the Eastside: this is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin by the coasts thereof round about, according to their families.

21 Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, are Jericho, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Kéziz,

22 And Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim, and Beth-el,

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

25 And Chephar, Ammonai, and Ophni, and Gaba: twelve cities with their villages.

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,

28 And Zela, & Eleph, and Jebusi, (w^{ch} isⁿ Jerusalem) Gibeath, and Kiriath: foure- teene cities with their villages: this is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to their families.

CHAP. XIX.

^a The portion of Simeon, ¹⁰ Of Zebulun, ¹⁷ Of Issachar, ²⁴ Of Asher, ³² Of Naphtali, ⁴⁰ Of Dan. ⁴⁹ The possession of Ioshua.

And the second lot came out to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families: and their inheritance was in the^a mids of the inheritance of the children of Judah.

2 Now they had in their inheritance, Beer-sheba, and Sheba, and Moladah,

3 And Hazur-shual, and Balah, and Azem,

4 And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,

5 And Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susah,

6 And Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhén: thirteene cities with their villages.

7 Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Ashan: foure cities with their villages.

8 And all the villages that were round about these cities, unto Baalathbeer, and[†] Ramath Southward: this is in the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families.

9 Out of the portion of the children of Judah came the inheritance of the children of Simeon: for the part of the children of Judah was too^b much for them; therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within their inheritance.

10 ¶ Also the third lot arose for the children of Zebulun, according to their families: and the coasts of their inheritance came to Sarid,

11 And their border goeth up^c Westward, even to Maralah, and reacheth to Dabbatheth, and meeteth with the river that lieth before Jokneam, 16 This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun, according to their families: that is, these cities and their villages.

17 ¶ The fourth lot came out to Issachar, even for the children of Issachar, according to their families.

18 And their coast was Izreelah, and Cheshulloth, and Shunem,

19 And Hapharaim, and Shihon, and Anaharath,

20 And Harabbith, and Kishion, and Abbez,

21 And Remeth, and ^e En-gannim, and Enhaddah, and Beth-pazzez.

22 And this coast reacheth to Tabor, and Shahazimath, and Beth-she mesh, and the ends of their coast reach to Jordan: sixteen cities with their villages.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar according to their families: that is, the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ Also the fift lot came out for the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families.

25 And their coast was Helcath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph, 26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Misheal, and came to Carmel Westward, and to Shihor Libnath, 27 And turneth toward the Sun rising to Beth-dagon, and commeth to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphtah-el, toward the North side of Beth-emek, and Neiel, and goeth out on the left side of Cabul, 28 And to Ebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, unto great Zidon.

29 Then the coast turneth to Ramah, and to the strong city of ^g Zor, and this border turneth to Hofah, and the ends thereof are at the Sea from Hebel to Achzib.

30 Ummah also and Aphek, and Rehob: two and twenty cities with their villages.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families: that is, these cities and their villages.

32 ¶ The sixt lot came out to the children of Naphtali, even to the children of Naphtali, according to their families.

33 And their coast was from ^h Heleph, and from Allon in Zaanannim, and Adami-nekeb, and Jabneth, even to Lakum, and the ends thereof are at Jordan.

34 So this coast turneth Westward to Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hukkok, and reacheth to Zebulun on the South side, and goeth to Asher on the West side, and to Judah ⁱ by Jordan toward the Sun rising.

35 And the strong cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Hammath, Rakkath, and Cinnereth, 36 And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

37 And Kedesh, and Edrei, and En-hazor,

38 And Iron, and Migdal-el, Horem, and Beth-anah, Beth-she mesh: nineteene cities with their villages.

39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali according to their families: that is, the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families.

41 And the coast of their inheritance was Zorah, and Elh-taol, and Ir-she mesh,

42 And Shaalabbin, and Aijalon, and Ithlah,

43 And Elon, and Temnathah, and Ekron,

44 And Eltekeh, and Gibbertho, and Baalah,

45 And Jehud, and Bene-berak, and Garh-rimmon,

46 And Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border that lieth before ^k Japho.

47 But the coasts of the children of Dan fell out too little for them: therefore the children of Dan went up to ^l fight against Leshem, and took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and possessed it, and dwelt therein, and called Leshem, ^m Dan, after the name of Dan their father.

48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families: that is, these cities and their villages.

49 ¶ When they had made an end of dividing the land by the coasts thereof, then the children of Israel gave an inheritance unto Joshua the son of Nun among them.

50 According to the word of the Lord they gave him the city which he asked, even ⁿ Timna-lerah in mount Ephraim: and he built the city and dwelt therein.

51 * These are the heritages which Eleazar the Priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chiefe fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel divided by lot in Shiloh before the Lord at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation: so they made an end of dividing the country.

^o Numb. 34. 17.

THE Lord spake also unto Joshua, saying,
2 Speak to the children of Israel, & say, * Appoint you cities of refuge, whereof I spake unto you by the hand of Moses,

3 That the slayer that killeth any person ^a by ignorance, and unwittingly, may flee thither, and they shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.

4 And he that doeth flee unto one of those cities, shall stand at the entering of the gate of the city, and shall shew his cause [†] to the Elders of the city: and they shall receive him into the city unto them, and give him a place, that he may dwell with them.

5 And if the ^b avenger of blood pursue after him, they shall not deliver the slayer into his hand, because he smote his neighbour ignorantly, neither hated he him before time:

6 But he shall dwell in that city untill he stand before the congregation in judgment, ^{*} or untill the death of the high Priest that shall be in those dayes: then shall the slayer returne, and come unto his own city, and unto his owne house, even unto the city from whence he fled.

7 ¶ Then they appointed Kedesh in [‡] Galil in mount Naphtali, and Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba (^{wh} is Hebron) in the mountaine of Judah.

8 And on the other side of Jordan ^{toward} Jericho Eastward, they appointed * Bezer in the wilderness upon the plain, out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead, out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan out of the ^d tribe of Manasseh.

9 These were the cities appointed for all the children of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourned among them, that whosoever killed any person ignorantly, might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, untill he stood before the ^e congregation.

CHAP. XXI.

The cities given to the Levites, 41 in number eight and forty.

44 The Lord according to his promise gave the children of Israel rest.

Then came the [‡] principall fathers of the Levites unto Eleazar the Priest, and unto Joshua the son of Nun, and unto the chiefe fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel,

2 And spake unto them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, saying, * The Lord commanded ^a by the hand of Moses, to give us cities to dwell in, with the suburbs thereof for our cattell.

3 So the children of Israel gave unto the Levites, out of their inheritance at the commandment of the Lord these cities with their suburbs.

4 And the lot came out for the families of the ^b Kohathites: and the children of Aaron the Priest, ^{which were} of the Levites, had by lot, out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin ^c thirteen cities.

5 And the rest of the children of Kohath ^{had by lot} out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim, and out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the halfe tribe of Manasseh ^{thirteen cities}.

6 Also the children of Gershon ^{had by} lot out of the families of the tribe of Issa-char, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half tribe of Manasseh in Bashan ^{thirteen cities}.

7 The children of Merari according to their families ^{had} out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

8 So the children of Israel gave by lot unto the Levites these cities with their suburbs, as the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses.

9 ¶ And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, these cities which are here named.

10 And they were the childrens of ^d Aaron, ^{being} of the families of the Koha-thites, and of the sons of Levi, (for theirs was the first lot)

11 So they gave them Kiriath-arba of the father of Anak (which is Hebron) in the mountaine of Judah, with the suburbs of the same round about it.

12 (But the land of the city, and the villages thereof, gave they to * Caleb the son of Jephunneh to be his possession)

13 ¶ Thus they gave to the ^e children of Aaron the Priest, a city of refuge for the slayer, ^{even} Hebron with her suburbs, and Libnah with her suburbs,

14 And Jattir with her suburbs, and Eshtemoa, and her suburbs,

15 And Holon with her suburbs, and Debir with her suburbs,

16 And Ain with her suburbs, and Jutrah with her suburbs, Belshe-mesh with her suburbs: nine cities out of those two tribes.

17 And out of the tribe of Benjamin they gave Gibeon with her ^f suburbs, Geba with her suburbs,

18 Anathoth with her suburbs, and Almon with her suburbs: foure cities.

19 All the cities of the children of Aaron the Priest, ^{were} thirteen cities with their suburbs.

dren of Kohath of the Levites, ^g which tribe of Ephraim)

25 And out of the ⁱ halfe tribe of Manasseh, Tanach with her suburbs, & Gath-rimmon with her suburbs: two cities.

26 All the cities for the other families of the children of Kohath were ten with their suburbs.

27 ¶ Also unto the children of Gershon of the families of the Levites, they gave out of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, the city of refuge for the slayer, ^k Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, and Beeshterah with her suburbs: two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishon with her suburbs, Dabereh with her suburbs, 29 Jarmuth with her suburbs, Enganim with her suburbs: foure cities.

32 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, the city of refuge for the slayer, Kedesh in ^l Galil with her suburbs, and Hammothdor with her suburbs, and Kartan with her suburbs: three cities.

33 All the cities of the Gershonites, according to their families, were thirteen cities with their suburbs.

34 ¶ Also unto the families of the children of Merari the ¹ rest of the Levites, they gave out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with her suburbs, and Kartah with her suburbs, 35 Dimnah with her suburbs, Nahalal with her suburbs: foure cities.

36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, ^m Bezer with her suburbs, and Jahazah with her suburbs, 37 Kedemoth with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs: foure cities.

38 And out of the tribe of Gad, they gave for a city of refuge for the slayer, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, and Mahanaim with her suburbs, 39 Heshbon with her suburbs, and Jazer with her suburbs: foure cities in all.

40 So all the cities of the children of Merari according to their families (which were the rest of the families of the Levites) were by their lot, twelve cities.

41 And all the cities of the Levites within the possession of the children of Israel were eight and fourty with their suburbs.

42 These cities lay every one severally with their suburbs round about them: so were all these cities.

43 ¶ So the Lord gave unto Israel all the land, which he had sworn to give unto their fathers: and they possessed it, and dwelt therein.

44 Also the Lord gave them rest round about according to all that he had sworn unto their fathers: and there stood not a man of all their enemies before them: for the Lord delivered all their enemies into their hand.

45 * There failed nothing of all the good things, which the Lord had said unto the house of Israel, but all came to passe.

C H A P. XXII.

¹ Reuben, Gad, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh are sent again to their possession. ¹⁰ They build an altar for a memoriall. ¹⁵ The Israelites reprove them. ²² Their answer for defence of the same.

Then ^a Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh,

2 And said unto them, Yee have kept all that Moses the servant of the Lord ^b commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you:

3 Yee have not forsaken your brethren this long season unto this day, but have diligently kept the commandment of the Lord your God.

4 And now the Lord hath given rest unto your brethren as he promised them: therefore now returne yee, and go to your tents, to the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the Lord ^{*} hath given you beyond Jordan.

5 But take diligent heed, to doe the commandment and law, which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you: that is, ^{} that yee ^{} love the Lord your God, and walke in all his wayes, and keep his commandments, and cleave unto him, and serve him with all your heart, and with all your soule.

6 So Joshua ^d blessed them, and sent them away, & they went unto their tents.

7 ¶ Now unto ^{one} halfe of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given a possession in Bashan: and unto the ^{other} halfe thereof gave Joshua among their brethren on this side Jordan Westward: therefore when Joshua sent them away unto their tents, and blessed them.

8 Thus he spake unto them, saying, Returne with much riches unto your tents, and with a great multitude of cattell, with silver and with gold, with brasse and with iron, and with great abundance of raiment: divide the spoile of your enemies with your ^{*} brethren.

10 ¶ And when they came unto the borders of Jordan (which are in the land of Canaan) then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh, built there an altar by Jordan; a great altar to see to.

11 ¶ When the children of Israel heard say, Behold, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh have built an altar in the forefront of the land of Canaan, upon the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel.

12 When the children of Israel heard it, then the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered them together at Shiloh to goe up to war against them.

13 Then the children of Israel sent unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh into the land of Gilead, Phinehas the son of Eleazar the Priest, 14 And with him ten princes, of every chiefe house a prince, according to all the tribes of Israel: for every one was chiefe of their fathers household among the thousands of Israel.

15 ¶ So they went unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, unto the land of Gilead, & spake with them, saying,

16 Thus saith the whole congregation of the Lord, What transgression is this that yee have transgressed against the God of Israel, to turne away this day from the Lord, in that yee have built you an altar, for to rebell this day against the Lord?

17 Have we too little for the wickednes of Peor, whereof we are not cleansed unto this day, though a plague came upon the congregation of the Lord?

18 Yee also are turned away this day from the Lord: and seeing ye rebell to day against the Lord, even to morrow he will be wroth with all the congregatiō of Israel.

19 Notwithstanding, if the land of your possession be unclean, come ye over unto the land of the possession of the Lord, wherein the Lords Tabernacle dwelleth, and take possession among us: but rebell not against the Lord, nor rebell not against us in building you an altar, beside the altar of the Lord our God,

20 Did not Achan the son of Zerah tres-se passe grievously in the execrable thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Israel? and this man alone perished not in his wickednesse.

21 ¶ Then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and halfe the tribe of Manasseh answered and said unto the heads over the thousands of Israel, 22 The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods, he knoweth, and Israel himselfe shall know: if by rebellion, or by transgression against the Lord we have done it, save thou us not this day.

23 If we have built us an altar to return away from the Lord, either to offer thereon burnt offering, or meat offering, or to offer peace offerings thereon, let the Lord himselfe require it;

24 And if we have not rather done it for feare of this thing, saying, In time to come your children might say unto our children, What have ye to doe with the Lord God of Israel?

25 For the Lord hath made Jordan a border between us and you, ye children of Reuben, and of Gad: therefore ye have no part in the Lord: so shal your childre make our children cease from fearing the Lord.

26 Therefore we said, We will now go about to make us an altar, not for burnt offering, nor for sacrifice, 27 But it shall be a witnesse between us and you, and between our generations after us, to execute the service of the Lord before him in our burnt offerings, and in our sacrifices, and in our peace offerings, and that your children should not say to our children in time to come, Yee have no part in the Lord.

28 Therefore said we, If so be that they should say to us or to our generations in time to come, then will we answer, Behold the fashion of the altar of the Lord, which our fathers made, not for burnt offering nor for sacrifice, but it is a witnesse betweene us and you.

29 God forbid, that we should rebell against the Lord, and turn this day away from the Lord, to build an altar for burnt offering, or for meat offering, or for sacrifice, save the altar of the Lord our God, that is before his Tabernacle.

30 ¶ And when Phinehas the Priest, and the princes of the congregation and heads over the thousands of Israel which were with him, heard the words, that the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the children of Manasseh spake, they were well content.

31 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the Priest said unto the children of Reuben, & to the children of Gad, and to the children of Manasseh, This day we perceive that f This is the true use of Gods benediction, to learne thereby to feare and serve him with an upright conscience.

14 Now therefore ^f feare the Lord, and serve him in uprightness and in truth, and put away the gods, which your fathers served beyond the flood and in Egypt, and serve yee the Lord.

† Or, if it be evil in your sight.

15 And † if it seeme evil unto you to serve the Lord, chuse you this day whom yee will serve, whether the gods which your fathers served (that were beyond the flood) or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land yee dwell: * but I and mine house will serve the Lord.

g This teacheth us that if all the world would goe from God, yet every one of us particularly is bound to cleave unto him.

16 Then the people answered and said, God forbid, that we should forsake the Lord, to serve other gods.

17 For the Lord our God, he brought us and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and he did those great miracles in our sight, and preserved us in all the way that we went, and among all the people thorow whom we came.

18 And the Lord did cast out before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the Lord, ^h for he is our God.

19 And Ioshua said unto the people, Yee cannot serve the Lord: for hee is an holy God: he is a jealous God: he will not pardon your iniquity nor your sins.

20 If yee forsake the Lord and serve strange gods, * then he will returne and bring evill upon you, and consume you, after that he had done you good.

21 And the people said unto Ioshua, Nay, but we will serve the Lord.

22 And Ioshua said unto the people, Yee are witnesses ⁱ against your selves, that yee have chosen you the Lord, to serve him: and they said, We are witnesses.

23 Then put away now, said he, the strange ^k gods which are among you, and bow your hearts unto the Lord God of Israel.

24 And the people said unto Ioshua, The Lord our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Ioshua ^l made a covenant with the people the same day, and gave them an ordinance and law in Shechem.

26 And Ioshua wrote these words in the booke of the law of God, and tooke a great stone, and pitched it there under an ^oke that was in the Sanctuary of the Lord.

27 And Ioshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us: for it ^m hath heard all the words of the Lord which he spake with us: it shall be therefore a witness against you, lest yee deny your God.

28 Then Ioshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 And after these things Ioshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord died, being an hundred and ten yeares old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in * Timnath-serah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the Northside of mount Gaash.

THE BOOKE OF I V D G E S.

THE ARGUMENT.

Albeit there is nothing that more provoketh Gods wrath then mans ingratitude, yet is there nothing so displeasing and hainous that can turne back Gods love from his Church. For now when the Israelites were entred into the land of Canaan, and saw the truth of Gods promise performed, in stead of acknowledging his great benefits, and giving thanks for the same, they fell to most horrible oblivion of Gods graces, contrary to their solemne promise made unto Joshua, and so provoked his vengeance (as much as in them stood) to their utter destruction. Whereof as they had most evident signes by the mutability of their state: (for he suffered them to be most cruelly vexed and tormented by tyrants: he pulled them from liberty, and cast them into slavery, to the intent they might feeble their owne miseries, and so call unto him and be delivered) So to shew that his mercies endure for ever, he raised up from time to time such as should deliver them, and assure them of his favour and grace, if they would turne to him by true repentance. And these deliverers the Scripture called Judges, because they were executors of Gods judgements, not chosen of the people, nor by succession, but raised up as it seemed best to God for the governance of his people. They were fourteene in number, beside Joshua, and governed from Joshua unto Saul the first king of Israel. Joshua and these unto the time of Saul ruled 377. yeares. In this booke are many notable points declared, but two especially: First, the battell that the Church of God hath for the maintenance of true religion against idolatry and superstition: next, what great danger that Common-wealth is in, when as God giveth not a magistrate to retaine his people in the purenesse of Religion and this true service.

CHAP. I.

¹ After Joshua was dead, Judah was constituted captaine. ⁶ Adoni-bezek is taken. ¹⁴ The request of Achsah. ¹⁶ The children of Keni. ²⁸ The Canaanites are made tributaries, but not destroyed.

^a By the iudgement of Urim, read Exod. 28.30. Num. 27. 21. 1 Sam. 28.6. ^b Who shall bee our captaine?

After that Joshua was dead, the children of Israel ^a asked the Lord, saying, ^b Who shall goe up for us against the Canaanites, to fight first against them?

² And the Lord said, Judah shall goe up: behold, I have given the land into his hand.

³ And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, Come up with mee into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites: and I likewise will goe with thee into thy lot: so Simeon went with him.

^c For the Tribe of Simeon had their inheritance within the tribe of Judah. Josh. 19. 1.

⁴ Then Judah went up, and the Lord delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hands, and they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men.

^d Or, the lord of Bezek.

⁵ And they found ^e Adoni-bezek in Bezek: and they fought against him, and slew the Canaanites, and the Perizzites.

^f This was Gods iust iudgement, as the tyrant himselfe confesseth, that as hee had done, so did he receive. Levit. 24. 19. 20.

⁶ But Adoni-bezek fled, and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off the thumbs of his hands and of his feet.

⁷ And Adoni-bezek said, Seventy kings having their thumbs of their hands, and of their feet cut off, gathered bread under my table: as I have done, so God hath rewarded me, so they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died.

⁸ (Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and had set the ^e city on fire.)

^e Which was afterward built againe, and possessed by the Jebusites, 2. Sam. 5. 6.

¹⁰ And Judah went against the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron, which Hebron before time was called ^f Kiriath-arba: and they slew ^g Sheshai, and Ahiman and Talmai.

^f Josh. 15. 14.

^g These three were giants, and the children of Anak.

¹¹ And from thence he went to the inhabitants of Debir, and the name of Debir in old time was Kiriath-sepher.

¹² And Caleb said, Hee that smiteth Kiriath-sepher and taketh it, even to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

¹³ And Othniel the son of Kenaz Calebs younger brother took it, to whom he gave Achsah his daughter to wife.

¹⁴ And when she came to him, she moved him to aske of her father a field, ^h and she she lighted off her asse, and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And shee answered him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a South countrey, give me also springs of water: and Caleb gave her the springs above, and the springs beneath.

^h This was one of the names of Moses father in law, read Num. 10. 29.

16 ¶ And the children of ^h Keni, Moses father in law, went up out of the citie of the palme trees with the children of Judah, into the wilderness of Judah, that lieth in the South of Arad, and went and dwelt among the people.

17 But Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they slew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it, and called the name of the citie * Hormah.

* Num. 21. 3.

^j The cities, and others, were afterwards possessed of the Philistims. 1 Sam. 6. 17.

18 Also Judah tooke ⁱ Azzah with the coast thereof, and Askelon with the coasts thereof, and Ekron with the coasts thereof.

19 And the Lord was with Judah, and he possessed the mountaines: for he could not drive out the inhabitants of the valleys, because they had charrets of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as * Moses had said, and he expelled thence the three sons of Anak.

* Num. 14. 24. 10. 14. 13. and 15. 14.

^k For after that the tribe of Judah had burnt it, they built it againe.

21 But the children of Benjamin did not cast out the Jebusites, that ^k inhabited Jerusalem: therefore the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem unto this day.

22 ¶ They also that were of the house of Joseph, went up to Beth-el, and the Lord was with them,

23 And the house of Joseph caused to view Beth-el (and the name of the citie before time was * Luz)

* Gen. 28. 19.

24 And the spies saw a man come out of the citie, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the way into the citie, * and we will shew thee mercie.

* 10. 2. 14.

25 And when he had shewed them the way into the citie, they smote the citie with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and all his household depart.

26 Then the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a citie, and called the name thereof Luz, which is the name thereof unto this day.

* 10. 17. 11.

^l Wherefore God permitted the Canaanites to dwell still in the land. read chap. 3. 4.

28 Nevertheless when Israel was strong, they put the Canaanites to tribute, and expelled them not wholly.

* 10. 16. 10.

29 ¶ Likewise Ephraim expelled not the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer, but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezer among them.

30 ¶ Neither did Zebulun expell the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol, but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

^m That is, the tribe of Zebulun, as is also to be understood of the rest.

31 ¶ Neither did Asher cast out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob, 32 But the Asherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them ⁿ out.

ⁿ But made them pay tribute as the others did.

33 ¶ Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath, but dwelt among the Canaanites, inhabitants of the land: nevertheless the inhabitants of Beth-shean, and of Beth-anath became tributaries unto them.

34 And the Amorites ^o drove the children of Dan into the mountaine: so that they suffered them not to come down to the valley.

^o Or, afflicted them.

35 And the Amorites ^p dwelt still in mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim, and when the ^q hand of Josephs family prevailed, they became tributaries:

^p Or, would dwell.

^q Meaning, when he was stronger then they.

36 And the coast of the Amorites was from Maaleh-akrabbim, even from ^r Selah and upward.

^r Which was a citie in Arabia, or as some read, from the rock.

CHAP. II.

ⁱ The Angel rebuketh the people, because they had made peace with the Canaanites. 11 The Israelites fell to idolatry after Joshuas death. 14 They are delivered into the enemies hands. 16 God delivereth them by Judges. 22 Why God suffered idolaters to remaine among them.

And an ^a Angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I had sworn unto your fathers, and said, I will never breake my covenant with you.

^a That is, messenger, or prophet, as some thinke, Phinehas.

2 * Ye shall also make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land, * but shall breake down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voyce. Why have ye done this?

* Deut. 7. 2.

* Deut. 12. 3.

3 Wherefore, I said also, I will not cast them out before you, but they shall be ^q as thorns unto your sides, and their gods shall be your ^r destruction.

^r Or, snare.

4 And when the Angel of the Lord spake these words unto all the children of Israel, the people lift up their voyce, and wept.

5 Therefore they called the name of that place, ^s Bochim, and offered sacrifices there unto the Lord.

^s Or, weeping.

6 ¶ Now when Joshua had ^t sent the people away, the children of Israel went every man into his inheritance, to possess the land.

^t After that he had divided to every man his portion by lot, 10. 24. 28.

7 And the people had served the Lord all the dayes of Joshua, and all the dayes of the elders that outlived Joshua, which had seen all the great ^u works of the Lord that he did for Israel.

^u Meaning, the wonders and miracles.

8 But Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord dyed, when he was an hundred and ten yeares old:

9 And they buried him in the coasts of his inheritance, in ^a Timnath-heres in mount Ephraim, on the North side of mount Gaash.

10 And so all that generation was gathered unto their fathers, and another generation arose after them, which neither knew the Lord, nor yet the works, which he had done for Israel.

^e That is, all manner of idoles.

11 ¶ Then the children of Israel did wickedly in the sight of the Lord, and served ^e Baalim, 21 Therefore will I no more cast out before them, any of the ⁱ nations, which Joshua left when he died:

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon, and Amalek, and went and smote Israel, and they possessed the citie of palme trees.

14 So the children of Israel served Eglon king of Moab eighteen yeares.

15 But when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord, the Lord stirred them up a saviour, Ehud the son of Gera, the son of [†]Jemini, a man [†]lame of his right hand: and the children of Israel sent a present by him unto Eglon king of Moab.

16 And Ehud [†]made him a dagger with two edges of a cubite length, and did gird it under his raiment upon his right thigh,

17 And he presented the gift unto Eglon King of Moab (and Eglon was a very fat man)

18 And when he had now presented the present, he sent away the people that bare the present,

19 But he turned againe from the ^bquarries, that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king. Who said, Keep ⁱ silence: and all that stood about him, went out from him.

20 Then Ehud came unto him, (and he sate alone in a summer parler, which he had) and Ehud said, I have a message unto thee from God. Then he arose out of his throne,

21 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and tooke the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly, 22 So that the haft went in after the blade, and the fat closed about the blade, so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly, but the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud gate him out into the [†]porch, and shut the doores of the parler upon him, and locked them.

24 And when he was gone out, his servants came: who seeing that the doores of the parler were locked, they sayd, Surely [†]he doth his easment in his summer chamber.

25 And they taried till they were ashamed: and seeing he opened not the doores of the parler, they tooke the key, and opened them, and behold, their lord was fallen dead on the earth.

26 So Ehud escaped (while they taried) and was passed the quarries, and escaped unto Seirath.

27 And when he came home, [†]he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim, & the children of Israel went down with him from the mountaine, and he went before them.

28 Then said he unto them. Follow me: for the Lord hath delivered your enemies, even Moab into your hand. So they went down after him, and tooke the passages of Jordan toward Moab, and suffred not a man to passe over.

29 And they slew of the Moabites the same time about ten thousand men, all [†]fed men, and al [†]were warriours, and there escaped not a man.

30 So Moab was [†]subdued that day, under the hand of Israel: and the ^kland had rest fourescore yeares.

5 And this Deborah dwelt under a palme tree, between Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim, and the children of Israel came up to her for judgement.

6 Then she sent and called Barak the son of Abinoam out of Kedesh of Naphtali, and said unto him, hath not the Lord God of Israel ^dcommanded, saying, Go, & draw toward mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulun?

7 And I will draw unto thee to the [†]river Kishon, Sisera the captaine of Jabin's armie with his charrets, and his multitude, and will deliver him into thine hand.

CHAP. VI.

Israel is oppressed of the Midianites for their wickedness.
24 Gideon is sent to be their deliverer. 73 He asketh a signe.

Afterward the children of Israel committed wickedness in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord gave them into the hands of Midian seven yeares.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel, and because of the Midianites the children of Israel made them dennes in the mountains, and caves, and strong holds.

3 When Israel had sown, then came up the Midianites, the Amalekites, and they of the East, and came upon them,

4 And camped by them, and destroyed the fruit of the earth, even till thou come unto Azzah, and left no food for Israel, neither sheepe, nor ox, nor asse.

5 For they went up, and their cattell, and came with their tents as grasshoppers in multitude: so that they and their camels were without number: and they came into the land to destroy it.

6 So was Israel exceedingly impoverished by the Midianites: therefore the children of Israel cryed unto the Lord.

7 And when the children of Israel cryed unto the Lord because of the Midianites,

8 The Lord sent unto the children of Israel a Prophet, who said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have brought you up from Egypt, and have brought you out of the house of bondage,

9 And I have delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppressed you, and have cast them out before you, and given you their land.

10 And I said unto you, I am the Lord

Lord, if the Lord be with us, why then is all this come upon us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, and said, Did not the Lord bring us out of Egypt? but now the Lord hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hand of the Mi-dianites.

and said, Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel out of the hands of the Mi-dianites: have not I sent thee?

15 And he answered him, Ah, my Lord, whereby shall I save Israel? behold, my father is poore in Manassah, and I am

19 ¶ Then Gideon went in, and made ready a kid, and unleavened bread of an Ephah of flour, and put the flesh in a basket, and put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oake, and presented it.

20 And the Angel of God said unto him, Take the flesh and the unleavened bread, and lay them upon this stone, and poure out the broth: and he did so.

i By the power of God onely, as in the sacrifice of Helias Kings. 18. 38.

21 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord put forth the end of the staffe that he helde in his hand, and touched the flesh and the unleavened bread: and there arose up fire out of the stone, and consumed the flesh and the unleavened bread: so the Angel of the Lord departed out of his sight.

23 And the Lord said unto him, Peace be unto thee: feare not, thou shalt not die.

† Or, the Lord of peace.

24 Then Gideon made an altar there unto the Lord, and called it, † Jehovah-shalom: unto this day it is in Ophrath, of the father of the Ezrites.

k That is as the Chalde text writeth, fed seven years.

25 ¶ And the same night the Lord said unto him, Take thy fathers young bullock, and another bullock of seven yeares old, and destroy the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it:

26 And build an Altar unto the Lord thy God upon the top of this rock, in a plaine place: and take the second bullock, and offer a burnt-offering with the wood of the grove, which thou shalt cut down.

l Which grewed about Baals altar.

27 Then Gideon tooke ten men of his servants, and did as the Lord bade him: but because he feared to doe it by day for his fathers household, and the men of the citie, he did it by night.

m Meaning, the fat Bull which was kept to be offered unto Baal,

28 ¶ And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was broken, & the grove cut down that was by it, and the second bullock offered upon the altar that was made.

29 Therefore they said one to another, Who hath done this thing? and when they enquired and asked, they said, Gideon the son of Joash hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the city said unto Joash, Bring out thy son, that he may die: for he hath destroyed the altar of Baal, and hath also cut down the grove that was by it.

31 And Joash said unto all that stood by him, will ye plead Baals cause? or will ye save him? he that will contend for him, let him die ere the morning. If he be God, let him plead for himself against him that hath cast down his altar.

n Thus we ought to iustifie them, that are zealous of Gods cause, though all the multitude be against us.

32 And in that day was Gideon called Jerubbaal; that is, Let Baal plead for himselfe, because he hath broken down his altar.

33 Then all the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and they of the East, were gathered together, and went and pitched in the valley of Izreel.

35 And he sent messengers thorowout all Manasseh; which also was joyned with him, and he sent messengers unto Asher, and to Zebulun, and to Naphtali, and they came up to meet them.

p This request proceeded not of infidelitie, but that he might be confirmed in his vocation.

36 Then Gideon said unto God, P If thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said, 37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the threshing place: if the dew come on the fleece onely, and it be drie upon all the earth, then shall I be sure, that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said.

Or thanks the Ch returned of the people, which were at mount Gilead, two and twenty thousand: so ten thousand remained.

4 And the Lord said unto Gideon, The people are yet too many: bring them down unto the water, and I will^b trie them for thee there: and of whom I say unto thee, This man shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee: and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This man shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water. And the Lord said unto Gideon, as many as lap the water wth their tongues, as a dogge lappeth, them put by themselves, and every one that shall bow down his knees to^c drinke, put apart.

6 And the number of them that lapped by putting their hands to their mouths, were three hundred men: but all the remnant of the people kneeled down upon their knees to drink water.

7 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Gideon, By these three hundred men that lapped, will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other^d people go every man unto his place.

8 ¶ So the people took victuals^e with them, and their trumpets: and he sent at the rest of Israel, every man unto his tent, and retained the three hundred men: and the host of Midian was beneath him in a valley.

9 ¶ And the same night the Lord said unto him, Arise, get thee down unto the host: for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But if thou feare to go down, then go thou, and Phurah thy servant down to the host,

11 And thou shalt hearken what they say, and so shall thine hands be strong to go down unto the host. Then went he down and Phurah his servant, unto the outside of the souldiers that were in the host.

12 ¶ And the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and all^f they of the East, lay in the valley like grasshoppers in multitude, and their camels were without number, as the sand which is by the sea side for multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, a man told a dreame unto his neighbour, and said, Behold, I dreamed a dreame, and lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled from above into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it, that it fel, and overturned it, that the tent fell down.

14 And his fellow answered, and said, This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon the sonne of Joash, a man of Israel: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all the host.

15 ¶ When Gideon heard the dreame told, and the interpretation of the same, he worshipped, and returned unto the host of Israel, and said, Up: for the Lord hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian.

16 And he divided the three hundred men into three bands, and gave every man a trumpet in his hand with empty pitchers, and lamps^g within the pitchers.

17 And he said unto them, look on me, and do likewise, when I come to the side of the host: even as I do, so do you.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, and all that are with me, blow ye with trumpets also on every side of the host, and say, For the Lord, and for Gideon.

19 ¶ So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outside of the host, in the beginning of the middle watch, and they raised up the watchmen, and they blew with their trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew with trumpets and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow withall: and they cried, The sword of the Lord, and of Gideon.

21 And they stood, every man in his place round about the host: and al the host ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew with trumpets, and the Lord set every mans sword upon his^h neighbour, & upon all the host: so the host fled to Beth-halhattah in Zererah, and to the border of Abel-meholah, unto Tabbath.

23 Then the men of Israel being gathered together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, pursued after the Midianites.

24 And Gideon sent messengers unto all mount Ephraim, saying, Come down against the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah, and Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered together and took the waters unto Beth-barah, and Jordan.

25 And they took twoⁱ princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb, and slew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and slew Zeeb at the winepresse of Zeeb, and pursued the Midianites, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon beyond Jordan.

24 Again Gideon said unto them, ^r I would desire a request of you, that you would give me every man the eare-rings of his prey (for they had golden eare-rings, because they were Ishmaelites) n His intent was to shew himself thankful for this victory by relaxing of religion, which because it was not according as God had commanded, seemed to their destruction.

25 And they answered, We will give them. And they spread a garment, and did cast therein every man the eare-rings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden eare-rings that he required, was a thousand and seven hundred ^s shekels of gold, beside collars ^t and jewels, and purple raiment that was on the kings of Midian, and beside the chaines that were about their camels necks.

28 Thus was Midian brought low before the children of Israel, so that they lift up their heads no more: and the countrey was in quietnesse forty yeares in the dayes of Gideon.

29 ¶ Then Jerubbaal the son of Joash went, and dwelt in his own house.

30 And Gideon had seventy sonnes ^v begotten of his body: for he had many wives, † Ebr. which came out of his thigh.

31 And his concubine that was in Shechem bare him a son also, whose name he called Abimelech.

32 So Gideon the son of Joash died in a good age, and was buried in the sepulchre of of Joash his father in Ophrah, of the father of the Ezrites.

33 But when Gideon was dead, the children of Israel turned away and went a whoring after Baalim, and made Baal-berith their god.

34 And the children of Israel remembered not the Lord their God, which had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side.

35 Neither shewed they mercy on the house of Jerubbaal, or Gideon, according to all the goodnesse which he had shewed unto Israel.

CHAP. IX.

1 Abimelech usurpeth the kingdom, and putteth his brethren to death. 7 Iotham proposeth a parable. 23 Hatred between Abimelech and the Shechemites. 26 Gaal conspireth against him, and is overcome. 53 Abimelech is wounded to death by a woman.

Then Abimelech the sonne of Jerubbaal went to Shechem unto his mothers brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family, and house of his mothers father, saying,

2 Say, I pray you, in the audience of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you, that all the sons of Jerubbaal, which are seventy persons, reigne over you, either that one reigne over you? remember also, that I am your bone, and your flesh.

3 Then his mothers brethren spake of him in the audience of all the men of Shechem, all these words: and their hearts were moved to follow Abimelech: for said they, He is our brother.

4 And they gave him seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-berith, wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light fellowes, which followed him.

5 And he went unto his fathers house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren the sons of Jerubbaal, about seventy persons upon one stone: yet Jotham the yongest sonne of Jerubbaal was left: for he hid himself.

6 ¶ And all the men of Shechem gathered together, with all the house of Millo, and came and made Abimelech king in the plain, where the stone was erected in Shechem.

7 And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood on the top of mount Gerizim, and lift up his voice, & cried, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, you men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

8 The trees went forth to anoint a king over them, and said unto the olive tree, Reigne thou over us.

9 But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatnesse, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to advance me above the trees?

10 Then the trees said to the fig tree,

Come thou, and be king over us.

11 But the fig tree answered them, Should I forsake my sweetnesse, and my good fruit, and go to advance me above the trees?

12 Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and be king over us.

13 But the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine, wherby I cheere God and man, and go to advance me above the trees?

14 Then said all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou, and reigne over us.

15 And the bramble said to the trees, If ye will indeed anoint me king over you, come, & put your trust under my shadow: & if not, the fire shall come out of the bramble, and consume the cedars of Lebanon.

16 Now therefore, if ye do truly and uncorruptly to make Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and with his house, and have done unto him according to the deserving of his hands, 17 (For my father fought for you, and adventured his life, and delivered you out of the hands of Midian.

18 And ye are risen up against my fathers house this day, and have slain his children, about seventy persons upon one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his maide servant, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother.)

19 If ye then have dealt truly and purely with Jerubbaal, & with his house this day, then rejoyce ye with Abimelech, and let him rejoyce with you.

20 But if not, let a fire come out from Abimelech, and consume the men of Shechem, and the house of Millo: also let a fire come forth from the men of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and consume Abimelech.

21 And Jotham ran away, and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there for feare of Abimelech his brother.

22 So Abimelech reigned three yeares over Israel.

23 But God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech, and the men of Shechem: and the men of Shechem brake their promise to Abimelech, 24 That the cruelty toward the seventy sonnes of Jerubbaal, and their blood, might come and be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which had slain them, and upon the men of Shechem, which had aided him to kill his brethren.

25 So the men of Shechem set men in wait for him in the tops of the mountains: who robbed all that passed that way by them: and it was told Abimelech.

26 Then Gaal the sonne of Ebed came with his brethren, and they went to Shechem:

chem : and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

ⁱ Before they were afraid of Abimelech's power, and durst not go out of the city.

27 Therefore theyⁱ went out into the field, and gathered in their grapes and trod them, and made merry, and went into the house of their gods, and did eat and drink, and cursed Abimelech.

28 Then Gaal the son of Ebed said, Who is Abimelech? and who is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal? and Zebul is his officer? Serve rather the men of Hamor the father of Shechem: for why should we serve him?

^k Braggingly, as though he had been present, or to his captain Zebul.

29 Now would God this people were under mine hand: then would I put away Abimelech. And he said to ^k Abimelech, Increase thine army, and come out.

30 ¶ And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his wrath was kindled.

[†] Ebr. craftily.

31 Therefore he sent messengers unto Abimelech [†] privily, saying, Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed, and his brethren be come to Shechem, and behold, they fortifie the citie against thee.

32 Now therefore arise by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And rise early in the morning as soon as the Sun is up, and assault the city: and when he and the people that is with him, shall come out against thee, do to him [†] what thou canst.

[†] Ebr. what thine hand can find.

34 ¶ So Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him by night: and they lay in wait against Shechem in foure bands.

35 Then Gaal the son of Ebed went out, & stood in the entring of the gate of the city: and Abimelech rose up, and the folk that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the tops of the mountaines: & Zebul said unto him, The ^l shadow of the mountaines seem men unto thee.

37 And Gaal spake again, and said, See, there come folk down [†] by the middle of the land, and another band cometh by the way of the plain of [‡] Meonenim.

[†] Ebr. by the navill.

[‡] Or, charmers.

38 Then said Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth that said, Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? Is not this the people that thou hast despised? Go out now, I pray thee, and fight with them.

^m As their captain

39 And Gaal ^m went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 But Abimelech pursued him, and he fled before him, & many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entring of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah: and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren that they should not dwell in Shechem.

42 ¶ And on the morrow, the people went out into the field: which was told Abimelech.

43 And he took the ⁿ people, and divided them into three bands, and laid wait in the fields, and looked, and behold, the people were come out of the city, and he rose up against them, and smote them. ⁿ Which were of his company.

44 And Abimelech, and the bands that were with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entring of the gate of the city: and the two other bands ran upon all the people that were in the field, and slew them.

45 And when Abimelech had fought against the city all that day, he took the city, and slew the people that was therein, and destroyed the city, and sowed ^o salt in it.

^o That it should be unfruitfull and never serve to any use.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the towre of Shechem heard it, they entred into an hold of the house of the God ^p Berith.

^p That is, of Berith, as chap. 8. 33.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the towre of Shechem were gathered together, 48 And Abimelech gate him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him: and Abimelech took axes with him, and cut down boughs of trees, and took them, and bare them on his shoulder, and said unto the folk that were with him, What ye have seen me do, make hast, and do like me.

49 Then all the people also cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and set the hold on fire with them: so all the men of the towre of Schechem died also, about a thousand men and women.

^q Meaning that all were destroyed, as well they in the towre as the other.

50 ¶ Then went Abimelech to Tebez, and besieged Tebez, and took it.

51 But there was a strong towre within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all the chief of the city, and shut it to them, and went up to the top of the towre.

52 And Abimelech came unto the towre and fought against it, and went hard unto the doore of the towre to set it on fire.

53 But a certain woman ^{} cast a piece of a millstone upon Abimelechs head, and brake his brain-pan. ^{} 2 Sam. 11. 17.

54 Then Abimelech called hastily his page that bare his harneis, and said unto him, Draw thy sword & slay me, that men say not of me, A woman slew him. And his page ^r thrust him thorow, and he died.

^r Thus God by such miserable death taketh vengeance on oppressors even in this life.

55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his own place.

56 Thus God rendred the wickednesse of Abimelech, which he did unto his father, in slaying his seventy brethren.

57 Also all the wickednesse of the men of 9 Moreover the children of Ammon went over Jordan to fight against Judah, and against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim: so that Israel was sore tormented.

10 Then the children of Israel * cried unto the Lord, saying, We have sinned against thee, even because we have forsaken our own God, and have served Baalim.

11 And the Lord^d said unto the children of Israel, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims?

16 Then they put away the strange gods from among them, and † served the Lord: and † his soul was grieved for the misery of Israel.

17 Then the children of Ammon gathered themselves together, and pitched in Gilead: and the children of Israel assembled themselves, and pitched in Mizpeh.

8 Then the Elders of Gilead said unto Iphtah, Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou maiest go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Iphtah said unto the Elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, if the Lord give them before me, shall I be your head?

12 ¶ Then Iphtah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me, to fight in my land?

13 And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Iphtah, * Because Israel took my land, when they came up from Egypt, from Arnon unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands † quietly.

14 Yet Iphtah sent messengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon, 15 And said unto him, Thus saith Iphtah, * Israel took not the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon.

16 But when Israel came up from Egypt, and walked thorow the wilderness unto the red sea, then they came to Kadesh.

17 * And Israel sent messengers unto the king of Edom, saying, Let me, I pray thee, go thorow thy land; but the king of Edom would not consent: and also they sent unto the king of Moab, but he would not: therefore Israel abode in Kadesh.

18 Then they went through the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the East side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, * and came not withing the coasts of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 Also Israel * sent messengers unto Sihon, king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon, and Israel said unto him, Let us passe, we pray thee, by thy land unto our ‡ place.

20 But Sihon * consented not to Israel, that he should go thorow his coast: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought with Israel.

21 And the Lord God of Israel gave Sihon, and all his folke into the hands of Israel, and they smote them: so Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country:

22 And they possessed * all the coast of the Amorites, from Arnon unto Jabbok, and from the wilderness even unto Jordan.

23 Now therefore the Lord God of Israel hath cast out the Amorites before his people Israel, and shouldest thou possess it?

24 Wouldest not thou possess that which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess? So whomsoever the Lord our God driveth out before us, them will we possess.

25 * And art thou now far better then Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab? did he not strive with Israel, and fight against them,

26 When Israel dwelt in Heshbon and in her towns, and in Aroer and in her towns, and in all the cities that are by the coasts of Arnon, three hundred years? why did ye not then recover them in that space?

27 Wherefore, I have not offended thee: but thou dost me wrong to warre against me. The Lord the Judge, * be Judge this day between the children of Israel, and the children of Ammon.

28 Howbeit the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Iphtah, which he had sent him.

29 ¶ Then the ¹ spirit of the Lord came upon Iphtah, and he passed over to Gilead, and to Manasseh, and came to Mizpeh in Gilead, and from Mizpeh in Gilead he went unto the children of Ammon.

30 And Iphtah ^m vowed a vow unto the Lord, and said, If thou shalt deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands, 31 Then that thing that cometh out of the doores of mine house to meet me, when I come home in peace from the children of Ammon, shall be the Lords, and I will offer it for a burnt offering.

32 And so Iphtah went unto the children of Ammon to fight against them, and the Lord delivered them into his hands.

33 And he smote them from Aroer even till thou come to Minnith, twenty cities, and so forth to ‡ Abel of the vineyards, with an exceeding great slaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were humbled before the children of Israel.

34 ¶ Now when Iphtah came to Mizpeh unto his house, behold, his daughter came out to meet him with ⁿ timbrels and dances, which was his onely child: he had none other sonne, nor daughter.

35 And when he saw her, he ^o rent his clothes, and said, Alas, my daughter, thou hast brought me low, and art of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and can not go back.

36 And she said unto him, My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth unto the Lord, do with me as thou hast promised, seeing that the Lord hath avenged thee of thine enemies, the children of Ammon.

37 Also she said unto her father, Do thus much for me: suffer me two moneths, that I may go to the mountaines, and ^p bewaile my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he said, Go: and he sent her away two moneths: so she went with her companions, and lamented her virginity upon the mountaives.

39 And after the end of two moneths, she turned again unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed, and she had known no man. And it was a custome in Israel:

6 Iphtah killeth two and forty thousand Ephraimites. 8 After Iphtah succeedeth Ibzan; 11 Elon; 13 and Abdon.

And the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and went Northward, and said unto Iphtah, Wherefore wentest thou to fight against the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to goe with thee? we will therefore burne thine house upon thee with fire.

2 And Iphtah said unto them, I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon, and when I called you, ye delivered me not out of their hands.

3 So when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in mine hands, and went upon the children of Ammon: for the Lord delivered them into mine hands. Wherefore then are ye come upon me now to fight against me?

4 Then Iphtah gathered all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are runnagates of Ephraim among the Ephraimites, and among the Manassites.

5 Also the Gileadites, tooke the passages of Iorden before the Ephraimites, and when the Ephraimites that were escaped, said, Let me passe, then the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay,

6 Then said they unto him, Say now Shibboleth: and he said Sibboleth: for he could not so pronounce: then they tooke him, and slew him at the passages of Iorden: and there fell at that time of the Ephraimites two and fourtie thousand.

7 And Iphtah judged Israel six years: then died Iphtah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 After him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Israel,

9 Who had thirty sonnes and thirty daughters, which he sent out, and tooke in thirtie daughters from abroad for his sons, and he judged Israel seven years.

10 Then Ibzan died, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11 And after him judged Israel Elon, a Zebulonite, and he judged Israel ten years.

12 Then Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon in the countrey of Zebulun.

13 And after him Abdon the sonne of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel.

14 And he had forty sonnes and thirty nephewes that rode on seventy asscolts: and he judged Israel eight years.

15 Then died Abdon the sonne of Hillel the Pirathonite, and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

CHAPTER XIII.

1 Israel for their wickednesse is oppressed of the Philistims. 3 The Angel appeareth to Manoahs wife. 16 The Angel commandeth him to sacrifice unto the Lord. 24 The birth of Samson.

But the children of Israel continued to commit wickednes in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord delivered them into the hands of the Philistims fourty years.

2 Then there was a man in Zorah of the family of the Danites, named Manoah, whose wife was barren, and bare not.

3 And the Angel of the Lord appeared unto the woman, and said unto her, Behold now, thou art barren, and bearest not: but thou shalt conceive, and beare a sonne.

4 And now therefore beware that thou drinke no wine, nor strong drink, neither eate any uncleane thing.

5 For loe, thou shalt conceive and beare a sonne, and no rasor shall come on his head: for the childe shall be a Nazarite unto God from his birth: and he shall begin to save Israel out of the hands of the Philistims.

6 Then the wife came, and told her husband, saying, A man of God came unto me, and the faimion of him was like the faimion of the Angel of God exceeding fearefull, but I asked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name.

7 But he said unto me, Behold, thou shalt conceive, and beare a sonne, and now thou shalt drink no wine, nor strong drink, neither eate any uncleane thing: for the child shall be a Nazarite to God from his birth, to the day of his death.

8 Then Manoah prayed to the Lord, and said, I pray thee, my Lord, let the man of God, whom thou sentest, come againe now unto us, and teach us what we shall doe unto the child when he is borne.

9 And God heard the voice of Manoah, and the Angel of God came againe unto the wife, as she sate in the field, but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 And the wife made haste and ran, and shewed her husband, and said unto him, Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me to day.

11 And Manoah arose and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said unto him, Art thou the man that spakest unto the woman? and he said, Yea.

12 Then Manoah said, Now let thy saying come to passe: but how shall we order the child, and doe unto him?

13 And the Angel of the Lord said unto Manoah, The woman must beware of all that I said unto her.

CHAP. XIV.

2 Samson desireth to have a wife of the Philistims. 6 He killeth a Lion. 12 He propounds a riddle. 19 He killeth thirty. 20 His wife forsaketh him and taketh another.

Now Samson went down to Timnath, and saw a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistims,

+ Her, take her for me to wife.

2 And he came up and told his father and his mother, and said, I have seen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistims : now therefore \ddagger give me her to wife.

a Though his parents did justly reprove him, yet it appeareth that this was \S secret work of the Lord, ver. 4.

3 Then his father and his mother said unto him, Is there \dagger never a wife among the daughters of thy brethren, and among all my people, that thou must go to take a wife of the uncircumcised Philistims? And Samson said unto his father, Give me her, for shee pleaseth me well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it came of the Lord, that he should seek an occasion against the Philistims: for at that time the Philistims reigned over Israel.

b To fight against them for the deliverance of Israel.

5 ¶ Then went Samson and his father and his mother down to Timnath, and came to the Vineyards at Timnath: and behold, a yong Lion roared upon him.

6 And the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he tare him, as one should have rent a kid, and had nothing in his hand, neither told he his father nor his mother what he had done.

c Whereby he had strength and boldness.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman which was beautiful in the eyes of Samson.

8 ¶ And within a few dayes, when he returned \ddagger to receive her, he went aside to see the carkeis of the Lion : and behold, there was a swarm of bees, and honie in the bodie of the Lion.

* Or, to take her his wife.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went eating, and came to his father and to his mother, and gave unto them, and they did eat : but he told not them, that he had taken the honie out of the body of the Lion.

10 So his father went down unto the woman, and Samson made there a \dagger feast: for so used the yong men to doe.

d Meaning, when he was married.

11 And when \dagger they saw him, they brought thirtie companions to be with him.

e That is, her parents or friends.

12 Then Samson said unto them, I will now put forth a riddle unto you: and if you can declare it me within seven dayes of the feast, and find it out, I will give you thirtie sheets, and thirtie \dagger change of garments.

f To wear at feasts, or toleme dayes.

13 But if you cannot declare it me, then shal ye give me thirtie sheets, and thirtie change of garments. And they answered him, Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he said unto them, Out of the eater came meat, and out of the strong came sweetnes: and they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And when the seventh day was come, they said unto Samsons wife, Entise thine husband, that he may declare us the riddle, lest we burn thee, and thy fathers house with fire. Have ye called us, \ddagger to possesse us? Is it not so?

g Or drew near: for it was the fourth day.

16 And Samsons wife wept before him, and said, Surely thou hatest me, and lovest me not : for thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and hast not told it me. And he said unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father, nor my mother, and shall I tell it thee?

2 And her father said, I thought that thou hadst hated her : therefore gave I her to thy companion. Is not her yonger sister fairer then she ? take her, I pray thee, in stead of the other.

b For through his father in lawes occasion, he was moved againe to take vengeance of the Philistims.

3 Then Samson said unto them, Now am I more ^b blamelesse then the Philistims : therefore will I doe them displeasure.

4 ¶ And Samson went out, and tooke three hundred foxes, and took firebrands, and turned them tail to tail, and put a firebrand in the mids betweene two tails.

10 And the men of Judah said, Why are yee come up unto us ? And they answered, To ^h bind Samson are we come up, and to doe to him, as he hath done to us.

f And so being our prisoner, to punish him.

11 Then three thousand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Eram, and said to Samson, Knowest thou not that the Philistims are rulers over us ? Wherefore then hast thou done thus unto us ? And he answered them, As they did unto mee, so have I done unto them.

g Such was their grosse ignorance, that they judged Gods great benefit to bee a plague unto them.

12 Againe they said unto him, We are come to bind thee, and to deliver thee into the hand of the Philistims. And Samson said unto them, Swear unto me, that yee will not fall upon me your selves.

13 And they answered him, saying, No, but we will bind thee and ^h deliver thee unto their hand, but we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him from the rock.

h Thus they had rather betray their brother, then use the means that God had given for their deliverance.

14 When he came to Lehi, the Philistims shouted against him, and the spirit of the Lord came upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms, became as flax that was burnt with fire : for the bands loosed from his hands.

15 And he found a ⁱ new jawbone of an asse, and put forth his hand, and caught it, and slew a thousand men therewith.

i That is, of an ass lately slain.

16 Then Samson said, With the jaw of an asse are heaps upon heaps : with the jaw of an asse have I slaine a thousand men.

3 And Samson slept till midnight, and arose at midnight, and tooke the doores of the gates of the city, and the two posts, and lift them away with the barres, and put them upon his shoulders, and carried them up to the top of the mountaine that is before Hebron.

4 ¶ And after this, he loved a woman by the \ddagger river of Sorek, whose name was Delilah:

5 Unto whom came the princes of the Philistims, and said unto her, Entise him, and see wherein his great strength lieth, and by what meanes we may overcome him, that we may bind him, and punish him, and every one of us shall give thee eleven hundred ^c shekels of silver.

6 ¶ And Delilah said to Samson, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great strength lieth, and wherewith thou mightest be bound, to doe thee hurt.

7 Samson then answered unto her, If they bind mee with seven \ddagger greene cords, that were never dried, then shall I be weak, and be as an other man.

8 And the princes of the Philistims brought her seven greene cords that were not drie, and she bound him therewith.

9 (And she had ^d men lying in wait with her in the chamber) Then she said unto him, The Philistims be upon thee, Samson. And he brake the cords as a threed of tow is broken, when ^e it feeleth fire: so his strength was not knowen.

10 ¶ After Delilah said unto Samson, See, thou hast mocked me, and told mee lies: I pray thee now ^f tell mee, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

11 Then he answered her, If they bind me with new ropes that never were occupied, then shall I be weak, and be as an other man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, & bound him therewith, and said unto him, The Philistims be upon thee, Samson: (and men lay in wait in the chamber) and he brake them from his armes, as a threed.

13 ¶ Afterward Delilah said to Samson, Hitherto thou hast beguiled mee, and told mee lies: tell mee how thou mightest be bound. ^g And he said unto her, If thou plattedst seven locks of mine head with the threds of the woofe.

14 And she fastened it with a pin, and said unto him, the Philistims be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleepe, and went away with the \ddagger pin of the web, and the woofe.

15 Again she said unto him, How canst thou say, ^h I love thee, when thine heart is not with mee? thou hast mocked me these three times, and hast not told mee wherein thy great strength lieth.

16 And because she was importunate upon him with her words continually, and vexed him, his soule was pained unto the death.

17 Therefore he told her all his heart, and said unto her, There never came rasor upon mine head: for I am a Nazarite unto God from my mothers womb: therefore if I be shaven, my strength will goe from mee, and I shall be weak, and be like all other men.

18 And when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent, and called for the princes of the Philistims, saying, Come up once again: for he hath shewed mee all his heart. Then the princes of the Philistims came up unto her, and brought the mony in their hands.

19 And she made him sleep upon her knees, and she called a man, and made him to shave off the seven locks of his head, and she began to vex him, and his strength was ^k gone from him.

20 Then she said, The Philistims be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep, and thought, I will go out now as at other times, and shake my self, but he knew not that the Lord was departed from him.

21 Therefore the Philistims took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him downe to Azzah, and bound him with fetters: & he did grind in the prison house.

22 And the haire of his head began to ^l grow againe after that it was shaven.

23 Then the Princes of the Philistims gathered them together for to offer a great sacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoyce: for they said, Our god hath delivered Samson our enemy into our hands.

24 And when the people saw him, they praised their god: for they said, our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy and destroyer of our country, which hath slaine many of us.

25 And when their hearts were merry, they said, Call Samson, that he may make us pastime. So they called Samson out of the prison house, & he ^m was a laughing stock unto them, and they set him between the pillars.

26 Then Samson said unto the servant that led him by the hand, Lead mee that I may touch the pillars that the house standeth upon, and that I may leane to them.

27 (Now the house was full of men and women, & there ⁿ were all the princes of the Philistims: also upon the rooffe were about three thousand men and women, that beheld while Samson \ddagger played)

28 Then Samson called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord God, I pray thee, think upon me: O God, I beseech thee, strengthen me at this time only, that I may be \ddagger at once ^o avenged of the Philistims for my two eyes.

^a He speaketh not this of despair, but humbling himselfe for neglecting his office, and the offence thereby given.

30 Then said Samson, ^o Let me lose my life with the Philistims: and he bowed him with all his might, and the house fell upon the princes, and upon all the people that were therein: so the dead which he slew at his death were more then they which he had slain in his life.

31 Then his brethren, and all the house of his father came down and took him, and brought him up and buried him betwene Zorah and Eshtaol, in the sepulchre of Manoah his father: now hee had judged Israel twentie yeares.

CHAP. XVII.

³ Michahs mother according to her vow made her sonne two idols, ⁵ Hee made his sonne a Priest for his idols, ¹⁰ and after he hired a Levite.

^a Some think it his history was in the time of Othniel, or as Iosephus writeth, immediately after Iothus.

THERE^a was a man of mount Ephraim whose name was Michah,

2 And hee said unto his mother, The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from thee, for the which thou cursedst, and spakest it, even in mine hearing, behold, the silver is with me, I tooke it. Then his mother said, Blessed bee my sonne of the Lord.

3 And when he had restored the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, I had dedicated the silver to the Lord of mine hand for my sonne, to make ^b a graven and molten image. Now therefore I will give it thee againe.

^b Contrary to the commandment of God, and true religion, practised under Iothus they forsooke the Lord and fell to idolatry.

4 And when he had restored the money unto his mother, his mother took two hundred shekels of silver, and gave them to the founder, which made thereof a graven and molten image, and it was in the house of Michah.

5 And this man Michah had an house of gods, and made an ^c Ephod, and ^d Teraphim, and [†] consecrated one of his sons, who was his Priest.

6 ^{*} In those dayes there was no ^e King in Israel, but every man did that which was good in his owne eyes.

7 ¶ There was also a young man out of Beth-lehem Judah, ^f of the family of Judah: who was a Levite, & sojourned there.

8 And the man departed out of the citie, even out of Beth-lehem Judah, to dwell where he could find a place: and as he journeyed, he came to mount Ephraim to the house of Michah.

9 And Michah said unto him, Whence comest thou? And the Levite answered him, ^g I come from Beth-lehem Judah, and goe to dwell where I may find a place.

10 Then Michah said unto him, Dwell with me, and bee unto mee a father and a Priest, and I will give thee ten shekels of silver by yeare, and a sute of apparell, and thy meate and drink. So the Levite went in.

11 And the Levite was ^h content to dwell with the man, and the yong man was unto him as one of his owne sonnes.

12 And Michah consecrated the Levite, and the young man was his Priest, and was in the house of Michah.

13 Then said Michah, Now I know that the Lord will be ⁱ good unto me, seeing I have a Levite to my Priest.

CHAP. XVIII.

² The children of Dan send men to search the land. ¹¹ They come the six hundred and take the gods, and the Priest of Michah away. ²⁷ They destroy Laish. ²⁸ They build it againe. ³⁰ And set up idolatry.

IN those dayes there was no ^a King in Israel, and at the same time the tribe of Dan fought them an inheritance to dwell in: for unto that time all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Israel.

2 Therefore the children of Dan sent of their family, five men out of their coasts, even men expert in warre, out of Zorah and Eshtaol, to view the land, and search it out, and said unto them, ^b Goe, and search out the land. Then they came to mount Ephraim to the house of Michah, and lodged there.

3 When they were in the house of Michah, they knew the ^c voyce of the young man the Levite: and being turned in thither, they said unto him, who brought thee hither? or what makest thou in this place? and what hast thou to doe here?

4 And he answered them, Thus and thus dealeth Michah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his Priest.

5 Again they said unto him, Aske counsel now of God, that we may know whether the way which wee shall goe, shall be prosperous.

6 And the Priest said unto them, ^d Goe in peace: for the Lord guideth your way which ye goe.

7 Then the five men departed, and came to Laish, and saw the people that were therein, which dwelt carelesse, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and sure, because no man [†] made any trouble in the land, or usurped any dominion: also they were farre from the Zidonians, and had no businesse with other men.

8 ¶ So they came againe unto their brethren to Zorah and Eshtaol: and their brethren said unto them, What have ye done?

9 And they answered, Arise, that wee may goe up against them: for wee have seene the land, and surely it is very good, and ^e doeye sit still? bee nor sloathfull to goe and enter to possesse the land:

10 (If ye will goe, ye shall come unto a careles people, & the countrey is large) for God hath given it into your hand, It is a place

^h Not considering that hee forsooke the true worshipping of God, for to maintaine his owne belly.
ⁱ Thus the idolaters perfwade themselves of Gods favour, when indeed hee doth detest them.

^a Meaning, no ordinary Magistrate to punish vice according to Gods word.

^b For the portion which Iothus gave them, was not sufficient for all their tribe.

^c They knew him by his speech: that he was a stranger there.

^d Thus God granted the idolaters (some time their requests, to their destruction that delight in errors.

[†] Ebr. made them a name.

^e Lose ye this good occasion through your sloathfulness?

place which doth lack nothing that is in the world.

11 ¶ Then there departed thence of the family of the Danites, from Zorah and from Eshtaol, six hundred men appointed with instruments of war.

12 And they went up, and pitched in Kiriath-jearim in Judah: wherefore they called that place, † Mahaneh-Dan unto this day: and it is behind Kiriath-jearim.

13 And they went thence unto mount Ephraim, and came to the house of Michah.

13 Then answered the five men, that went to spie out the countrey of Laish, and said unto their brethren, † Know yee not, that there is in these houses an Ephod, and Teraphim, and a graven and a molten image? Now therefore consider what yee have to doe.

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the house of the yong man the Levite, even unto the house of Michah, and saluted him peaceably.

16 And the six hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, stood by the entring of the gate.

17 Then the five men that went to spie out the land, went in thither, and took the † graven image and the Ephod, and the Teraphim, and the molten image: and the Priest stood in the entring of the gate with the six hundred men, that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And the other went into Michahs house, and fet the graven image, the Ephod, and the Teraphim, and the molten image. Then said the Priest unto them, What doe yee?

19 And they answered him, Hold thy peace: lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and come with us to bee our father and Priest. Whether is it better that thou shouldest bee a Priest unto the house of one man, or that thou shouldest be a priest unto a tribe, and to a family in Israel?

20 And the Priests heart was glad, and he took the Ephod and the Teraphim, and the graven image, and went among the † people.

h With the six hundred men.

21 And they turned and departed, and put the children, and the cattell, and the substance † before them.

i Suspecting them that did pursue them.

22 ¶ When they were far off from the house of Michah, the men that were in the houses neer to Michahs house, gathered together, and pursued after the children of Dan, 23 And cried unto the children of Dan: who turned their faces, and said unto Michah, What aileth thee, that thou makest an outcry?

24 And he said, Ye have taken away my † gods, which I made, and the Priest, and go your wayes: and what have I more? how then say ye unto me, What aileth thee?

k This declareth what opinion the idolaters have of their idols.

25 And the children of Dan said unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, lest † angry fellows run upon thee, and thou lose thy life with the lives of thine household.

† Ebr., who have their hearts bitter.

26 So the children of Dan went their wayes: and when Michah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned, and went back unto his house.

27 And they took the † things which Michah had made, and the Priest which he had, and came unto Laish, unto a quiet people, and without mistrust, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the citie with fire:

l Meaning the idols, as verse 18.

28 And there was none to † help, because † Laish was far from Zidon, and they had no businesse with other men: also it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. After, they built the citie, and dwelt therein,

† Or, deliver them.

m Which after was called Cesarea Philippi.

29 * And called the name of the citie Dan, after the name of Dan their father, which was born unto Israel: howbeit the name of the citie was Laish at the beginning.

* 10. 19. 47.

30 Then the children of Dan set them up the † graven image: and Jonathan the son of Geršhom the son of Manasseh, and his sons were the Priests in the tribe of the Danites, unto the day of the † captivitie of the land.

n Thus in stead of giving glory to God, they attributed the victory to their idols, and honoured them therefore.

o That is, till the Arke was taken, 1. Sam. 5. 1.

31 So they set them up the graven image, which Michah had made, all the while the house of God was in Shiloh.

1 A Levites wife being an harlot, forsook her husband, and he took her again. 25 At Gibeah she was most villanously abused to the death. 29 The Levite cutteth her in pieces, and sendeth her to the twelve Tribes.

^{† Or, strengthen.} prepared to depart : then the yong womans father said unto his son in law, [†] comfort thine heart with a morsell of bread, and then go your way.

^{a This is, his concubines father.} 6 So they sate down, and did eat and drinke both of them together. And the yong womans father said unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tary all night, and let thine heart be merrie.

^{† Or compelled him.} 7 And when the man rose up to depart, his father in law [†] was earnest : therefore he returned, and lodged there.

^{b Meaning, as he should refresh himself with meat, as verse 5.} 8 And he arose up early the fift day to depart, and the young womans father said, ^b Comfort thine heart, I pray thee : and they taried untill after midday, and they both did eat.

^{† Ebr, is weak.} 9 Afterward when the man arose to depart with his concubine and his servant, his father in law, the yong womans father said unto him, Behold now, the day [†] draweth toward even : I pray you tary all night : behold, [†] the Sun goeth to rest : lodge here, that thine heart may be merrie, and to morrow get you early upon your way, and go to thy ^c tent.

^{c To wit, to the town, or citie, where hee dwelt.} 10 But the man would not tarie, but arose, and departed, and came over against Jebus, (which is Jerusalem) and his two asses laden, and his concubine ^d were with him.

^{† Or, men down.} 11 When they were neer to Jebus, the day [†] was fore spent, and the servant said unto his master, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn into this Citie of the Jebusites, and lodge all night there.

^{d Though in these dayes there were most horrible corruptions, yet very necessity could not compell them to have to doe with them that professed not the true God.} 12 And his master answered him, ^d We will not turne into the citie of strangers that are not of the children of Israel, but we will go forth to Gibeah.

13 And he said unto his servant, Come, and let us draw neer to one of these places, that wee may lodge in Gibeah or in Ramah.

14 So they went forward upon their way, and the Sun went down upon them neer to Gibeah, which is in Benjamin.

^{† Or, gathered them.} 15 ¶ Then they turned thither to go in and lodge in Gibeah : and when he came, he sate him downe in a street of the Citie : for there was no man that [†] took them into his house to lodging.

16 And behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at even, and the man was of mount Ephraim, but dwelt in Gibeah : and the men of the place were the children of ^e Jemini.

^{e That is, of the tribe of Benjamin.} 17 And when he had lift up his eyes, he saw a [†] wayfaring man in the streets of the Citie : then this old man said, Whither goest thou, and whence camest thou ?

^{† Or, as man walking.} 18 And he answered him, We came from Beth-lehem Judah, unto the side of mount Ephraim : from thence am I : and I went to Beth-lehem Judah, and go ^f now to the house of the Lord : and no man receiveth me to house.

^{f To Shiloh, or Mizpah, where the Arke was.} 19 Although wee have straw and provender for our asses, and also bread and wine for mee and thine handmaid, and for the boy that is with thy servant : we lack nothing.

^{† Or, be of good comfort.} 20 And the old man said, [†] Peace be with thee : as for all that thou lackest, [†] shalt thou find with mee : onely abide not in the street all night.

21 ¶ So he brought him into his house, and gave fodder unto the asses : and they washed their feet, and did eat and drink.

^{† Ebr, men of Be-lial, that is given is all wickednes.} 22 And as they were making their hearts merrie, behold, the men of the Citie, [†] twicked men beset the house round about, and ^g smote at the door, and spake to this old man the master of the house, saying, Bring forth the man that came into thine house, that we may know him.

^{g To the intent they might break it.} 23 And ^h this man the master of the house went out unto them, and said unto them, Nay my brethren, do not so wickedly, I pray you : seeing that this man is come into mine house, do not this villenie.

^{h That is, abide them, as Gen. 19.} 24 Behold, ^h here is my daughter, a Virgin, and his concubine : them will I bring out now, ^h and humble them, and doe with them what seemeth you good : but to this man do not this villenie.

25 But the men would not hearken to him : therefore the man took his concubine and brought her out unto them : and they knew her and abused her all the night unto the morning : and when the day began to spring, they let her go.

^{i She fell downe dead, as vers. 27.} 26 So the woman came in the dawning of the day, and ⁱ fell down at the door of the mans house where her Lord was, till the light day.

^{† Or, husband.} 27 And her [†] Lord arose in the morning, and opened the doores of the house, and went out to go his way, and behold, the woman his concubine [†] was [†] dead at the door of the house, and her hands [†] lay upon the threshold.

^{† Or, fallen.} 28 And he said unto her, Up, and let us goe : but shee answered not. Then he took her up upon the asse, and the man rose up, and went unto his ^k place.

^{k Meaning, home, unto mount Ephraim.} 29 And when he was come to his house, he took a knife, and laid hand on his concubine, and divided her in pieces with her bones into twelve parts, and sent her thorow all quarters of Israel.

^{l For this was like the sin of Sodom, for the which God rayned downe fire and brimstone from heaven.} 30 And all that saw it, said, There was no ^l such thing done or seen since the time that the children of Israel came up from the land of Egypt unto this day : consider the matter, consult and give sentence.

g These onely should have the charge to provide for victuall for the rest.

h That is, every family of the tribe

i Because they would not suffer the wicked to be punished, they declared themselves to maintaine them in their evill, and therefore were all justly punished.

Then ^aall the children of Israel went out, and the Congregation was gathered together as ^aone man, from Dan to Beerheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the ^bLord in Mizpeh.

2 And the [†]chiefe of all the people, and all the tribes of Israel assembled in the Congregation of the people of God foure hundred thousand footmen that ^edrew sword.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh) Then the children of Israel ^dsaid, How is this wickednesse committed?

4 And the same Levite, the womans husband that was slain, answered, and said, I came unto Gibeah that is in Benjamin with my concubine to lodge,

5 And the [‡]men of Gibeah arose against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, thinking to have flaine mee, and have forced my concubine that she is dead.

6 Then I tooke my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent ^eher thorowout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed abomination and villanie in Israel.

7 Behold, yee are all children of Israel: give your advice, and counsell herein.

8 Then all the people arose as one man, saying, There shall not a man of us go to his tent, neither any turne into his ^fhouse, 9 But now this is that thing which wee wil doe to Gibeah: we will go up by lot against it.

10 And wee wil take ten men of the hundred thorowout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of the thousand, and a thousand often thousand to bring ^gvictuaille for the people, that they may doe (when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin) according to all the villanie, that it hath done in Israel.

11 ¶ So all the men of Israel were gathered against the citie, knit together as one man.

12 And the tribes of Israel sent men thorow all the ^htribe of Benjamin, saying, What wickednesse is this that is committed among you?

13 Now therefore deliver us those wicked men which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evill from Israel: but the children of Benjamin ⁱwould not obey the voyce of their brethren the children of Israel.

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together out of the cities unto Gibeah, to come out and fight against the children of Israel.

15 ¶ And the children of Benjamin were numbred at that time out of the cities, six & twentie thousand men that drew sword, beside the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbred seven hundred chosen men.

16 Of all this people were seven hundred chosen men, being ^{*}left handed: all these could sling stones at an haire breadth and not fail. * Chap. 3. 15.

17 ¶ Also the men of Israel, beside Benjamin, were numbred four hundred thousand men that drew sword, even all men of warre.

18 And the children of Israel arose, and went up ^kto the house of God, & asked of God, saying, Which of us shal go up first to fight against the children of Benjamin? And the Lord said, Judah shal be first. k This is, to the Arke, which was in Shiloh: some think in Mizpeh, as verſe 1.

19 Then the children of Israel arose up early and camped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battell against Benjamin, and the men of Israel put themselves in aray to fight against them beside Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came out of Gibeah, and slew downe to the ground of the Israelites that day ^ltwo and twentie thousand men. l This God permitted because the Israelites, partly trusted too much in their strength, and partly, God would by this meanes punish their sins.

22 And the people, the men of Israel plucked up their hearts, and set their battell again in aray in the place where they put them in aray the first day.

23 (For the children of Israel had gone up & wept before the Lord unto the evening, and had asked of the Lord, saying, Shall I go again to battell against the children of Benjamin my brethren? and the Lord said, Go up against them)

24 ¶ Then the children of Israel came neer against the children of Benjamin the second day.

25 Also the second day Benjamin came forth to meet them out of Gibeah, and slew downe to the ground of the children of Israel againe eighteen thousand men: [†]al they could handle the sword. † Ebr. all they drawing the sword.

26 Then all the children of Israel went up, and all the people came also unto the house of God, and wept, and sate there before the Lord, and fasted that day unto the evening, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings before the Lord.

27 And the children of Israel asked the Lord (for ^mthere was the Arke of the covenant of God in those dayes, 28 And Phinehas the sonne of Eleazar, the son of Aaron ⁿstood before it at that time) saying, Shal I yet go any more to battell against the children of Benjamin my brethren, or shall I cease? And the Lord said, Go up: for to morrow I will deliver, them into your hand. m To wit, in Shiloh. n Or: served in the Priests office at those dayes, for the fewes write, that he lived three hundred years.

29 And

29 And Israel set men to lay in wait roundabout Gibeah.

30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin the third day, and put themselves in aray against Gibeah, as at other times.

^v By the policy of the children of Israel.

31 Then the children of Benjamin comming out against the people, were drawn from the city: and they began to smite of the people and kill as at other times, even by the wayes in the field (whereof one goeth up to the house of God, and the other to Gibeah) upon a thirty men of Israel.

32 (For the children of Benjamin said, They are fallen before us, as at the first. But the children of Israel said, Let us flee and pluck them away from the city unto the high wayes)

^p Meaning cross-ways or paths to divers places.

33 And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place, and put themselves in aray at Baal-tamar: and the men that lay in wait of the Israelites came forth of their place, even out of the medowes of Gibeah, 34 And they came over against Gibeah, ten thousand chosen men of all Israel, and the battell was fore: for they knew not that the ^qevill was neer them.

^q They knew not that Gods judgement was at hand to destroy them.

35 ¶ And the Lord smote Benjamin before Israel, and the children of Israel destroyed of the Benjamites the same day five and twenty thousand and an hundred men: all they could handle the sword.

36 So the children of Benjamin saw that they were stricken downe: for the men of Israel ^rgave place to the Benjamites, because they trusted to the men that lay in wait, which they had laid beside Gibeah.

^r Retired to draw them after.

37 And they that lay in wait hastened, and brake forth toward Gibeah, and the ambushment ^sdrew themselves along, and smote all the city with the edge of the sword.

^s Or, made a long stand with a trumpet.

38 Also the men of Israel had appointed a certaine time with the ambushments, that they should make a great flame and smoke rise up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Israel retired in the battell. Benjamin began to ^tsmite and kill of the men of Israel about thirty persons: for they said, Surely they are stricken downe before us, as in the first battell.

^t For they were wakened hardy by the two former victories.

40 But when the flame began to arise out of the city, as a pillar of smoke, the Benjamites looked back, and behold, the flame of the city began to ascend up to heaven.

41 Then the men of Israel turned ^uagain; and the men of Benjamin were astonied: for they saw that evill was neer unto them.

^u And withstood their enemies.

42 Therefore they fled before the men of Israel unto the way of the wilderness, but the battell overtook them: also they which ^vcame out of the cities, slew them among them.

^v For they were compassed in on every side.

43 Thus they compassed the Benjamites about, and ^wchased them at ease, and overran them, even over against Gibeah on the East side.

^w Or, drove them from their rest.

44 And there were slain of Benjamin eighteen thousand men, which were all men of war.

45 And they turned and fled to the wilderness unto the rock of Rimmon: and the Israelites ^xgleaned of them by the way five thousand men, and pursued after them unto Gidom, and slew two thousand men of them.

^x They flew them by one and one, as they were scattered abroad.

46 So that all that were slain that day of Benjamin, were ^yfive and twenty thousand men that drew sword, which were all men of war:

^y Besides eleven hundred that had bene slain in the former battels.

47 * But six hundred men turned and fled to the wilderness unto the rock of Rimmon, and abode in the rock of Rimmon foure moneths.

* Chap. 21. 13.

48 Then the men of Israel returned unto the children of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword, from the men of the city unto the beasts, and all that came to hand: also they set on fire all the ^zcities that they could come by.

^z If they belonged to the Benjamites.

CHAP. XXI.

¹The Israelites swear that they will not marry their daughters to the Benjamites. ²⁰ They slay them of Issachar, and give their virgins to the Benjamites. ²¹ The Benjamites take the daughters of Shiloh.

Moreover, the men of Israel ^aswore in Mizpeh, saying, None of us shall give his daughter unto the Benjamites to wife.

^a This oath came of rathnesse, and not of judgement: for after they brake it, in shewing secretly the means to marry, with certaine of the daughters.

2 And the people came unto the house of God, and abode there till even before God, and lift up their voices; and wept with great lamentation,

3 And said, O Lord God of Israel, why is this come to passe in Israel, that this day one tribe of Israel should want?

4 ¶ And on the morrow the people rose up and made there an ^baltar, and offered burnt offrings, and peace offrings.

^b According to their custome, when they would consult with the Lord.

5 Then the children of Israel said, Who is he among all the tribes of Israel, that came not up with the Congregation unto the Lord? for they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the Lord to Mizpeh, saying, Let him die the death.

6 And the children of Israel ^cwere sorry for Benjamin their brother, and said, There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day.

^c Or, repented that they had destroyed their brethren, as appeareth, verse 15.

7 How shall we doe for wives to them that remain, seeing we have sworn by the Lord, that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

10 Therefore the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the [†] most valiant, and commanded them, saying, Goe, and smite the inhabitants of Jabelh Gilead with the edge of the sword, both women, and children.

^{*} Num. 31. 17.

11 ^{*} And this is that yee shall doe: yee shall utterly destroy all the males, and all the women that have lyen by men.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabelh Gilead foure hundred maids, virgins that had knowen no man by lying with any male: and they brought them unto the host to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

^e To wit, about foure moneths after the discomfure, Chap. 20. 47. [†] Or, friendly.

13 ¶ Then the whole Congregation sent and spake with the children of Benjamin, that were in the rock of Rimmon, and called [‡] peaceably unto them:

14 And Benjamin came againe at that time, and they gave them wives which they had saved alive of the women of Jabelh Gilead: but they had not ^f so enough for them.

^f For there lacked two hundred. ^g Benjamin must bee reserved to have the twelfth portion in the inheritance of Jacob.

15 And the people were sory for Benjamin, because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 Therefore the Elders of the Congregation said, How shall we do for wives to the remnant? for the women of Benjamin are destroyed.

17 And they said, There must be ^h an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel.

18 Howbeit we may not give them wives of our daughters: for the children of Israel had sworn, saying, Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Therefore they said, Behold there is a feast of the Lord every year in Shiloh, in a place which is on the ^h Northside of Beth-el, and on the East side of the way that goeth up from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the South of Lebonah.

^h He described the place where the inside used yearly to dance, in the manner that was, and to sing Psalms and songs of Gods works among them.

23 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, Go, and lie in wait in the vineyards.

21 And when yee see that the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man a wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and goe into the land of Benjamin.

22 And ⁱ when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, we will say unto them, Have pity on them for our sakes, because we reserved not to each man his wife in the war, and because yee have not given unto them hitherto, ye have sinned.

ⁱ Though they thought hereby to persuade men that they kept their oath, yet before God it was broken.

23 And the children of Benjamin did so, and tooke wives of them that danced according to their ^k number: which they took, and went away, and returned to their inheritance, and repaired the cities, and dwelt in them.

^k Meaning, two hundred.

24 So the children of Israel departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 ^{*} In those dayes there was no King in Israel, but every man did that which was good in his eyes.

THE BOOKE OF RUTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis Booke is intituled after the name of Ruth: which is the principall person spoken of in this treatise. Wherein also figuratively is set forth the state of the Church which is subject to manifold afflictions, and yet at length God giveth good and joyfull issue: teaching us to abide with patience till God deliver us out of trouble. Herein also is described how Iesus Christ, who according to the flesh ought to come of David, proceeded of Ruth, of whom the Lord Iesus did vouchsafe to come, notwithstanding she was a Moabiteesse of base condition, and a stranger from the people of God: declaring unto us thereby that the Gentiles should be sanctified by him, and joynd with his people, and that there should be but one sheepfold, and one Shepherd. And it seemeth that this History appertaineth to the time of the Judges.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

1 Elimelech goeth with his wife and children into the land of Moab. 3 He and his sons die. 19 Naomi and Ruth come to Beth-lehem.

IN the time that the Judges ruled, there was a dearth in the land, and a man of Beth-lehem^b Judah went for to sojourn in the countrey of Moab, he and his wife, and his two sons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife, Naomi: and the names of his two sons, Mahlon, and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem Judah: and when they came into the land of Moab, they continued there.

3 Then Elimelech the husband of Naomi died, and she remained with her two sons, 4 Which took them wives of the Moabites: the ones name was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died also both twain: so the woman was left destitute of her two sons, and of her husband.

6 ¶ Then she arose with her daughters in law, and returned from the countrey of Moab: for she had heard say in the countrey of Moab, that the Lord had^d visited his people, and given them bread.

7 Wherefore she departed out of the place where she was, and her two daughters in law with her, and they went on their way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 Then Naomi said unto her two daughters in law, Go, return each of you unto her own mothers house: the Lord shew favour unto you, as ye have done with the dead, and with me.

9 The Lord grant you, that you may find^e rest, either of you in the house of her husband. And when she kissed them, they lift up their voice and wept.

10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 But Naomi said, Turne again, my daughters: for what cause will you go with me? are there any moe sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way, for I am too old to have an husband. If I should say, I have hope, and if I had an husband this night: yea, if I had born sons,

13 Would ye tary for them, till they were of age? would ye be deferred for them from taking of husbands? nay, my daughters: for it grieveth me^f much for your fakes that the hand of the Lord is gone out against me, 14 Then they lift up their voice and wept again, and Orpah kissed her mother in law, but Ruth abode still with her.

15 And Naomi said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy sister in law

16 And Ruth answered, intreat me not to leave thee, nor to depart from thee: for whither thou goest, I will go: and where thou dwellest, I will dwell: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

17 Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death depart thee and me.

18 ¶ When she saw that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, she left speaking unto her.

19 So they went both untill they came to Beth-lehem: and when they were come to Beth-lehem, it was^h noised of them thorough all the citie, and they said, Is not this Naomi?

20 And she answered them, Call me not Naomi, but, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath given me much bitterness.

21 I went out full, and the Lord hath caused me to return emptie: Why call you me Naomi, seeing the Lord hath humbled me, and the Almighty hath brought me unto adversitie?

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabite her daughter in law with her, when she came out of the countrey of Moab: and they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning ofⁱ barley harvest.

CHAP. II.

1 Ruth gathereth corn in the fields of Boaz. 3 The gentleness of Boaz toward her.

THEN Naomies husband had a kinsman, one of great power, of the family of Elimelech, and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabite said unto Naomi, I pray thee, let me go to the field, and^b gather eares of corne after him, in whose sight I find favour. And she said unto her, Go my daughter.

3 ¶ And she went, and came and gleaned in the field after the reapers, and it came to passe, that she met with the portion of the field of Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech.

4 And behold, Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and said unto the reapers, The Lord be with you: and they answered him, The Lord blesse thee.

5 Then said Boaz unto his servant that was appointed over the reapers, Whose maid is this?

6 And the servant that was appointed over the reapers, answered, & said, It is the Moabi-ⁱ Which was in the month Nisan, that containeth part of March, and part of April.

^b This her humility declareth her great affection toward her mother in law, forasmuch as she spareth no painfull diligence to get both their livings.

^d Else judged.

^e In the land of Canaan.
^f In the tribe of Judah, which was also called Beth-lehem Ephrathah, because there was another citie so called in the tribe of Zebulun.

^c By this wonderful providence of God, Ruth became one of Gods household, of whom Christ came.

^d By sending them pence again.

^e Hereby it appeareth that Naomi by dwelling among idolaters, was waxen cold in the zeal of God, which rather hath respect to the ease of the body, then to the comfort of the soul.

7 And she said unto us, I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers [†] among the sheaves : so shee came, and hath continued from that time in the morning unto now, save that she taried a little in the house.

8 ¶ Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou, my daughter ? go to none other field to gather, neither go from hence : but abide here by my maidens.

^e That is, take heed in wher field they doe reap.

9 ^e Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after the maidens. Have I not charged the servants, that they touch thee not ? Moreover, when thou art a thirst, go unto the vessels, and drink of that which the servants have drawn.

^d Even of the Moabites, which are enemies to Gods people.

10 Then she fell on her face, and bowed her self to the ground, and said unto him, How have I found favour in thine eyes, that thou shouldest know me, seeing I am ^d a stranger ?

11 And Boaz answered, and said unto her, All is told and shewed me that thou hast done unto thy mother in law, since the death of thine husband, and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land where thou wast born, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not in time past

^e Signifying, that she shall never want any thing, if she put her trust in God, and live under his protection.

12 The Lord recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord God of Israel, under whose ^e wings thou art come to trust.

13 Then she said, Let me find favour in thy sight, my Lord : for thou hast comforted me, & spoken comfortably unto thy maid, though I be not like to one of thy maids.

14 And Boaz said unto her, At the meal time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsell in the vinegar. And she sat beside the reapers, and he reached her parched corn : and she did eat, and was sufficed, and ^f left thereof.

^f Which she brought home to her mother in law.

15 ¶ And when she arose to glean, Boaz commanded his servants, saying, Let her gather among the sheaves, and doe not rebuke her.

16 Also let fall ^g some of the sheaves for her, and let it lie, that she may gather it up, and rebuke her not.

^g Exod, 16. 36.

17 So she gleaned in the field until evening, and she threshed that she had gathered, and it was about an ^h Ephah of barley.

^h To wit, of her bag, as is in the Chaldee text.

18 ¶ And she tooke it up, and went into the city, and her mother in law saw what she had gathered : also she ⁱ took forth, and gave to her that which she had reserved, when she was sufficed.

19 Then her mother in law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to day ? and where wroughtest thou ? blessed be he that knew thee. And she shewed her mother in law, with whom she had wrought, and said, The mans name, with whom I wrought to day, is Boaz.

20 And Naomi said unto her daughter in law, Blessed be he of the Lord : for he ceaseth not to do good to the living and to the ^h dead. Again, Naomi said unto her, The man is neer unto us, and of our affinity.

^h To my husband & children, when they were alive, and now to us.

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said also certainly unto me, Thou shalt be with my servants, untill they have ended all mine harvest.

22 And Naomi answered unto Ruth her daughter in law, It is best, my daughter, that thou go out with his maids, that they [†] meet thee not in another field.

[†] Or, fall upon thee.

23 Then she kept her by the maids of Boaz, to gather unto the end of Barley harvest, and of wheat harvest, and [†] dwelt with her mother in law.

[†] Or, returned to her mother in law.

CHAP. III.

¹² He acknowledgeth himself to be her kinsman.

Afterward Naomi her mother in law said unto her, My daughter, shall not I seek ^a rest for thee, that thou mayest prosper ?

^a Meaning, that she would provide her of an husband, with whom she might live quietly.

2 Now also is not Boaz our kinsman, with whose maids thou wast ? behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the [†] floore :

[†] Or, in the barn.

3 Wash thy self therefore, and annoint thee, and put thy rayment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor : let not the ^b man know of thee, untill he have left eating and drinking.

^b Boaz, nor yet any other.

4 And when he shall sleep, marke the place where he layeth him down, and go, and uncover the place of his feet, and lay thee down, and he shall tell thee what thou shalt doe.

5 And she answered her, All that thou biddest me, I will doe.

6 ¶ So she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunken, and ^c cheered his heart, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn, and she came softly, and uncovered the place of his feet, and lay down.

^c That is, he refreshed himself among his servants.

8 And at midnight the man was afraid, and caught hold : and loe, a woman lay at his feet.

[†] Or, turned himself from his side to another.

9 Then he said, Who art thou ? And she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid : spread therefore the wing of thy garment over thine handmaid : for thou art the kinsman.

10 Then said he, Blessed be thou of the Lord, my daughter : thou hast ^d shewed more goodnesse in the latter end, then at the beginning, in as much as thou followedst not young youngmen, were they poore or rich.

11 And now, my daughter, feare not: I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the citie of my people doth know, that thou art a vertuous woman.

12 And now it is true that I am thy kinsman, howbeit there is a kinsman nearer then I.

13 Tary to night, and when morning is come, if he^e will do the duty of a kinsman unto thee, well, let him doe the kinsmans duety: but if he will not doe the kinsmans part, then will I do the duety of a kinsman, as the Lord liveth: sleep untill morning.

14 ¶ And she lay at his feet untill the morning: and she arose before one could know another: for he said, Let no man know, that a woman came into the floore.

15 Also he said, Bring the [†] sheet that thou hast upon thee and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures of barley, and layd them on her, and she went into the citie.

16 And when she came to her mother in law, she said, [‡] Who art thou my daughter? And she told her all that the man had done unto her, 17 And said, These six measures of barley gave he me: for he said to me, Thou shalt not come empty unto thy mother in law.

18 Then said she, My daughter, sit still, untill thou know how the thing will fall: for the man will not be in rest, untill he hath finished the matter this same day.

CHAP. IV.

1 Boaz speaketh to Ruth's next kinsman touching her marriage. 7 The ancient custome in Israel. 10 Boaz marrieth Ruth, of whom he begetteth Obed. 18 The generation of Pharez.

Then went Boaz up to the ^a gate, and sat there, and behold, the kinsman, of whom Boaz had spoken, came by: and he said, ^b Ho, such one, come, sit down here. And he turned, and sat down.

2 Then he tooke ten men of the Elders of the citie, and said, Sit ye down heere. And they sat down.

3 And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi, that is come againe out of the countrey of Moab, will sell a parcell of land, which was our brother Elimelechs.

4 And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the assistants, and before the Elders of my people. If thou wilt redeeme it, redeeme it: but if thou wilt not redeeme it, tell me: for I know that there is none ^c besides thee to redeeme it, and I am after thee. Then he answered, I will redeeme it.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must also buy it of Ruth the Moabiteffe the wife of the dead: to stirre up the name of the dead upon his ^d inheritance.

6 And the kinsman answered, I cannot redeem it, lest I destroy mine own inheritance: redeeme my right to thee, for I cannot redeeme it.

7 Now this was the manner before time in Israel, concerning redeeming and changing, for to stablsh all things: a man did pluck off his shooe, and gave it his neighbour, and this was a sure^e witness in Israel.

8 Therefore the kinsman said to Boaz, Buy it for thee: and he drew off his shooe.

9 And Boaz said unto the elders, and, unto all the People, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelechs, and all that was Chilions and Mahlons, of the hand of Naomi.

10 And moreover, Ruth the Moabiteffe the wife of Mahlon, have I bought to be my wife, to stirre up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, and that the name of the dead be not put out from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the Elders said, We are witnesses: the Lord make the wife that commeth into thine house, like Rahel and like Leah, which twaine did build the house of Israel, & that thou mayest doe worthily in ^e Ephrathah, and be famous in Beth-lehem.

12 And that thine house be like the house of Pharez ([‡] whom Thamar bare unto Judah) of the seed which the Lord shall give thee of this yong woman.

13 ¶ So Boaz tooke Ruth, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the Lord gave that she conceived, and bare a son.

14 And the women said unto Naomi, Blessed be the Lord, which hath not left thee this day without a kinsman, and ^h his name shall be continued in Israel.

15 And this shall bring thy life againe, and cherish thine old age: for thy daughter in law which loveth thee, hath born unto him, and she is better to thee then ⁱ seven sons.

16 And Naomi tooke the childe, and laid it in her lap, and became nurse unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name, saying, there is a childe born to Naomi, and called the name thereof Obed: the same was the father of Ishai, the father of David.

18 ¶ These now are the generations of [‡] Pharez: Pharez begate Hezron, and Hezron begate Ram, and Ram begate Amminadab, 20 And Amminadab begate Nashon, and Nashon begate Salmon, 21 And Salmon begate Boaz, and Boaz begate Obed, 22 And Obed begate Ishai, and Ishai begate David.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF SAMUEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

According as God hath ordained, Deut. 17. 14. that when the Israelites should be in the land of Canaan, he would appoint them a king: so here in this first booke of Samuel is declared the state of this people under their first king Saul, who not content with that order which God had for a time appointed for the government of his Church, demanded a king, to the intent they might be as other nations, and in a greater assurance as they thought: not because they might the better thereby serve God, as being under the safeguard of him, which did represent Iesus Christ the true deliverer: therefore he gave them a tyrant and an hypocrite to rule over them, that they might learne, that the person of a king is not sufficient to defend them, except God by his power preserve and keepe them. And therefore he punisheth the ingratitude of his people, and sendeth them continuall warres both at home and abroad. And because Saul, whom of nothing, God had preferred to the honour of a king, did not acknowledge Gods mercie toward him, but rather disobeyed the word of God, and was not zealous of his glory, he was by the voyce of God put down from his estate, and David the true figure of Messiah placed in his stead, whose patience, modestie, constancie, persecution by open enemies, fained friends, and dissembling flatterers, are left to the Church, and to every member of the same, as a paterne and example to behold their state and vocation.

³ Hannah was barren and prayed to the Lord. ¹⁵ Her answer to Eli. ²⁰ Samuel is born. ²⁴ She doth dedicate him to the Lord.

^a There were two Ramaths, so that in this city in mount Ephraim were Zophim: that is, the learned men and prophets.

Here was a man of one of the two ^a Ramathaim Zophim, of mount Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite:

² And he had two wives: the name of one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

^{*} Deut. 16, 16.

^b For the Aike was there at that time.

^c Some reade, a portion with an heevie cheare.

³ * And this man went up out of his citie every yeare, to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of hostes in ^b Shiloh, where were the two sons of Eli, Hophni, and Phinehas, Priests of the Lord.

⁴ And on a day, when Elkanah sacrificed, he gave to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and daughters portions,

⁵ But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion: for he loved Hannah, and the Lord had made her barren.

⁶ ¶ And her adversarie vexed her sore, forasmuch as she upbraided her, because the Lord had made her barren.

⁷ (And so did he yeare by yeare) and as oft as she wēt up to the house of the Lord, thus she vexed her, that she wept, & did not eat.

⁸ Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, why weepest thou? & why eatest thou not? and why is thine heart troubled? am not I better to thee then ten ^d sons?

^d Let this suffice thee that I love thee no less, then if thou hadst many children.

⁹ So Hannah rose up after that they had eaten and drunke in Shiloh (and Eli the Priest sat upon a stoole by one of the posts of the ^e Temple of the Lord)

^e That is, of the house where the Aike was.

¹⁰ And she was troubled in her minde, and prayed unto the Lord, and wept sore:

¹¹ Also she vowed a vow: and said, O Lord of hosts, if thou wilt looke on the trouble of thine handmaid, and remember me, & not forget thine handmaid, but give unto thine handmaid a man childe, then I will give him unto the Lord all the dayes of his life, * and there shall no razor come upon his head.

^{*} Num. 6, 5. Idg. 13, 5.

¹² And as she continued praying before the Lord, Eli marked her mouth.

¹³ For Hannah spake in her heart: her lips did move onely, but her voyce was not heard: therefore Eli thought she had been drunken.

¹⁴ And Eli said unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? Put away [†] thy drunkenness from thee.

¹⁵ Then Hannah answered, and said, Nay my lord, but I am a woman [†] troubled in spirit: I have drunke neither wine nor strong drinke, but have ^{*} powred out my soule before the Lord.

17 Then Eli answered, and said, Goe in peace, and the God of Israel grant thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

18 She said againe, Let thine handmaid finde grace in thy sight: so the woman went her way, and did eate, and looked no more sad.

19 ¶ Then they arose up early, and worshipped before the Lord, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah. Now Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the Lord remembered her.

20 For in proceffe of time Hannah conceived, and bare a sonne, and she called his name Samuel, because, said she, I have asked him of the Lord.

21 ¶ So the man ^h Elkanah and all his house, went up to offer unto the Lord the yearly sacrifice, and his vow.

22 But Hannah went not up: for she said unto her husband, I will tarie untill the child be weaned, then I will bring him that he may appeare before the Lord, and there abide for ever.

23 And Elkanah her husband said unto her, Doe what seemeth thee best: tarie untill thou hast weaned him: Onely the Lord accomplish his word: So the woman abode, and gave her son suck untill she weaned him.

24 ¶ And when she had weaned him, she tooke him with her, with three bullocks, and an ^{*} Ephah of floure, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the house of the Lord in Shiloh, & the child was [†] yong.

25 And they slew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.

26 And she said, Oh my Lord, as thy ^k soule liveth, my lord, I am the woman that stood with thee heere praying unto the Lord.

27 I prayed for this child, and the Lord hath given me my desire which I asked of him.

28 Therefore also I have [†] given him unto the Lord: as long as he liveth he shall be given unto the Lord: and he [†] worshipped the Lord there.

And Hannah ^{*} prayed, and said, Mine heart rejoyceth in the Lord, mine ^b horne is exalted in the Lord: my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies, because I rejoyce in thy salvation.

2 There is none holy as the Lord: yea, there is none besides thee, and there is no god like our God.

3 Speak ^d no more presumptuously: let not arrogancy come out of your mouth: for the Lord ^{is} a God of knowledge, and by him enterprises are established.

4 The bow ^{and} the mightie men are broken, and the weake have girded themselves with strength.

6 ^{*} The Lord killeth, and maketh alive: bringeth downe to the grave, and raiseth up.

7 The Lord maketh poore, and maketh rich: bringeth low, and exalteth.

8 ^{*} He raiseth up the poore out of the dust, and lifteth up the begger from the dunghil, to set ^{them} among [†] princes, and to make them inherite the seat of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the [†] Lords, and he hath set the world upon them.

9 He will keepe the feet of his Saints, and the wicked shall keepe silence in darkness: for in ^{his own} might shall no man be strong.

10 The Lords adversaries shall be destroyed, and out of heaven shall he ^{*} thunder upon them: the Lord shall judge the ends of the world, and shall give power unto his ^h king, and exalt the horne of his anointed.

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house, and the child did minister unto the Lord before Eli the Priest.

12 ¶ Now the sons of Eli ^{were} wicked men, and ^k knew not the Lord.

13 For the Priests custome toward the people ^{was this}: when any man offered sacrifice, the Priests [†] boy came, while the flesh was seething, and a flesh-hooke with three theeth, in his hand,

14 And thrust it into the kettle, or into the caldron, or into the panne, or into the pot: [†] all that the flesh-booke brought up, the Priest tooke for himselfe: thus they did unto all the Israelites, that came thither to Shiloh.

15 Yea, before they burnt the ^{fat}, the priests boy came & said to the man that offered, Give me flesh to roste for the priest: for he wil not have soddé flesh of thee, but raw

16 And if any man said unto him, Let them burn the fat according to the [†] custome, then take as much as thine heart desireth: then he would answer, no, but thou shalt give it now: and if thou wilt not, I will take it by force.

17 Therefore the sin of the yong men was very great before the Lord: for men [†] abhorred the offering of the Lord.

^a After that she had obtained a son by prayer, she gave thanks.
^b I have recovered strength and glory by the benefit of the Lord.
^c I can answer them, that reprove my barrennesse.

19 And his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from yeare to yeare, when she came up with her husband, to offer her yearly sacrifice.

20 And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, The Lord give thee seed of this woman, for [†] the petition that she asked of the Lord: and they departed unto their place.

21 And the Lord visited Hannah, so that she conceived and bare three sons, and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the Lord.

22 ¶ So Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel, and how they lay with the women that ^p assembled at the doore of the tabernacle of the Congregation.

23 And he said unto them, Why doe ye such things? for of all this people I heare evil reports of you.

24 Doe no more, my sons: for it is no good report that I heare, ^q which is, that ye make the Lords people to ^r trespasse.

25 If one man sinne against another, the Iudge shall iudge it: but if a man sin against the Lord, who will plead for him? Notwithstanding they obeyed not the voyce of their father, because the Lord ^r would slay them.

26 ¶ (Now the child Samuel profited and grew, and was in favour both with the Lord and also with men)

27 And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Did not I plainly appeare unto the house of thy ^f father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaohs house?

28 And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, and to burn incense, and to weare an Ephod before me, and ^{*} I gave unto the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel.

29 Wherefore have you ^e kicked against my sacrifice, and mine offering, which I commanded in my Tabernacle, and honoured thy children above me, to make yourselves fat of the first fruits of all the offerings of Israel my people?

30 Wherefore the Lord God of Israel saith, I said, that thine house, and the house of thy father should walke before me for ever: but now the Lord saith, It shall not be so, for them that honour me, I will honour, and they that despise me, shall be despised.

31 Behold, the dayes come, that I will cut off thine ^x arme, and the arme of thy fathers house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.

32 And thou shalt see thine enemy in the habitation of the Lord in all things where with God shall blesse Israel, and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.

33 Nevertheless, I will not destroy every one of thine from mine altar, to make thine eyes to faile, and to make thine heart sorowfull: and all the multitude of thine house shall [†] die when they be men.

34 And this shall be a signe unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons Hophni and Phinehas: in one day they shall die both.

35 And I will stirre me up a ^z faithfull Priest, that shall doe according to mine heart, and according to my minde: and I will build him a sure house, and he shall walke before mine Anointed for ever.

36 And all that are left in thine house, shall come and ^a bow down to him for a piece of silver, and a morfell of bread, and shall say, Appoint me, I pray thee, to one of the Priests offices, that I may eat a morfell of bread.

CHAP. III.

^r There was no manifest vision in the time of Eli. ⁴ The Lord calleth Samuel three times. ¹¹ And sheweth what shall come upon Eli and his house. ¹⁸ The same declareth Samuel to Eli.

NOW the child Samuel ministred unto the Lord ^a before Eli: and the word of the Lord was ^b precious in those dayes: for there was no manifest vision.

2 And at that time, as Eli lay in his ^c place, his eyes began to wax dimme that he could not see.

3 And ere the ^d light of God went out, Samuel slept in the temple of the Lord, where the Arke of God was.

4 Then the Lord ^e called Samuel: and he said, Here I am.

5 And he ran unto Eli, and said, Here am I, for thou calledst me. But he said, I called thee not: goe againe and sleepe. And he went and slept.

6 And the Lord called once againe, Samuel. And Samuel arose, and went to Eli, and said, I am here: for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called thee not, my son: goe againe and sleep.

7 Thus ^f did Samuel, before he knew the Lord, and before the word of the Lord was revealed unto him.

8 And the Lord called Samuel againe the third time: and he arose, and went to Eli, and said, I am here: for thou hast called mee. Then Eli ^g perceived that the Lord had called the childe.

9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go and sleepe: and if he call thee, then say, Speak Lord, for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went, and slept in his place.

10 ¶ And the Lord came, and stood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speake, for thy servant heareth.

And Samuel spake unto all Israel: [†] and Israel went out against the Philistims to battell, and pitched beside [†] Eben-ezer: and the Philistims pitched in Aphek.

2 And the Philistims put themselves in aray against Israel: and when they joy- ned the battell, Israel was smitten downe before the Philistims: who slew of the armie in the field about foure thousand men.

3 So when the people were come into the camp, the Elders of Israel said, ^a Where- fore hath the Lord smitten us this day before the Philistims? let us bring the Arke of the covenant of the Lord out of Shiloh unto us, that when it cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 Then the people sent to Shiloh, and brought from thence the Ark of the cove- nant of the Lord of hosts, who ^b dwelleth between the Cherubims: and there were the two sons of Eli, Hophni, and Phinehas, with the Ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the Ark of the covenant of the Lord came into the host, all Israel shou- ted a mighty shout, so that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philistims heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the sound of this mighty shout in the host of the Ebrews? & they understood, that the Ark of the Lord was come into the host.

7 And the Philistims were afraid, and said, God is come into the host: therefore said they, ^c Wo unto us: for it hath not been so heretofore.

8 Wo unto us, who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty Gods? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the ^d wilderness.

9 Be strong and play the men, O Phil- istims, that ye be not servants unto the E- brews, ^e as they have served you: be valiant therefore, and fight.

10 And the Philistims fought, and Israel was smitten down, and fled every man into his tent: and there was an exceeding great slaughter: for there fell of Israel ^e thirty thousand footmen.

11 And the Ark of God was taken, and the two sonnes of Eli, Hophni and Phine- has died.

12 And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day with his clothes ^f rent, and earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli sat upon a seat by the way side, waiting: for his heart ^g feared for the Ark of God: and when the man came into the city to tell it, all the city cried out.

14 And when Eli heard the noyse of the crying, he said, What meaneth this noise of the tumult? and the man came in hastily, and told Eli.

15 (Now Eli was fourscore and eighteen yeare old, and ^{*} his eyes were dim that he could not see)

16 And the man said unto Eli, I came from the army, and I fled this day out of the host: and he said, What thing is done, my sonne?

17 Then the messenger answered, and said, Israel is fled before the Philistims, and there hath bin also a great slaughter among the people: and moreover thy two sonnes, Hophni and Phinehas ^h are dead, and the Ark of God is taken.

CHAP. V.

2 The Philistims bring the Arke into the house of Dagon, which idols fell downe before it. 6 The men of Ashdod are plagued. 8 The Arke is caried into Gath, and after to Ekron.

Then the Philistims tooke the Arke of God, and caried it from Eben-ezer unto ^a Ashdod.

a Which was one of the five principall cities of the Philistims. b Which was their chief idol, and as some write, from the navel downward was like a fish, and upward like a man.

2 Even the Philistims took the Arke of God, and brought it into the house of ^b Dagon, and set it by Dagon.

3 And when they of Ashdod rose the next day, in the morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face on the ground before the Arke of the Lord, and they tooke up Dagon, and set him in his place againe.

4 Also they rose up earely in the morning the next day, and behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face on the ground before the Arke of the Lord, and the head of Dagon, and the two palmes of his hands were cut off upon the threshold: onely the stump of Dagon was left to him.

c Thus instead of acknowledging of the true God by this miracle, they fall to a further superstition.

5 Therefore the priests of Dagon, and all that come into Dagon's house ^c tread not on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod, unto this day.

* Psal. 78. 66.

6 But the hand of the Lord was heavy upon them of Ashdod, and destroyed them, and smote them with ^{*} the emerods, both Ashdod, and the coasts thereof.

7 And when the men of Ashdod saw this, they sayd, Let not the Arke of the God of Israel abide with us: for his hand is fore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.

d Though they had felt Gods power and were afraid thereof, yet they would further trie him, which thing God turned to their destruction and his glory.

8 They sent therefore, and gathered all the princes of the Philistims unto them, and said, ^d What shall we doe with the Arke of the God of Israel? And they answered, Let the Arke of the God of Israel be caried about unto Gath: and they caried the Arke of the God of Israel about.

9 And when they had caried it about, the hand of the Lord was against the citie with a very great destruction, and he smote the men of the citie, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts.

10 ¶ Therefore they sent the Arke of God to Ekron: and alsoone as the Arke of God came to Ekron, the Ekronites cryed out, saying, They have brought the Arke of the God of Israel to us, to slay us and our people.

11 Therefore they sent, and gathered together all the princes of the Philistims, and said, Send ^e away the Arke of the God of Israel, and let it returne to his owne place, that it slay us not and our people: for there was a destruction and death thorowout all the citie, and the hand of God was very fore there.

e The wicked when they feel the hand of God, grudge and reject him, where the godly humble themselves, and cry for mercy.

12 And the men that died not, were smitten with the emerods: and the crie of the citie went up to heaven.

CHAP. VI.

1 The time that the Arke was with the Philistims which they sent againe with a gift. 12 It cometh to Beth-shemesh. 17 The Philistims offer golden emerods. 19 The men of Beth-shemesh are stricken for looking into the Arke.

So the Arke of the Lord was in the country of the Philistims ^a seven moneths.

2 And the Philistims called the priests and the soothsayers, saying, What shall we doe with the Arke of the Lord? tell us wherewith we shall send it home againe.

3 And they said, If you send away the Arke of the God of Israel, send it not away emptie, but give unto it a ^b sinne offering: then shall ye be healed, and it shall ^b be knowne to you, why his hand departeth not from you.

a They thought by continuance of time the plague would have ceased, and so would have kept the Ark still.

4 Then said they, What shall be the sinne offering, which we shall give unto it? And they answered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the princes of the Philistims: for one plague ^c was on you all, and on your princes.

5 Wherefore ye shall make the similitudes of your emerods, and the similitudes of your mice that destroy the land: so ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel, that he may rake his hand from you, and from your ^c gods, and from your land.

c This is Gods judgement upon the idolaters, that knowing the true God, they worship him not aright.

6 Wherefore then should ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? when he wrought wonderfully among them, ^{*} did they not let them goe, and they departed?

* Exod. 12. 31.

7 Now therefore make a new cart, and take two milch kine, on whom there hath come no yoke: and tie the kine to the cart, and and bring the calves home from them.

8 Then take the arke of the Lord, and set it upon the cart, and put the ^d jewels of gold which ye give it for a sinne-offering in a coffer by the side thereof, and send it away, that it may go.

9 And take heed, if it go up by the way of his own coast to Beth-shemesh, it is ^e he that did us this great evill: but if not, we shall know then, that it is not his hand that smote us, but it was a ^f chance that happened us.

10 And the men did so: for they took two kine that gave milk, and tied them to the cart, and shut the calves at home.

11 So they set the Ark of the Lord upon the cart, & the coffer with the mice of gold, and with the similitudes of their emerods.

12 And the kine went the straight way to Beth-shemesh, and kept one path, and lowed as they went, and turned neither to the right hand nor to the left: also the princes of the Philistims went after ^g them, unto the borders of Beth-shemesh.

13 Now they of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley, and they lift up their eyes, and spied the ark, and rejoyced when they saw it.

14 ¶ And the cart came into the field of Jothua a Beth-shemite, & stood stil there. There was also a great stone, and ^h they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine for a burnt-offering unto the Lord.

15 And the Levites took down the ark of the Lord, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone, and the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt-offering, and sacrificed sacrifices that same day unto the Lord.

16 And when the five princes of the Philistims had seen it, they returned to Ekron the same day.

17 ¶ So these are the golden emerods, which the Philistims gave for a sin-offering to the Lord: for ⁱ Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Askelon one, for Gath one, and for Ekron one.

18 And golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistims, belonging to the five princes, both of walled towns, and of towns unwalled, unto the great stone of [†] Abel, whereon they set the ark of the Lord: which stone remaineth unto this day in the field of Jothua the Beth-shemite.

19 And he smote of the men of Beth-shemesh, because they ^k had looked in the ark of the Lord: he slew even among the people fifty thousand men and threecore and ten men, and the people lamented, because the Lord had slain the people with so great a slaughter.

20 Wherefore the men of Beth-shemesh said, Who is able to stand before this holy Lord God? & to whom shall he go from us?

21 And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying, The Philistims have brought again the ark of the Lord: come ye down and take it up to you.

CHAP. VII.

1 The ark is brought to Kiriath-jearim. 3 Samuel exhorteth the people to forsake their sinnes and turn to the Lord. 10 The Philistims fight against Israel and are overcome. 16 Samuel judgeth Israel.

Then the men of ^a Kiriath-jearim came and took up the ark of the Lord, and brought it into the house of Abinadab in the hill: and they sanctified Eleazar his sonne, to keep the ark of the Lord.

2 (For while the ark abode in Kiriath-jearim, the time was long, for it was twenty yeares) and all the house of Israel lamented ^b after the Lord.

3 ¶ Then Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye be come again unto the Lord with all your heart, ^c put away the strange gods from among you, and ^d Ashtaroth, and direct your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him ^e onely, and he shall deliver you out of the hand of the Philistims.

4 Then the children of Israel did put away ^f Baalim and Ashtaroth, and served the Lord onely.

5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to ^g Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the Lord.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and ^h drew water, and powred it out before the Lord, and fasted the same day, and said there, Wee have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpeh.

7 When the Philistims heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpeh, the princes of the Philistims went up against Israel: and when the children of Israel heard that, they were afraid of the Philistims.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to ⁱ crie unto the Lord our God for us, that he may save us out of the hand of the Philistims.

9 Then Samuel took a sucking lambe, and offered it altogether for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, and Samuel cried unto the Lord for Israel, & the Lord heard him.

10 And as Samuel offered the burnt-offering, the Philistims came to fight against Israel: but the Lord ^j thundered with a great thunder that day upon the Philistims, and scattered them: so they were slain before Israel.

d Because they were not content with the order that God had appointed, but would be governed as were the Gentiles.

6 But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, Give us a king to judge us: and Samuel prayed unto the Lord.

7 And the Lord said unto Samuel, Hear the voice of the people in all that they shall say unto thee: for they have not cast thee away, but they have cast me away, that I should not reigne over them.

8 As they have ever done since I brought them out of Egypt, even unto this day, (and have forsaken me, and served other gods) even so do they unto thee.

e To prove if they will forsake their wicked purpose.

9 Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet testify unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reigne over them.

11 And he said, This shall be the manner of the king that shall reigne over you: he will take your sonnes, and appoint them to his charets, and to be his horsemen, and some shall run before his chariot.

f Not that kings have this authority by their office, but that such as reigne in Gods wrath should usurp this over their brethren, contrary to the law, Deut. 17. 20.

12 Also he will make them his captains over thousands, and captains over fifties, and to care his ground, and to reape his harvest, and to make instruments of warre, and the things that serve for his charets.

13 He will also take your daughters and make them apothecaries, and cooks, and bakers.

14 And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your best olive-trees, and give them to his servants.

15 And he will take the tenth of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give it to his Eunuchs, and to his servants.

h Because ye repent not for your sinnes, but because ye smart for your afflictions, whereinto ye cast yourselves willingly.

19 But the people would not heare the voyce of Samuel, but did say, Nay, but there shall be a king over us.

20 And we also will be like all other nations, and our king shall judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battels.

21 Therefore when Samuel heard all the words of the people, he hearsed them in the eares of the Lord.

22 And the Lord said to Samuel, ¶ hearken unto their voyce, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Go every man unto his citie.

i Or, grant their request.

C H A P. IX.

3 Saul seeking his fathers asses, by the counsell of his servant goeth to Samuel. 6 The Prophets called Seers. 15 The Lord revealeth to Samuel Sauls coming, commanding him to anoint him king. 22 Samuel bringeth Saul to the feast.

T H E R E was now a man of Benjamin, a mighty in power, named Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, the son of a man of Jemini.

a That is, both valiant and rich. b Chap. 14. 5. 1 Chron. 8. 33.

2 And he had a son called Saul, a goodly yong man and a faire: so that among the children of Israel there was none goodlier then he: from the shoulders upward he was higher then any of the people.

b So that it might seem that God approved their request, in appointing out such a person.

2 And the Asses of Kish Sauls father were lost: therefore Kish said to Saul his sonne, Take now one of the servants with thee, thee, and arise, go, and seek the asses.

4 So he passed thorow mount Ephraim, and went thorow the land of Shalishah, but they found them not. Then they went thorow the land of Shalim, and there they were not: he went also thorow the land of Jemini, but they found them not.

5 When they came to the land of ^aZuph, Saul said unto his servant that was with him, Come and let us return, lest my father leave the care of the asses, and take thought for us.

6 And he said unto him, Behold now in this city is a man of God, and he is an honourable man: all that he saith cometh to passe: let us now go thither, if so be that he can shew us what way we may go.

7 Then said Saul to his servant, Well then, let us go: but what shall we bring unto the man? For the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is no present to bring to the man of God: what have we?

8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, I have found about me the fourth part of a shekel of silver: that will I give the man of God, to tell us our way.

9 (Beforetime in Israel when a man went to seek an answer of God, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the Seer: for he that is called now a prophet, was in the old time called a Seer.)

10 Then said Saul to his servant, Well said, come, let us go: so they went into the city where the man of God was.

11 ¶ And as they were going up the high way to the city, they found maids that came out to draw water, and said unto them, Is there here a Seer?

12 And they answered them, & said, Yea: lo, he is before you: make hast now, for he came this day to the city: for there is an offering of the people this day in the high place.

13 When ye shall come into the city, ye shall find him straightway ere he come up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat untill he come, because he will bless the sacrifice: and then eat they that be bidden to the feast: now therefore go up: for even now shall ye finde him.

14 Then they went up into the city, and when they were come into the mids of the city, Samuel came out against them, to go up to the high place.

15 ¶ But the Lord had revealed to Samuel secretly (a day before Saul came) saying, 16 To morrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, him shalt thou anoint to be governour over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hands of the Philistims: for I have looked upon my people, and their cry is come unto me.

17 When Samuel therefore saw Saul, the Lord answered him, See, this is the man whom I spake to thee of, he shall rule my people.

18 Then went Saul to Samuel, in the mids of the gate, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the Seers house is.

19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am thee Seer: go up before me unto the high place: for ye shall eat with me to day, and to morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.

20 And as for thine asses that were lost three dayes ago, care not for them: for they are found, and ¹on whom is set all the desire of Israel? is it not upon thee, and on all thy fathers house?

21 ¶ But Saul answered, and said, Am not I the son of Jemini of the smallest tribe of Israel? and my family is the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin. Wherefore then, speakest thou so to me?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the chamber, and made them sit in the chiefeest place among them that were bidden: which were about thirty persons.

23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring forth the portion which I gave thee, and whereof I said unto thee, Keep it with thee.

24 And the cook took up the shoulder, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, Behold, that which is left, set it before thee and eat: for hitherto hath it been kept for thee, saying, Also I have called the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

25 And when they were come down from the high place into the city, he communed with Saul upon the top of the house.

26 And when they arose early about the spring of the day, Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out, both he, and Samuel.

27 And when they were come down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant go before us, (and he went) but stand thou still now, that I may shew thee the word of God.

CHAP. X.

1 Saul is anointed king by Samuel. 9 God changeeth Sauls heart, and he prophesieth. 17 Samuel assemblith the people, and sheweth them their sinnes, & Saul is chosen king by lot. 26 Samuel writeth the kings office.

Then Samuel took a viol of oyl, and powred it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, Hath not the Lord anointed thee to be governour over his inheritance?

2 When thou shalt depart from me this day, thou shalt find two men by Rahels sepulcher in the border of Benjamin, even at Zelzah,

^a All these circumstances were meanes to serve unto Gods providence, whereby Saul (though not approved of God) was made king.

[†] Or, etc.

3 Then shalt thou go forth from thence, and shalt come to the [†] plain of Tabor, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Beth-el, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine:

6 Then the Spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesie with them, and shalt be turned into another man.

7 Therefore when these signes shall come unto thee, do as occasion shall serve: for God is with thee.

9 And when he had turned his [†] back to go from Samuel, God gave him another ^d heart: and all those tokens came to passe that same day.

^d He gave him such vertues as were meet for a king.

10 ¶ And when they came thither to the hill, behold, the company of Prophets met him, and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he [†] prophesied among them.

[†] Or, sang praises,

11 Therefore all the people that knew him before, when they saw that he prophesied among the Prophets, said each to other, What is come unto the son of Kish? ^{*} Is Saul also among the Prophets?

^{*} Chap. 19. 24.

12 And one of the same place answered, and said, But who is their ^e father? Therefore it was a proverb, Is Saul also among the ^f Prophets?

^e Meaning that prophesie cometh not by succession, but is given to whom it pleaseth God.

^f Noting thereby him that from low degree cometh suddenly to honour.

13 And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place.

14 And Sauls uncle said unto him, and to his servant, Whither went ye? And he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

15 And Sauls uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you.

16 Then Saul said to his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found: but concerning the kingdome whereof Samuel spake, told he him not.

17 ¶ And Samuel ^g assembled the people unto the Lord in Mizpeh, ^g Both to declare unto them their fault in asking a king, and also to shew Gods sentence thereon.

18 And he said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have brought Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hands of all kingdomes that troubled you.

19 But ye have this day cast away your God, who onely delivereth you out of all your adversities and tribulations: and ye said unto him, No, but appoiunt a king over us. Now therefore stand ye before the Lord according to your tribes, and according to your thousands.

20 And when Samuel had gathered together all the tribes of Israel, the tribe of Benjamin was ^h taken.

^h That is, by casting of lots.

21 Afterward he assembled the tribe of Benjamin according to their families, and the family of Matri was taken, so Saul the son of Kish was taken, & when they sought him, he could not be found.

22 Therefore they asked the Lord again, if that man should yet come thither. And the Lord answered, Behold, he ⁱ hath hid himself among the stuffe.

ⁱ As though he were unworthy and unwilling.

23 And they ran, and brought him thence: and when he stood among the people, he was higher then any of the people from the shoulders upward.

24 And Samuel said to all the people, See ye not him, whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? and all the people shouted and said, [†] God save the king.

[†] Ebr. let the king live.

25 Then Samuel told the people ^k the duty of the kingdome, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the Lord, and Samuel sent all the people away every man to his house.

^k As it is written in Deut. 17. 15. &c.

26 Saul also went home to Gibeah, and there followed him a band of men, whose heart God had touched.

27 But the wicked men said, How shall he save us? So they despised him, and brought him no presents: but he ^l held his tongue.

^l Both to avoid sedition, and also to win them by patience.

CHAPTER XI.

Then Nahash the Ammonite ^a came up, and besieged Jabesh-Gilead: and all the men of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us, and we will be thy servants.

3 To whom the Elders of Jabelsh said, Give us seven dayes respite, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then if no man deliver us, we will come out to thee.

4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told these tidings in the eares of the people: and all the people lift up their voices and wept.

5 And behold, Saul came following the cattell out of the field, and Saul said, What aileth this people that they weep? And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabelsh.

^c God gave him the spirit of strength and courage to go against this tyrant.

6 Then the Spirit of God ^c came upon Saul, when he heard these tidings, and he was exceeding angry,

7 And took a yoke of Oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul, and after ^d Samuel, so shall his oxen be served. And the feare of the Lord fell on the people, and they came out [†] with one consent.

^d He addeth Samuel, because Saul was not yet approved of all.

[†] Ebr. as one man.

8 And when he numbred them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand men: and the men of Judah thirty thousand.

^e Meaning, Saul and Samuel.

9 Then ^e they said unto the messengers that came, so say unto the men of Jabelsh-Gilead, To morrow by then the sun be hot, ye shall have help. And the messengers came and shewed it to the men of Jabelsh, which were glad.

^f That is, to the Ammonites, dissembling that they had hope of aid.

10 Therefore the men of Jabelsh said, To morrow we will come out unto ^f you, and ye shall do with us all that pleaseth you.

11 ¶ And when the morrow was come, Saul put the people in three bands, and they came in upon the host in the morning watch, and slew the Ammonites untill the heat of the day: and they that remained, were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.

^g By this victory the Lord won the hearts of the people to Saul.

12 Then the people said unto Samuel, Who is he that said, Shall Saul reigne over us? bring those men that we may slay them.

^h By shewing mercy, he thought to overcome their malice.

13 But Saul said, There shall no man die this day: for to day the Lord hath saved Israel.

14 ¶ Then said Samuel unto the people, Come, that we may go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.

ⁱ In signe of thanksgiving for the victory.

15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and made Saul king there before the Lord in Gilgal: and there they offered ⁱ peace-offerings before the Lord: and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoyced exceedingly.

^c God would that this confession should be a pattern for all them that have any charge or office.

4 Then they said, Thou hast done us no wrong, nor hast hurt us, neither hast thou taken ought of any mans hand.

C H A P. XIII.

³ The Philistims are smitten of Saul and Jonathan. ¹³ Saul being disobedient to Gods commandment, is shewed of Samuel that he shall not reign. ¹⁹ The great slavery, wherein the Philistims kept the Israelites.

^a Whiles these things were done, ^b Before he took upon him the state of a king.

Saul now had been king a one year, and he reigned two yeares over Israel.

2 Then Saul chose him three thousand of Israel: and two thousand were with Saul in Michmash, and in mount Beth-el, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent every one to his tent.

3 And Jonathan smote the garison of the Philistims, that was in the hill: and it came to the Philistims eares: and Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, Heare, O ye Ebrews.

^c Of Kiriah-jearim, where the Ark was, chap. 10. ^d That every one should prepare themselves to war.

4 And all Israel heard say, Saul hath destroyed a garison of the Philistims: wherefore Israel was had in abomination with the Philistims: and the people gathered together after Saul to Gilgal.

5 ¶ The Philistims also gathered themselves together to fight with Israel thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen: for the people was like the sand which is by the seas side in multitude, and came up, and pitched in Michmash Eastward from Beth-aven.

^e Which was also called Beth-el, in the tribe of Benjamin.

6 And when the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait (for the people were in distress) the people hid themselves in caves, and in holds, and in rocks, and in towers, and in pits.

7 And some of the Ebrewes went over Jordan unto the land of Gad and Gilead: and Saul was yet in Gilgal, and all the people for feare followed him.

^f Where the two tribes and the half remained.

8 And he tarried seven dayes, according unto the time that Samuel had appointed: but Samuel came not to Gilgal, therefore the people were scattered from him.

^g Thinking that the absence of the Prophet was a signe, that they should lose the victory.

9 And Saul said, Bring a burnt-offering to me and peace-offerings: and he offered a burnt-offering.

10 And as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt-offering, behold, Samuel came: and Saul went forth to meet him, to salute him.

^h Ebr. Meets him.

11 And Samuel said, What hast thou done? Then Saul said, because I saw that the people was scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the dayes appointed, and that the Philistims gathered themselves together to Michmash, ⁱ Though these causes seem sufficient in mans judgement, yet because they had not the word of God, they runnel to his destruction.

12 Therefore said I, The Philistims will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made supplication unto the Lord: I was bold therefore, and offered a burnt-offering.

13 And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly: thou hast not kept the commandment of the Lord thy God, which he commanded thee: for the Lord had now established thy kingdome upon Israel for ever.

^j Who willed thee to obey him, and rest upon the words spoken by his Prophet.

14 But now thy kingdome shall not continue: the Lord hath sought him a man after his own heart, and the Lord hath commanded him to be governour over his people, because thou hast not kept that which the Lord had commanded thee.

^k That is, David.

15 ¶ And Samuel arose, and gat him up up from Gilgal in ¹ Gibeah of Benjamin : and Saul numbred the people that were found with him, about six hundred men.

16 And Saul and Jonathan his son, and the people that were found with them, had their abiding in Gibeah of Benjamin : but the Philistims pitched in Michmash.

¹⁷ Or, the destroyer:
in yet, the captain came out with three bands.

17 And there came out of the hoste of the Philistims ¹⁷ three bands to destroy, one band turned unto the way of Ophrah unto the land of Shual,

¹⁸ So that to mans judgement these three armies would have overcome the whole country.

18 And another band turned toward the way to Beth-horon, and the ¹⁸ third band turned toward the way of the coast that looketh toward the valley of Zeboim, toward the wilderness.

19 Then there was no smith found thorowout all the land of Israel : for the Philistims sayd, Left the Ebrewes make them swords or speares.

20 Wherefore all the Israelites went down to the Philistims, to sharpen every man his share, his mattock, and his axe, and his weeding hooke.

21 Yet they had a file for the shares, and for the mattocks, and for the pick-forkes, and for the axes, and for to sharpen the goads.

²² To declare that the victory onely came of God, and not by their force.

22 So when the day of battell was come, there was neither ²² sword nor speare found in the hands of any of the people that were with Saul and with Jonathan: but only with Saul and Jonathan his son was there found.

23 And the garison of the Philistims came out to the passage of Michmash.

Then on a day Jonathan the son of Saul said unto the yong man that bare his armour, ² Come, and let us go over toward the Philistims garison, that is yonder on the other side, but he told not his father.

² By this example
God would declare to Israel that the victory did not consist in multitude, or armour, but onely came of his grace.

2 And Saul taried in the border of Gibeah under a pomegranate tree, which was him, were about six hundred men.

3 And Ahiah the son of Ahitub, ³ Icha-bods brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, was the Lords Priest in Shiloh, and ware an Ephod: and the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.

⁴ Or, like a tooth.

4 ¶ Now in the way whereby Jonathan fought to go over to the Philistims garison, there was a ⁴ sharpe rock on the one side, and a sharpe rock on the other side: the name of the one was called bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.

5 The one rock stretched from the North toward Michmash, and the other was from the South toward Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan said to the yong man that bare his armour, Come, and let us goe over unto the garison of these ⁶ uncircumcised: it may be that the Lord will worke with us: for it is ⁶ not hard to the Lord ⁶ to save with many, or with few.

⁶ To wit, the Philistims.

⁶ Or, more can lay the Lord.
⁶ 2 Chron. 14. 11.

7 And he that bare his armour, said unto him, Doe all that is in thine heart: go where it pleaseth thee: behold, ⁷ I am with thee as thine heart desireth.

⁷ I will follow thee whither thou goest.

8 Then said Jonathan, Behold, we go over unto these men, and will shew our selves unto them.

9 ⁹ If they say on this wise to us, Tary untill we come to you, then we will stand still in our place, and not go up to them.

⁹ This he spake by the spirit of prophecie, foras-much as hereby God gave him assurance of the victory.

10 But if they say, Come up unto us, then we will go up: for the Lord hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a signe unto us.

11 So they both shewed themselves unto the garison of the Philistims: and the Philistims said, See, the Ebrewes come out of the ¹¹ holes wherein they had hid themselves.

¹¹ Thus they spake contemptuously,
and by derision.

12 And the men of the garison answered
Jonathan and his armour bearer, and said,
Come up to us: for we will shew you a thing. Then Jonathan said unto his armour bearer, Come up after me: for the Lord hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.

13 So Jonathan went up upon ¹³ his hands and upon his feet, and his armour bearer after him: and some fell before Jonathan, and his armour bearer slew others after him.

¹³ That is, he crept up, or went up with all haste.

14 So the ¹⁴ first slaughter which Jonathan and his armour bearer made, was about twentie men, as it were within halfe an acre of land, which two oxen plow.

¹⁴ The second was, when they slew one another, and the third,
when the Israelites chased them.

15 And there was a feare in the hoste, and in the field, and among all the people:
the garison also, and they that went out to spoile, were afraid themselves: and the earth ¹⁵ trembled: for it was stricken with feare by God.

¹⁵ In that the insensible creatures tremble for feare of Gods judgement, it declareth how terrible his vengeance shall be against his enemies.

16 ¶ Then the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin saw: and behold, the multitude was discomfited, and smitten as they went.

17 Therefore said Saul unto the people that were with him, Search now and see, who is gone from us. And when they had numbred, behold, Jonathan and his armour bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the Arke of God (for the Arke of God was at that time with the children of Israel)

19 ¶ And while Saul talked unto the Priest, the noise that was in the hoste of the Philistims spread further abroad, and increased: therefore Saul sayd unto the Priest, Withdraw thine hand.

Y 20 And

20 And Saul was assembled with all the people that were with him, and they came to the battell: and behold, * every mans sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

* *Indg. 7.21.22.
2 Chron. 20.23.*

21 Moreover, the Ebrewes that were with the Philistims before time, and were come with them into all parts of the hoste, even they also turned to be with the ^k Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

^k Though before for feare of the Philistims they declared themselves as enemies to their brethren.

22 Also all the men of Israel which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistims were fled, they followed after them in the battell.

23 And so the Lord saved Israel that day: and the battell continued unto Beth-aven.

24 ¶ And at that time the men of Israel were pressed ⁱ with hunger: for Saul charged the people with an oath, saying, ¹ Curfed be the man that eateth [†] food till night, that I may be avenged of mine enemies: so none of the people tasted ^{any} sustenance.

ⁱ Such was his hypocrisie and arrogancie, that he thought to attribute to his policy that which God had given by the hand of Jonathan.
[†] Ebr. bread.

25 And all they of the land came to a wood, where hony lay upon the ground.

26 And the people came into the wood, and behold, the hony dropped, and no man moved his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the ^m oath.

^m That is, the punishment, if they brake their oath.

27 But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipt it in an hony combe, and put his hand to his mouth, and his ^a eyes received sight.

^a Which were dim before for wearinesse and hunger.

28 Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father made the people to sweare, saying, Curfed be the man that eateth sustenance this day: and the people were ^g faint.

^g Or, weary.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father, hath troubled the land: see now how mine eyes are made cleare, because I have tasted a little of this honie:

^o By making this cruell law.

30 How much more, if the people had eaten to day of the spoile of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a greater slaughter among the Philistims?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistims that day, from Michmash to Aijalon: and the people were exceeding faint.

32 So the people turned to the spoyle, and tooke sheep, and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground, and the people did eat them ^{*} with the blood.

* *Leuit. 7.26.
and 19.26.
Deut. 12.16.*

33 Then men told Saul, saying, Behold, the people sin against the Lord, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have trespassed: ^p roule a great stone unto me this day.

^p That the blood of the beasts that shall be slaine, may be pressed out upon it.

34 Again Saul said, Go abroad among the people, and bid them bring me every man his ox, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat and sin not against the Lord in eating with the blood. And the people brought every man his ox in his hand that night, and slew them there.

35 Then Saul made an altar unto the Lord, and that [†] was the first altar that he made unto the Lord.

[†] Or, of that time began he to build an altar.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistims by night, & spoile them untill the morning shine, & let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever thou thinkest best. Then said the Priest, Let us ^q draw neere hither unto God.

^q To aske counsell of him.

37 So Saul asked of God, saying, Shall I go down after the Philistims? wilt thou deliver them into the hands of Israel? But he answered him not at that time.

38 ¶ And Saul said, * All ye [†] chiefe of the people, come ye hither, and know, and see by whom this sin is done this day.

* *Indg. 20.2.

39 For as the Lord liveth, which saveth Israel, though it be ^{done} by Jonathan my son, he shall die the death. But none of all the people answered him.

40 Then he said unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side. And the people said unto Saul, Do what thou thinkest best.

41 Then Saul said unto the Lord God of Israel, Give ^a a perfit ^{lot}. And Jonathan and Saul were taken, but the people escaped.

^a Cause the lots to fall on him that hath broken the oath: but he doth not consider his presumption in commanding the same oath.

42 And Saul said, Cast ^{lots} between me and Jonathan my son. And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me, what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I tasted a little hony with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and loe, I must die.

44 Again Saul answered, God do so and more also, unlesse thou die the death, Jonathan.

45 And the people said unto Saul, ^f Shall Jonathan die, who hath so mightily delivered Israel? God forbid. As the Lord liveth, there shall not one haire of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people delivered Jonathan that he died not.

^f The people thought it their due to rescue him, who of ignorance had broken a thine, and by whom they had received so great a benefit.

46 Then Saul came up from the Philistims, and the Philistims went to their own place.

47 ¶ So Saul held the kingdome over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the Kings of Zobah, and against the Philistims: and whithersoever he went, he [†] handled them as wicked men.

[†] Or, overcame them.

48 He gathered also an host, and smote Amalek, and delivered Israel out of the hands hands of them that spoiled them.

49 Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Malchishua: and the names of his two daughters, the elder was called Merab, and the younger was named Michal.

50 And the name of Sauls wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of his chiefe captaine was Abner the son of Ner, Sauls uncle.

51 And Kish was Sauls father: and Ner the father of Abner, was the son of Abiel.

52 And there was fore war against the Philistims all the dayes of Saul: & whomsoever Saul saw to be a strong man, and meet for the warre, he took him unto him.

CHAP. XV.

3 Saul is commanded to slay Amalek. 9 He spareth Agag and the best things. 19 Samuel reproveth him. 28 Saul is rejected of the Lord, and his kingdom given to another. 33 Samuel bereaveth Agag in pieces.

Afterward Samuel said unto Saul, The Lord sent me to anoint thee king over his people, over Israel: now therefore obey the voice of the words of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I remember what Amalek did to Israel, how they laid wait for them in the way, as they came up from Egypt.

3 Now therefore go, and smite Amalek, & destroy ye all that pertaineth unto them, and have no compassion on them, but slay both man and woman, both infant and suckling, both ox, and sheep, both camell, and asse.

4 And Saul assembled the people, and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, and set watch at the river.

6 And Saul said unto the Kenites, Go, depart, and get you down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed mercy to all the children of Israel, when they came up from Egypt: and the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 So Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah, as thou comest to Shur, that is before Egypt.

8 And took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the better sheep, and the oxen, and the fat beasts, and the lambs, and all that was good, and they would not destroy them: but everie thing that was vile, and nought worth, that they destroyed.

10 Then came the word of the Lord unto Samuel, saying,

11 It repenteth me that I have made

Saul King, for he is turned from me, and hath not performed my commandements. And Samuel was moved, and cried unto the Lord all night.

12 And when Samuel arose early to meet Saul in the morning, one told Samuel, saying, Saul is gone to Carmel: and behold, he hath made him there a place, from whence he returned, and departed, and is gone down to Gilgal.

13 Then Samuel came to Saul, and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the Lord, I have fulfilled the commandment of the Lord.

14 But Samuel said, What meaneth then the bleating of the sheep in mine eares, and the lowing of the oxen, which I heare?

15 And Saul answered, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep, & of the oxen, to sacrifice them unto the Lord thy God, and the remnant have we destroyed.

16 Againe Samuel said to Saul, Let me tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17 Then Samuel said, When thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? for the Lord anointed thee king over Israel.

18 And the Lord sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and destroy those sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them, untill thou destroy them.

19 Now wherefore hast thou not obeyed the voice of the Lord, but hast turned to the prey, and hast done wickedly in the sight of the Lord?

20 And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have destroyed the Amalekites.

21 But the people tooke of the spoyle, sheep, and oxen, and the chiefest of the things which should have been destroyed, to offer unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as when the voice of the Lord is obeyed? behold, to obey is better then sacrifice, and to hearken is better then the fat of Rammes.

23 For rebellion is the sinne of witchcraft, and transgression is wickednesse and idolatrie. Because thou hast cast away the word of the Lord, therefore he hath cast away thee from being king.

24 Then Saul said unto Samuel, I have sinned: for I have transgressed the commandment of the Lord, and thy words, because I feared the people, and obeyed their voice.

25 Now therefore I pray thee, take away

26 But Samuel said unto Saul, I will not return with thee: for thou hast cast away the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath cast away thee, that thou shalt not be king over Israel.

27 And as Samuel turned himselfe to go away, he caught the lap of his coat, and it rent.

28 Then Samuel said unto him, The Lord hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to thy neighbour, that is better then thou.

29 For indeed the strength of Israel will not lie nor repent: for he is not a man that he should repent.

30 Then he said, I have sinned: but honour me, I pray thee, before the Elders of my people, and before Israel, and turn again with me, that I may worship the Lord thy God.

31 ¶ So Samuel turned again, and followed Saul: and Saul worshipped the Lord.

32 Then said Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king of the Amalekites: and Agag came unto him pleasantly, and Agag said, Truly the bitterness of death is passed.

33 And Samuel said, * As thy sword hath made women childlesse, so shall thy mother be childlesse among other women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord in Gilgal.

34 ¶ So Samuel departed to Ramah, and Saul went up to his house to Gibeah of Saul.

35 And Samuel came no more to see Saul untill the day of his death: but Samuel mourned for Saul, and the Lord repented that he made Saul king over Israel.

CHAP. XVI

1 Samuel is reproved of God, and is sent to anoint David.
7 God regardeth the heart. 13 The Spirit of the Lord cometh upon David. 14 The wicked Spirit is sent upon Saul.
19 Saul seeketh for David.

THE Lord then said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have cast him away from reigning over Israel? fill thine horn with oyle and come, I will send thee to Ishai the Bethlemite, for I have provided me a king among his sons.

2 And Samuel said, How can I go? for if Saul shall heare it, he will kill me. Then the Lord answered, Take an heifer with thee, and say, I am come to do sacrifice to the Lord.

3 And call Ishai to the sacrifice, and I will shew thee what thou shalt do, and thou shalt anoint unto me him whom I name unto thee.

4 So Samuel did that the Lord bad him, and came to Beth-lehem, and the Elders of the town were astonished at his comming, and said, Comest thou peaceably?

5 And he answered, Yea: I am come to doe sacrifice unto the Lord: sanctifie yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Ishai and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

6 And when they were come, he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lords Anointed is before him.

7 But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, nor on the height of his stature, because I have refused him: for God seeth not as man seeth: for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord beholdeth the heart.

8 Then Ishai called Abinadab, and made him come before Samuel. And he said, Neither hath the Lord chosen this.

9 Then Ishai made Shammah come. And he said, Neither yet hath the Lord chosen him.

10 Again Ishai made his seven sons to come before Samuel: and Samuel said unto Ishai, The Lord hath chosen none of these.

11 Finally, Samuel said unto Ishai, Are there no more children but these? And he said, There remaineth yet a little one behind, that keepeth the sheep. Then Samuel said unto Ishai, * Send and fet him: for we will not sit down till he be come hither.

12 And he sent, and brought him in: and he was ruddy, and of a good countenance, and comely visage. And the Lord said, Arise, and anoint him: for this is he.

13 Then Samuel tooke the horne of oyl, and anointed him in the mids of his brethren. And the spirit of the Lord came upon David, from that day forward: then Samuel rose up, and went to Ramah.

14 ¶ But the spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit sent of the Lord vexed him.

15 And Sauls servants said unto him, Behold now, the evill spirit of God vexeth thee.

16 Let our lord therefore command thy servants, that are before thee, to seeke a man that is a cunning player upon the harpe: that when the evill spirit of God commeth upon thee, he may play with his hand, and thou mayest be eased.

17 Saul then said unto his servants, Provide me a man, I pray you, that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then answered one of his servants, and said, Behold, I have seene a son of Ishai, a Bethlemite, that can play, and is strong, valiant, and a man of warre, and wise in matters, and a comely person, and the Lord is with him.

21 And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he loved him very well, and he was his armour bearer.

22 And Saul sent to Ishai, saying, Let David now remaine with me: for he hath found favour in my fight.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The Philistims make warre against Israel. 10 Goliath defieth Israel. 17 David is sent to his brethren. 34 The strength and boldnesse of David. 47 The Lord saveth not by sword nor speare. 50 David killeth Goliath, and the Philistims flee.

NOW the Philistims gathered their armies to battell, and came together to Shochoh, which is in Judah, and pitched betweene Shochoh and Azekah, † in the coast of Dammin.

2 And Saul, and the men of Israel assembled, and pitched in the valley † of Elah, and put themselves in battell aray to meet the Philistims.

3 And the Philistims stood on a mountaine on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: so that a valley was betweene them.

4 ¶ Then came a man between them both out of the tents of the Philistines, named Goliath of Gath: his height was six cubits and an hand breadth,

5 And had an helmet of brasse upon his head, and a † brigandine upon him: and the weight of his brigandine was five thousand shekels of brasse.

6 And he had † bootes of brasse upon his legs, and a shield of brasse upon his shoulders.

7 And the shaft of his speare was like a Weavers beame: & his speare head weighed six hundreth shekels of yron: and one bearing a shield went before him.

8 And he stood, and cried against the hoste of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come to set your battell in aray? am not I a Philistim: and you servants to Saul? chuse you a man for you, and let him come down to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and † kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I overcome him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.

10 Also the Philistim said, I defie the hoste of Israel this day: give me a man, that we may fight † together.

11 When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistim, they were discouraged, and greatly afraid.

12 ¶ Now this David was the son of an Ephrathite of Beth-lehem Judah, named Ishai, which had eight sons: and † this man was taken for an old man in the dayes of Saul.

13 And the three eldest sons of Ishai went and followed Saul to the battell: and the names of his three sons that went to battell, were Eliab the eldest, and the next Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

14 So David was the least: and the three eldest went after Saul.

15 David also went, but he returned from Saul to feed his fathers sheep in Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philistim drew neere in the morning, and evening, and continued fourtie dayes.

17 And Ishai said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an Ephah of this parced corn, and these ten cakes, and runne to the hoste to thy brethren.

18 Also carry these ten fresh cheefes unto the Captaine, and looke how thy brethren fare, and receive their † pledge.

19 (Then Saul and they, and all the men of Israel were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistims)

20 ¶ So David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and tooke and went as Ishai had commanded him, and came within the compasse of the hoste: and the host went out in aray, and shouted in the battell.

21 For Israel and the Philistims had put themselves in aray; armie against armie.

22 And David left the things, which he bare, under the hands of the keeper of the † cariage, and ran into the hoste, and came, and asked his brethren † how they did.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, the man that was betweene the two Armies, came up, (whose name was Goliath the Philistim of Gath) out of the † armie of the Philistims, and spake such words, and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, ranne away from him, and werefore afraid.

25 For every man of Israel said, Saw ye not this man that commeth up? even to revile Israel is he come up: and to him that killeth him, will the King give great riches, and will give him his † daughter; yea, and make his fathers house free in Israel.

that stood with him, and said, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistim, and taketh away the shame from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistim, that he should revile the hoste of the living God?

27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, Thus shall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men, and Eliab was very angrie with David, and said, Why comest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheepe, in the wilderness? I know thy pride and the malice of thine heart, that thou art come down to see the battell.

29 Then David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause?

30 And he departed from him into the presence of another, and spake of the same manner, and the people answered him according to the former words.

31 ¶ And they that heard the words which David spake, rehearsed them before Saul, which caused him to be brought.

32 So David said to Saul, Let no mans heart faile him, because of him: thy servant will goe, and fight with this Philistim.

33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to goe against this Philistim to fight with him: for thou art a boy, and he is a man of warre from his youth.

34 And David answered unto Saul, Thy servant kept his fathers sheepe, and there came a Lion, and likewise a beare, and tooke a sheepe out of the flock, 35 And I went out after him and smote him, and tooke it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by the beard, and smote him, and slew him.

36 So thy servant slew both the Lion, and the beare: therefore this uncircumcised Philistim shall be as one of them, seeing he hath railed on the hoste of the living God.

37 ¶ Moreover David said, the Lord that delivered me out of the paw of the Lion, and out of the paw of the beare, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistim. Then Saul said unto David, Goe, and the Lord be with thee.

38 And Saul put his raiment upon David, and put an helmet of brasse upon his head, and put a brigandine upon him.

39 Then girded David his sword upon his raiment, and began to go: for he never proved it: and David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these: for I am not accustomed. Wherefore David put them off him.

40 Then tooke he his staffe in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of a brooke, and put them in his shepherds bag, or scrip, and his sling was in his hand, & he drew neere to the Philistim.

41 ¶ And the Philistim came and drew neere unto David, and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 Now when the Philistim looked about and saw David, he disdaind him: for he was but yong, ruddie, & of a comly face.

43 And the Philistim said unto David, am I a dogge, that thou comest to me with staves? And the Philistim curst David by his gods.

44 And she Philistim said to David, Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beasts of the field.

45 ¶ Then said David to the Philistim, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a speare, and with a shield, but I come to thee in the Name of the Lord of hostes, the God of the hoste of Israel, whom thou hast railed upon.

46 This day shall the Lord close thee in mine hand, and I shal smite thee, & take thine head from thee, and I will give the carcases of the hoste of the Philistims this day unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth, that all the world may know that Israel hath a God, 47 And that all this assembly may know, that the Lord saveth not with sword nor with speare. (for the battell is the Lords) and he will give you into our hands.

48 And when the Philistim arose to come and draw neere unto David, David thasted and ran to fight against the Philistim.

49 And David put his hand in his bagge, and tooke out a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistim in his forehead, that the stone sticked in his forehead, and he fell groveling to the earth.

50 So David overcame the Philistim with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistim, and slew him, when David had no sword in his hand.

51 Then David ranne, and stood upon the Philistim, and took his sword and drew it out of his sheath, and slew him, and cut off his head therewith. So when the Philistims saw that their champion was dead, they fled.

52 And the men of Israel and Judah arose, and shouted, and followed after the Philistims, untill they came to the valley, and unto the gates of Ekron: and the Philistims fell downe wounded by the way of Shaaraim, even to Gath and to Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from pursuing the Philistims, and spoyled their tents.

54 And David tooke the head of the Philistim, and brought it to Jerusalem, and ⁷ That is, of what family and tribe is he? or else he had forgotten David, albeit he had received so great a benefit by him.

55 ¶ When Saul saw David go forth against the Philistim, he said unto Abner the captain of his host, Abner, whose sonne is this young man? and Abner answered, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.

56 Then the king said, Enquire thou whose sonne this young man is.

57 And when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistim, then Abner took him, & brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistim in his hand.

58 And Saul said to him, Whose sonne art thou, thou young man? and David answered, I am the sonne of thy servant Ithai the Beth-lehemite.

CHAP. XVIII.

¹ The amitie of Jonathan and David. ² Saul envieth David for the praise that the women gave him. ¹¹ Saul would have slain David. ¹⁷ He promiseth him Merab to wife, but giveth him Michal. ²⁷ David delivereth to Saul two hundred foreskins of the Philistines. ²⁹ Saul feareth David, seeing that the Lord is with him.

^a His affection was fully bent toward him.

And when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would not let him return to his fathers house.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant: for he loved him as his own soul.

4 And Jonathan put off the robe that was upon him, and gave it David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

^b That is, he prospered in all his doings.

5 And David went out whither soever Saul sent him; and behaved himself wisely: so that Saul set him over the men of warre, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Sauls servants.

^c To wit, Goliath.

6 ¶ When they came again, and David returned from the slaughter of the Philistim, the women came out of all cities of Israel singing and dancing to meet king Saul, with timbrels, with instruments of joy, and with rebecks.

^d Ebr. answered, playing. ^e Chap. 21. 11. and 29. 5.

7 And the women sang by course in their play, and said, * Saul hath slain his thousand, and David his ten thousand.

8 Therefore Saul was exceeding wroth, and the saying displeased him, and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousand, and to me they have ascribed but a thousand, and what can he have more save the kingdome?

^f Because he bare him envie and hatred.

9 Wherefore Saul had an eye on David from that day forward.

^g That is, spoke as a man beside himself: for so the people abused this word, when they could not understand.

10 ¶ And on the morrow the evill spirit of God came upon Saul, and he prophesied ed in the mids of the house: and David played with his hand like as at other times, and there was a speare in Sauls hand.

11 And Saul took the speare, and said, I will smite David thorow to the wall. But David avoided twice out of his presence.

12 And Saul was afraid of David, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul.

13 Therefore Saul put him from him, and made him a captain over a thousand, and he went out and in before the people.

^f Meaning, he was captain over the people.

14 And David behaved himself wisely in all his wayes: for the Lord was with him.

15 Wherefore when Saul saw that he was very wise, he was afraid of him.

16 For all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and in before them.

17 ¶ Then Saul said to David, Behold mine eldest daughter Merab, her I will give thee to wife: onely be a valiant sonne unto me, and fight the Lords battels: for Saul thought, Mine hand shall not be upon him, but the hand of the Philistims shall be upon him.

^g Fight against them that war against Gods people.

18 And David answered Saul, What am I? and what is my life, or the family of my father in Israel; that I should be son in law to the king?

19 Howbeit when Merab Sauls daughter should have been given to David, she was given to Adriel a Meholathite to wife.

20 ¶ Then Michal Sauls daughter loved David: and they shewed Saul, and the thing pleased him.

^h By whom he had five sonnes, which David put to death at the request of the Gibeonites. 2 Sam. 21. 8.

21 Therefore Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistims may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David, Thou shalt this day be my sonne in law in the one of the twain.

ⁱ So his hypocritic appeareth: for under pretence of favour he sought his destruction.

22 And Saul commanded his servants, Speake with David secretly, and say, Behold, the king hath a favour to thee, and all his servants love thee: be now therefore the kings sonne in law.

23 And Sauls servants spake these words in the eares of David. And David said,

* Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a kings sonne in law, seeing that I am a poore man and of small reputation?

^k Meaning, that he was not able to endow his wife with riches.

24 And then Sauls servants brought him word again, saying, such words spake David.

25 And Saul said, This wife shall ye say to David, The king desireth no dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistims, to be avenged of the kings enemies: for Saul thought to make David fall into the hands of the Philistims.

26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well, to ^m Meaning David and his souldiers.

27 Afterward David arose with his men, and went and slew of the Philistims two hundred men : and David brought their foreskins, and ^m they gave them wholly to the king, that he might be the kings sonne in law : therefore Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

28 Then Saul saw and understood that the Lord ^{was} with David, and that Michal the daughter of Saul loved him.

ⁿ To be deprived of his kingdom.

29 Then Saul was more and more ^a afraid of David, and Saul became alway Davids enemy.

^o That is, David had better successe against the Philistims then Sauls men.

30 And when the princes of the Philistims went forth, at their going forth ^o David behaved himself more wisely then all the servants of Saul, so that his name was much set by.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Jonathan ^{declareth} to David the wicked purpose of Saul.
11 Michal his wife ^{saveth} him. 18 David cometh to Samuel. 23 The Spirit of prophesie cometh on Saul.

THEN Saul spake to Jonathan his sonne, and to all his servants, that they should kill David : but Jonathan Sauls sonne had a great favour to David.

^a Before Saul sought Davids life secretly, but now his hypocrite burthens forth to open cruelty.

2 And Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father goeth about to slay thee : now therefore, I pray thee, take heed unto thy self unto the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thy self.

^b That I may give thee warning what to do.

3 And I will go out, and stand by my father in the field where thou ^{art}, and will commune with my father of thee, and I will see what ^{he saith}, and will tell thee.

4 ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him. Let not the king sin against his servant, against David : for he hath not sinned against thee, but his works have been to thee very good.

⁶ Psal. 119. 109.

5 For he ^{did} ^{*} put his life in danger, & slew the Philistim, and the Lord wrought a great salvation for all Israel : thou sawest it, and thou rejoicedst : wherefore then wilt thou sinne against innocent blood, and slay David without a cause?

6 Then Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan, and Saul ^{swore}, As the Lord liveth, he shall not die.

^c Whatsoever he pretended outwardly, yet his heart was full of malice.

7 So Jonathan called David, and Jonathan shewed him all those words, and Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as in times past.

8 ¶ Again the warre began, and David went out and fought with the Philistims, and slew them with a great slaughter, and they fled from him.

9 ¶ And the evill Spirit of the Lord was upon Saul, as he sat in his house having his speare in his hand, and David ^d played with his hand.

^d He played on his harpe to mitigate the rage of the evill spirit, as chap. 16. 23.

10 And Saul intended to smite David to the wall with the speare : but he turned aside out of Sauls presence, and he smote the speare against the wall : but David fled, and escaped the same night.

11 Saul also sent messengers unto Davids house, to watch him, and to slay him in the morning : and Michal Davids wife told it him, saying, If thou save not thy self this night, to morrow thou shalt be slain.

12 So Michal ^e let David down thorow a window : and he went, and fled, and escaped.

^e Thus God moved both the son and daughter of this tyrant to favour David against their father.

13 Then Michal took an image, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow stuffed with goats ^{hairs} under the head of it, and covered it with a cloth.

14 And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, He is sick.

15 And Saul sent the messengers again to see David, saying, Bring him to me in the ^f bed, that I may slay him.

^f Behold, how the tyrants to accomplish their rage, neither regard oath nor friendship, God, nor man.

16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, an image ^{was} in the bed, with a pillow of goats ^{hairs} under the head of it.

17 And Saul said unto Michal, Why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemie, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go, or else I wil kill thee.

18 ¶ So David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him : and he and Samuel went and dwelt in ^g Naioth.

^g Naioth was a schoole where the word of God was studied, nere to Ramah.

19 But one told Saul, saying, Behold, David ^{is} at Naioth in Ramah.

20 And Saul sent messengers to take David : and when they saw a company of Prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing ^h as appointed over them, the Spirit of God fell upon the messengers of Saul, and they also ⁱ prophesied.

^h Being their chief instructor.

21 And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, & they prophesied likewise : again Saul sent the third messengers, and they prophesied also.

ⁱ Changed their mindes and praised God.

22 Then went he himself to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Shechu, & he asked, and said, Where are Samuel and David? and one said, Behold, ^{they be} at Naioth in Ramah.

23 And he ^k went thither, even to Naioth in Ramah, and the Spirit of God came upon him also, and he went prophesying until he came to Naioth in Ramah.

2 Jonathan comforteth David. 3 They renew their league.
33 Saul would have killed Jonathan. 38 Jonathan adviseth David by three arrows, of his fathers fury.

^a For Saul was slayed, and prophesied a day and a night, by Gods providence, that David might have time to escape.

And David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and said before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what sinne have I committed before thy father, that he seeketh my life?

[†] Ebr. reveale it in

2 And he said unto him, God forbid, thou shalt not die: behold, my father will do nothing great nor small, but he will shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? he will not do it.

^b I am in great danger of death.

3 And David sware again and said, Thy father knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes: therefore he thinketh, Jonathan shall not know it, lest he be fory: but indeed, as the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, there is but a ^b step between me and death.

[†] Ebr. faith.

4 Then said Jonathan unto David, Whatsoever thy soul [†] requireth, that will I do unto thee.

^c At what time there should be a solemn sacrifice,

5 And David said unto Jonathan, Behold, to morrow is the ^c first day of the moneth, and I should sit with the king at meat: but let me go, that I may hide my self in the fields unto the third day at even.

21.

6 If thy father make mention of me, then say, David asked leave of me, that he might go to Beth-lehem to his own city:
for there is a ^d yearly sacrifice for all that family.

^e Chap. 18. 3.
and 23. 18.

7 And if he say thus, It is well, thy servant shall have peace: but if he be angry, be sure that wickednesse is concluded of him.

^e That he were fully determined.

8 So shalt thou shew mercy unto thy servant: * for thou hast joyned thy servant into a covenant of the Lord with thee, and if there be in me iniquity, slay thou me:
for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father?

^f If thy father do inquire of me.

9 ¶ And Jonathan answered, God keep that from thee: for if I knew that wickednesse were ^e concluded of my father, he would not I tell it thee.

10 Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me how ^f shall I know, if thy father answer thee cruelly?

11 And Jonathan said to David, Come and let us go out into the field: and they twain went out into the field.

12 Then Jonathan said to David, O
Lord God of Israel, when I have groped my fathers minde to morrow at this time, or within this three daies, and if it be well with David, and I then send not unto thee, and shew it thee,

^g The Lord punish me most grievously.

13 The Lord do so, and much more unto Jonathan: but if my father have mind to do thee evil, I will shew thee also, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the Lord be with thee, as he hath been with my father.

14 Likewise I require not whiles I live:
for I doubt not but thou wilt shew me the mercy of the Lord, ^h that I die not.

^h I know that if thou werest now preferred to the kingdome, thou wouldest not destroy me, but shew thy self friendly to my posterity.

15 But I require that thou cut not off thy mercy from mine house for ever: no, not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of David, every one from the earth.

16 So Jonathan made a bond with the house of David, saying, Let the Lord require it at the hands of Davids enemies.

17 And again Jonathan sware unto David, because he loved him (for he loved him as his own soul)

[†] Or, mentioned.

18 Then said Jonathan to him, To morrow is the first day of the moneth: and thou shalt be [†] looked for, for thy place shall be empty.

19 Therefore thou shalt hide thy self three daies, ⁱ then thou shalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou diddest hide thy self, when this matter was in hand, and shalt remain by the stone [†] Ezel.

ⁱ Ebr. of the way, because it served as a sign to show the way to them that passed by.

20 And I will shoot three arrows on the side thereof, as though I shot at a mark.

21 And after I will send a boy, saying,
Go, seek the arrows. If I say unto the boy,
See, the arrows are on this side thee, bring them, and come thou: for it is [†] well with thee and no hurt, [†] as the Lord liveth.

[†] Ebr. peace.

22 But if I say thus unto the boy, Behold the arrows are beyond thee, go thy way:
for the [†] Lord hath sent thee away.

[†] The Lord is the author of thy departure.

23 As touching the thing which thou and I have spoken of, behold, the Lord be between thee and me for ever.

24 ¶ So David hid himself in the field:
and when the first day of the moneth came,
the king sat to eat meat.

25 And the king sat, as at other times, upon his seat, even upon his seat by the wall, and Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Sauls side, but Davids place was em-ptie.

26 And Saul said nothing that day: for he thought, Some thing hath befallen him, though he were [†] cleane, [†] because he was not purified.

[†] Yet he might have some business to let him.

27 But on the morrow which was the second day of the moneth, Davids place was empty again: and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore cometh not the sonne of Ishai to meat, neither yesterday nor to day?

[†] Thus he speaketh contemptuously
of David.

28 And Jonathan answered unto Saul, David required of me, [†] that he might go to Beth-lehem.

29 For he said, Let me go, I pray thee:
for our family offereth [†] a sacrifice in the city, and my brother hath sent for me: therefore now if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me go, I pray thee, and see my brethren:

[†] That is, a peace-offering.

[†] Meaning all his kindred.

thren : this is the cause that he cometh not unto the kings table.

30 Then was Saul angry with Jonathan, and said unto him, Thou^o son of the wicked rebellious woman, do not I know that thou hast chosen the son of Ishai to thy confusion, and to the confusion and shame of thy mother?

31 For as long as the son of Ishai liveth upon the earth, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom: wherefore now send and fet him unto me, for he[†] shall surely dy.

32 And Jonathan answered unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Wherefore shall he[†] die? what hath he done?

33 And Saul cast a spear at him to hit him, whereby Jonathan knew, that it was determined of his father to slay David.

34 ¶ So Jonathan arose from the table in a great anger, and did eat no meat the second day of the moneth: for he was sorry for David, and because his father had reviled him.

35 On the next morning therefore Jonathan went out into the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little boy with him.

36 And he said unto his boy, Run now, seek the arrows which I shoot: and as the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him.

37 And when the boy was come to the place where the arrow was that Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the boy, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the boy, Make speed, hast and stand not still: and Jonathans boy gathered up the arrows, and came to his master.

39 But the boy knew nothing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 Then Jonathan gave his bow and arrows unto the boy that was with him, and said unto him, Go, carie them into the citie.

41 ¶ As soon as the boy was gone, David arose out of a place that was toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and wept both twain, till David exceeded.

42 Therefore Jonathan said to David, Go in peace: that which we have sworn both of us in the Name of the Lord, saying, The Lord be between me and thee, and between my seed, and between thy seed, let it stand for ever.

43 And he arose and departed, and Jonathan went into the city.

CHAP. XXI.

1 David fleeth to Nob to Ahimelech the Priest, 6 He getteth of him the showbread to satisfy his hunger. 7 Doeg Sauls servant betrayeth him. 10 David fleeth to king Achish. 13 and there stayeth himself.

¶ Then came David to Nob to Ahimelech the Priest, and Ahimelech was astonied at the meeting of David, and said unto him, why art thou alone, and no man with thee?

2 And David said to Ahimelech the Priest, The King hath commanded me a certaine thing, and hath said unto me, Let no man know whereabout I send thee, and what I have commanded thee: and I have appointed my servants to such and such places.

3 Now therefore if thou hast ought under thine hand, give me five cakes of bread, or what cometh to hand.

4 And the Priest answered David, and said, There is no common bread under mine hand, but here is^{*} hallowed bread, if the young men have kept themselves, at least from women.

5 David then answered the Priest, and said unto him, Certainly women have been separate from us this two or three dayes since I came out: and the vessels of the young men were holy, though the way were prophane, and how much more then shall every one^{*} be sanctified this day in the vessell?

6 So the Priest gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there, save the shewbread that was taken from before the Lord, to put hot bread there, the day that it was taken away.

7 (And there was the same day one of the servants of Saul[†] abiding before the Lord, named Doeg the Edomite, the chiefest of Sauls herdmen)

8 And David said unto Ahimelech, Is there not here under thine hand a speare or a sword? for I have neither brought my sword nor my harnesse with me, because the kings businesse required hast.

9 And the Priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistin, whom thou slewest in the valley of Elah, behold, it is wrapt in a cloth behind the Ephod: if thou wilt take that to thee, take it: for there is none other save that here: And David said, There is none to that, give it me.

10 And David arose and fled the same day from the presence of Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath.

11 And the servants of Achish said unto him, Is not this David the king of the land? did they not sing unto him in dances, saying, Saul hath slain his thousand, and David his ten thousand?

12 And David considered these words, and was sore afraid of Achish the king of Gath.

13 And he changed his behaviour before them, & fained himself mad in their hands, and scrabbed on the doores of the gate, and let his speckle fall down upon his beard.

CHAP. XXII.

¹ David hideth himself in a cave. ² Many that were in trouble came unto him. ³ Doeg accuseth Ahimelech. ¹⁸ Saul causeth the Priests to be slain. ²⁰ Abiathar escapeth.

David therefore departed thence, and saved himself in the cave^a of Adullam: and when his brethren and all his fathers house heard it, they went down thither to him.

^a Which was in the tribe of Judah and neere to Beth-lehem.

2 And there gathered unto him all men that were in trouble, and all men that were in debt, and all those that were vexed in minde, and he was their [†] prince, and there were with him about foure hundred men.

[†] Or, captain.

3 ¶ And David went thence to Mizpeh in ^b Moab, and said unto the king of Moab, I pray thee, let my father and my mother come and abide with you; till I know what God will do for me.

^b For there was another so called in Judah.

4 And he ^c brought them before the king of Moab, and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in ^d the hold.

^c For he feared the rage of Saul against his house. ^d That is in Mizpeh, which was a strong hold.

5 And the Prophet Gad said unto David, Abide not in the hold, but depart and go into the land of Judah. Then David departed & came into the forrest of Hareth.

6 ¶ And Saul heard that David was ^e discovered, and the men that were with him, and Saul remained in Gibeah under a tree in Ramah, having his speare in his hand, and all his servants stood about him;

^e That a great bruit went on him.

7 And Saul said unto his servants that stood about him, Heare now, ye sons ^f of Jemini, will the son of Ishai give every one of you fields and vineyards: will he make you all captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds:

^f Yet there are of my tribe and lineage.

^g Whereby he would perwade them that this conspiracy was most horrible, where the son conspired against the father, and the servant against his master.

9 ¶ Then answered Doeg the Edomite (who was appointed over the servants of Saul) and said, I saw the sonne of Ishai when he came to Nob; to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, 10 Who asked counsell of the Lord for him, and gave him victuals, and he gave him also the sword of Goliath the Philistim.

in Nob: and they came all to the king.

12 And Saul said, Heare now, thou son of Abitub. And he answered, Here I am, my lord.

13 Then Saul said unto him, Why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Ishai, in that thou hast given him victual, and a sword, and hast asked counsell of God for him, that he should rise against me, and lie in wait, as appeareth this day?

14 ¶ And Ahimelech answered the king, and said, Who is so faithfull among all thy servants as David, ⁱ being also the kings son in law, and goeth at thy commandment, and is honourable in thine house?

15 ⁱ Have I this day first begun to ask counsell of God for him? be it farre from me, let not the king impute any thing unto his servant; nor to all the house of my father: for thy servant knew nothing of all this, lesse nor more.

ⁱ Have I not at other times also, when he had great affairs, consulted with the Lord for him?

16 Then the king said, Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech, thou, and all thy fathers house.

19 Also Nob the citie of the Priests smote he with the edge of the sword, both man and woman, both childe and suckling; both ox and asse, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20 But one of the sonnes of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub (whose name was Abiathar) ^l escaped, and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar shewed David, that Saul had slain the Lords Priests.

4 Then David asked counsel of the Lord again. And the Lord answered him, and said, Arise, go down to Keilah: for I will deliver the Philistims into thine hand.

5 ¶ So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philistims, and brought away their cattell, and smote them with a great slaughter: thus David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

18 So they twain made a covenant before the Lord: and David did remain in the wood: But Jonathan went to his house.

20 Now therefore, O king, come down according to all that thine heart can desire, and our part ^{shall be} to deliver him into the kings hands.

21 Then Saul said, ^g Be ye blessed of the Lord: for ye have had compassion on me.

24 Then they arose and went to Ziph before Saul, but David and his men ^{were} in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain on the right hand of Jeshimon.

25 Saul also and his men went to seek him, and they told David: wherefore he came down unto a rock, and abode in the wilderness of ⁱ Maon. And when Saul heard that, he followed after David in the wilderness of Maon.

ⁱ Which was also in the tribe of Judah, Josh. 15. 87.

26 And Saul and his men went on the one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain: and David made hast to get from the presence of Saul: for Saul and his men compassed David and his men round about, to take them.

27 But there came a ^k messenger to Saul, saying, Hasten thee, and come: for the Philistims have invaded the land.

David ^a in the wilderness of ^b En-gedi.

3 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seek David and his men upon the rocks among the wild goats.

4 And he came to the sheepcotes by the way where there was a cave, and Saul went in to do his casement: and David and his men sat in the inward parts of the cave.

5 And the men of David said unto him, See, the day is come, whereof the Lord said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, and thou shalt do to him as it shall seem good to thee. Then David arose and cut off the lap of Sauls garment privily.

6 And afterward David ^a was touched in his heart, because he had cut off the lap which was on Sauls garment.

7 And he said unto his men, The Lord keep me from doing that thing unto my master the Lords anointed; to lay mine hand upon him: for he is the anointed of the Lord.

8 So David overcame his servants with these words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul: so Saul rose up out of the cave, and went away.

9 David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cryed after Saul, saying, O my Lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David inclined his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

10 And David said to Saul, Wherefore givest thou any care to mes words, that say, Behold, David seeketh evil against thee?

11 Behold, this day thine eyes have seen, that the Lord had delivered thee this day into mine hand in the cave, and some bade me kill thee, but I had compassion on thee, and said, I will not lay mine hand on my master: for he is the Lords Anointed.

12 Moreover, my father, behold: Behold, I say, the lap of thy garment in mine hand: for when I cut off the lap of thy garment, I killed thee not. Understand and see, that there is neither evil nor wickednes in me, neither have I sinned against thee, yet thou hunttest after my soul to take it.

13 The Lord be judge between thee and me, and the Lord avenge me of thee, and let not mine hand be upon thee.

14 According as the old proverb saith, Wickednesse proceedeth from the wicked, but mine hand be not upon thee.

15 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, and after a flea?

16 The Lord therefore be Judge, & judge between thee and me, and see, and pleade my cause, and deliver me out of thine hand.

17 When David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? and Saul lift up his voice, and wept.

18 And said to David, Thou art more righteous then I: for thou hast rendered me good, and I have rendered thee evil.

19 And thou hast shewed this day, that thou hast dealt well with me: forasmuch as when the Lord had closed me in thine hands, thou killedst me not.

20 For who shall find his enemy, and let him depart free? wherefore the Lord render thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.

21 For now behold, I know that thou shalt be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be stablished in thine hand.

22 Swear now therefore unto me by the Lord, that thou wilt not destroy my seed after me, and that thou wilt not abolish my name out of my fathers house.

23 So David swore unto Saul, and Saul went home: but David and his men went up unto the hold.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Samuel dieth. 2 Nabal and Abigail. 3 The Lord kills Nabal. 4 Abigail and Ahimelech Davids wives. 5 David is given to Abigail.

Then Samuel died, and all Israel mourned and mourned for him, and buried him in his own house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran.

2 Now in Maon was a man, who had his possession in Carmel; and the man was exceeding mighty, and had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats: and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3 The name also of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail; and she was a woman of singular wisdom, and beautiful, but the man was churlish, and evil conditioned, & was of the family of Gath.

4 And David heard in the wilderness, that Nabal did sheare his sheep.

5 Therefore David sent ten young men, and David said unto the young men, Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and ask him in my name how he doth.

6 And thus shall ye say for a salutation, Both thou, and thine house, and all that thou hast, be in peace, wealth and prosperitie.

7 Behold, I have heard that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds were with us, and we did them no hurt, neither did they misse any thing all the while they were in Carmel.

8 Ask thy servants, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let these young men find favour in thine eyes: (for we come in a good season) give, I pray thee, whatsoever commeth to thine hand unto thy servants, and to thy son David.

9 ¶ And when Davids young men came, they told Nabal all those words in the name of David, and held their peace.

10 Then Nabal answered Davids servants, and said, who is David? and who is the son of Ishai? there be many servants now a dayes, that breake away every man from his master.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men, whom I know not whence they be?

12 ¶ So Davids servants turned their way, and went againe, and came, and told him all those things.

13 And David said unto his men, Gird every man his sword about him. And they girded every man his sword: David also girded his sword. And about foure hundred men went up after David, and two hundred abode by the cariage.

14 Now one of the servants told Abigail Nabals wife, saying, Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to salute our master, and he railed on them.

15 Notwithstanding the men were very good unto us, and we had no displeasure, neither missed we any thing as long as we were conversant with them, when we were in the fields.

16 They were as a wall unto us both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping sheep.

17 Now therefore take heed, and see what thou shalt doe: for evill will surely come upon our master, and upon all his family: for he is so wicked that a man cannot speake to him.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and took two hundred cakes, and two bottels of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and five measures of parched corn, and an hundred frailes of raisins, and two hundred of figs, and laded them on asses.

19 Then she said unto her servants, Go ye before me: behold, I will come after you: yet she told not her husband Nabal.

20 And as she rode on her asse, she came down by a secret place of the mountaine, and behold, David and his men came down against her, and she met them.

21 And David said, Indeed I have kept all in vaine that this fellow had in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that pertained unto him: for he hath requited me evill for good.

22 So and more also doe God unto the enemies of David: for surely I will not leave of all that he hath, by the dawning of the day, any that pisseth against the wall.

23 And when Abigail saw David, she hasted and lighted off her asse, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, 24 And fell at his feet, and said, Oh my Lord, I have committed the iniquity, and I pray thee, let thine handmaide speake to thee, and heare thou the words of thine handmaid.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, regard this wicked man Nabal: for as his name is, so is he: Nabal is his name, and folly is with him: but I thine handmaid saw not the young men of my lord whom thou sentest.

26 Now therefore my lord, as the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth (the Lord, I say, that hath withholden thee from coming to shed blood, and that thine hand should not save thee) so now thine enemies shall be as Nabal, and they that intend to doe my lord evill.

27 And now, this blessing which thine handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it be given unto the young men that follow low my lord.

28 I pray thee, forgive the trespass of thine handmaid: for the Lord will make my lord a sure house, because my lord fighteth the battels of the Lord, and none evill hath been found in thee in all thy life.

29 Yet a man hath risen up to persecute thee, and to seeke thy soule, but the soule of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of life with the Lord thy God: and the soule of thine enemies shall God cast out, as out of the middle of a sling.

30 And when the Lord shall have done to my lord all the good that he hath promised thee, and shall have made thee ruler over Israel, 31 Then shall it be no griefe unto thee, nor offence of minde unto my lord, that he hath not shed blood causelesse, nor that my lord hath not preserved himselfe: and when the Lord shall have dealt well with my lord, remember thine handmaid.

32 Then David said to Abigail, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which sent thee this day to meet me.

33 And blessed be thy counsell, and blessed be thou, which hast kept me this day from coming to shed blood, and that mine hand hath not saved me.

34 For in deed, as the Lord God of Israel liveth, who hath kept me back from hurting thee, except thou hadst hasted and met me, surely there had not been left unto Nabal by the dawning of the day, any that pisseth against the wall.

35 Then David received of her hand that which she had brought him, and said to her, Go up in peace to thine house: behold, I have heard thy voyce, and have granted thy petition.

37 Then in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, his wife tolde him those words, & his heart died within him, and he was like a stone.

38 And about tenne dayes after, the Lord smote Nabal, that he died.

39 ¶ Now when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, Blessed be the Lord that hath judged the cause of my rebuke of the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his servant from evill: for the Lord hath recompensed the wickednesse of Nabal upon his own head. Also David sent to commune with Abigail to take her to his wife.

40 And when the servants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they spake unto her, saying, David sent us to thee, to take thee to his wife.

41 And she arose, and bowed her selfe on her face to the earth, and said, Behold, let thine handmaid be a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.

CHAP. XXVI.

David was discovered unto Saul by the Ziphims. 12 David taketh away Sauls speare, and a pot of water that stood at his head. 21 Saul confesseth his sinne.

A Gaine the Ziphims came unto Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himselfe in the hill of Hachilah before Jeshimon?

2 Then Saul arose, and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, for to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph.

3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeshimon by the way-side: Now David abode in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness.

4 (For David had sent out spies, and understood that Saul was come in very deed)

5 Then David arose, and came to the place where Saul had pitched, and when David beheld the place where Saul lay, and Abner the son of Ner which was his chiefe

Captaine, (for Saul lay in the fort, and the people pitched round about him)

6 Then spake David, and said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Abishai the son of Zerviah, brother to Joab, saying, Who will go down with me to Saul to the hoste? Then Abishai said, I will goe down with thee.

7 So David and Abishai came down to the people by night: and behold, Saul lay sleeping within the fort, and his speare did stick in the ground at his head: and Abner and the people lay round about him.

8 ¶ Then said Abishai to David, God hath closed thine enemies into thine hand this day: now therefore, I pray thee, let me smite him once with a speare to the earth, and I will not smite him againe.

9 And David said to Abishai, Destroy him not: for who can lay his hand on the Lords anointed, and be guiltlesse?

10 Moreover, David said, As the Lord liveth, either the Lord shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battell, and perish.

11 The Lord keepe me from laying mine hand upon the Lords anointed: but, I pray thee, take now the speare that is at his head, and the pot of water, and let us hence.

12 So David tooke the speare and the pot of water from Sauls head, and they gat them away, and no man saw it, nor marked it, neither did any awake, but they were all asleep: for the Lord had sent a deep sleep upon them.

13 Then David went unto the other side, and stood on the top of an hill afarr off, a great space being betweene them.

14 And David cried to the people, and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, Hearest thou not, Abner? Then Abner answered, and said, Who art thou that criest to the King?

15 ¶ And David said to Abner, Art not thou a man? and who is like thee in Israel? wherefore then hast thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the folke in to destroy the king thy lord.

16 This is not well done of thee: as the Lord liveth, ye are worthy to dye, because ye have not kept your master the Lords anointed: and now see where the kings speare is, and the pot of water that was at his head.

17 And Saul knew Davids voyce, and said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And David said, It is my voyce, my lord, O King.

18 And he said, wherefore doth my lord thus persecute his servant? for what have I done? or what evill is in mine hand?

19 Now therefore, I beseech thee, let my lord the king heare the words of his servant. If the Lord have stirred thee up against me, let him shew the favour of a sacrifice; but if the children of men have done this, cursed be they before the Lord: for they have cast me out this day from abiding in the inheritance of the Lord, saying, Goe, serve other gods.

20 Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the Lord: for the king of Israel is come out to seeke a flea, as one would hunt a partridge in the mountaines.

21 Then said Saul, I have sinned: come again, my son David: for I will doe thee no more harme, because my soule was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have done foolishly, & have erred exceedingly.

22 Then David answered, and said, Behold the kings speare, let one of the yong men come over and fetch it.

23 And let the Lord reward every man according to his righteousness and faithfulness: for the Lord had delivered thee into mine hands this day, but I would not lay mine hand upon the Lords anointed.

24 And behold, like as thy life was much set by this day in mine eyes: so let my life be set by in the eyes of the Lord, that he may deliver me out of all tribulation.

25 Then Saul said to David, Blessed art thou, my son David: for thou shalt do great things, and also prevaile. So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

CHAP. XXVII.

2 David fleeth to Achish king of Gath, who groweth him Ziklag. 3 David destroyeth carniens of the Philistims. 10 Achish is deceived by David.

And David said in his heart, I shall now perish one day by the hand of Saul: is it not better for me that I save my selfe in the land of the Philistims, and that Saul may have no hope of me to seek me any more in all the coasts of Israel, and so escape out of his hand?

2 David therefore arose, and he, and the six hundred men that were with him, went unto Achish the son of Maach king of Gath.

3 And David dwelt with Achish at Gath, he, and his men, every man with his household, David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Izreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.

4 And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath: so he sought no more for him.

5 And David said unto Achish, If I have now found grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in some other citie of the countrey, that I may dwell there: for why should thy servant dwell in the head citie of the kingdome with thee?

6 Then Achish gave him Ziklag that same day: therefore Ziklag pertaineth unto the kings of Judah unto this day.

7 ¶ And the time that David dwelt in the countrey of the Philistims, was foure moneths and certaine dayes.

8 Then David and his men went up, and invaded the Gethurites, and the Girzites, and the Amalekites: for they inhabited the land from the beginning, from the way, as thou goest to Shur, even unto the land of Egypt.

9 And David smote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive, and took sheep, and oxen, and asses, and camels, and apparel, and returned, and came to Achish.

10 And Achish said, Where have ye been a roving this day? And David answered, Against the South of Judah, and against the South of the Jerahmeelites, and against the South of the Kenites.

11 And David saved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath, saying, Least they should tell on us, and say, So did David, and so will be his manner all the while that he dwelleth in the countrey of the Philistims.

12 And Achish beleaved David, saying, He hath made his people of Israel utterly to abhorre him: therefore he shall be my servant for ever.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 David hath the chiefe charge promised about Achish. 3 Saul consulteth with a witch, and she causeth him to speake with Samuel. 18 Who declareth his ruine.

Now at that time the Philistims assembled their bands and armie to fight with Israel: therefore Achish said to David, Be sure, thou shalt goe out with me to the battell, thou, and thy men.

2 And David said to Achish, Surely thou shalt know, what thy servant can doe. And Achish said to David, Surely I will make thee keeper of mine head for ever.

3 (Samuel was then dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah his own citie: and Saul had put away the forcerers, and the soothsayers out of the land)

2 Then the Philistims assembled themselves, and came, and pitched in Shunem: and Saul assembled all Israel, and they pitched in Gilboa.

5 And when Saul saw the hoste of the Philistims, he was afraid, and his heart was fore astonished.

6 Therefore Saul asked counsel of the Lord, and the Lord answered him not, neither by dreames, nor by Urim, nor yet by Prophets.

7 ¶ Then

7 ¶ Then said Saul unto his servants, Seeke mee a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may goe to her, and aske of her. And his servants said to him, Behold, there is a woman at Endor that hath a familiar spirit.

8 Then Saul^d changed himself, and put on other raiment, and hee went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night; and he said, I pray thee, conjecture unto mee by the familiar spirit, and bring mee him up whom I shall name unto thee.

9 And the woman said unto him, Behold, thou knowest what Saul hath done, how he hath destroyed the forcerers, and the soothsayers out of the land: wherefore then seekest thou to take mee in a snare to cause mee to die?

10 And Saul sware to her by the Lord, saying, As the Lord liveth, no[†] harm shall come to thee for this thing.

11 Then said the woman, Whom shall I bring up unto thee? And he answered, Bring mee up^e Samuel.

12 And when the woman saw Samuel, she cryed with a loud voice, and the woman spake to Saul, saying, Why hast thou deceived mee? for thou art Saul.

13 And the king said unto her, be not afraid: for what sawest thou? And the woman said unto Saul, I saw[†] gods ascending up out of the earth.

14 Then hee said unto her, What fashion is he of? And she answered, An old man commeth up lapped in a mantle: and Saul knew that it was^f Samuel, and he inclined his face to the ground, and bowed himselfe.

15 ¶ And Samuel said to Saul, Why hast thou disquieted mee to bring mee up? Then Saul answered, I am in great distresse: for the Philistims make war against mee, and God is departed from me, and answereth mee no more, neither[†] by Prophets, neither by dreames: therefore I have called thee, that thou mayest tell me what I shall doe.

16 Then said Samuel, Wherefore then dost thou aske of mee, seeing the Lord is gone from thee, and is thine enemy?

17 Even the Lord hath done to^g him, as he spake^{*} by mine[†] hand: for the Lord will rent the kingdome out of thine hand, and give it thy neighbour David.

18 Because thou obeyedst not the voice of the Lord, nor executedst his fierce wrath upon the Amalekites, therefore hath the Lord done this unto thee this day.

19 Moreover the Lord will deliver Israel with thee into the hands of the Philistims: and to morow shalt thou and thy sons be with me, & the Lord shall give the host of Israel into the hands of the Philistims.

20 Then Saul fell straightway all along on the earth, and was foreⁱ afraid, because of the words of Samuel, so that there was no strength in him: for he had eaten no bread all the day, nor all the night.

21 Then the woman came unto Saul, and saw that he was sore troubled, and said unto him, See, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I^k have put my soule in mine hand, and have obeyed thy words which thou saydest unto mee.

22 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou also unto the voyce of thine handmaid, and let mee set a morsell of bread before thee, that thou mayest eat and get thee strength, and goe on thy journey.

23 But he refused, and said, I will not eat: but his servants and the woman together compelled him, and he obeyed their voice: so he arose from the earth, and sate on the bed.

24 Now the woman had a fat calfe in the house, and she hasted, and killed it, and tooke[‡] awr and kneaded it, and baked of it^l unleavened bread.

25 Then she brought them before Saul, and before his servants: and when they had eaten, they stood up, and went away the same night.

CHAP. XXIX.

4 The princes of the Philistims cause David to be sent back from the battell against Israel, because they distrusted him.

SO the Philistims were gathered together with all their armies in Aphek: and the Israelites pitched[†] by the fountaine, which is in Izreel.

2 And the[†] princes of the Philistims went forth by^a hundreds and thousands, but David and his men came behind with Achish.

3 Then said the princes of the Philistims, What doe these Ebrewes here? And Achish said unto the princes of the Philistims, Is not this David the servant of Saul the King of Israel, who hath bene with mee these dayes,^b or these yeares, and I have found nothing in him, since he[†] dwelt with mee unto this day?

4 But the princes of the Philistims were wroth with him, and the princes of the Philistims said unto him, * Send this fellow back, that he may goe againe to his place which thou hast appointed him, and let him not go downe with us to battell, lest that in the battell he be an adversary to us: for wherewith should he obtaine the favour of his master? Should it not be with the^c heads of these men?

5 Is not this David, of whom they sang in dances, saying, * Saul slew his thousand, and David his ten thousand?

7 Wherefore now returne, and goe in peace, that thou displease not the princes of the Philistims.

8 ¶ And David said unto Achish, But what have I done? and what hast thou found in thy servant as long as I have beene with thee unto this day, that I may ^e not goe and fight against the enemies of my lord the King?

9 Achish then answered, and said to David, I know thou pleatest mee, as an Angel of God: but the princes of the Philistims have said, Let him not goe up with us to battell.

10 Wherefore now rise up early in the morning with thy ^f masters servants that are come with thee: and when yee bee up early, as soone as yee have light, depart.

11 So David and his men rose up early to depart in the morning, and to return into the land of the Philistims: and the Philistims went up to Izreel.

C H A P. XXX.

1 The Amalekites burn Ziklag. 5 Davids two wives are taken prisoners. 6 The people would stone him. 8 Hee asketh counsell of the Lord, and pursuing his enemies, recovereth the prey. 24 He divideth it equally, 26 And sendeth parts to his friends.

BUt when David and his men were come to Ziklag, ^a the third day, the Amalekites had invaded upon the South, even unto Ziklag, and had ^b smitten Ziklag, and burnt it with fire,

2 And had taken the women that were therein prisoners, both small and great, and slew not a man, but caried them away, and went their wayes.

3 ¶ So David and his men came to the city, and behold, it was burnt with fire, and their ^c wives, and their sons, and their daughters were taken prisoners.

4 Then David and the people that was with him, lift up their voyces and wept, untill they could weep no more.

5 Davids two wives were taken prisoners also, Ahinoam the Izreelite, and Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.

6 And David was in great sorrow: for the people ^d intended to stone him, because the hearts of all the people were vexed, every man for his sons, and for his daughters: but David comforted himselfe in the Lord his God.

7 ¶ And David said to Abiathar the Priest, Ahimelechs son, I pray thee, bring mee the Ephod. And Abiathar brought the Ephod to David.

8 Then David asked counsell at the Lord, saying, Shall I follow after this company? shall I overtake them? And he answered him, Follow: for thou shalt surely overtake them, and ^e recover all.

9 ¶ So David and the six hundred men that were with him, went, and came to the river Besor, where a part of them abode:

10 But David and foure hundred men followed (for two hundred abode behind, being too weary to goe over the river Besor)

11 And they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David; and gave him ^f bread, and he did eat, and they gave him water to drinke.

12 Also they gave him a few figs, and two clusters of raisins: and when he had eaten, his spirit came againe to him: for hee had eaten no bread, nor drunke any water in three dayes, and three nights.

13 ¶ And David said unto him, To who belongest thou? & whence art thou? And he said, I am a yong man of Egypt, & servant to an Amalekite: and my master left me three dayes ago, because I fell sick.

14 We roved upon the South of Chereth, and upon the ^g coast belonging to Judah, and upon the South of Caleb, and we burnt Ziklag with fire.

15 And David said unto him, Canst thou bring mee to this company? And he said, ^h Swear unto mee by God, that thou wilt neither kill mee, nor deliver mee into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee to this company.

16 ¶ And when he had brought him thither, behold, they lay scattered abroad upon all the earth, ⁱ eating and drinking, and dancing, because of all the great prey that they had taken out of the land of the Philistims, and out of the land of Judah.

17 And David smote them from the twilight, even unto the evening ^j of the next morrow, so that there escaped not a man of them, save foure hundred young men, which rode upon camels, and fled.

18 And David recovered all that the Amalekites had taken: also David rescued his two wives.

19 And they lacked nothing, small or great, son or daughter, or of the spoile of all that they had taken away: David recovered them all.

20 David also tooke all the sheep, and the oxen, and they drave them before his cattell, and said, This is Davids ^k prey.

21 ¶ And David came to the two hundred men that were too weary for to follow David: whom they had made also to abide at the river Besor: and they came to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him: so when David came neer to the people, he saluted them.

22 Then

^d That is, wast conversant with mee.

^b That is, destroyed the city.

^c For these onely remained in the city, when the men were gone to warre.

^d Thus wee see that in troubles & adversity we do not consider Gods providence, but like raging beasts forget both our owne duty, and contemne Gods appointment over us.

^e Though God seeme to leave us for a time, yet if wee trust in him, wee shall bee sure to find comfort.

^f God by his providence both provided for the necessity of this poore stranger, and made him a guide to David to accomplish his enterprise.

^g For oaths were in all ages had in most reverence, even among the heathen.

^h The wicked in their pomp and pleasures consider not the judgement of God, which is then a hand to smite them.

ⁱ Some read, and unto the morrow of the two evenings: that is, three dayes.

^k Which the Amalekites had taken of others, and David from them, besides the goods of Ziklag.

22 Then answered all the evill and wicked of the men that went with David, and said, Because they went not with us; therefore will wee give them none of the prey that we have recovered, save to every man his ¹ wife and his children, therefore let them cary them away and depart.

23 Then said David, Yee shall not doe so, my brethren, with that which the Lord hath given us, who hath preserved us, and delivered the company that came against us, into our hands.

24 For who will obey you in this matter? but as his part is that goeth downe to the battell, so shall his part be, that tarried by the stuff: they shall part alike.

25 ^m So from that day forward he made it a statute & a law in Israel, until this day.

26 ¶ When David therefore came to Ziklag, he sent of the prey unto the Elders of Judah and to his friends, saying, See, there is a blessing for you of the spoile of the enemies of the Lord.

27 Hee sent to them of Beth-el, and to them of South Ramoth, and to them of Jattir, 28 And to them of Aroer, and to them of Siphmoth, and to them of Eshtemoa,

29 And to them of Rachal, and to them of the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them of the cities of the Kenites,

30 And to them of Hormah, and to them of Chor-aschan, and to them of Athach, 31 And to them of Hebron, and ⁿ to all the places where David and his men had haunted.

3 And when the battell went fore against Saul, the archers and bowmen [†] hit him, and he was fore [‡] wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saul unto his armour bearer, ^a Draw out thy sword, and thrust mee thorow therewith, least the uncircumcised come and thrust mee thorow and mock mee: but his armour bearer would not, for he was fore afraid. Therefore Saul tooke a sword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armour bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword, and dyed with him.

6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armour bearer, and all his men that same day together.

7 ¶ And when the men of Israel that were on the other side of the ^b valley, and they of the other side ^c Jordan saw that the men of Israel were put to flight, and that Saul and his sons were dead, then they left the cities, and ran away: and the Philistims came and dwelt in them.

8 ¶ And on the morrow when the Philistims were come to spoile them that were slaine, they found Saul and his three sons lying in mount Gilboa;

9 And they cut off his head, and stripped him out of his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistims on every side, that they should ^d publish it in the temple of their idols, and among the people.

10 And they laid up his armour in the house of Ashtaroth, but they hanged up his body on the wall of Beth-shan.

11 ¶ When the inhabitants of ^e Jabesh-Gilead heard, what the Philistims had done to Saul;

THE SECOND BOOKE OF SAMUEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS booke and the former, beare the title of Samuel, because they containe the conception, nativity, and the whole course of his life, and also the lives and acts of two kings, to wit, of Saul and David, whom he anointed & consecrated Kings by the ordinance of God. And as the first booke containeth those things, which God brought to passe among this people under the government of Samuel and Saul: so this second book declareth the noble acts of David, after the death of Saul, when he began to reign, unto the end of his kingdome: and how the same by him was wonderfully augmented: also his great troubles and dangers, which he sustained both within his house and without: what horrible and dangerous insurrections, uprores, and treasons were wrought against him, partly by false counsellors, fained friends and flatterers, and partly by some of his owne children and people: and how by Gods assistance he overcame all difficulties, and enjoyed his kingdome in rest and peace. In the person of David the Scripture setteth forth Christ Jesus the chiefe King, who came of David according to the flesh, and was persecuted on every side with outward and inward enemies: as well in his owne person, as in his members, but at length he overcometh all his enemies, and giveth his Church victory against all power, both spirituall and temporall: and so reigneth with them, King for evermore.

^a Seeming to lament the overthrow of the people of Israel.

After the death of Saul, when David was returned from the ^{*} slaughter of the Amalekites, & had beene two dayes in Ziklag.

² Behold, a man came the third day out of the host from Saul, with his ^a cloths rent, and earth upon his head: and when he came to David, hee fell to the earth, and did obeysance.

³ Then David said unto him, Whence comest thou? And he said unto him, out of the host of Israel I am escaped.

⁴ And David said unto him, What is done? I pray thee tell mee. Then he said, that the people is fled from the battell, and many of the people are overthrown, and dead, and also Saul and Jonathan his son are dead.

⁵ And David said unto the young man that told it him, How knowest thou that Saul and Jonathan his son be dead?

^b As I fled in the chase.

⁶ Then the young man that told him, answered, ^b As I came to mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his spear, and lo, the charrets and [‡] horsmen followed hard after him.

⁷ And when he looked back he saw mee, and called mee. And I answered, Here am I.

⁸ And he said unto me, Who art thou? and I answered him, I am an ^c Amalekite.

^c He was an Amalekite born, but renounced his country, and joyned with the Israelites.

¹¹ Then David tooke hold on his clothes, ^{*} and rent them, and likewise all the men that were with him.

¹² And they mourned and wept, and fasted untill even, for Saul and for Jonathan his son, and for the people of the Lord, and for the house of Israel, because they were slaine with the sword.

¹³ ¶ ^e Afterward David said unto the young man that told it him, whence art thou? And he answered, I am the son of a stranger an Amalekite.

^e After the lamentation, he examined him again.

¹⁴ And David said unto him, ^{*} How wast thou not afraid, to put forth thine hand to destroy the anointed of the Lord?

¹⁶ Then said David unto him, ^f Thy blood be upon thine owne head: for thine owne mouth hath testified against thee, saying, I have slaine the Lords Anointed.

CHAP. II.

2 David is anointed king in Hebron. 9 Abner maketh Ishbosheth king over Israel. 15 The battell of the servants of David and Ishbosheth. 32 The buriall of Asahel.

After this David ^a asked counsell of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? And the Lord said unto him, Go up. And David said, Whither shall I go? He then answered, Unto ^b Hebron.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives also, Ahinoam the Izreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.

3 And David brought up the men that were with ^c him, every man with his household, and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

4 ¶ Then the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David King over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, ^d that the men of Jabesh Gilead buried Saul.

5 And David sent messengers unto the men of Jabesh Gilead, and said unto them, Blessed are ye of the Lord, that ye have shewed such kindnesse unto your lord Saul, that you have buried him.

6 Therefore now the Lord shew mercy and ^e truth unto you: and I will recompense you this benefit, because ye have done this thing.

7 Therefore now let your hands be strong, and be you valiant: albeit your master Saul be dead, yet neverthelesse the house of Judah hath anointed me ^f king over them.

8 ¶ But Abner the sonne of Ner that was captain of Sauls host, took Ishbosheth the sonne of Saul, and brought him to Mahanaim, 9 And made him king over Gilead, and over the Ashurites, and over Izreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over ^g all Israel.

10 Ishbosheth Sauls sonne was fourty years old when he began to reigne over Israel, and reigned two yeares: but the house of Judah followed David.

11 (And the time which David reigned in Hebron over the house of Judah, ^h was seven yeare and six ⁱ moneths.)

12 ¶ And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbosheth the son of Saul went out of Mahanaim to Gibeon.

13 And Joab the sonne of Zerviah, and the servants of David went out & met one another by the poole of Gibeon: and they fate down, the one on the one side of the poole, and the other on the other side of the poole.

14 Then Abner said to Joab, let the yong men now arise, and ^j play before us. And Joab said, Let them arise.

15 Then there arose and went over twelve of Benjamin by number, which pertained to Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David.

16 And every one caught ^k his fellow by the head, and thrust his sword in his fellows side; so they fell down together: wherefore the place was called ^l Halkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.

17 And the battell was exceeding fore that same day: for Abner and the men of Israel ^m fell before the servants of David.

18 And there were three sons of Zerviah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel. And Asahel was as light on foot as a wild roe.

19 And Asahel followed after Abner, and in going he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and said, Art thou Asahel? And he answered, Yea.

21 Then Abner said, Turn thee either to the right hand, or to the left, & take one of the yong men, and take thee his ⁿ weapons: but Asahel would not depart from him.

22 And Abner said to Asahel, depart from me: wherefore should I smite thee to the ground? how then should I be able to hold up my face to Joab thy brother?

23 And when he would not depart, Abner with the hinder end of the speare smote him under the ^o fifth rib, that the speare came out behind him: and he fell down there, and dyed in his place. And as many as came to the place where Asahel fell down and dyed, stood still.

24 Joab also and Abishai pursued after Abner: and the Sun went down, when they were come to the hill Ammah, that lyeth before Giah, by the way of the wildernesse of Gibeon.

25 And the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together after Abner, and were on an heap, and stood on the top of an hill.

26 Then Abner called to Joab, and said, Shall the ^p sword devoure for ever? knowest thou not, that it will be bitternesse in the latter end? how long then shall it be; or thou bid the people return from following their brethren?

27 And Joab said, As God liveth, If thou hadst not ^q spoken, surely even in the morning the people had departed every one back from his brother.

31 But the servants of David had smitten of Benjamin, and of Abners men, so that three hundred and threescore men dyed.

p Thus God would confirme David in his kingdome, by the destruction of his adversaries.

32 And they tooke up Asahel, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-lehem: and Joab and his men went all night, and when they came to Hebron, the day arose.

CHAP. III.

1 Long warre between the houses of Saul and David. 2 The children of David in Hebron. 3 Abner turneth to David. 27 Ioab killeth him.

a That is, without intermission incurring two years, which was the whole reigne of Ish-bosheth.

There was then a long warre betweene the house of Saul and the house of David: but David waxed stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker.

2 ¶ And unto David were children born in Hebron: and his eldest son was Ammon of Ahinoam the Izreelite, b Who is called also Daniel, 1 Chron. 3. 1.

3 And the second, was^b Chileab of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah the daughter of Talmay the king of Ieshur,

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith, and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital, c Within seven years and six months.

5 And the sixth, Ithream by Eglah Davids wife: these were born to David in Hebron.

6 ¶ Now while there was war between the house of Saul, and the house of David, Abner, made all his power for the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had a concubine named Rizpah, the daughter of Aijah. And Ish-bosheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone in to my fathers concubine?

d Doest thou esteeme me no more then a dog, for all my service done to thy fathers house?

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Ish-bosheth, and said, Am I a dogs head, which against Judah doe shew mercie this day unto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his neighbours, and have not delivered thee into the hand of David, that thou chargest me this day with a fault concerning this woman?

9 So doe God to Abner, and more also, except, as the Lord hath sworn to David, even so I do to him, e We see how the wicked cannot abide to be admonished of their faults, but seeke their displeasure which go about to bring them from their wickednesse.

10 To remove the kingdome from the house of Saul, that the throne of David may be stablished over Israel, and over Judah, even from Dan to Beer-sheba.

11 And he durst no more answer to Abner: for he feared him.

12 ¶ Then Abner sent messengers to David † on his behalfe, saying, Whose is the land? who should also say, Make a covenant with me, and behold, mine hand shall be with thee, to bring all Israel unto thee.

† Or, request.

13 Who said, Well, I will make a covenant with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, that thou see not my face, except thou bring Michal Sauls daughter when thou comdest to see me.

14 ¶ Then David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth Sauls son, saying, Deliver me my wife Michal, which I married for an hundredth foreskinnes of the Philistims.

* 1 Sam. 18. 27.

15 And Ish-bosheth sent, and tooke her from her husband * Phaltiel the son of Laith.

* 1 Sam. 35. 44.

16 And her husband went with her, and came weeping behind her, unto Behurim: then said Abner unto him, Goe, and return. So he returned.

17 ¶ And Abner had^f communication with the Elders of Israel, saying, Ye fought for David in times past, that he might be your King.

f Rather fornication that he bare toward Ish-bosheth then for love he bare to David.

18 Now then do it: for the Lord hath spoken of David, saying, By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel out of the hands of the Philistims, and out of the hands of all their enemies.

19 Also Abner spake † to Benjamin, and afterward Abner went to speake with David in Hebron, concerning all that Israel was content with, and the whole house of Benjamin.

† Or, in the name of Benjamin.

g Who challenged the kingdome, because of their fathers Saul.

20 So Abner came to David to Hebron having twentie men with him, and David made a feast unto Abner, and to the men that were with him.

21 Then Abner said unto David, I will rise up, and go gather all Israel unto my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with thee, and that thou mayest reigne over all that thine heart desireth. Then David let Abner depart, who went † in peace.

† Or, without harme.

22 ¶ And behold, the servants of David and Joab came^h from the campe, and brought a great prey with them (but Abner was not with David in Hebron: for he had sent him away, and he departed in peace)

h From warre against the Philistims.

23 When Joab, and all the host that was with him were come, men told Joab, saying, Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace.

24 Then Joab came to the King, and said, What hast thou done? behold, Abner i Here appeareth the malicious mind of Joab, who would have had the king to slay Abner for his private grudge.

ner came unto thee; why hast thou sent him away, and he is departed?

25 Thou knowest Abner the son of Ner: for he came to deceive thee, and to know thy outgoing and ingoing, and to know all that thou doest.

26 ¶ And when Joab was gone out from David, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him again from the well of Siriah unknowing to David.

27 And when Abner was come again to Hebron, ^{1 King 2. 5.} Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him ^{Or, secretly.} peaceably, and smote him under the fifth rib, that he died for the blood of ^{ Chap. 2. 35.} Asahel his brother.

28 ¶ And when afterward it came to Davids ears, he said, I and my kingdom are guiltlesse before the Lord for ever, concerning the blood of Abner the son of Ner.

29 Let the blood fall on the head of Joab, & on all his fathers house, that the house of Joab be never without some that have running issues, or leper, or that leaneth on a staff, or that doth fall on the sword, or that lacketh bread.

30 (So Joab and ^{1 Abishai} his brother slew Abner, because he had slain their brother Asahel at Gibeon in battell)

31 And David said to Joab, and to all the people that were with him, Rent your clothes and put on sackcloth; and mourn ^{Meaning, before the corpe.} before Abner: And king David himself followed the beere.

32 And when they had buried Abner in Hebron: the king lift up his voice, and wept beside the sepulchre of Abner, and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented over Abner, and said, Died Abner ^{He declareth that Abner died not as a wretch or vile person, but as a valiant man might do, being erroneously deceived by the wicked.} as a fool dieth?

34 Thine hands were not bound, nor thy feet tied in fetters of brass: ^{Or, cruel.} but as a man falleth before wicked men, so didst thou fall. And all the people wept again for him.

35 Afterward all the people came to cause David to eat ^{According to their custome, which was to banquet at burials.} meat while it was yet day, but David sware, saying, So do God to me and more also, if I taste bread, or ought else till the Sunne be down.

36 And all the people knew it, and it pleased them: as whatsoever the king did, pleased all the people.

37 For all the people and all Israel understood that day, how that it was not the kings deed that Abner the sonne of Ner was slain.

38 And the king said unto his servants, Know ye not, that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?

39 And I am this day weake; and newly anointed king: and these men the sons of Zerviah be too hard for me: the Lord reward the doer of evill according to his wickednesse.

C H A P. IV.

5 Baanah and Rechab slay Ish-bosheth the son of Saul. 12 David commandeth them to be slain.

And when Sauls ^{a That is, Ish-bosheth.} son heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, then his hands were ^{b Meaning, that he was discouraged.} feeble; and all Israel was afraid.

2 And Sauls sonne had two men that were captains of bands: the one called Baanah, and the other called Rechab, the sons of Rimmon a Beerothite of the children of Benjamin: (for ^{c The citie Beeroth was in the tribe of Benjamin Josh. 18. 25.} Beeroth was reckoned to Benjamin,

3 Because the Beerothites ^{d After the death of Saul, for feare of the Philistines,} fled to Gittaim and sojourned there unto this day)

4 And Jonathan Sauls sonne had a son that was lame on his feet: he was five years old when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan out of Israel: then his nurse took him and fled away. And as she made hast to flee, the childe fell, and began to halt, and his name was Mephibosheth.

5 And the sonnes of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab, and Baanah went and came in the heat of the day to the house of Ishbosheth (who slept on a bed at noon)

6 And behold, Rechab and Baanah his brother came into the mids of the house; as they ^{e They disguised themselves as merchants, which came to buy wheate.} would have wheate, and they ^{f There is nothing so vile & dangerous, which the wicked will not enterprize in hope of lucie & favour. Or, wilderness.} smote him under the fifth rib, and fled.

7 For when they came into the house, he slept on his bed in his bed chamber, and they smote him, and slew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gate them away thorow the plain all the night.

8 And they brought the head of Ishbosheth unto David to Hebron, and said to the king, Behold the head of Ishbosheth Sauls sonne thine enemy, who sought after thy life: and the Lord hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul; and of his seed.

9 Then David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said unto them, As the Lord liveth, who hath delivered my soul out of all adversitie.

10 When one ^{* Chap. 1. 15.} told me, and said that Saul was dead, (thinking to have brought good tidings) I took him and slew him in Ziklag, who thought that I would have given him a reward for his tidings:

11 How ^{g For as much as neither the example of him that slew Saul, nor duty to their master, nor the innocency of the person, nor reverence of the place, nor time, did move them, they deserved most grievous punishment. Or, 3. 32.} much more when wicked men have slain a righteous person in his own house, and upon his bed? shall I not now therefore require his blood at your hand, and take you from the earth?

12 Then David commanded his young men, and they slew them, and cut off their hands and their feet, and hanged them up over the poole in Hebron: but they took the head of Ishbosheth, and buried it in the sepulchre of ^{Or, cruel.} Abner in Hebron.

Then ^a came all the tribes of Israel to David unto Hebron, and said thus, Behold, we are thy ^a bones and thy flesh.

2 And in time past when Saul was our king, thou leddest Israel in and out: and the Lord hath said to thee, ^a Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel.

3 So all the Elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron: and king David made a covenant with them in Hebron ^b before the Lord: and they anointed David king over Israel.

4 ¶ David ^c was thirty yeare old when he began to reigne; and he reigned fourtie yeares.

5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah ^c seven yeares, and six moneths: and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three yeares over all Israel and Judah.

6 ¶ The king also and his men went to Jerusalem unto the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land: who spake unto David, saying, Except thou take away the ^c blinde and the lame, thou shalt not come in hither: thinking that David could not come thither.

7 But David took the fort of Zion: this is the city of David.

8 Now David had said the same day, Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites, and getteth up to the gutters and ^c smiteih the lame and blinde, which Davids soul hateth, ^c I will prefer him: ^c therefore they said, The blinde and the lame shall not ^c come into that house.

9 So David dwelt in that fort, and called it the city of David, and David built round about it, from ^c Millo, and inward,

10 And David prospered and grew: for the Lord God of hosts ^c was with him.

11 ¶ Hiram also king of ^c Tyrus sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons for walls: and they built David an house.

12 Then David knew that the Lord had stablished him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdome for his people Israels sake.

13 And David took him moe ^c concubines and wives out of Jerusalem, after he was come from Hebron, and moe sons and daughters were born to David.

14 ^c And these be the names of the sons that were born unto him in Jerusalem: Shammua, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Salomon,

15 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and Nepheg, and Japhia, 16 And Elishama, and Eliada, and Eliphalet.

17 ¶ ^c But when the Philistims heard that they had annointed David king over Israel, all the Philistims came up to seek David: and when David heard, he went down to a fort.

18 But the Philistims came, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

19 Then David ^c asked counsell of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up to the Philistims? wilt thou deliver them into mine hands? And the Lord answered David, Go up: for I will doubtlesse deliver the Philistims into thine hands.

20 ¶ ^c Then David came to Baal-perazim, and smote them there, and said, The Lord hath divided mine enemies asunder before me, as waters be divided asunder: therefore he called the name of that place, ^c Baal-perazim.

21 And there they left their images, and David and his men ^c burnt them.

22 Again the Philistims came up, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

23 And when David asked counsell of the Lord, he answered, Thou shalt not go up, ^c but turn about behind them, and come upon them over against the mulberry trees.

24 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberry trees, then remove: for then shall the Lord go out before thee, to smite the host of the Philistims.

25 Then David did so as the Lord had commanded him, and smote the Philistims from Geba, untill thou come to ^c Gazer.

Again David gathered together all the ^c chosen men of Israel, even thirty thousand,

2 ^c And David arose, and went with all the people that were with him ^c from Baale of Judah, to bring up from thence the Ark of God, whose name is called by the name of the Lord of hosts, that dwelleth upon it between the Cherubims.

3 And they put the Ark of God upon a new cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, that was in ^c Gibeah. And Uzzah and Ahio the sonnes of Abinadab did drive the new cart.

7 And the Lord was very wroth with Vzzah, and God ^d smote him in the same place for his fault, and there he dyed by the Arke of God.

8 And David was displeased, because the Lord had [†] smitten Vzzah: and he called the name of the place [‡] Perez-Vzzah: untill this day.

9 Therefore David that day feared the Lord, and said, How shall the Arke of the Lord come to me?

10 So David would not bring the Arke of the Lord unto him into the city of David, but David carried it into the house of Obed-edom ^e the Gittite.

11 And the Arke of the Lord continued in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite, three moneths, and the Lord blessed Obed-edom, and all his household.

12 ¶ And one told king David, saying, * The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that he hath, because of the Arke of God: therefore David went and [†] brought the Arke of God from the house of Obed-edom into the citie of David with gladnesse.

13 And when they that bare the Arke of the Lord had gone six paces, he offered an ox, and a fat beast.

14 And David daunced before the Lord with all his might, and was girded with a linen ^g Ephod.

15 So David and all the house of Israel brought the Arke of the Lord with shouting, and sound of trumpet.

16 And as the Arke of the Lord came into the citie of David, Michal Sauls daughter looked thorow a window, & saw King David leap, and dance before the Lord, and she ^h despised him in her heart.

17 And when they had brought in the Arke of the Lord, they set it in his place, in the mids of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it: then David offered burnt offerings, & peace offerings before the Lord.

18 And as soone as David had made an ende of offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he ^{*} blessed the people in the Name of the Lord of hostes, 19 And gave among all the people, ^{even} among the whole multitude of Israel, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a piece of fiesh, and a bottell of wine: so all the people departed every one to his house.

20 ¶ Then David returned to ⁱ blesse his house, & Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and said, O how glorious was the king of Israel this day, which was uncovered to day in the eyes of the maidens of his servants, as a [‡] foole uncovereth himselfe!

21 Then David said unto Michal, ^k It was before the Lord, which chose me rather then thy father, and all his house, and commanded me to be ruler over the people of the Lord, ^{even} over Israel: and therefore will I play before the Lord.

22 And will yet be more vile then thus, and will be low in mine own sight, and of the very same maid servants, which thou hast spoken of, shall I be had in honour.

23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had ^l no child unto the day of her death.

9 David restoreth all the lands of Saul to Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan. 10 He appointeth Ziba to see to the profit of his lands.

And David said, Is there yet any man left of the house of Saul, that I may shew him mercy for [†] Jonathan's sake?

2 And there was of the houshold of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba, and when they had called him unto David, the king said unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he said, I thy servant am he.

3 Then the king said, Remaineth there yet none of the house of Saul, on whom I may shew the ^h mercy of God? Ziba then answered the king, Jonathan hath yet a son ^{*} lame of his feet.

4 Then the King said unto him, Where is he? And Ziba said unto the King, Behold, he is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar.

5 ¶ Then king David sent, and tooke him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar.

6 Now when Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence. And David said, Mephibosheth? And he answered, Behold thy servant.

7 Then David said unto him, Feare not: for I will surely shew thee kindnesse for Jonathan thy fathers sake, and will restore thee all the [†] fields of Saul thy father; and thou shalt eat bread at my table continually.

8 And he bowed himselfe, and said, What is thy servant, that thou shouldest looke upon such ^a a dead dog as I am?

9 Then the king called Ziba Sauls servant, and said unto him, I have given unto thy masters [†] son all that pertained to Saul and to all his house.

10 Thou therefore and thy ^{*} sons and thy servants shall till the land for him, and bring in that thy masters son may have food to eate. And Mephibosheth thy masters son shall eate bread alway at my table (now Ziba had fifteen sonnes, and twenty servants)

11 Then said Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his servant, so shall thy servant doe, [†] that Mephibosheth may eate at my table, as one of the kings sons.

12 Mephibosheth also had a young son named Micha, and all that dwelled in the house of Ziba, were servants unto Mephibosheth.

13 And Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the kings table, and was lame on both his feet.

4 The messengers of David are villanously intrusted of the king of Ammon. 7 loab is sent against the Ammonites.

After this the ^{*} king of the children of Ammon dyed, and Hanun his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 Then said David, I will shew kindnesse unto Hanun the son of Nahab, as his father [†] shewed kindnesse unto me. And David sent his servants to comfort him for his father. So Dauids servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, [†] Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters to thee? hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, ^b to search the city, and to spie it out, and to overthrow it?

4 Wherefore Hanun took Dauids servants, and shaved off the half of their beard, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 ¶ When it was told unto David, he sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Tarry at Jericho, untill your beards be grown, then return.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they [†] stanke in the sight of David, the children of Ammon sent and hired the Aramites of the house of Rehob, and the Aramites of Zoba, twenty thousand footmen, and of king Maacah a thousand men, and of Ish-tob twelve thousand men.

7 And when David heard of it, he sent joab, and all the host of the strongmen.

CHAP. XI.

1 The city Rabbah is besieged. 4. David committeth adultery. 17 Uriah is slaine. 27 David marieth Bath-sheba.

And when the year was^a expired in the time when kings go forth to battel, David sent * Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel, who destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah: but David remained in Jerusalem.

2 ¶ And when it was evening tide, David arose out of his^b bed, and walked upon the rooffe of the kings palace: and from the rooffe he saw a woman washing her self: and the woman was very beautifull to looke upon.

3 And David sent and enquired: what woman it was: and one said, Is not this Bath-sheba the daughter of Eliam, wife to Uriah the * Hittite?

4 Then David sent messengers, and took her away: and she came unto him, and he lay with her: (now she was * purified from her uncleanness) and she returned unto her house.

5 And the woman conceived: therefore she sent and told David, and said, I am with childe.

6 ¶ Then David sent to Joab, saying, Send me Uriah the Hittite. And Joab sent Uriah to David.

7 And when Uriah came unto him, David demanded him how Joab did, and how the people fared; and how the warre prospered.

8 Afterward David said to Uriah, * Goe down to thine house, and wash thy feet. So Uriah departed out of the kings palace, and the king sent a present after him.

9 But Uriah slept at the doore of the kings palace with al the servants of his lord, and went not down to his house.

10 Then they told David, saying, Uriah went not down to his house: and David said unto Uriah, Comcest thou not from thy journey? why didst thou not goe down to thine house?

11 Then Uriah answered David, † The Arke and Israel, and Judah dwell in tents: and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord abide in the open fields: shall I then go into mine house to eat and drinke, and lie with my wife? by thy life, and by the life of my soule, I will not doe this thing.

12 Then David said unto Uriah, Tarry yet this day, and to morrow I will send thee away. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morrow.

13 Then David called him, and he did eat and drinke before him, and he made him^c drunke: and at even he went out to lie on his couch with the servants of his lord, but went not down to his house.

14 And on the morrow David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah.

15 And he wrote † thus in the letter, Put ye Uriah in the forefront of the strength of the battell; and recule ye back from him, that he may be smitten, and die.

16 ¶ So when Joab besieged the city, he assigned Uriah unto a place, where he knew that strong men were.

17 And the men of the city came out, and fought with Joab: and there fell of the people of the servants of David, and Uriah the Hittite also died.

18 Then Joab sent and told David all the 20 ¶ And if the kings anger arise, so that he say unto thee, Wherefore approached ye unto the city to fight? knew ye not that they would hurle from the wall?

21 Who smote Abimelech son of Jerubesheth? did not a woman cast a piece of a milstone upon him from the wall, and he died in Thebez? why went you nigh the wall? Then say thou, Thy servant Vriah the Hittite is also dead.

22 ¶ So the messenger went, and came, & shewed David all that Joab had sent him for.

23 And the messenger said unto David, Certainly the men prevailed against us, & came out unto us into the field, but we pursued them unto the entering of the gate.

24 But the shooters shot from the wall against thy servants, and some of the kings servants be dead, and thy servant Vriah the Hittite is also dead.

25 Then David said unto the messenger, Thus shalt thou say unto Joab, Let not this thing trouble thee: for the sword devoureth one as well as another: make thy battle more strong against the citie, and destroy it, and encourage thou him.

26 ¶ And when the wife of Vriah heard that her husband Vriah was dead, shee mourned for her husband.

27 So when the mourning was past, David sent and tooke her into his house, and shee became his wife, and bare him a son: but the thing that David had done, displeased the Lord.

CHAP. XII.

1 David reproveth by Nathan, confesseth his sinne. 18 The child conceived in adulterie dyeth. 24 Salomon is borne. 26 Bathsheba is taken. 31 The citizens are grievously punished.

1 Then the Lord sent Nathan unto David, who came to him, and said unto him, There were two men in one city, the one rich, and the other poore.

2 The rich man had exceeding many sheepe and oxen:

3 But the poore had none, all save one little sheepe which he had bought, and nourished up: and it grew up with him, and with his children also, & did eat of his own morsels, and drank of his own cup, and slept in his bosome, and was unto him as his daughter.

4 Now there came a stranger unto the rich man, who refused to take of his own sheepe, and of his own oxen to dress for the stranger that was come unto him, but tooke the poore mans sheepe, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.

5 Then David was exceeding wroth with the man, and said to Nathan, As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this thing, shall surely die.

6 And he shall restore the lambe fourfold, because he did this thing, and had no pitie thereof.

7 Then Nathan said to David, Thou art the man. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I anointed thee king over Israel, and delivered thee out of the hand of Saul,

8 And gave thee thy lords house, and thy lords wives into thy bosome, and gave thee the house of Israel, and of Judah, and would moreover (if that had bene to little) have given thee such and such things.

9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord, to doe evill in his sight? thou hast killed Vriah the Hittite with the sword: and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slaine him with the sword of the children of Ammon.

10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house, because thou hast despised me, and taken the wife of Vriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up evill against thee out of thine own house, and will take thy wives before thine eyes, and give them unto thy neighbour, and hee shall lie with thy wives in the sight of this sunne.

12 For thou didst it secretly: but I will doe this thing before all Israel, and before the sun.

13 Then David said unto Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord. And Nathan said unto David, The Lord also hath put away thy sin, thou shalt not die.

14 How be it, because by this deed thou hast caused the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, the child that is born unto thee, shall surely die.

15 ¶ So Nathan departed unto his house: and the Lord strooke the child that Vriahs wife bare unto David, and it was sick.

16 David therefore besought God for the childe, and fasted, and went in, and lay all night upon the earth.

17 Then the Elders of his house arose to come unto him, and to cause him to rise from the ground: but he would not, neither did he eat meat with them.

18 So on the seventh day the child died: and the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said, Behold, while the child was alive, we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how then shall we say unto him, The child is dead? to vex him more?

20 Then David ¹ arose from the earth, and washed and anointed himselfe, and changed his apparell, and came into the house of the Lord, and worshipped, and afterward came to his own house, and bade that they should set bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then said his ^m servants unto him, what thing is this, that thou hast done? thou diddest fast and weep for the child while it was alive, but when the childe was dead, thou didst rise up, and eat meat.

22 And he said, While the childe was yet alive, I fasted, and wept: for I said, Who can tell whether God will have mercie on me, that the childe may live?

23 But now being dead, wherefore should I now fast? ⁿ Can I bring him again any more? I shall go to him, but he shall not returne to me.

24 ¶ And David comforted Bath-sheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her, ^{*} and she bare a son, and ^o he called his name Salomon: also the Lord loved him.

28 Now therefore gather the rest of the people together, and besiege the city, that thou mayest take it, lest [†] the victory be attributed to me.

CHAPTER XIII.

1 ^r Amnon Davids son defileth his sister Tamar. 2 ^r Tamar is comforted by her brother Absalom. 29 Absalom therefore killeth Amnon.

NOW after this, so it was, that Absalom the son of David having a sister, whose name was ^{*} Tamar, Amnon the son of David loved her.

2 And Amnon was so forevexed, that he fell sick for his sister Tamar: for she was a ^b virgine, and it seemed hard to Amnon to do any thing to her.

3 But Amnon had a friend called Jonadab, the son of Shimeah Davids brother: and Jonadab was a very subtile man.

4 Who said unto him, Why ^c art thou the kings son so leane from day to day? wilt thou not tell me? Then Amnon answered him, I love Tamar my brother Absaloms sister.

5 And Jonadab said unto him, ^c Lie down on thy bed, and make thy selfe sick: and when thy father shall come to see thee, say unto him, I pray thee, let my sister Tamar come, and give me meat, and let her dresse meat in my sight, that I may see it, and eat it of her hand.

6 ¶ So Amnon lay down, and made himselfe sick: and when the King came to see him, Amnon said unto the King, I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, and make me a couple of ^d cakes in my sight, that I may receive meat at her hand.

7 Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, Goe now to thy brother Ammons house, and dresse him meat.

8 ¶ So Tamar went to her brother Ammons house, & he lay down: and she tooke [†] floure, and kneaded it, and made cakes in his sight, and did bake the cakes.

9 And she tooke a pan, and ^e powdered them out before him, but he would not eat. Then Amnon said, Cause ye every man to go out from ^f me: so every man went out from him.

10 Then Amnon said unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar tooke the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

11 And when she had set them before him to eat, he tooke her, and said unto her, Come, lie with me, my sister.

12 But she answered him, Nay, my brother, do not force me: for no such thing [†] ought to be done in Israel: commit not this folly.

13 And I, [†] whither shall I cause my shame to go? and thou shalt be as one of the [†] fooles in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, speak to the king, for he will not deny me unto thee.

14 Howbeit he would not hearken unto her voice, but being stronger then shee, forced her, and lay with her.

15 Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, so that the hatred wherewith he hated her, was greater then the love, wherewith he had loved her: and Amnon said unto her, Up, get thee hence.

9 Then the woman of Tekoah said unto the king, My lord, O king, this ^e trespass be on me, and on my fathers house, and the king and his throne be ^f guiltlesse.

10 And the king said, Bring him to me that speaketh against thee, and he shall touch thee no more.

11 Then said she, I pray thee, let the king remember the Lord thy God, that thou wouldest not suffer many revengers of blood to destroy, lest they slay my sonne. And he answered, As the Lord liveth, there shall not one haire of thy sonne fall to the earth.

12 Then the woman said, I pray thee, let thine handmaid speake a word to my lord the king. And he said, Say on.

13 Then the woman said, Wherefore then hast thou ^g thought such a thing against the people of God? or ^h why doth the king, as one which is faulty, speake this thing, that he will not bring again his banished?

14 For we must needs die, and we are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again: neither doeth God spare any person, yet doeth he appoint ⁱ meanes, not to cast out from him, him that is expelled.

15 Now therefore that I am come to speak of this thing unto my Lord the king, ^j the answer that the people have made me a fraide, therefore thine handmaid said, Now will I speake unto the king: it may be that the king will perform the request of his handmaid.

16 For the king will heard, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would destroy me, and also my son from the inheritance of God.

17 Therefore thine handmaid said, The word of my lord the king shall now be ^k comfortable: for my lord the king is even as an Angel of God in hearing of good and bad: therefore the Lord thy God be with thee.

18 Then the king answered, and said unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I shall ask thee. And the woman said, Let my lord the king now speake.

19 And the king said, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this? Then the woman answered, and said, As thy soul liveth, my lord the king, I will not turn to the right hand, nor to the left, from ought that my lord the king hath spoken: for even thy servant Joab bad me, and he put all these words in the mouth of thine handmaid.

20 For to the intent that I should ^m change the form of speech, thy servant Joab hath done this thing: but ⁿ my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of an Angel of God, to understand all things that are in the earth.

21 And the king said unto Joab, Behold now, I have ^o done this thing: go then, and bring the yong man Absalom again.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himself, and ^p thanked the king. Then Joab said, This day thy servant knoweth, that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord the king, in that the king hath fulfilled the request of his servant.

23 And Joab arose, and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.

24 And the king said, Let him ^q turn to his own house, and not see my face. So Absalom turned to his own house, and saw not the kings face.

25 Now in all Israel there was none to be so much praised for beauty as Absalom: from the sole of his foot even to the top of his head there was no blemish in him.

26 And when he polled his head, (for at every yeares end he polled it, because it was too heavy for him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the haire of his head at two hundred shekels by the kings weight.

27 And Absalom had three sons, and one daughter named Tamar, which was a faire woman to look upon.

28 And so Absalom dwelt the space of two yeares in Jerusalem, and saw not the kings face.

29 Therefore Absalom sent for Joab to send him to the king, but he he would not come to him: and when he sent again, he would not come.

30 Therefore he said unto his servants, Behold, Joab hath a field by my place, and hath barley therein: go, & set it ^r on fire: and Absaloms servants set the field on fire.

31 Then Joab arose, and came to Absalom unto his house, and said unto him, Wherefore have thy servants burnt my field with fire?

32 And Absalom answered Joab, Behold, I sent for thee, saying, Come thou hither, and I will send thee to the king, for to say, Wherefore am I come from Geshur? It had been better for me to have been there still: now therefore let me see the kings face: and if there be any trespass in me, let him kill me.

CHAP. XV.

The practises of Absalom to aspire to the kingdom. 14 David and his flee. 31 Davids prayer. 34 Hushai is sent to Absalom to discover his counsell.

After this, Absalom prepared him charrets, and horses, and fifty men to run before him.

2 And Absalom rose up early, and stood hard by the entering in of the gate: and every man that had any matter, and came to the king for judgement, him did Absalom call unto him, and said, Of what city art thou? And he answered, Thy servant is of one of the tribes of Israel.

3 Then Absalom said unto him, See, thy matters are good and righteous, but there is no man deputed of the king to heare thee.

4 Absalom said moreover, Oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any matter of controversy, might come to me, that I might do him justice.

5 And when any man came neer to him, and did him obeysance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him.

6 And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel, that came to the king for judgement: so Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 ¶ And after forty years, Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go to Hebron, and render my vow which I have vowed unto the Lord.

8 For thy servant vowed a vow when I remained at Geshur in Aram, saying, If the Lord shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, I will serve the Lord.

9 And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron.

10 ¶ Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, When ye hear the sound of the trumpet, ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.

11 ¶ And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, that were called: and they went in their simplicity knowing nothing.

12 And Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite Davids counsellor, from his city Giloth, while he offered sacrifices: and the treason was great: for the people increased still with Absalom.

13 ¶ Then came a messenger to David, saying, The hearts of the men of Israel are turned after Absalom.

14 Then David said unto all his servants that were with him at Jerusalem, Up, and let us flee: for we shall not escape from Absalom: make speed to depart, lest he come suddenly and take us, and bring evil upon us; and smite the city with the edge of the sword.

15 And the kings servants said unto him, Behold, thy servants are ready to doe according to all that my lord the king shall appoint.

16 So the king departed and all his household after him, and the king left ten concubines to keep the house.

17 And the king went forth and all the people after him; and tarried in a place farre off.

18 And all his servants went about him, and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, even six hundred men which were come after him from Gath, went before the king.

19 Then said the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore comest thou also with us? Return and abide with the king, for thou art a stranger: depart thou therefore to thy place.

20 Thou camest yesterday, and should I cause thee to wander to day and go with us? I will go whither I can: therefore return thou, and cary again thy brethren: mercy and truth be with thee.

21 And Ittai answered the king, and said, As the Lord liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there surely will thy servant be.

22 Then David said to Ittai, Come, and go forward. And Ittai the Gittite went, and all his men, and all the children that were with him.

23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people went forward, but the king passed over the brook Kidron: and all the people went over toward the way of the wilderness.

24 And lo, Zadok also was there, and all the Levites with him, bearing the Arke of the covenant of God: and they set down the Arke of God, and Abiathar went up untill the people were all come out of the city.

25 Then the king said unto Zadok, Cary the Ark of God again into the city: If I shall finde favour in the eyes of the Lord, he will bring me again, and shew me both it, and the Tabernacle thereof.

26 But if he thus say, I have no delight in thee, behold, here am I, let him do to me as seemeth good in his eyes.

27 The king said again unto Zadok the Priest, Art not thou a Seer? Return into the city in peace, and your two sonnes with you: to wit, Ahimaaz thy son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.

28 Behold, I will tarry in the fields of the wilderness.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the Ark of God againe to Jerusalem, and they tarried there.

30 And David went upon the mount of Olives and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and went barefooted: and all the people that was with him, and every man his head covered, and as they went up, they wept.

31 Then one told David, saying, Ahithophel is one of them that have conspired with Absalom: and David said, O Lord, I pray thee, turn the counsell of Ahithophel into foolishnesse.

^r The counsell of the crafty worldlings doth more harm, then the open force of the enemy.

32 ¶ Then David came to the top of the mount where he worshipped God: and behold, Hushai the Archite came against him with his coat torn, and having earth upon his head.

33 Unto whom David said, If thou go with me, thou shalt be a burthen unto me.

^v Though Hushai dissembled here at the kings request, yet may we not use this example to excuse our dissimulation.

34 But if thou return to the city, and say unto Absalom, I will be thy servant, O king, (as I have been in time past thy fathers servant, so will I now be thy servant) then thou mayest bring me the counsell of Ahithophel to nought.

35 And hast thou not there with thee, Zadok and Abiathar the Priests? therefore whatsoever thou shalt hear out of the kings house, thou shalt shew to Zadok and Abiathar the Priests.

36 Behold, there are with them their two sons: Ahimaaz Zadoks son, and Jonathan Abiathars son: by them also shall ye send me every thing that ye can heare.

37 So Hushai Davids friend went into the city: and Absalom came into Jerusalem.

^{* 1 Sam. 24. 17. and chap. 3. 1.}

10 ¶ But the king said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zerviah? for he curseth, even because the Lord hath bidden him curse David: who dare then say, Wherefore hast thou done so?

^f David felt that this was the judgment of God for his sin, and therefore humbled himself to his rod.

11 And David said to Abishai, and to all his servants, Behold, my son which came out of mine own bowels, seeketh my life: then how much more now may this son of Jemini? Suffer him to curse: for the Lord hath bidden him.

12 It may be that the Lord will looke on mine affliction, and do me good for his cursing this day.

14 Then came the king and all the people that were with him weary, and refreshed themselves there.

before thy father, so will I before thee.

20 ¶ Then spake Absalom to Ahithophel, Give counsell what we shall do.

k Suspecting the change of the kingdom, and so his own overthrow, he giveth such counsell as might most hinder his fathers reconciliation: and also declare to the people that Absalom was in highest authority.

21 And^k Ahithophel said unto Absalom, Go into thy fathers concubines, which he hath left to keep the house: and when all Israel shall heare, that thou art abhorred of thy father: the hands of all that are with thee, shall be strong.

22 So they spread Absalom a tent upon the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his fathers concubines in the sight of all Israel.

l It was so esteemed for the success thereof.

23 And the counsell of Ahithophel which he counselled in those dayes, was like as one had asked^l counsell at the oracle of God: so^m was all the counsell of Ahithophel both with David and with Absalom.

CHAP. XVII.

7 Ahithophels counsell is overthrown by Hushai. 14 The Lord had so ordained. 19 The Priests sons are hid in the well. 22 David goeth over Jordan. 23 Ahithophel hangeth himself. 27 They bring victuals to David.

7 Hushai then answered unto Absalom, The counsell that Ahithophel hath given, is not^f good at his time.

8 For, said Hushai, thou knowest thy father, and his men, that they be strong men, and are chafed in minde as a beare robbed of her whelps in the field: also thy father is a valiant warriour, and will not^g lodge with the people.

10 Then he also that is valiant, whose heart is as the heart of a Lion, shallⁱ shrink and faint: for all Israel knoweth, that thy father is valiant, and they which be with him, stout men.

11 Therefore my counsell is, that all Israel be gathered unto thee, from Dan even to Beer-sheba as the sand of the sea in number, and that thou go to battel in thine own person.

12 So shall we come upon him in some place, where we shall find him; and^j we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of all the men that are with him, we will not leave him one.

j Or, we will camp against him.

13 Moreover if he be gotten into a city, then shall all the men of Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, untill there be not one small stone found there.

14 ¶ Then Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsell of Hushai the Archite is better then the counsell of Ahithophel: for the Lord had^k determined to destroy the^l good counsell of Ahithophel, that the Lord might^m bring evill upon Absalom.

k Or, commanded. d That counsell which seemed good at the first to Absalom, verily. e For by the counsell of Hushai he went to the battel where he was destroyed.

15 Then said Hushai unto Zadok and to Abiathar the Priests, Of this and that manner did Ahithophel and the Elders of Israel counsell Absalom: and thus and thus have I counselled.

16 Now therefore send quickly, and shew David, saying, Tarry not this night in the fields of the wilderness, but rather get theeⁿ over, lest the king be devoured and all the people that are with him.

f That is, over Jordan.

17 ¶ Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz abode by^o Enrogel: (for they might not be seen to come into the city) and a maid went, and told^p them, and they went and shewed king David.

g Or the well of Enrogel.

h Meaning, the message from their fathers.

18 Nevertheless, a yong man saw them, and told it to Absalom, therefore they both departed quickly, & came to a mans house in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, into the which they went down.

19 And the^h wife took and spread a covering over the wells mouth, and spread ground corn thereon, that the thing should not be known.

i Thus God sendeth succour to his, in their greatest dangers.

20 And when Absaloms servants came to the wife into the house, they said, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman answered them, They be gone over the^j brook of water. And when they had sought them, and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

j The Chaldeans readeth, Now they have passed the Jordan.

21 And as soon as they were departed, the other came out of the well, and went and told king David, and said unto him, Up and get you quickly over the water: for^k such counsell hath Ahithophel given against you.

k To wit, to pursue thee with all haste

22 Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they went over Jordan^l untill the dawning of the day, so that there lacked not one of them, that was not come over Jordan.

l They travelled all night, and by morning had all their company passed over.

23 ¶ Now

m Gods just vengeance, even in this life, is powred on them which are enemies, traitours, & persecutors of his Church.

n Who was also called Ithai, Davids father.

o God sheweth himself most liberal to his, when they seem to be utterly destitute.

a For certain of the Reubenites, Gadites, and of half the tribe, could not beare the infolence of the son against the father, and therefore joyned with David.

b Signifying, that a good governour ought to be so deare unto his people, that they will rather loose their lives, then that ought should come unto him.

23 ¶ Now when Ahithophel saw that his counsell was not followed, he sadled his asse, and arose, and he went home unto his city, and put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died, and was buried in his fathers grave.

24 ¶ Then David came to Mahanaim. And Abfalom passed over Jorden, he, and all the men of Israel with him.

25 And Abfalom made Amasa captain of the host in the stead of Joab: which Amasa was a mans son named Ithra an Israelite, that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zerviah, Joabs mother.

26 So Israel and Abfalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And when David was come to Mahanaim, Shobi the son of Nahash out of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel out of Lo-debar, and Barzilai the Gileadite out of Rogel, 28 ^o Brought beds, and basins, & earthen vessels, and wheate, and barley, and floure, and parched corn, and beanes, and lentiles, and parched corn.

29 And they brought honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheefe of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they said, The people is hungry, & weary, and thirsty in the wildernesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 David divideth his army into three parts. 9 Abfalom is hanged, slain, and cast into a pit. 33 David lamenteth the death of Abfalom.

Then David ^a numbred the people that were with him, and set over them captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds.

2 And David sent forth the third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and the third part under the hand of Abishai Joabs brother the son of Zerviah: and the other third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said unto the people, I will go with you my self also.

3 But the people answered, Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not regard us, neither will they passe for us, though half of us were slain: but thou art now worth ten thousand of us: therefore now it is better that thou succour us out of the city.

4 Then the king said unto them, What seemeth you best, that I will do. So the king stood by the gate side, and all the people came out by hundreds, and by thousands.

5 And the king commanded Joab, and Abishai, and Ittai, saying, Entreate the young man Abfalom gently for my sake. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Abfalom.

6 So the people went out into the field to meet Israel, and the battell was in the wood of Ephraim:

7 Where the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David: so there was a great slaughter that day, even of twenty thousand.

8 ¶ For the battell was scattered over all the countrey: & the wood devoured much more people that day, then did the sword.

9 ¶ Now Abfalom met the servants of David, and Abfalom rode upon a mule, and the mule came under a great thicke oke: and his head caught hold of the oke, and he was taken up [†] between the heaven and the earth: and the mule that was under him went away.

10 And one that saw it, told Joab, saying, Behold, I saw Abfalom hanged in an oke.

11 Then Joab said unto the man that told him. And hast thou indeed seen? why then didst not thou there smite him to the ground, and I would have given thee ten ^{*} shekels of silver, and a girdle?

12 Then the man said unto Joab, Though I should [†] receive a thousand shekels of silver in mine hand, yet would I not lay mine hand upon the kings sonne: for in our bearing the king charged thee, and Abishai, and Ittai, saying, Beware, lest any touch the yong man Abfalom.

13 If I had done it, it had been [†] the danger of my life: for nothing can be hid from the king: yea thou thy self wouldest have been against me.

14 Then said Joab, I will not thus tarry with thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thrust them [†] thorow Abfalom, while he was yet alive in the mids of the oke.

15 And ten servants that bare Joabs armour, compassed about and smote Abfalom, and slew him.

16 Then Joab ^d blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing after Israel: for Joab held back the people.

17 And they took Abfalom, and cast him into a great ^e pit in the wood, and laid a mighty great heape of stones upon him: and all Israel fled every one to his tent.

18 Now Abfalom in his life time had taken and reared him up a pillar, which is in the ^{*} kings dale: for he said, I have no ^f son to keep my name in remembrance, and he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called unto this day, Abfaloms place.

19 ¶ Then said Ahimaz the son of Zadok, I pray thee, let me run, and beare the king tidings that the Lord hath [†] delivered him out of the hand of his enemies.

20 And Joab said unto him, Thou ^g shalt not be the messenger to day, but thou shalt beare tidings another time, but to day thou shalt beare none: for the kings son is dead.

g For Joab bare a good affection to Ahimaz, & doubted how David would take the report of Abfaloms death.

21 Then said Joab to Cush, Goe, tell the King, what thou hast seene. And Cush bowed himselfe unto Joab, and ran.

22 Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok againe to Joab, What, I pray thee, if I also run after Cush? and Joab said, Wherefore now wilt thou run, my sonne, seeing that thou hast no tidings to bring?

23 Yet what if I runne? Then he said unto him, Run. So Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plaine, and overwent Cush.

24 Now David sate between the two gates. And the watchman went to the top of the gate upon the wall, and lift up his eyes, and saw, and behold, a man came running alone.

25 And the watchman cried, and told the king. And the king said, If he be alone, he bringeth tidings. And he came apace, and drew neere.

26 And the watchman saw another man running, and the watchman called unto the porter, and said, behold, another man runneth alone. And the King said, He also bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman said, I thinketh the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok. Then the king said, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings.

28 And Ahimaaz called, and said unto the king, peace be with thee: and he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and said, Blessed be the Lord thy God, who hath shut up the men that lift up their hands against my Lord the king.

29 And the king said, is the young man Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered, When Joab sent the kings servant, and me thy servant, I saw a great multitude, but I knew not what.

30 And the king said unto him, Turne aside, and stand here. So he turned aside, and stood still.

31 And behold, Cush came, and Cush said, Tidings, my Lord the king: for the Lord hath delivered thee this day out of the hands of all those that rose against thee.

32 Then the king said unto Cush, Is the yong man Absalom safe? And Cush answered, The enemies of my Lord the king, and all that rise against thee to do thee hurt, be as that yong man is.

33 And the king was mooved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept: and as he went, thus he said, O my sonne Absalom, my son, my son Absalom: would God I had died for thee, O Absalom my sonne, my sonne.

CHAP. XIX.

7 Joab encourageth the king. 8 David is restored. 23 Shimei is pardoned. 24 Mephibosheth meeteth the King. 39 Barzilai departeth. 41 Israel striveth with Judah.

And it was told Joab, Behold, the king weepeth and mourneth for Absalom.

2 Therefore the victory of that day was turned into mourning to all the people: for the people heard say that day, The king sorroweth for his sonne.

3 And the people went that day into the citie secretly, as people confounded hide themselves when they flee in battell.

4 So the king hid his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, My son Absalom, Absalom my sonne, my sonne.

5 ¶ Then Joab came into the house to the King, and said, Thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy servants, which this day have saved thy life, and the lives of thy sonnes, and thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines,

6 In that thou lovest thine enemies, and hatest thy friends: for thou hast declared this day, that thou regardest neither thy Princes nor servants: therefore this day I perceive, that if Absalom had lived, and we all had died this day, that then it would have pleased thee well.

7 Now therefore up, come out, and speake comfortably unto thy servants: for I sweare by the Lord, except thou come out, there will not tarry one man with thee this night: and that will be worse unto thee, then all the evill that fell on thee from thy youth hitherto.

8 Then the king arose, and sate in the gate: and they told unto all the people, saying, Behold, the king doeth sit in the gate: and all the people came before the king: for Israel had fled every man to his tent.

9 ¶ Then all the people were at strife throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, The king saved us out of the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philistims, and now he is fled out of the land for Absalom.

10 And Absalom, whom we anointed over us is dead in battell: therefore why are ye so slow to bring the king againe?

11 But King David sent to Zadok and to Abiathar the Priest, saying, Speake unto the Elders of Judah, and say, Why are ye behind to bring the king againe to his house, (for the saying of all Israel is come unto the king, even to his house.)

12 Ye are my brethren: my bones, and my flesh are ye: wherefore then are ye the last that bring the king againe?

13 Also say ye to Amasa, Art thou not my bone and my flesh? God doe so to me and more also, if thou be not captaine of the hoste to me for ever in the roome of Joab.

† Ebr. in the hearts of thy servants.

c Where the most resort of the people haunted.

d Every one blamed another, and strove who should first bring him home.

e That they should reprove the negligence of the Elders, seeing the people were so forward.

f By this policie, David thought that by winning of the captaine, he should have the hearts of all the people.

sent to the king, saying, Returne thou with all thy servants.

15 ¶ So the king returned, and came to Jorden. And Judah came to Gilgal, for to goe to meet the king, and to conduct him over Jorden.

^g Who had before reviled him, Chap. 16. 13.

16 ¶ And ^h Shimei the sonne of Gera, the sonne of Gemini, which was of Bahurim, hasted and came, downie, with the men of Judah to meet king David,

^{*} Chap. 16. 3.

17 And a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and ⁱ Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fiftene sonnes and twenty servants with him: and they went over Jorden before the king.

18 And there went over a boate to carrie over the kings household, and to doe him pleasure. Then Shimei the sonne of Gera fell before the king, when he was come over Jorden,

^{*} Chap. 16. 15.

19 And said unto the king, Let not my Lord impute ^k wickednes unto me, nor remember the thing that thy servant did ^l wickedly when my lord the king departed out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

^h For in his adversity he was his most cruel enemy, and now in his prosperity seeketh by flattery to creepe into favour.

ⁱ By Joseph he meant Ephraim, Manasseh, & Benjamin (whereof he was) because these three were under one standard. Num. 2. 18.

20 For thy servant doth know, that I have done amisse: therefore behold, I am the first this day of all the house of ^j Joseph, that am come to go downe to meet my lord the king.

21 But Abisha the son of Zerviah answered, and said, Shall not Shimei die for this, because he cursed the Lords anointed?

22 And David said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zerviah, that this day ye should be adversaries unto me? shall there any man die this day in Israel? for do not I know that I am this day king over Israel?

^k By my hands, or during my life, as read 1 King. 2. 8. 9.

23 Therefore the king said unto Shimei, thou shalt not ^k die, and the king sware unto him.

24 And Mephibosheth the son of Saul came downe to meet the king, and had neither washed his feet, nor dressed his beard, nor washed his clothes from the time the king departed, untill he returned in peace.

^l When Mephibosheth being at Jerusalem had met the king.

25 And when ^l he was come to Jerusalem, and met the king, the king said unto him, wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibosheth?

26 And he answered, My lord the king, my servant deceived me: for thy servant said, I would have mine asse saddled to ride thereon, for to go with the king, because thy servant is lame.

^{*} Chap. 16. 3.

27 And he hath ^m accused thy servant unto my lord the king: but my lord the king is as an ⁿ Angel of God: doe therefore thy pleasure.

^m Able for his wisdom to judge in all matters.
ⁿ Worthy to die for Sauls cruelty toward thee.

28 For all my fathers house were ^a but dead men before my lord the king, yet didst thou set thy servant among them that did eat at thine own table: what right therefore have I yet to crie any more unto the king?

29 And the king said unto him, Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I have said, Thou and Ziba divide the land.

^o David did evil in taking his lands from him before he knew the cause, but much worse, that knowing the truth he did not restore them.

30 And Mephibosheth said unto the King: yea, let him take all, seeing my lord the king is come home in peace.

31 ¶ Then Barzillai the Gileadite came downe from Rogelim, and went over Jorden with the king, to conduct him over Jorden.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourescore yeare old, and he had provided the king of sustenance, while he lay at Mahanaim: for he was a man of a very great substance.

33 And the king said unto Barzillai, Come over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jerusalem.

34 And Barzillai said unto the king, [†] How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem?

[†] Ebr. how many dayes are the years of my life?

35 I am this day fourescore yeares old: and can I discern between good or evil? Hath thy servant any tast in that I eat, or in that I drink? Can I heare any more the voice of singing men and women? wherefore then should thy servant be any more a ^p burthen unto my lord the king?

^p He thought it not meet to receive benefits of him, to whom he was not able to doe service againe.

36 Thy servant will go a little way over Jorden with the king, and why will the king recompence it me with such a reward?

37 I pray thee, let thy servant turne back againe, that I may die in mine own citie, and be buried in the grave of my father, and of my mother: but behold thy servant ^q Chimham, let him go with my lord the king, and doe to him what shall please thee.

^q My sonne.

38 And the king answered, Chimham shall go with me, and I will do to him that thou shalt be content with: and whatsoever thou shalt [†] require of me, that will I [†] doe for thee.

[†] Or shalt.

39 So all the people went over Jorden: and the king passed over: and the king kissed Barzillai, and [†] blessed him, and he returned unto his owne place.

[†] Or, had his farewell.

40 ¶ Then the king went to ^r Gilgal, and Chimham went with him, and all the people of Judah conducted the king, and also halfe the people of ^r Israel.

^r Where the tribe of Judah tarried to receive him.

41 And behold, all the men of Israel came to the king, and said unto the king, Why have our brethren the men of Judah stollen thee away, & have brought the king and his household, and all Davids men with him over ^r Jorden.

^r Which had taken part with the king.

42 And all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, Because the king is neere of kin to us: and wherefore now be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten of the kings ^s cost, or have we taken any bribes?

^s Toward Jerusalem.

43 And

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, we have ten parts in the king, and have also more right to David then ye: why then did ye despise us, † that our advice should not be first had in restoring our king? And the words of the men of Judah were fiercer then the words of the men of Israel.

C H A P. XX.

1 Sheba rayseth Israel against David. 20 Joab killeth Amasa traiterously. 22 The head of Sheba is delivered to Joab. 23 Davids chiefe officers.

Then there was come^a thither a wicked man (named Sheba the son of Bichri, a man of Jemini) and he blew the trumpet, and said, We have no part in ^b David, neither have we inheritance in the son^c of Ithai: every man to his tents, O Israel.

2 So every man of Israel went from David, & followed Sheba the son of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave fast unto their king, from ^d Iorden even to Ierusalem.

3 When David then came to his house to Ierusalem, the king tooke the tenne women his ^e concubines, that he had left behind him to keep the house, and put them in ward, and fed them, but lay no more with them: but they were inclosed unto the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 ¶ Then said the king to ^e Amasa, Assemble me the men of Judah within three dayes, and be thou here present.

5 So Amasa went to assemble Judah, but he taried longer then the time which he had appointed him.

6 Then David said to Abishai, Now shall Sheba the son of Bichri doe us more harme then did Absalom: take thou therefore thy lords servants & follow after him, lest he get him walled cities, and escape us.

7 And there went out after him Joabs men, & the ^f Cherethites, and Pelethites, and all the mighty men: and they departed out of Ierusalem, to follow after Sheba the sonne of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa went before them, and Joabs ^g garment that he had put on, was girded unto him, and upon it was a sword girded, which hanged on his loines in the sheath, and as he went, it used to fall out.

9 And Joab said to Amasa, Art thou in [†] health, my brother? and Joab tooke Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kisse him.

10 But Amasa tooke no heede to the sword that was in Joabs hand: for there-with he smote him in the fift rib, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and [†] smote him not the second time: so he died. Then Joab and Abishai his brother followed after Sheba the sonne of Bichri.

11 And one of Joabs men ^h stood by him and said, He that favoureth Joab, and he that is of Davids part, let him goe after Joab.

12 And Amasa wallowed in blood in the mids of the way: & when the man saw that all the people stood still, he removed Amasa out of the way into the field, and cast a cloath upon him, because he saw that every one that came by him stood still.

13 ¶ When he was removed out of the way, every man went after Joab, to follow after Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 And he went thorow all the tribes of Israel unto Abel, and ⁱ Bethmaachah and all places of Berim: and they gathered together, and went also after him.

15 So they came, and besieged him in Abel, neere to Bethmaachah: and they cast up a mount against the city, and the people thereof stood on the rampart, and all the people that was with Joab, ^k destroyed and cast downe the wall.

16 Then cried a wise woman out of the city. Heare, heare, I pray you, say unto Joab, Come thou hither; that I may speake with thee.

17 And when he came neere unto her, the woman said, Art thou Joab? And he answered, Yea, And she said to him, Heare the words of thy handmaid. And he answered, I doe heare.

18 Then she spake thus, ^l They spake in the old time, saying, They should aske of Abel, and so have they continued.

19 I am ^m one of them, that are peaceable and faithful in Israel: and thou goest about to destroy a city, and a mother in Israel: why wilt thou devour the inheritance of the Lord?

20 And Joab answered, and said, God forbid, God forbid it me, that I should devour, or destroy it.

21 The ⁿ matter is not so, but a man of mount Ephraim (Sheba the son of Bichri by name) hath lift up his hand against the King, even against David: deliver us him onely, and I will depart from the citie. And the woman said unto Joab, behold, his head shall be thrown to thee over the wall.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people with her wisdom, and they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and cast it to Joab: then he blew the trumpet, and [†] they retired from the citie, every man to his tent: and Joab returned to Ierusalem unto the King.

23 ¶ [†] Then Joab was over all the hoste of Israel, and Benajah the sonne of Jehoadah over the Cherethites, and over the Pelethites.

Then there was a famine in the dayes of David, three yeares[†] together: and David [†] asked counsell of the Lord, and the Lord answered, it is for Saul, and for his bloody house, because he slew the ^aGibeonites.

2 Then the king called the Gibeonites, and said unto them, (Now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but ^a a remnant of the Amorites, unto whom the children of Israel had sworn: but Saul sought to slay them for his zeal toward the children of Israel and Judah.)

^b Where with may your wrath be appeased, that you may pray to God to remove this plague from his people?

3 And David said unto the Gibeonites, What shall I do for you, and wherewith shall I make the atonement, that ye may blesse the inheritance of the Lord?

4 the Gibeonites then answered him, We will have no silver nor gold of Saul, nor of his house, neither for us shalt thou kill any man in Israel, And he said, What ye shall say, that will I do for you.

11 ¶ And it was told David, what Rizpah the daughter of Ajah the concubine of Saul had done.

12 And David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, from the citizens of Jabesh-Gilead, which had stollen them from the street of Bethshan, where the Philistims ^{*} had hanged them, when the Philistims had slain Saul in Gilboa.

CHAP. XXII.

² David after his victories praiseth God. ³ The anger of God toward the wicked. ⁴ He propheseth of the rejection of the Jews, and vocation of the Gentiles.

And David spake the words of this song unto the Lord, what time the Lord

^a In token of the wonderful benefits that he received of God.

Lord had delivered him out of the hands of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul.

2 And he said, * The Lord is my rock and my fortress, and he that delivereth me:

3 God is my strength, in him will I trust: my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge: my Saviour, thou hast saved me from violence.

4 I will call on the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.

5 For the pangs of death have compassed me: the floods of ungodliness have made me afraid.

6 The sorrows of the grave compassed me about: the snares of death overtook me.

7 But in my tribulation did I call upon the Lord, and cry to my God, and he did heare my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.

8 Then the earth trembled and quaked; the foundations of the heavens moved and shook, because he was angry.

9 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.

10 He bowed the heavens also, and came down, and darkness was under his feet.

11 And he rode upon a Cherub and did fly, and he was seen upon the wings of the wind.

12 And he made darkness a Tabernacle round about him, even the gatherings of waters, and the clouds of the ayre.

13 At the brightness of his presence the coales of fire were kindled.

14 The Lord thundred from heaven, and the most high gave his voice.

15 He shot arrows also, and scattered them: lightning, and destroyed them.

16 The channels also of the Sea appeared, even the foundations of the world were discovered by the rebuking of the Lord, and at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.

17 He sent from above, and took me: he drew me out of many waters.

18 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my calamity, but the Lord was my stay.

20 And brought me forth into a large place: he delivered me, because he favoured me.

21 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the pureness of mine hands he recompensed me.

22 For I kept the waies of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

23 For all his laws were before me, and his statutes I did not depart therefrom.

24 I was upright also toward him, and have kept me from my wickedness.

25 Therefore the Lord did reward me according to my righteousness, according to my pureness before his eyes.

26 With the godly thou wilt shew thyself godly: with the upright man thou wilt shew thyself upright.

27 With the pure thou wilt shew thyself pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thyself froward.

28 Thus thou wilt save the poor people: but thine eyes are upon the haughty, to humble them.

29 Surely thou art my light, O Lord: and the Lord will lighten my darkness.

30 For by thee have I broken through an host, and by my God have I leaped over a wall.

31 The way of God is uncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

32 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mighty, save our God?

33 God is my strength in battell, and maketh my way upright.

34 He maketh my feet like hinds feet, and hath set me upon mine high places.

35 He teacheth mine hands to fight, so that a bow of brass is broken with mine armes.

36 Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation, and thy loving kindness hath caused me to increase.

37 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me, and mine heels have not slid.

38 I have pursued mine enemies and destroyed them, and have not turned again untill I had consumed them.

39 Yea, I have consumed them and thrust them through, and they shall not arise, but shall fall under my feet.

40 For thou hast girded me with power to battell, and thou that arose against me, hast thou subdued under me.

41 And thou hast given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

42 They looked about, but there was none to save them, even unto the Lord, but he answered them not.

43 Then did I beat them as small as the dust of the earth, I did tread them flat as the clay of the street, and did spread them abroad.

44 Thou hast also delivered me from the contentions of my people: thou hast preserved me to be the head over nations: the people which I knew not do serve me.

45 Strangers shall be in subjection to me: as soon as they hear, they shall obey me.

46 Strangers shall shrink away, and fear in their privie chambers.

47 Let the Lord live, and blessed be my strength: and God, even the force of my salvation be exalted.

CHAP. XXIII.

The last words of David. 6 The wicked shall be plucked up as chervil. 8 The names and facts of his mighty men. 15 He desired water, and would not drink it.

a Which he spake after that he had made the psalmes.

THESE also be the last words of David, David the son of Ithai faith, even the man who was set up on high, the anointed of the God of Jaakob, and the sweet singer of Israel faith,

1 The spirit of the Lord spake by me, and his word was in my tongue.

b Meaning, he spake nothing but by the motion of Gods spirit.

2 The God of Israel spake to me, the strength of Israel said, thou shalt beare rule over men, being just, and ruling in the feare of God.

3 Even as the morning light when the sunne riseth, the morning, I say, without cloudes, so shall mine house be, and not as the grasle of the earth is by the bright raine.

c Which groweth quickly, and fadeth soone.

4 For so shall not mine house be with God: For he hath made with me an everlasting covenant, perfect in all points, and sure: therefore all mine health and whole desire is, that he will not make it grow so.

d But that my kingdome may continue for ever, according to his promise.

5 But the wicked shall be every one as thornes thrust away, because they cannot be taken with hands.

6 But the man that shall touch them, must be defended with yron, or with the shaft of a speare: and they shall be burnt with fire in the same place.

7 These be the names of the mighty men, whom David had. He that sat in the seate of wisdom, being cheife of the princes, was Adino of Ezni, he slew eight hundred at one time.

e As one of the kings counsell.

8 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the son of Ahohi, one of the three worthies with David, when they defied the Philistims gathered there to battell, when the men of Israel were gone up.

* 1 Chron. 14. 12.

f Or assailed with danger of their lives

g Meaning, fled from the battell.

9 He arose and smote the Philistims, untill his hand was wearie, and his hand clave unto the sword: and the Lord gave great victorie the same day, and the people returned after him onely to spoile.

h By a cramp which came of wearinesse and straining.

10 After him was Shammah the son of Age, the Hararite: for the Philistims assembled at a towne, where was a piece of a field full of lentiles, and the people fled from the Philistims.

* 1 Chron. 11. 27.

12 But he stood in the middes of the field, and defended it, and slew the Philistims: so the Lord gave a great victory.

i Who both neither respect to many nor few, when he will shew his power.

14 And David was then in an hold, and the garison of the Philistims was then in Beth-lehem.

15 And David longed, and said, Oh, that one would give me to drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, which is by the gate.

j Being overcome with wearinesse and thirst.

16 Then the three mighty brak into the host of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took and brought it to David, who would not drink thereof, but powred it for an offering unto the Lord, k Bridling his affection, and so desiring God not to be offended for that rash enterprise.

17 And said, O Lord, be it farre from me, that I should doe this. Is not this the blood of the men that went in jeopardy of their lives? therefore he would not drink it. These things did these threemighty men.

18 And Abishai the brother of Joab, the son of Zerviah, was cheife among the three, and he lifted up his spear against three hundred, and slew them, and he had the name among the three.

* 1 Chron. 11. 34.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 David causeth the people to be numbred, 10 He repenteth, and chuseth to fall into Gods hands. 15 Seventie thousand perish with the pestilence.

And the wrath of the Lord was^a again kindled against Israel, and^b he moved David against them, in that he said, Go, number Israel and Judah.

2 For the king said to Joab the captain of the host, which was with him, Go speedily now through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, and number, ye the people, that I may know the^c number of the people.

3 And Joab said unto the King, The Lord thy God increase the people an hundred fold more then they be, and that the eyes of my Lord the king may see it: but why doeth my lord the King desire this thing?

4 Notwithstanding the kings word prevailed against Joab, and against the captains of the host: therefore Joab and the captains of the host went out from the presence of the king to number the people of Israel.

5 ¶ And they passed over Iorden, and pitched in Aroer, at the right side of the city that is in the mids of the[†] valley of Gad, and toward Jazer.

6 Then they came to Gilead, and to[†] Tahtim-hodshi, so they came to Dan Jaan, and so about to Zidon,

7 And came to the fortresse of[†] Tyrus, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites, and went toward the South of Judah, even to Beer-sheba.

8 ¶ So when they had gone about all the land, they returned to Jerusalem at the end of nine moneths and twenty dayes.

9 ¶ And Joab delivered the number and sum of the people unto the king: and there were in Israel^d eight hundred thousand strong men that drew swords, and the men of Judah were^e five hundred thousand men.

10 Then Davids heart smote him, after that he had numbred the people: and David said unto the Lord, I have sinned exceedingly in that I have done: therefore now, Lord, I beseech thee, take away the trespass of thy servant: for I have done very foolishly.

11 ¶ And when David was up in the morning, the word of the Lord came unto the Prophet Gad, Davids^f Seer, saying, 12 Go, and say unto David, thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things, chuse thee which of them I shall doe unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and shewed him, and said unto him, wilt thou that^g seven years famine come upon thee in thy land, or wilt thou flee three moneths before thine enemies, they following thee, or that there be three dayes pestilence in thy land? now advise thee, and see, what answer I shall give to him that sent me.

14 ¶ And David said unto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait: let us fall now into the hand of the Lord, (for his mercies are great) and let me not fall into the hand of man.

15 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, from the morning, even to the time appointed: and there died of the people from^h Dan even to Beer-sheba, seventie thousand men.

16 And when the Angel stretched out his hand upon Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lordⁱ repented of the evill, and said to the Angel that destroyed the people, It is sufficient; hold now thy hand, And the Angel of the Lord was by the threshing place of Araunah the Jebusite.

17 And David spake unto the Lord (when he saw the Angel that smote the people) and said, Behold, I have sinned, yea, I have done wickedly: but these sheep, what have they^k done? let thine hand, I pray thee, be against me and against my fathers house.

18 ¶ So Gad came the same day to David, and said unto him, Go up, rear an altar unto the Lord in the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

19 And David (according to the saying of Gad) went up, as the Lord had commanded.

20 And Araunah looked, and saw the King and his servants coming toward him, and Araunah went out, and bowed himself before the king on his face to the ground, ^d According to Joabs count: for in all, there were eleven hundred thousand.

^e Concluding under them the Benjamites: for else they had but four hundred and seventy thousand.

21 And¹ Araunah said, Wherefore is my Lord the king come to his servant? Then David answered, To buy the threshing floor of thee for to build an altar unto the Lord, that the plague may cease from the people.

22 Then Araunah said unto David, Let my Lord the king take and offer what seemeth him good in his eyes: behold the oxen for the burnt offering, and charrets, and the instruments of the oxen for wood.

23 (All these things did Araunah^m as a king give unto the king: and Araunah said unto the king, The Lord thy God be favourable unto thee.)

24 Then the king said unto Araunah, Not so; but I will buy it of thee at a price, and will not offer burnt offering unto the Lord my God of that which doeth cost me nothing. So David bought the threshing floor & the oxen for fiftie shekels of silver.

25 And David built there an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and the Lord was appeased toward the land, and the plague ceased from Israel.

n Some write that every tribe gave 50. which make 600. or that afterward he bought as much as came to 350 shekels. 1 Chron. 21. 25.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

BECAUSE the children of God should look for no continuall rest and quietnesse in this world, the holy Ghost setteth before our eyes in this book the varietie and change of things, which came to the people of Israel from the death of David, Salomon, and the rest of the Kings, unto the death of Ahab, declaring how that flourishing kingdoms, except they be preserved by Gods protection, (who then favoureth them when his word is truly set forth, vertue esteemed, vice punished, and concord maintained) fall to decay and come to nought: as appeareth by the dividing of the kingdom under Roboam, and Jeroboam, which before were but all one people, and now by the just punishment of God were made two, whereof Judah and Benjamin cleave to Roboam, and this was called the kingdom of Judah: and the other tribes held with Jeroboam, and this was called the kingdom of Israel. The king of Judah had his throne in Jerusalem, and the king of Israel in Samaria, after it was built by Amri Ahab's father. And because our Saviour Christ according to the flesh should come of the stock of David, the genealogie of the kings of Judah is here described, from Salomon to Joram the son of Josaphat, who reigned over Judah in Jerusalem, as Ahab did over Israel in Samaria.

CHAP. I.

3 Abishag keepeth David in his extreme age. 5 Adonijah usurpeth the Kingdom. 30 Salomon is anointed King. 50 Adonijah fleeth to the Altar.

a He was about 70 year old. 2 Sam. 5. 4.

e Which cite was in the tribe of Issachar, as Josh. 19. 18.

Now when King David was^a old, & stricken in years, they covered him with clothes, but no^b heat came unto him,

2 Wherefore his servants said unto him, Let there be sought for my lord the king a yong Virgin, and let her^c stand before the king, and cherish him: and let her lie in thy bosom, that my lord the king may get heat.

3 So they sought for a fair young maid, throughour all the coasts of Israel, and found one Abishag^e a Shunamite, and brought her to the king.

4 And the maid was exceeding fair, and cherished the king, and ministred to him, but the king knew her not.

5 ¶ Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, I will be king. And he gave him charrets and horsemen; and fiftie men to run before him.

6 And his father would not displease him from his^d childhood, to say, Why hast thou done so? And he was a very goodly man, and his mother bare him next after Absalom.

7 And he^e tooke counsell of Joab the son of Zerviah, and of Abiathar the Priest: and they^f helped forward Adonijah.

8 But Zadok the Priest, and Benajah the son of Jehojada, and Nathan the Prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the men of might, which were with David, were not with Adonijah.

9 Then Adonijah sacrificed sheep, and oxen, and fat cattell by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by^g En-rogel, and called all his brethren the kings sonnes, and all the

¶ 2 Sam 3.4.
11 Wherefore Nathan spake unto Bath-sheba the Mother of Salomon, saying, Hast thou not heard, that Adonijah the son of Haggith doth reigne, and David our Lord knoweth it not?

¶ For Adonijah will destroy thee and thy son, if he reigne.
12 Now therefore come, & I will now give thee counsell, how to save thine own life, and the life of thy son Salomon.

13 Go, and get thee in unto king David, and say unto him, Diddest not thou my lord, O king, sweare unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Salomon thy son shall reigne after me, and hee shall sit upon my throne? why is then Adonijah king?

h By declaring such things as may further the same.
14 Behold, while thou yet talkest there with the king, I also will come in after thee, and confirm thy words.

15 ¶ So Bath-sheba went in unto the King into the chamber, and the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunamite ministered unto the king.

16 And Bath-sheba bowed and made obeysance unto the king. And the king said, What is thy matter?

17 And she answered him, My Lord, thou swarest by the Lord thy God unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Salomon thy son shall reigne after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.

18 And behold, now is Adonijah king; and now, my Lord, O king, thou knowest it not.

i The king being worne with age, could not attend to the affairs of the realm, and also Adonijah had many flatterers which kept him from the king.
19 And he hath offered many oxen, and fat cattel, and sheep, and hath called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the Priest, and Ioab the captaine of the hoste: but Salomon thy servant hath he not bidden.

20 And thou, my Lord, O king, knowest that the eyes of all Israel are on thee, that thou shouldest tell them, who should sit on the throne of my Lord the king after him.

k And so put to death as wicked transgressors.

23 And they told the king, saying, Behold, Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in to the king, he made obeysance before the king upon his face to the ground.

l Acknowledging him to be true and worthy king appointed of God, as the figure of Christ.
24 And Nathan said, My Lord, O king, hast thou said, Adonijah shall reigne after me, and he shall sit upon my throne?

25 For he is gone downe this day, and hath slain many oxen and fat cattel, and sheep, and hath called all the kings sons, and the captains of the host, and Abiathar the priest: and behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, God save king Adonijah

† Ebr. Let the king Adonijah live.

27 Is this thing done by my Lord the king, and thou hast not shewed it unto thy servant, who should sit on the throne of my Lord the king after him?

m Meaning, that he ought in such affaires, enterprise nothing except he had consulted with the Lord.
28 ¶ Then king David answered, and said, Call me Bath-sheba. And she came in to the kings presence, and stood before the king.

29 And the king sware, saying, As the Lord liveth, who hath redeemed my soul out of all adversitie.

n Moved by the spirit of God so to doe, because he foresaw that Salomon should be the figure of Christ.
30 That as I sware unto thee by the Lord God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Salomon thy son shall reigne after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my place, so will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bath-sheba bowed her face to the earth, and did reverence unto the king, and said, God save my Lord king David for ever.

32 ¶ And king David said, Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the Prophet, and Benajah the son of Jehoadah. And they came before the king.

o Meaning, the kings servants, and such as were of his guard.
33 Then the king said unto them, take with you the servants of your Lord, and cause Salomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, and carie him downe to Gihon.

34 And let Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet anoint him there king over Israel, and blow ye the trumpet, and say, God save king Salomon.

35 Then come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne: and he shall be king in my stead: for I have appointed him to be Prince over Israel and over Judah.

42 And as he yet spake, behold, Jonathan the sonne of Abiathar the Priest came: and Adonijah said, Come in: for thou art a 44 And the King hath sent with him Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet, And Benajah the son of Jehojada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the Kings mule.

45 And Zadok the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet have anointed him King in Gihon: and they are gone up from thence with joy, and the citie is moved: this is the noise that ye have heard.

46 And Salomon also sitteth on the throne of the kingdom.

47 And moreover the Kings servants came to blesse our lord king David, saying, God make the name of Salomon more famous then thy name, and exalt his throne above thy throne: therefore the king worshipped upon the bed.

† He gave God thanks for y good successe.

48 And thus said the king also, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who hath made one to sit on my throne this day, even in my sight.

52 Then Salomon said, if he will shew himself a worthy man, there shall not an haire of him fall to the earth, but if wickednes be found in him, he shall die.

53 Then king Salomon sent, and they brought him from the altar, and he came & did obeysance unto king Salomon. And Salomon said unto him, Go to thy house.

18 And Bath-sheba said, well, I will speake for thee unto the king.

19 ¶ Bath-Sheba therefore went unto king Salomon, to speake unto him for Adonijah: and the king rose to meet her, and bowed himselfe unto her, and fate down on his throne: and he caused a seat to be set for the kings mother, and she fate at his right hand.

20 Then she said, I desire a small request of thee, say me not nay. Then the king said unto her, Aske on, my mother: for I will not say thee nay.

21 She said then, Let Abislag the Shunamite be given to Adonijah thy brother to wife.

22 But king Salomon answered and said unto his mother, and why doest thou aske Abislag the Shunamite for Adonijah? aske for him the ¹kingdome also: for he is mine elder brother, and hath for him both Abiathar the priest, and Ioab the son of Zerviah.

23 Then king Salomon sware by the Lord, saying, God doe so to me and more also, if Adonijah hath not spoken this word against his own life.

24 Now therefore as the Lord liveth, who hath established me, and set me on the throne of David my father, who also hath made me an house, as he ^{*}promised, Adonijah shall surely die this day.

31 And the king said unto him, Doe as he hath said, and ^p smite him, and burie him that thou mayest take away the blood, which Joab shed causelesse, from me, and from the house of my father.

32 And the Lord shall bring his blood, upon his own head: for he smote two men more righteous, and better then he, and slew them with the sword, and my father David knew not: ^{to wit,} Abner the sonne of Ner, captaine of the host of Israel, and ^{*} Amasa the son of Jether, captain of the hoste of Judah.

33 Their blood shall therefore returne upon the ^q head of Joab, and on the head of his seed for ever: but upon David, and upon his seed, and upon his house, and upon his throne shall there be peace for ever from the Lord.

34 So Benajah the son of Jehojada went up, and smote him, and slew him, and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness.

43 Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the Lord, & the commandment wherewith I charged thee?

u For though thou wouldst deny, yet thine own conscience would accuse thee, for reviling & doing wrong to my father, 2 Sam. 16. 5.

44 The king said also to Shimei, Thou knowest all the wickednesse whereunto thine heart is privie, that thou didst to David my father: the Lord therefore shall bring thy wickednesse upon thine owne head.

45 And let king Salomon be blessed, and the throne of David be established before the Lord for ever.

Salomon* then made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and tooke Pharaohs daughter, and brought her into the * city of David, untill he had made an end of building his owne house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Jerusalem round about.

2 Onely the people sacrificed in ^b the high places, because there was no house built unto the name of the Lord, untill those dayes.

c For, his father had commanded him to obey the Lord, and walke in his wayes. Chap. 2. 3.

3 And Salomon loved the Lord, walking in the ordinances of David his ^c father: onely he sacrificed and offered incense in the high places.

d For there the Tabernacle was. 2 Chron. 1. 3.

4 And the king went to ^d Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the chiefe high place: a thousand burnt offerings did Salomon offer upon that altar.

5 In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Salomon in a dream by night: and God said, Aske what I shall give thee.

* Or, as he walked.

6 And Salomon said, Thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, & when he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee: and thou hast kept for him this great mercie, and hast given him a sonne to sit on his throne, as appeareth this day.

e Thou hast performed thy promise.

7 And now, O Lord my God, thou hast made thy servant King in stead of David my father: and I am but a yong child, and know not how to go out and in.

f That is, to have my selfe in executing this charge of ruling.

8 And thy servant is in the mids of thy people, which thou hast chosen, even a great people which cannot be told nor numbred for multitude.

10 And this pleased the Lord wel, that Salomon had desired this thing.

11 And God said unto him, because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thy selfe long life, neither hast asked riches for thy selfe, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies, but hast asked for thy selfe understanding to hear judgment, h That is, y^e thine enemies should die.

12 Behold, I have done according to thy words: loe, I have given thee a wife and an understanding heart, so that there hath been none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall arise the like unto thee.

* Mat. 6. 33.

13 And I have also * given thee that, which thou hast not asked, both riches and honour, so that among the kings there shall be none like unto thee all thy dayes.

* Or, shall be more.

14 And if thou wilt walk in my wayes, to keep my ordinances and my commandments, * as thy father David did walk, I will prolong thy dayes.

* Chap. 15. 5.

15 And when Salomon awoke, behold, it was ⁱ a dream, and he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the arke of the Covenant of the Lord, and offered burnt offerings and made peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.

i He knew that God had appeared unto him in a dream.

16 ¶ Then came two & harlots unto the king and * stood before him.

* Or, visitation.

17 And the one woman said, Oh my lord, I and this woman dwel in one house, and I was delivered of a child with her in the house.

k By this example it appeareth, that God kept promise with Salomon in granting him wisdom.

18 And the third day after that I was delivered, this woman was delivered also: and we were in the house together: no stranger was with us in the house, save we twain.

19 And this womans sonne died in the night, for she overlaid him.

20 And she arose at midnight, and ^l took my son from my side, while thine handmaid slept, and laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead son in my bosom.

l She stole the quick child away, because she might both avoid the shame and punishment.

21 And when I arose in the morning to give my son suck, behold, he was dead: and when I had wel considered him in the morning, behold, it was not my sonne whom I had borne.

22 Then the other woman said, Nay, but my son liveth, and thy sonne is dead: again she said, No, but thy sonne is dead, and mine alive, thus they spake before the King.

23 Then said the King, She saith, This that liveth is my sonne, and the dead is thy sonne: and the other saith, Nay, but the dead is thy son, and the living is my son.

m Except God give judges understanding, the impudence of the trespasser shall overthrow the justice of the innocent.

24 Then the King said, ⁿ bring me a sword:

a sword : and they brought out a sword before the king.

25 And the King said, Divide ye the living child in twain, and give the one halfe to the one, and the other halfe to the other.

26 Then spake the woman, whose the living childe was, unto the King, for her compassion was kindled toward her son, and shee said, Oh my lord, give her the living child, and slay him not: but the other said, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it.

27 Then the King answered, and said, Give her the living child, and slay him not: this is his mother.

28 And all Israel heard the judgement which the King had judged, and they feared the King: for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him to doe justice.

CHAP. IV.

2 The princes and rulers under Salomon. 22 The purveyance for his victualles. 28 The number of his horses. 32 His bookes and writings.

And King Salomon was King over all Israel.

2 And these were^a his princes,^b Azariah the son of Zadok the Priest,

3 Elihoreph and Ahiah the sons of Shisha, scribes: Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder,

4 And Benajah the son of Jehojada was over the hoste, and Zadok and^c Abiathar Priests.

5 And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers, and Zabud the son of Nathan, Priest, was the Kings friend,

6 And Ahishar was over the household: and^d Adoniram the son of Abda was over the tribute.

7 ¶ And Salomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which provided victuals for the King and his household: each man had a moneth in the year to provide victuals:

8 And these are their names: the son of Hur in mount Ephraim:

9 The son of Dekar in Makaz, and in Shalbim and Beth-she mesh, and^e Elon and Beth-hanan:

10 The son of Hefed in Aruboth, to whom pertained Shochoh, and all the land of Hopher.

11 The son of Abinadab in all the region of Dor, which had Taphath the daughter of Salomon to wife.

12 Baana the son of Ahilud in Taanach, and Megiddo, and in all Beth-shean which is by Zartanah beneath Izreel, from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah, even till beyond over against Jokmeam:

13 The son of Geber in Ramoth Gilead, and his were the towns of^f Jair, the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead, and under him was the region of Argob, which is in Bashan: threescore great cities with walls and barres of brasse.

14 ¶ Ahinadab the son of Iddo had to Mahanaïm:

15 Ahimaaz in Naphtali, and he took Basmath the daughter of Salomon to wife:

16 Baanah the son of Hushai in Asher and in Aloth:

17 Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah in^g Issachar:

18 Shimei the son of Elah in Benjamin:

19 Geber the son of Uri in the country of Gilead, the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og King of Bashan, and was officer alone in the land.

20 Judah and Israel were many, as the sand of the Sea in number,^h eating, drinking, and making merry.

21 ¶ And Salomon reigned over all kingdoms, from theⁱ River unto the land of the Philistims, and unto the border of Egypt, and they brought presents, and served Salomon all the dayes of his life.

22 And Salomons victuals for one day were thirty^j measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of meale:

23 Ten fat oxen, and twenty oxen of the pastures, & an hundred sheep, beside harts, and bucks, and bugles, and fat fowle.

24 For he ruled in all the Region on the other side of the River, from Tiphshah even unto^k Azzah, over all the^l kings on the other side the River: and he had peace round about him on every side.

25 And Judah and Israel dwelt without feare, every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree, from^m Dan, even to Beer-sheba, all the dayes of Salomon.

26 ¶ And Salomon hadⁿ forty thousand stables of horses for his charets, and twelve thousand horsemen.

27 And these officers provided victuals for King Salomon, and for all that came to King Salomons table, every man his moneth, and they suffered to lack nothing.

28 Barley also and straw for the horses and mules brought they unto the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.

29 ¶ And God gave Salomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and^o a large heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore, 30 And Salomons wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the East, and all the wisdom of Egypt.

31 For he was wiser then any man: yea, then were Ethan the Ezrahite, then Heman, then Chalcol, then Darda the sons of Mahol: and he was famous thoroughout all nations round about.

And ^{*} in the foure hundred and fourescore year (after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt) and in the fourth year of the reigne of Salomon over Israel, in the moneth ^a Ziph, (which is the second moneth) he built the ^b house of the Lord.

^{* 2 Chron. 3.14.}

² And the house which king Salomon built for the Lord, was threescore cubites long, and twenty broad, and thirty cubites high.

^a Which moneth containeth part of April and part of May.
^b Whereby is meant the Temple and the oracle.

³ And the ^c porch before the Temple of the house was twenty cubits long according to the breadth of the house, and tenne cubits broad before the house.

^c Or, the court where the people prayed, which was before the place where the altar of burnt offerings stood.

⁴ And in the house he made windows, [†] broad without, and narrow within.

[†] Or, to open and to shut.

⁵ And by the wall of the house he made [†] galleries round about, even by the wall of the house round about the Temple, and ^d the oracle: & made chambers round about.

[†] Or, lists.

⁶ The nethermost gallerie was five cubits broad, and the middlemost six cubites broad, and the third seven cubites broad: for he made ^{*} rests round about without the house, that the beames should not be fastened in the wall of the house.

^d Whence God spake between the Cherubims called also the most holy place.

^e Which were certain stones coming out of the wall, as staves for the beams to rest upon.

7 And

7 And when the house was built, it was built of stone perfit, before it was brought, so that there was neither hammer, nor axe, nor any toole of yron heard in the house, while it was in building.

8 The door of the middle [†]chamber was in the right side of the house, and men went up with winding staires into the middlemost, and out of the middlemost into the third.

9 So he built the [†]house and finished it, and fied the house being vaulted, with fieding of Cedar trees.

10 And he built the galleries upon all the wall of the house of five cubites high, and they were joyned to the house with beams of Cedar.

11 And the word of the Lord came to Salomon, saying,

12 Concerning this house which thou buildest, if thou wilt walk in mine ordinances, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandements, to walk in them, then will I performe unto thee my promise, * which I promised to David thy father.

13 And I will [†]dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel.

14 So Solomon built the house, and finished it,

15 And built the walles of the house within, with boards of Cedar tree from the pavement of the house unto ^hthe walls of the fieding, and within he covered them with wood, and covered the floore of the house with planks of firre.

16 And he built twenty cubits in the sides of the house with boards of Cedar, from the floor to the wals, and he prepared a place within it for the oracle, even the most holy place.

17 But the [†]house, that is, the Temple before it, was forty cubits long.

18 And the Cedar of the house within was carved with [†]knops, and graven with flowres: all was Cedar, so that no stone was seen.

19 ¶ Also he prepared the place of the oracle in the mids of the ^hhouse within, to set the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord there.

20 And the place of the oracle within was twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, and twenty cubits high: and he covered it with pure gold, and covered the Altar with Cedar.

21 So Salomon covered the house within with pure gold: and he [†]shut the place of the oracle with chains of gold, and covered it with gold.

22 And he overlaid all the house with gold, untill all the house was made perfect: also hee covered the [†]whole Altar, that was before the oracle, with gold.

23 And within the oracle he made two Cherubims of [†]Olive tree, ten cubits high.

24 The wing also of the one Cherub was five cubits, and the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites: from the uttermost part of one of his wings unto the uttermost part of the other of his wings, were ten cubites.

25 Also the other Cherub was of ten cubites: both the Cherubims were of one measure and one size.

26 For the height of the one Cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other Cherub.

27 And he put the Cherubims within the inner house, [†]and the Cherubims stretched out their wings, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other Cherub touched the other wall: and their other wings touched one another in the middes of the house.

28 And he ^m overlaid the Cherubims with gold.

29 And he carved all the walles of the house round about with graven figures of Cherubims, and of Palm trees, and graven flowres within and without.

30 And the floore of the house he covered with gold within and without.

31 And in the entring of the oracle he made two doores of Olive tree: and the upper poste and side postes were five square.

32 The two doores also were of Olive tree, and he graved them with graving of Cherubims and Palme trees, and graven flowres, and covered them with gold, and laid ⁿthin gold upon the Cherubims, and upon the Palm trees.

33 And so made he for the door of the Temple, posts of Olive trees foure square.

34 But the two doors were of Firre tree, the two sides of the one door were [†]round, and the two sides of the other doore were round.

35 And he graved Cherubims, and Palm trees, and carved flowres, and covered the carved work with gold, finely wrought.

36 ¶ And he built the ^oCourt within with three rows of hewed stone, and one row of beams of Cedar.

37 In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the Lord laid in the month of Zif:

38 And in the eleventh yeare in the month of [†]Bul, (which is the eight month) he finished the house with all the furniture thereof, and in every point: so was he seven yeare in building it.

BUt Salomon was building his own house *thirteen years, and * finished all his house.

2 Hee built also an house ^b called the forest of Lebanon, an hundred cubites long, and fifty cubites broad, and thirty cubites high, upon foure rows of Cedar pillars, and Cedar beames were ^c laid upon the pillars.

3 And it was covered above with Cedar upon the beames, that lay on the fourty and five pillars, fifteen in a row.

4 And the windows were in three rows, and window was ^c against window in three ranks.

5 And all the doores, and the side posts with the windows were foure square, and window was over against window in three ranks.

6 And he made a porch of pillars fifty cubits long, and thirty cubits broad, and the porch was before ^d them, even before them were thirty pillars.

7 ¶ Then hee made a porch ^e for the throne, where he judged, ^e even a porch of judgement, and it was sieled with Cedar from pavement to pavement.

8 And in his house where he dwelt, was another hall more inward then the porch which was of the same work. Also Salomon made an house for Pharaohs daughter (* whom he had taken to wife) like unto this porch.

9 All these were ^f of costly stones, hewed by measure, and sawed with saws within and without, from the foundation unto ^f the stones of an ^f hand breadth, and on the outside to the great court.

10 And the foundation was of costly stones, and great stones, even of stones of ten cubites, and stones of eight cubits.

11 ^g Above also were costly stones squared by rule, and boards of cedar.

12 ¶ And the great court round about was with three rowes of hewed stones, and a row of cedar beames: ^h so was it to the inner court of the house of the Lord, and to the porch of the house.

13 ¶ Then king Salomon sent, and fet one Hiram out of ⁱ Tyus.

14 He was a widows son of the tribe of Naphtali, his father being a man of Tyus, and wrought in brasse: ⁱ he was full of wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge to work all manner of work in brasse: who came to King Salomon, and wrought all his work.

15 ¶ For he cast two pillars of brasse: the height of a pillar was eighteen cubites, and a third of twelve cubits did compass ⁱ either of the pillars.

16 And he made two ⁱ chapters of molten brasse to set on the tops of the pillars: the height of one of the chapters was five cubits, and the height of the other chapter was five cubits.

17 He made grates like networke, and ⁱ wrethen work like chaines for the chapters that were on the top of the pillars, even seven for the one chapter, and seven for the other chapter.

18 So he made the pillars and two rows of pomegranates round about in the one grate to cover the chapters that were upon the top. And thus did he for the other chapter.

19 And the chapters that were on the top of the pillars were after ^k lilly worke in the porch, foure cubits.

20 And the chapters upon the two pillars had also above, ^k over against the belly ^k within the networke pomegranates: for two hundred pomegranats were in the two ranks about upon ^k either of the chapters.

21 And he set up the pillars in the ^l porch of the Temple. And when he had set up the right pillar, he called the name thereof ^m Jachin: and when he had set up the left pillar, he called the name thereof ⁿ Boaz.

22 And upon the top of the pillars was worke of lillies: so was the workmanship of the pillars finished.

23 ¶ And he made a molten ^o Sea ten cubites wide from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits high, and a line of thirty cubites did compass it about.

24 And under the brim of it were knops like wilde cucumers compassing it round about, ten in one cubite, compassing the Sea ^o round about: and the two rows of knops were cast, when it was molten.

25 It stood on twelve bulls, three looking toward the North, & three toward the West, and three toward the South, and three toward the East: and the Sea stood above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

26 It was ^p an hand breadth thick, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cup with floures of Lillies: it contained two thousand ^p Baths.

27 ¶ And he made ten bases of brasse, one base was foure cubits long, and foure cubites broad, and three cubites high.

28 ¶ And the work of the bases was on this manner, They had borders, and the borders were between the ledges:

29 And on the borders that were between the ledges, were lions, bulles and Cherubims: & upon the ledges there was a base above: and beneath the lions & buls, were additions made of thin work.

30 And every base had foure brassen wheeles, and plates of brasse: and the foure corners had ^q underfettters: under the caldron were underfettters molten at the side of every addition:

q The mouth of the great base or frame entered into the chapter or pillar that bare up the caldron.

31 And the mouth of it was within the chapter and above to measure by the cubite: for the mouth thereof was round, made like a base, and it was a cubite and half a cubite: and also upon the mouth thereof were graven works, whose borders were four square, and not round.

32 And under the borders were four wheels, and the axeltrees of the wheels joynd to the base: and the height of a wheele was a cubite and halfe a cubite.

33 And the fashion of the wheels was like the fashion of a charer wheele, their axeltrees, and their naves, and their \ddagger fellows, and their spokes were all molten.

34 And foure underletters were upon the foure corners of one base: and the underletters thereof were of the base it self.

35 And in the top of the base was a round \ddagger compasse of halfe a cubite high round about: and upon the tope of the base, the ledges thereof and the borders thereof were of the same.

36 And upon the tables of the ledges thereof, and on the borders thereof he did grave Cherubims, lions, and palme trees, on the side of every one, and additions round about.

37 Thus made he the ten bases, They had all one casting, one measure, and one size.

38 ¶ Then made he \dagger ten caldrons of brasse, one caldron contained forty Baths: and every caldron was foure cubits, one caldron was upon one base throughout the ten bases.

39 And he set the bases, five on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house, And he set the Sea on the right side of the \dagger house Eastward toward the South.

40 ¶ And Hiram made caldrons, and besoms, and basons, and Hiram finished all the worke that he made to King Salomon for the house of the Lord:

41 To wit, two pillars, and two bowles of the chapters that were on the top of of two pillars, and two grates to cover the two bowles of the chapters which were upon the top of the pillars, 42 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, even two rowes of pomegranates for every grate to cover the two bowls of the chapters, that were upon the pillars.

43 And the ten bases, and ten caldrons upon the bases.

44 And the Sea, and twelve Bulls under the Sea,

45 And pots, and besomes, and basons: and all these vessels, which \dagger Hiram made to king Salomon for the house of the Lord, were of shining brasse.

46 In the plain of Jordan did the King cast them in the \ddagger clay between Succoth and Zarthan.

47 And Salomon left to weigh the vessels, because of the exceeding abundance, neither could the weight of the brasse be counted.

48 So Salomon made all the vessels that pertained unto the house of the Lord, the \times golden altar, and the golden table, whereon the shewbread was.

49 And the candlesticks, five at the right side, and five at the left, before the oracle of pure gold, and the floures, and the lampes, and the snuffers of gold,

50 And the bowles, γ and the hookes, and the basons, and the spoones, and the alhpannes of pure gold, and the hindges of gold for the doores of the house within, even for the most holy place, and for the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple.

51 So was finished all the worke that king Salomon made for the house of the Lord, and Salomon brought in the things which \ast David his father had dedicated: the silver and the gold, and the vessels, and laid them among the treasures of the house of the Lord.

4 The Arke is borne into the Temple. 10 A cloud filleth the Temple. 14 The king blesteth the people.

¶ Then \ast king Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, even all the heads of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel unto \dagger him in Jerusalem, for to \ast bring up the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord from the city of David, which is Zion.

2 And all the men of Israel assembled unto King Salomon at the feast in the moneth of \dagger Ethanim, which is the seventh moneth.

3 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Priests took the Arke.

4 They bare the Ark of the Lord, and they bare the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle: those did the Priests and Levites bring up.

5 And king Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the Arke, offering sheep, and beeves, which could not be told, nor numbred for multitude.

6 So the \dagger Priests brought the Arke of the covenant of the Lord, unto his place, into the oracle of the house, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the Cherubims.

7 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings over the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims covered the Arke, and the barres thereof above.

39 Hear thou then in heaven, in thy dwelling place, and be merciful, and do, and give every man according to all his ways, as thou knowest his heart, (for thou only knowest the hearts of all the children of men)

40 That they may feare thee as long as they live in the land, which thou gavest unto our fathers.

41 Moreover, as touching the stranger that is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre countrey for thy names sake,

49 Then heare thou their prayer and their supplication in heaven thy dwelling place, and [¶] judge their cause,

50 And be merciful unto thy people that have sinned against thee, and unto all their iniquities (wherein they have transgressed against thee) and cause that they, which led them away captives, may have pitie and compassion on them:

51 For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out of Egypt, from the mids of the iron furnace.

52 Let thine eyes be open unto the prayer of thy servant, and unto the prayer of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them, in all that they call for unto thee.

53 For thou didst separate them to thee from among all people of the earth for an inheritance, as thou saidst by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.

54 And when Salomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the Lord, he arose from before the Altar of the Lord, from kneeling on his knees, and stretching of his hands to heaven,

55 And stood and blessed all the congregation of Israel, with a loud voice, saying,

56 Blessed be the Lord that hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed one word of all his good promise which he promised by the hand of Moses his servant.

57 The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers, that he forsake us not, neither leave us, 58 That he may bow our hearts unto him, that we may walk in all his waies, and keep his commandments, and his Statutes, and his laws, which he commanded our fathers.

59 And these my words, which I have prayed before the Lord, be neer unto the Lord our God day and night, that he defend the cause of his servant, and the cause of his people Israel [¶] alway as the matter requireth, 60 That all the people of the earth may know, that the Lord is God, and none other.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfect with the Lord our God to walk in his Statutes, and to keep his commandments, as this day.

64 The same day did the king hallow the middle of the court, that was before the house of the Lord: for there he made burnt offerings, and the meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings, because the ^{*}brazen Altar that was before the Lord, was too little to receive the burnt-offerings, and the meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings.

CHAP. IX.

² The Lord appeareth the second time to Salomon. ¹⁷ Salomon giveth cities to Hiram. ²⁰ The Canaanites become tributaries. ²⁸ He sendeth forth a Navie for gold.

When ^{*}Salomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the kings palace, and all that Salomon desired and minded to do,

2 Then the Lord appeared unto Salomon the second time, as he ^{*}appeared unto to him at Gibeon.

3 And the Lord said unto him, I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, that thou hast made before me: I have hallowed this house (which thou hast built) to ^{*}put my Name there for ever, and mine eyes, and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

4 And ^{*}if thou wilt walk before me, (as David thy father walked in purenesse of heart, and in righteousnesse) to do according to all that I have commanded thee, and keep my statutes, and my judgements;

5 Then will I stablish the Throne of thy kingdom upon Israel for ever, as I promised to David thy father, saying, ^{*}Thou shalt not want a man upon the Throne of Israel.

6 But if ye and your children turn away from me, and will ^bnot keep my commandments, and my Statutes (which I have set before you) but go and serve other gods, and worship them,

7 Then will I cut off Israel from the land which I have given them, and the house which I have hallowed ^{}for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and Israel shall be a ^{} proverb, and a common talke among all people.

8 Even this high House shall be ^{so}: every one that passeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse, and they shall say, ^{*}Why hath the Lord done thus unto this land, and to this house?

9 And they shall answer, Because they forsook the Lord their God, which brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them, therefore hath the Lord brought upon them all this evill.

10 ^{*}And at the end of twenty yeares, when Salomon had builded the two houses, the house of the Lord, and the kings palace, 11 (For the which Hiram the king of [†]Tyrus had brought to Salomon timber of Cedar, and firre-trees, and gold, and whatsoever he desired) then king Salomon gave to Hiram twenty cities in the land of [†]Galil.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyrus to see the cities which Salomon had given him, and they pleased him not.

13 Therefore he said, What cities are these which thou hast given me, my brother? And he called them the land of [†]Cabul, unto this day.

14 And Hiram had sent the king ^dsixscore ^{*}talents of gold.

15 ¶ And this is the cause of the tribute, why king Salomon raised tribute, to wit, to build the house of the Lord, and his own house, and ^fMillo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer.

16 Pharaoh king of Egypt had come up, and taken Gezer, and burnt it with fire, and slew the Canaanites, that dwelt in the city, and gave it for a present unto his daughter Salomons wife.

17 (Therefore Salomon built Gezer, and Beth-horon the nether,

18 And Balaath and Tamor in the wilderness of the land,

19 And all the cities ^gof store, that Salomon had, even cities for charrets, and cities for horsemen, and all that Salomon desired and would build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion) fer burnt-offerings & peace-offerings up-and he burnt incense upon the Altar, that was before the Lord, when he had finished the house.

26 ¶ Also king Salomon made a Navy of ships in Ezeon-geber, which is beside Eloth, at the brink of the Red-sea, in the land of Edom.

27 And Hiram sent with the Navy his servants that were Mariners, and had knowledge of the Sea, with the servants of Salomon.

28 And they came to Ophir, and fet from thence ^kfour hundred and twenty talents of gold, and brought it to king Salomon.

CHAP. X.

1 The queen of Sheba cometh to heare the wisdom of Salomon.
18 His royall throne. 23 His power and magnificencie.

And the ^aQueen of ^aSheba hearing the fame of Salomon (concerning the Name of the Lord) came to prove him with hard questions.

2 And she came to Jerusalem with a very great train; and camels that bare sweet odours, and gold exceeding much, and precious stones: and she came to Salomon, and communed with him of all that was in her heart.

3 And Salomon declared unto her all her questions: nothing was hid from the king, which he expounded not unto her.

4 When the Queen of Sheba saw all Salomons wisdom, and the house that he had built,

5 And the ^bmeat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the order of his ministers, and their apparell, and his drinking vessels, and his burnt-offerings, that he offered in the house of the Lord, [†]she was greatly astoned.

6 And she said unto the king, It was a true word that I heard in mine own land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom.

7 Howbeit I beleevd not this report till I came, and had seen it with mine eyes: but lo, the one half was not told me: for thou hast more wisdom and prosperity, then I have heard by report.

8 Happy are thy men, happy are these thy servants, which stand ever before thee, and hear thy ^cwisome.

9 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which ^dloved thee, to set thee on the Throne of Israel, because the Lord loved Israel for ever, and made thee king to do ^eequity and righteousnesse.

10 And she gave the king sixscore talents of Gold, and of sweet odours exceeding much, and precious stones. There came no more such abundance of sweet odours, as the Queen of Sheba gave to king Salomon.

11 The Navy also of Hiram (that caried gold from Ophir) brought likewise great plenty of ^{*}Almuggim trees from Ophir, and precious stones.

12 And the king made of the Almuggim trees, pillars for the house of the Lord, and for the kings palace, and made harps and psalteries for fingers. There came no more such Almuggim trees, nor were any more seen unto this day.

13 And king Salomon gave unto the Queen of Sheba whatsoever she would ask, besides that, which Salomon gave her [†]of his kingly liberality: so she returned and went to her own countrey, ^{both} she, and her servants.

14 ¶ Also the weight of gold, that came to Salomon in one year, was six hundred threescore and six ^{*}talents of gold,

15 Besides that ^{he} had of merchant men, and of the merchandises of them that sold spices, and of all the kings of Arabia, and of the princes of the ^fcountrey.

16 And king Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, six hundred Shekels of gold went to a target:

17 And three hundred shields of beaten gold, three pound of gold went to one shield: and the king put them in the ^{*}house of the wood of Lebanon.

18 ¶ Then the king made a great throne of Ivory, and covered it with the best gold.

19 And the throne had six steps, and the top of the throne ^{was} round behinde, and there were ^gstais on either side on the place of the throne, and two Lions standing by the stais.

20 And there stood twelve Lions on the six steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

21 And all king Salomons drinking vessels ^{were} of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon ^{were} of pure gold, none ^{were} of silver: for it was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

22 For the king had on the sea the navy of Tharshish with the navy of Hiram; once in three year came the navy of ^hTharshish, and brought gold and silver, Ivory, and Apes, and Peacocks.

^c But much more happy are they which hear the wisdom of God revealed in his word.

stice.

23 So king Salomon exceeded all the kings of the earth both in riches and in wisdom.

24 And all the world sought to see Salomon, to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart, 25 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and raiment, and armour, and sweet odours, horses, and mules, from year to year.

26 Then Salomon gathered together * chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the chariot cities, & with the king at Jerusalem.

* 2 Chron. 1. 14.

27 And the king † gave silver in Jerusalem as stones, and gave cedars as the wilde figtrees that grow abundantly in the plain.

28 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linnen: ‡ the kings merchants received the linnen for a price.

29 There came up and went out of Egypt some chariot, worth six hundred shekels of silver: that is, one horse, an hundred and fifty. And thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their † means.

CHAP. XI.

* Salomon hath a thousand wives and concubines, which bring him to idolatry. 14. His God raiseth up adversaries against him. 43 He dieth.

* Dent. 17. 17. a Which were idolaters.

But King Salomon loved * many a outlandish women: both the daughter of Pharaoh, & the women of Moab, Ammon, Edom, Zidon, and Heth,

* Exod. 34. 16.

2 Of the nations whereof the Lord had said unto the children of Israel, * Go not ye in to them, nor let them come in to you: for surely they will turn your hearts after their gods: to them, I say, did Salomon joyn in love.

† Or, Queens. b To whom appertained no dowry.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, that were ‡ princesses, and three hundred concubines, and his wives turned away his heart.

c He served not God with a pure heart.

4 For when Salomon was old, his wives turned his heart after other gods, so that his heart was not c perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.

* Iudg. 2. 13.

5 For Salomon followed * Ashtarothe god of the Zidonians, and d Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

d Who was also called Molech, ver. 7. read 2 Kings 23. 10.

6 So Salomon wrought wickedness in the sight of the Lord, but continued not to follow the Lord, as did David his father.

e Thus the Scripture termeth whatsoever man doth reverence and serve as God.

7 Then did Salomon build an high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in the mountain that is over against Jerusalem, and unto Molech the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8 And so did he for all his outlandish wives, which burnt incense and offered unto their gods.

9 Therefore the Lord was angry with Salomon, because he had turned his heart from the Lord God of Israel, * which had appeared unto him twice,

* Cap. 3. 5. and 9. 3.

10 And had given him a * charge concerning this thing, that he should not follow other gods: but he kept not that, which the Lord had commanded him.

* Chap. 6. 12.

11 Wherefore the Lord said unto Salomon, Forasmuch as f this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant, and my statutes (which I commanded thee) * I will surely rent the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

f That thou hast forsaken me, and worshipped idols. * Chap. 12. 15.

12 Notwithstanding in thy dayes I will not do it, because of David thy father, but I will rent it out of the hand of thy sonne:

13 Howbeit I will not rent all the kingdom, but will give one tribe to thy sonne, because of David my servant, and because of Jerusalem which I have chosen.

g Because the tribe of Judah and Benjamin had their possessions mixed they are here taken as one tribe.

14 ¶ Then the Lord stirred up an adversary unto Salomon, even Hadad the Edomite, of the kings h seed, which was in Edom h Of the king of Edoms stock. * 2 Sam. 8. 14.

i Of the Edomites

16 (For six moneths did Joab remain there, and all Israel, till he had destroyed all the males in Edom)

17 Then this Hadad k fled, and certain other Edomites of his fathers servants with him, to go into Egypt, Hadad being yet a little childe.

k Thus God reserved this idolater to be a scourge to punish his peoples finnes.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran, and took men with them out of Paran, and came to Egypt unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gave him an house, & appointed him victuals, and gave him land.

19 So Hadad l found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh, and he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, even the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

l God brought him to honour, that his power might be made able to compile his enterprises against Salomons house.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weined in Pharaohs house: and Genubath was in Pharaohs house among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt, that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country.

22 But Pharaoh said unto him, What hast thou lacked with me, that thou wouldest thus go to thine own country? And he answered, Nothing, but in any wise let me go.

24 And he gathered men unto him, and had been captain over the company, when David slew them. And they went to Damascus, and dwelt there, ⁿ and they made him king in Damascus.

25 Therefore was he an adversary to Israel all the dayes of Salomon: besides the evill that Hadad did, he also abhorred Israel, and reigned over Aram.

^{* 1 Chron. 13. 6.}

26 ¶ ^{*} And Jeroboam the son of Nebat an Ephrathite of Zereda Salomons servant (whose mother was called Zervah a widow) lift up his hand against the king.

27 And this was the cause that he lift up his hand against the king, When Salomon built Millo, he repaired the broken places of the city of David his father.

^o He was overseer of Salomons works for the tribe of Ephraim and Manassah.

28 And this man Jeroboam was a man of strength and courage, and Salomon seeing that the young man was meet for the work, he made him ^o overseer of all the labour of the house of Joseph.

29 And at that time when Jeroboam went out to Jerusalem, the Prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him in the way, having a new garment on him, and they two were alone in the field.

^p By these visible signes the Prophets would more deeply print their message into their heart, to whom they were sent.

30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was on him, and ^p rent it in twelve pieces, 31 And said to Jeroboam, Take unto thee ten pieces: for thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will rent the kingdome out of the hands of Salomon, and will give ten tribes to thee.

32 But he shall have one tribe for my servant Davids sake, and for Jerusalem the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel:

33 Because they have forsaken me, and have worshipped Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, and Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and have not walked in my wayes (^q to do right in mine eyes, and my statutes, and my laws) as did David his father.

^q Or so do that, that please me.

34 But I will not take the whole kingdome out of his hand: for I will make him prince al his life long for David my servants sake, whom I have chosen, and who kept my commandments and my statutes.

^{* Chap. 12. 15.}

35 ^{*} But I will take the kingdome out of his sons hand, and will give it unto thee, even the ten tribes.

36 And unto his sonne will I give one tribe, that David my servant may have a sight alway before me in Jerusalem, the city, which I have chosen me, to put my name there.

^q He hath respect unto the Messiah, which should be the Bright star that should shine through all the world.

38 And if thou hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my wayes, & do right in my sight, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, then will I be with thee, and build thee a sure house, as I built unto David, and will give Israel unto thee.

39 And I will for [†] this afflict the seed of David, [†] but not for ever.

[†] For this idolatry that Salomon had committed. [†] For the whole spiritual kingdome was restored in Messiah.

40 ¶ Salomon fought therefore to kill Jeroboam, and Jeroboam arose, and fled into Egypt unto Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt untill the death of Salomon.

41 And the rest of the words of Salomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the [†] book of the acts of Salomon?

[†] which book, as is thought, was lost in their captivity.

42 The time that Salomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel, was ^{*} forty year.

^{* 2 Chron. 9. 30.}

5 And he said unto them, Depart ye for three dayes, then come againe to me. And the people departed.

^a Oppresse us not with too great charges which we are not able to sustain.

6 And king Rehoboam took counsell with the old men that [†] had stood before Salomon his father, while he yet lived, and said, What counsell give yee, that I may make an answer to this people?

[†] Or, had been of his ancient counsellors.

7 And they spake unto him, saying, If thou be a ^b servant unto this people this day, and serve them, and answer them, and speak kind words to them, they will be thy servants for ever.

^b They shewed him that there was no way to win the peoples hearts, but to grant them their just petitions.

8 But he forsook the counsell that the old men had given him, and asked counsell of the young men that had been brought up with him, and waited on him.

9 And

^c There is nothing harder for them, that are in authority, then to bridle their affections, & follow good counsell.

9 And he said unto them, ^c What counsell give ye, that we may answer this people, which have spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke, which thy father did put upon us, lighter?

10 Then the young men that were brought up with him, spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou say unto this people, that have spoken unto thee, and said, Thy father hath made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us: even thus shalt thou say unto them, My [†] least part shall be ^d bigger then my fathers loines.

[†] Or, little finger. ^d I am much more able to keep you in subjection then my father was.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grievous yoke, I will yet make your yoke heavier: my father hath chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with [†] scourges.

[†] Or, Scorpions.

12 ¶ Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had ^e appointed, saying, Come to me again the third day.

^e The people declare their obedience in this, that they would attempt nothing before the king had given them just occasion.

13 And the king answered the people sharply, and left the old mens counsell that they gave him, 14 And spake to them after the counsell of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke grievous, and I will make your yoke more grievous: my father hath chastised you with rods; but I will correct you with scourges.

[†] Or, the Lord was the cause.

15 And the king hearkened not unto the people: for [†] it was the ordinance of the Lord, that he might perform his saying, which the Lord had spoken by ^{*} Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

^{*} Chap. 11. 11.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king regarded them not, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in ^f David? We have none inheritance in the sonne of Ithai. To your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.

^f Though their cause were good, yet it is most hard for the people to bridle their affections, as these vile words declare 17 Howbeit over the children of Israel, which dwelt in the cities of Judah, did Rehoboam reigne still.

18 ¶ Now the king Rehoboam sent Adoram the receiver of the tribute, and all Israel stoned him to death: then king Rehoboam [†] made speed to get him up to his charet, to flee to Jerusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin, an hundred and fourescore thousand of chosen men (which were good warriors) to fight against the house of Israel, and to bring the kingdome again to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon.

22 ^{*} But the word of God came unto Shemajah the ⁱ man of God, saying,

^{*} 2 Chron. 11. 14. ⁱ That is, the Prophet.

23 Speak unto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and the remnant of the people, saying,

24 Thus saith the ^k Lord, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel: return every man to his house: for this thing is done by me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned, and departed, according to the word of the Lord.

^k Who of his judgement will punish the trespasses, and of his mercy spare the innocent people.

25 ¶ Then Jeroboam built Shechem, in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein, and went from thence, and built Peniel.

26 And Jeroboam thought in his heart, Now shall the kingdome return to the house of David.

27 If this people go up and do sacrifice in the house of the Lord ^l at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people return again unto their lord, even to Rehoboam king of Judah: so shall they kill me, and go again to Rehoboam King of Judah.

^l He feared lest his people should have by this means been enticed to rebel against him.

28 Whereupon the king took counsell, and made two calves of gold, and said unto them, ^m It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem: behold, O Israel, thy gods, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

^m So crafty are the carnall persuasions of Princes, when they will make a religion to serve to their appetites.

29 And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other set he in Dan.

30 And this thing turned to sin: for the people went (because of the one) even to Dan.

31 Also he made an ⁿ house of high places, and made priests of the lowest of the people, which were not of the sonnes of Levi.

ⁿ That is, a temple, where altars were built for idolatry.

32 And Jeroboam made a feast the ^o fifteenth day of the eighth moneth, like unto the feast that is in Judah, and offered on the altar. So did he in Beth-el, and offered unto the calves that he had made: and he placed in Beth-el the priests of the high places, which he had made.

^o Because he would the more binde the peoples devotion to his idolatry, he made new holy day, besides those that the Lord had appointed in the Law.

33 And he offered upon the altar, which he had made in Beth-el, the fifteenth day of the eighth moneth, (even in the moneth which he had forged of his own heart) and made a solemn feast unto the children of Israel: and he went up to the altar to burn incense.

^e Though the wicked humble themselves for a time, when they feel Gods judgments, yet after they returne to their old malice, and declare that they are but vile hypocrites.

[†] Or, take sustenance.

[†] Or, hee charged me; [†] or, an Angel. ^f Seeing hee had the expresse word of God, hee ought not to have declined therefrom, neither for the perswasion of man nor Angel.

[†] Ebr, looked.

And behold, there came ^a a man of God out of Judah (by the commandment of the Lord) unto ^b Beth-el, and Jeroboam stood by the altar to offer incense.

2 And he cried against the altar by the commandment of the Lord, and said, O altar, altar, thus saith the Lord, Behold, a child shall be borne unto the house of David, ^{*} Josiah by name, and upon thee shall he sacrifice the priests of the high places that burn incense upon thee, and they shall burn mens bones upon thee.

3 And he gave a signe the same time, saying, This is the signe, that the Lord hath spoken, Behold, the altar shall rent, and the ashes that are upon it, shall [†] fall out.

4 And when the king had heard the saying of the man of God, which he had cried against the altar in Beth-el, Jeroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, ^d Lay hold on him: but his hand which he put forth against him, dried up, and he could not pull it in again to him.

5 The altar also clave asunder, and the ashes fell out from the altar, according to the signe, which the man of God had given by the [†] commandment of the Lord.

6 Then the king answered and said unto the man of God, I ^e beseech thee, pray unto the Lord thy God, and make intercession for mee, that mine hand may be restored unto mee. And the man of God besought the Lord, and the kings hand was restored, and became as it was afore.

7 Then the king said unto the man of God, Come home with me, that thou mayest [†] dine, and I will give thee a reward.

8 But the man of God said unto the king, If thou wouldest give mee half thine house, I would not go in with thee, neither would I eat bread, nor drink water in this place.

9 Forso [†] was it charged mee by the word of the Lord, saying, ^f Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turne againe by the same way that thou camest.

10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that hee came to Beth-el.

11 ¶ And an old Prophet dwelt in Beth-el, and his sonnes came and told him all the works, that the man of God had done that day in Beth-el, and the words which he had spoken unto the king, told they their father.

12 And their father said unto them, What way went he? and his sons [†] shewed him what way the man of God went, which came from Judah.

13 And he said unto his sonnes, Saddle mee the asse, Who saddled him the asse, and be rode thereon, 14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oake: and he said unto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And hee said, [†] Yea.

15 Then he said unto him, ^g Come home with me, and eat bread.

16 But he answered, I may not returne with thee, nor go in with thee, neither will I eat bread, nor drinke water with thee in this place.

17 For it was charged mee by the word of the Lord, saying, Thou shalt eat no bread, nor drink water there, nor turne againe to goe by the way that thou wentest.

18 And he said unto him, I am a Prophet also as thou art, and an ^h Angel spake unto me by the word of the Lord, saying, Bring him again with thee into thine house, that he may eat bread, and drink water: [†] but he lied unto him.

19 So he went again with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water.

20 And as they sat at the table, the word of the Lord came unto the Prophet, that brought him again.

21 And he cried unto the man of God that came from Judah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, ⁱ Because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lord, and hast not kept the commandment which the Lord thy God commanded thee, 22 But camest back again, and hast eaten bread, and drunk water in the place (where of he did say unto thee, Thou shalt eat no bread nor drinke any water) thy carcase shall not come unto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

23 ¶ And when hee had eaten bread and drunke, hee saddled him the asse, to wit, to the Prophet whom hee had brought again.

24 And when hee was gone, ^k a Lyon met him by the way, and slew him, and his body was cast in the way, and the asse stood thereby: the Lyon stood by the corps also.

25 And behold, men that passed by, saw the carkeis cast in the way, and the Lyon standing by the corps: and they came and told it in the town where the old Prophet dwelt.

26 And when the Prophet that brought him back again from the way, heard thereof, hee said, It is the man of God, who hath beene disobedient unto the commandment of the Lord: therefore the Lord hath delivered him unto the Lyon, which hath rent him, and slain him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake unto him.

[†] Ebr, I am.

^g This hee did of a simple mind, thinking it his duty to declare friendship to a Prophet.

^h His fault is here double: first, in that that he suffereth not the Prophet to obey Gods expresse commandment and next, that hee fainteth to have a revelation to the contrary.

ⁱ God would reprove his folly by him, who was the occasion to bring him into error.

^k By this fearful example, God setteth forth how dangerous a thing it is for men to be have themselves coldly, or deceitfully in their charge, whereunto God hath called them.

27 ¶ And he spake to his sons, saying, Saddle me the asse. And they saddled him.

28 And he went and found his body cast in the way, and the asse and the Lyon stood by the corps: and the Lyon had^l not eaten the bodie, nor torne the asse.

^l To declare that this was only the judgement of God: for if the Lyon had done it for hunger, hee would also have devoured the body.

29 And the Prophet took up the body of the man of God, and laid it upon the asse, and brought it again: and the old Prophet came to the citie, to lament and bury him.

^m Which hee had prepared for himselfe.

30 And he laid his body in his^m owne grave, and they lamented over him, saying, Alas, my brother.

31 And when hee had buried him, hee spake to his sons, saying, When I am dead, bury ye me also in the sepulchre, wherein the man of God is buried: lay my bones beside his bones.

32 For that thing which he cryed by the word of the Lord against the Altar that is in Beth-el, and against all the houses of the high places, which are in the cities of Samaria, shall surely come to passe.

ⁿ So the wicked profit not by Gods threatenings, but goe backward, and become worse & worse, 2. Tim. 3. 13

⁶ And died before Jeroboam about four yeares.

21 ¶ Allo Rehoboam the son of Salomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was one and fourty yeare old, when hee began to reigne, and reigned seventeen year in Jerusalem, the citie which the Lord did chuse out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there: and his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonite.

⁸ Or, hee did all that their fathers had done by their finnes.

22 And Judah wrought wickednesse in the sight of the Lord: and they provoked him more with their sins, which they had committed, then all that which their fathers had done.

23 ¶ For they also made them high places, and images, and groves on every high hill, and under every greentree.

⁹ Where idolatrie reigneth, all horrible vices are committed, till at length Gods just judgement destroy them utterly.

24 There were also Sodomites in the land, they did according to all the abominations of the nations, which the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

25 ¶ And in the fift year of King Rehoboam, Shilhak King of Egypt came up against Jerusalem,

3 And he walked in all the finnes of his father, which he had done before him: and his heart was not perfit with the Lord his ¹⁶ For in that, that hee suffered them to worship God in other places, then he had appointed, it came of ignorance, and not of malice.

15 Also he brought in the holy vessels of his father, and the things that he had dedicated unto the house of the Lord, silver and gold, and vessels.

16 ¶ And there was war between Afa and Baasha King of Israel all their dayes.

17 Then Baasha King of Israel went up against Judah, and built Ramah, so that he would let none go out or in to Afa King of Judah.

¹⁸ Of the same purpose that Jeroboam did, because the people should not go up to Jerusalem, lest they should follow Afa.

18 Then Afa took all the silver and the gold that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house, and delivered them into the hands of his servants, and King Afa sent them to Ben-hadad, the son of Tabrimon, the sonne of Hezion king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

6 So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, and Elah his sonne reigned in his stead.

7 And ^e also by the hand of Jehu the son of Hanani the Prophet, came the word of the Lord to Baasha, and to his house, that he should bee like the house of Jeroboam, even for all the wickednes that hee did in the sight of the Lord, in provoking him with the work of his hands, and because he killed ^d him.

^e That is, the Prophet did his message.

8 ¶ In the six and twentie year of Afa king of Judah, began Elah the son of Baasha to reigne over Israel in Tirzah, and reigned two years.

^d Meaning, Nadab Jeroboams sonne.

9 And his servant Zimri, captain of half his charrets, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah ^e drinking, till he was drunken in the house of Arza, steward of his house in Tirzah.

^e The Chaldei hath thus, Drink, ing till hee was drunken, in the temple of Arza the idole, by his house in Tirzah.

10 And Zimri came and smote him, and killed him, in the seven and twentie year of Afa king of Judah, and reigned in his stead.

11 ¶ And when hee was king, and sat on his throne, he slew all the house of Baasha, not leaving thereof one to pisse against a wall, neither of his kinsfolkes, nor of his friends.

12 So did Zimri destroy al the house of Baasha, according to the word of the Lord which he spake against Baasha, by the hand of Jehu the ^f Prophet, ^f Both Hanani his father, and hee were Prophets.

13 For al the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah his son, which they sinned, and made Israel to sin, and provoked the Lord God of Israel with their vanities.

26 And hee did evil in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of his father, & in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.

27 And Baasha the son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar conspired against him, & Baasha slew him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistims: for Nadab and al Israel laid siege to Gibbethon.

28 Even in the third year of Afa king of Judah did Baasha slay him, and reigned in his stead.

4 And thou ſhalt drink of the river: and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.

5 So he went and did according unto the word of the Lord: for he went, and remained by the river Cherith that is over againſt Jordan.

6 And the ravens brought him bread & fleſh in the morning, and bread & fleſh in evening, and he drank of the river.

7 And after a while the river dried up, becauſe there fell no rain upon the earth.

8 ¶ And the ^d word of the Lord came unto him, ſaying,

9 ^{*} Up, and get thee to Zarephath, which is in Zidon, and remain there: behold, I have commanded a widow there to ſuſtain thee.

10 So he aroſe and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the citie, behold, the widow was there ^e gathering ſticks: and he called her, and ſaid, Bring me I pray thee, a little water in a veſſell, that I may drink.

^e All this was to ſtrengthen the faith of Elijah, to the intent that hee ſhould looke upon nothing worldly, but only truſt on Gods providence.

11 And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand.

12 And she said, As the Lord thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but even an handfull of meale in a barrell, and a little oyle in a cruse: and behold, I am gathering [†] a few sticks for to goe in, and dresse it for me and my sonne, that we may eate it, and [‡] die.

13 And Elijah said unto her, Feare not, come, doe as thou hast said, but make mee thereof a litle cake first of all, and bring it unto me, and afterward make for thee, and thy sonne.

14 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, [§] The meale in the barrell shall not be wasted, neither shall the oyle in the cruse be diminished, unto the time that the Lord send raine upon the earth.

15 So she went, and did as Elijah said, and she did eate: so did hee, and her house ^h for a certaine time.

16 The barrel of meale wasted not, nor the oyle was spent out of the cruse, according to the word of the Lord, which hee spake by the hand of Elijah.

17 ¶ And after these things, the sonne of the wife of the house fell sicke, and his sicknesse was so sore, [‡] that there was no breath left in him.

18 And she said unto Elijah, What have I to doe with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sinne to remembrance, and to slay my sonne?

19 And he said unto her, Give mee thy son: and he took him out of her bosome, & carried him up into a chamber, where he abode, and laid him upon his owne bed.

20 Then he called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, hast thou ^k punished also this widow, with whom I sojourn by killing her sonne?

21 And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, I pray thee, let this child's soule come into him againe.

22 Then the Lord heard the voyce of Elijah, and the soule of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him downe out of the chamber into the house, and delivered him unto his mother, and Elijah said, Behold, thy son liveth.

24 And the woman said unto Elijah, Now ^l I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is true.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 Elijah is sent to Ahab. 13 Obadiah hideth an hundredth Prophets. 40 Elijah killeth all Baals prophets. 45 He ob-

After many daies, the word of the Lord come to Elijah, in the ^a third year, saying, Goe, shew thy selfe unto Ahab, and I will send raine upon the earth.

2 And Elijah went to shew himselfe unto Ahab, and there was a great famine in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah the governor of his house: (and Obadiah ^b feared God greatly:

4 For when Jezebel destroyed the Prophets of the Lord, Obadiah took an hundred Prophets, and hid them by fiftie in a cave, and he fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab said unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto al the fountaines of water, & unto all the rivers, if so be that we may finde grasse to save the horses & the mules alive, lest we deprive the land of the beasts.

6 And so they divided the land between them to walke thorow it. Ahab went one way by himselfe, and Obadiah went another way by himselfe.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Elijah ^c met him: and hee knew him, and fell on his face, and said, Art not thou my lord, Elijah?

8 And he answered him, Yea, goe tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

9 And he said, What have I sinned, that thou wouldest deliver thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

10 As the Lord thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdome, whither my Lord hath not sent to seeke thee: and when they said, Hee is not here, hee tooke an oath of the kingdome and nation, if they had not found thee.

11 And now thou sayest, Goe, tel thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And when I am gone from thee, the spirit of the Lord shall carie thee into some place that I doe not know: so when I come and tell Ahab, if he cannot find thee, then will he kill me: But I thy servant ^d feare the Lord from my youth.

13 Was it not told my lord, what I did when Jezebel slew the Prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundred men of the Lords Prophets by fifties in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou sayest, Goe, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here, that hee may slay me.

15 And Elijah said, As the Lord of hostes liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely shew ^e my selfe unto him this day.

16 ¶ So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 And when Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said unto him, Art thou hee that troubleth Israel?

18 And he answered, I have not troubled

^a After that he departed from the river Cherith.

^b God had begun to worke his feare in his heart, but had not yet brought him to that knowledge, which is also requisite of the godly: that is, to profess his Name openly.

^c God pitieeth oft times the wicked for the godlies sake, and causeth Elijah to meet with Obadiah, that the benefit might be knowne to be granted for Gods childrens sake.

^d I am none of the wicked persecutors that thou shouldst procure unto mee such displeasure, but I feare God, and I pray for his children.

^e By my presence I will declare that thou hast told him the truth.

[†] Ebr. 1700.

^f For there is no hope of any more sustenance.

[§] God receiveth no benefit for the use of his, but he promiseth a most ample recompense for the same.

^h That is, till he had raine and food on the earth.

^k Or, that he died, God would try, whether shee had learned, by his mercifull providence, to make him her onely stay and comfort.

^k Hee was afraid, lest Gods name should have bene blasphemed, and his ministers condemned, except he should have continued his mercies, as hee had begun them, especially while hee remained there.

^l So hard a thing it is to depend on God, except we be confirmed by miracles.

18 Elijah is sent to Ahab. 13 Obadiah hideth an hundredth Prophets. 40 Elijah killeth all Baals prophets. 45 He obbled Israel, but thou, and thy fathers house, in that yee have forsaken the commandments of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore send, and gather to me all Israel unto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fiftie, and the Prophets of the groves four hundred, which eat at Jezabels table.

20 ¶ So Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the Prophets together unto mount Carmel.

21 And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long shall ye be between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal be hee, then go after him. And the people answered him not a word.

22 Then said Elijah unto the people, I onely remaine a Prophet of the Lord: but Baals prophets are four hundred and fiftie men.

23 Let them therefore give us two bullocks, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and lay him on the wood, but put no fire under, and I will prepare the other bullock, and lay him on the wood, and will put no fire under.

24 Then call ye on the name of your god, and I will call on the Name of the Lord, and then the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered, and said, It is well spoken.

25 And Elijah said unto the Prophets of Baal, Chuse you a bullock, and prepare him first, (for ye are many) and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.

29 So they took the one bullock, that was given them, and they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal, from morning to noon, saying, O Baal, hear us: but there was no voice, nor any to answer: and they leapt upon the altar that was made.

27 And at noon Elijah mocked them, and said, Crie aloud: for he is a god, either he talketh or pursueth his enemies, or is in his journey, or it may be that he sleepeth, and must be awaked.

28 And they cryed loud, and cut themselves, as their manner was, with knives and lancers, till the blood gushed out upon them.

29 And when midday was passed, and they had prophesied untill the offering of the evening sacrifice, there was neither voice, nor one to answer, nor any that regarded.

30 And Elijah said unto all the people, Come to me. And all the people came to him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down.

31 And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sonnes of Jaakob, (unto whom the word of the Lord came, saying, *Israel shall be thy name)

32 And with the stones he built an altar in the Name of the Lord: and hee made a ditch round about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed.

33 And he put the wood in order, and hewed the bullock in pieces, and layd him on the wood:

34 And said, Fill four batrels with water, and powre it on the burnt offering, and on the wood. Again he said, Do so again. And they did so the second time. And he said, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ran round about the altar: & he filled the ditch with water also.

36 And when they should offer the evening sacrifice, Elijah the Prophet came, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and of Israel, let it be known this day, that thou art the God of Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy commandement.

37 Hear me, O Lord, hear me, and let this people know that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart again at the last.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt offering, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the ditch.

39 And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces, and said, The Lord is God, the Lord is God.

40 And Elijah said unto them, Take the prophets of Baal, let not a man of them escape. And they took them, and Elijah brought them to the brooke Kishon, and slew them there.

41 ¶ And Elijah said unto Ahab, Get thee up, eat and drink, for there is a sound of much raine.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel: and he crouched unto the earth, and put his face between his knees, 43 And said to his servant, Go up now and look toward the way of the sea. And he went up, and looked, and said, There is nothing. Again he said, Goe againe seven times.

44 And at the seventh time he said, Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea like a mans hand. Then he said, Up, and say unto Ahab, Make ready thy chariot, and get thee downe that the rain stay thee not.

45 And in the mean while the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. Then Ahab went up, and came to Izeel.

46 And the hand of the Lord was on Elijah, and he girded up his loines, and ran before Ahab till he came to Izeel.

^a Prophets with the sword.

b Though the wicked rage against Gods children, yet hee holdeth them back that they cannot execute their malice.

† Or, whether his mind led him,

² Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Elijah, saying, ^b The gods do so to me, and more also, if I make not thy life like one of their lives by to morow this time.

³ ¶ When he saw that, hee arose, and went [†] for his life, and came to Beer-sheba, which is in Judah, and left his servant there.

c So hard a thing it is to bridle our impatiencie in affliction, that the Saints could not overcome the same.

⁴ But he went a dayes journey into the wilderness, and came & fate down under a Juniper tree, and desired that hee might die, and said, It is now enough: O Lord, take my soul, for I am no better then my fathers.

⁵ And as he lay and slept under the Juniper tree, behold now, an Angel touched him, and said unto him, Up, and eat.

⁶ And when he looked about, behold, there was a cake baken on the coales, and a pot of water at his head: so he did eat and drink, and returned and slept.

d He declareth that except God had nourished him miraculously, it had not been possible for him to have gone this journey.

⁷ And the Angel of the Lord came again the second time, and touched him, and said, Up, and eat: for ^d thou hast a great journey.

⁸ ¶ Then hee arose, and did eat and drink, and walked in the strength of that meat fortie dayes and fortie nights, unto Horeb the mount of God.

⁹ And there he entred into a cave, and lodged there: and behold, the Lord spake to him, and said unto him, What doest thou heer, Elijah?

e He complaineth that the more zealous that he shewed himselfe to maintain Gods glory, the more cruelly was he persecuted.

† Rom. 11. 3.

¹⁰ And he answered, I have ^e been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, broken down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword, ^{*} and I onely am left, and they seek my life to take it away.

f For the nature of man is not able to come neer unto God, if hee should appear in his strength and full majesty, and therefore of his mercy hee submitte himselfe to our capacity.

¹¹ And he said, Come out, and stand upon the mount before the Lord. And behold, the Lord went by, & a mightie strong winde rent the mountaines, and brake the rocks before the Lord: ^{but} the Lord was [†] not in the wind: and after the wind came an Earthquake: ^{but} the Lord was not in the Earthquake:

¹² And after the Earthquake came fire: ^{but} the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire came a still and soft voice.

¹³ And when Elijah heard it, he covered his face with his mantle, and went out, and stood in the entering in of the cave: & behold, ^{there came} a voice unto him, and said, What doest thou here, Elijah?

¹⁴ And he answered, I have bin ver y

¹⁵ And the Lord said unto him, Go, return by the wilderness unto Damascus, and when thou comest ^{there}, anoint Hazael King over [†] Aram.

¹⁹ ¶ So he departed thence, and found Elifha the sonne of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and was with the twelfth: and Elijah went towards him, & cast his mantle upon him.

²⁰ And he left the oxen, and ranne after Elijah, and said, ⁱ Let me, I pray thee, kisse my father and my mother, and then I will follow thee. Who answered him, Go, return: for what have I done to thee?

CHAP. XX.

1 Samaria is besieged. 13 The Lord promiseth the victorie to Ahab by a Prophet. 31 The king of Israel made peace with Ben-hadad, and is reproved therefore by the Prophet.

THEN Ben-hadad the king of [†] Aram assembled all his armie, and two and thirtie ^a kings with him, with horses, and charrets, and went up and besieged [†] Samaria, and fought against it.

† Or, Syria.

² And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel, into the citie, a That is, governors, and rulers of provinces.

† Or, Samaria.

³ And said unto him, Thus saith Ben-hadad, Thy silver and thy gold is mine: also thy women, and thy faire children are mine.

⁴ And the king of Israel answered, and said, My lord king, according to thy saying, ^b I am thine, and all that I have.

b I am content to obey, and pay tribute.

⁵ And when the messengers came again, they said, Thus commandeth Ben-hadad, and saith, When I shall send unto thee, and command, thou shalt deliver me thy silver, and thy gold, and thy women, and thy children.

e He would not accept his answer, except he did out of hand deliver whatsoever he should aske, for hee fought an occasion, how to make warre against him.

6 Or els I wil send my servants unto thee by to morow this time: and they shall search thine house, and the house of thy servants: & whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall take it in their hands, and bring it away.

7 Then the king of Israel sent for all the Elders of the land, and said, Take heed, I pray you, and see how hee seeketh mischief: for hee sent unto mee for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver, and for my gold, and I denied him not.

8 And all the Elders, and all the people said to him, Hearken^d not unto him, nor consent.

d They thought it their duties rather to venture their lives, then to grant to that thing which was not lawfull, onely to satisfy the lust of a tyrant.

9 Wherefore he said unto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou diddest send for to thy servant at the first time, that I will doe, but this thing I may not doe. And the messengers departed and brought him an answer.

10 And Ben-hadad sent unto him, and said, The gods do so to me and more also, if the^e dust of Samaria be enough to all the people that follow mee, for every man an handful.

e Much lesse shall there be found any prey, this is worth any thing, when they shall see so many.

11 And the King of Israel answered, & said, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth his hairets, boast himself, as he that putteth it off.

f Boast not before the victory be gotten.

12 And when he heard that tidings, as he was with the kings drinking in the pavilions, hee said unto his servants, Bring forth your engines, and they set them against the citie.

g Or, put your selves in order.

13 ¶ And behold, there came a Prophet unto Ahab king of Israel, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord.

h Before God went about with signs and miracles to pull Ahab from his impiety, and now againe with wonderfull victories.

14 And Ahab said, By whom? And he said, Thus saith the Lord, By the servants of the princes of the provinces. Hee said againe, Who shall order the battell? And he answered, Thou.

15 ¶ Then he numbred the servants of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred, two and thirtie: and after them hee numbred the whole people of all the children of Israel, even seven thousand.

16 And they went out at noone: but Ben-hadad did drink, til he was drunken, in the tents, both he and the kings: for two and thirty kings helped him.

i That is, young men trained in the service of Princes.

17 So the^b servants of the princes of the provinces went out first: and Ben-hadad sent out, & they shewed him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he said, Whether they be come out for peace, take them alive: or wheher they be come out to fight, take them yet alive.

19 So they came out of the city, to meet the servants of the princes of the provinces, and the host which followed them, 20 And they slew every one his enemy: and the[†] Aramites fled, and Israel pursued them: but Ben-hadad the king of Aram escaped on an horse with his[‡] horsemen.

† Ebr, man.

‡ Or, Syrians

i With them that were appointed for the preservation of his person.

21 And the King of Israel went out, & smote the horses and charrets, and with a great slaughter slew he the Aramites.

22 (For there had come a Prophet to the King of Israel, and had said unto him, Go, be of good courage, and consider, and take heed what thou doest: for when the yeare is gone about, the King of Aram will come up against thee.)

23 ¶ Then the servants of the king of Aram said unto him, Their^k gods are gods of the mountaines, and therefore they overcame us: but let us fight against them in the plaine, and doubtlesse wee shall overcome them.

k Thus the wicked blaspheme God in their fury, whom notwithstanding hee suffereth not unpunished.

24 And this doe, Take the kings away, every one out of his place, and place captives for them.

25 And number thy selfe an armie, like the armie that thou hast lost, with such horses & such charrets, and we will fight against them in the plaine, and doubtlesse we shall overcome them: and hee hearkened unto their voyce, and did so.

26 And after the yeare was gone about, Ben-hadad numbred the Aramites, & went up to Aphek to fight against Israel.

27 And the children of Israel were numbred, and were all^l assembled and went against them, and the children of Israel pitched before them, like two little flocks of kids: but the Aramites filled the country.

l All they which were in the battell of the former yeare, verily.

28 And there came a man of God, and spake unto the King of Israel, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Because the Aramites have said, The Lord is the God of the mountaines, and not God of the valleys, therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

m Who are of like power in the valley, as I am on the hills: and can as well destroy a multitude with few, as with many.

29 And they pitched one over against the other seven dayes, and in the seventh day the battell was joyned: and the children of Israel slew of the Aramites an hundred thousand footmen in one day.

30 But the rest fled to Aphek into the citie: and there fell a wall upon leaven & twentie thousand men that were left: and Ben-hadad fled into the citie, & came into a secret chamber.

n Ebr, from thence, betwixt chamber.

31 ¶ And his servants said unto him, Behold now, we have heard say that the Kings of the house of Israel are mercifull Kings: we pray thee, let us put sackcloth about our^a loines, and ropes about our heads, & goe out to the King of Israel: it may bee that he will save thy life.

D d 5 hold,

32 Then they girded sackcloth about their loynes, and put ropes about their heads, and came to the King of Israel, and said, Thy servant Ben-hadad saith, I pray thee, let me live: and he said, Is he yet alive? he is my brother.

33 Now the men tooke diligent heed, if they could catch any thing of him, and made haste, and said, Thy brother^b Ben-hadad. And he said, Goe, Bring him. So Ben-hadad came out unto him, and hee caused him to come up unto the chariot.

34 And Ben-hadad said unto him, The cities which my father took from thy father, I will restore, and thou shalt make streets for thee in^c Damascus, as my father did in Samaria. Then said Ahab, I will let thee go with this covenant. So he made a covenant with him, and let him goe.

35 ¶ Then a certaine man of the^d children of the Prophets said unto his neighbour by the Commandement of the Lord, Smite me, I pray thee. But the man refused to smite him.

36 Then said he unto him, Because thou hast not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, behold, as soone as thou art departed from mee, a lyon shall^e slay thee. So when he was departed from him, a lyon found him and slew him.

37 Then he found another man, and said, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man smote him, and in smiting wounded him.

38 So the Prophet departed, and waited for the King by the way, and disguised himselfe with ashes upon his face.

39 And when the King came by, hee cryed unto the King, and said, Thy servant went into the mids of the battell, and behold, there went away a man, whom another man brought unto me, and said, Keepe this man: if he be lost, and want, thy life shall goe for his life, or els thou shalt pay a talent of silver.

40 And as thy servant had here, and there to doe, he was gone: And the king of Israel said unto him, So shall thy judgement be: thou hast given sentence.

41 And he hasted, and tooke the ashes away from his face: and the King of Israel knew him that he was of the Prophets.

42 And he said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Because thou hast let goe out of thine hands a man whom I appointed to die, thy life shall goe for his life, and thy people for his people.

43 And the king of Israel went to his house, heaue and in displeasure, and came to^f Samaria.

C H A P. XXI.

8. Izebel commandeth to kill Naboth, for the vineyard that he refused to sell to Ahab. 19. Elijah reproveth Ahab, and he repenteth.

After these things Naboth the Izreelite had a vineyard in Izreel, hard by the palace of Ahab King of Samaria.

2 And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may make me a garden of herbs therof, because it is neere by mine house: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard then it: or if it please thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.

3 And Naboth said to Ahab, The Lord keepe mee from giving the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.

4 Then Ahab came into his house heaue and in displeasure, because of the word which Naboth the Izreelite had spoken unto him: for hee had said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he lay^g upon his bed, and turned his face, and would eate no bread.

5 Then Izebel his wife came to him, and said unto him, Why is thy spirit so sad that thou eatest no bread?

6 And he said unto her, Because I spake unto Naboth the Izreelite, and said unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money, or if it please thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: but he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 Then Izebel his wife said unto him, Doe thou now governe the kingdome of Israel^h: up, eate bread, andⁱ be of good cheere, I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Izreelite.

8 ¶ So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seale, and sent the letters unto the Elders, and to the Nobles that were in his citie dwelling with Naboth.

9 And she wrote in the letters, saying, proclaime a^j fast, and set Naboth among the chiefe of the people,

10 And set two wicked men before him, and let them witnesse against him, saying, Thou diddest blaspheme God and the king: then carie him out, and stone him that he may die.

11 And the^k men of his citie, even the Elders and governours, which dwelt in his citie, did as Izebel had sent unto them: as it was written in the letters, which shee had sent unto them.

fed against Naboth in the p[re]sence of the people, saying, Naboth did † blaspheme God and the king. Then they carried him away out of the citie, and stoned him with stones; that he dyed.

14 Then they sent to Iezabel, saying, Naboth is stoned, and is dead.

15 ¶ And when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, Iezabel said to Ahab, † Up, and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Izreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but is dead.

f This example of monstrous cruelty the holy Ghost leaveth to us, to the intent that we should abhorre all tyranny, and specially in them, whom nature and kind should moue to be pitifull and inclined to mercy.

16 And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he rose to go downe to the vineyard of Naboth the Izreelite, to take possession of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18 Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria: loe, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to take possession of it.

19 Therefore shalt thou say unto him, Thus saith the Lord, * Hast thou killed and also gotten possession? And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the Lord, h In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, shall dogs lick even thy blood also.

16 And the king said unto him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but that which is true in the Name of the Lord?

17 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered upon the mountains, as sheep that had no shepherd. And the Lord said, ^o These have no master, let every man returne unto his house in peace.

18 (And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tel thee, that he would prophesie no good unto me, but evil?)

19 Again he said, Hear thou therefore the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord sit on his throne, and all the ^p host of heaven stood about him, on his right hand and on his left hand.

33 And when the captains of the charrets saw that he was not the King of Israel, they turned back from him.

34 Then a ^y certain man drew a bow mightily, and smote the king of Israel betwene the joynts ^z of his brigandine. Wherefore hee said unto his charretman, Turne thine hand and carie mee out of the hoste: for I am ^{aa} hurt.

35 And the battell increased that day, and the king ^{ab} stood stil in his charret against the Aramites, and dyed at even: and the blood ran out of the wound into the mids of the charret.

36 And there went a proclamation thoroughout the ^{ac} hoste about the going downe of the sun, saying, Every man to his citie, and every man to his own countrey.

37 So the king dyed, and was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

38 And one washed the charret in the pool of Samaria, & the dogs licked up his blood, (and ^{ad} they washed his armour) according unto the word of the Lord which he spake.

39 Concerning the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the yvorie house which he built, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

40 So Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.

41 ¶ And Jehoshaphat the son of Asa began to reigne upon Iudah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel.

42 Jehoshaphat was five and thirtie years old, when he began to reigne, and reigned five and twentie years in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke containeth the acts of the kings of Judah and Israel: to wit, of Israel, from the death of Ahab unto the last king Hoshea, who was imprisoned by the king of Assyria, and his city Samaria taken, and the ten tribes by the just plague of God, for their idolatrie and disobedience to God, led into captivittie. And also of Judah, from the reigne of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat unto Zedechiah, who for contemning the Lords commandement by his Prophets, and neglecting his sundry admonitions by famine and other meanes, was taken by his enemies, saw his sons most cruelly slaine before his face, and his own eyes put out, as the Lord had declared to him before by his Prophet Jeremiah: and also by the just vengeance of God, for contempt of his word, Jerusalem was destroyed, the Temple burnt, and he and all his people were led away captives into Babylon. In this book are notable examples of Gods favour towards those rulers and people which obey his Prophets, and imbrace his word: and contrariwise, of his plagues towards those common-weales which neglect his Ministers, and do not obey his commandments.

CHAP. I.

² Ahaziah by a fall fallerh sick, and consulteth with Baal-zebub. ³ He is reprooved by Elijah. ¹⁰ The captaines over fiftie were sent to Elijah, whereof two were burnt with fire from heaven by his prayer. ¹⁷ Ahaziah dieth, and Jehoram his brother succeedeth him.

Hen Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab:

2 And ^a Ahaziah fell thorow the lattesse window in his upper chamber which was in Samaria: so he was sicke: then he sent messengers, to whom he said, Go, and enquire of ^b Baal-zebub the God of Ekron, if I shall recover of this my diseafe.

bub the God of Ekron, if I shall recover of this my diseafe.

3 Then the Angel of the Lord said to Elijah the Tishbite, Arise, and go up to meet the messengers of the King of Samaria, and say unto them, ^c Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that ye goe to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord, Thou shalt not come down from the bed on which thou art gone up; but shalt die the death. So Elijah departed.

5 And the messengers returned unto him, to whom he said, Why are ye now returned?

6 And they answered him, there came a man and met us, and said unto us, Goe

^c He sheweth that idolaters have not the true God, for els they would seek e to none but to him alone.

^a So that he was punished for his idolatry after two sorts: for the Moabites which were wont to pay him tribute, rebelled, and he fell down at a grate which was upon his house to give light beneath.

^b The Philistines which dwelt at Ekron, worshipped this idole, which signifieth the god of flies, thinking that he could preserve them from the biting of flies: or els he was so called, because flies were ingendred in great abundance of the blood of the sacrifices that were offered to that idole.

d Ignorance is the mother of error and idolatry.

and return unto the king which sent you, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord, ^a Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that thou sendest to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come down from the bed, on which thou art gone up, but shalt die the death.

7 And he said unto them, What manner of man was he which came and met you, and told you these words?

e Some thinke that this is meant of his garments, which were rough and made of haire.

8 And they said unto him, He was an ^e hairie man, and girded with a girdle of leather about his loines. Then said he, It is Elijah the Tishbite.

f To wit Carmel.

9 Therefore ^g the king sent unto him a captain over fiftie with his fiftie men, who went up unto him: for behold, he sate on the top ^f of a mountaine, and he said unto him, O man of God, the king hath commanded that thou come down.

g He declareth what power Gods word hath in the mouth of his servants, when they threaten Gods judgements against the wicked.

10 But Elijah answered, and said to the captain over the fiftie, If that I be a man of God, let fire come down from the heaven, and devoure thee and thy fiftie. ^h So fire came down from the heaven and devoured him and his fiftie.

h He spake this in mockery, and therefore provoked Gods wrath to much the more.

11 Again he sent unto him another captain over fiftie, with his fiftie. Who spake, and said unto him, ⁱ O man of God, thus the king commandeth, Come down quickly.

i Meaning, that God would shew by effect, whether he was a true Prophet or not.

12 But Elijah answered, and said unto them, ⁱ If I be a man of God, let fire come down from the heaven, and devoure thee and thy fiftie. So fire came down from the heaven, and devoured him and his fiftie.

13 ¶ Yet againe he sent the third captain over fiftie with his fiftie. And the third captain over fiftie, went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah, and besought him, and said unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my ^k life and the life of these thy fiftie servants be ^l precious in thy sight.

k Which humble my selfe before God and his servant.
l That is, spare my life, and let me not die as the other two.

14 Behold, there came fire down from the heaven, and devoured the two former captaines over fiftie with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy sight.

m Thus the Lord giveth boldnesse to his, that they feare not the threatnings of tyrants, which otherwise of themselves are afraid to doe Gods message.

15 And the Angel of the Lord said unto Elijah, Go down with him, be ^m not afraid of his presence. So he arose, and went down with him unto the king.

n Jehoshaphat going to battell against the Syrians, made his son Jehoram king in the 17 year of his reigne, and in the 18. year, which was the 2. year of his son, Jehoram the son of Ahab reigned in Israel: and in the 7. year of this Jehoram Jehoshaphat dyed, and the kingdome of Judah was confirmed to his son.

16 And he said unto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Because thou hast sent messengers to enquire of Baal-zebub the God of Ekron, (was it not because there was no God in Israel to enquire of his word?) therefore thou shalt not come down of the bed, on which thou art gone up, but shalt die the death.

17 So he dyed according to the word of the Lord which Elijah had spoken. And ^o Je-horam began to reigne in his stead in the second yeare of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat King of Iudah, because he had no son.

18 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ahaziah, that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

CHAP. II.

8 Elijah divideth the waters with his cloake. 17 He is taken up into heaven. 18 Elisha taketh his cloake and divideth Iorden. 20 The bitter and venomous waters are healed. 23 The children that mocke Elisha, are rent in pieces with beares.

And when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah went with Elisha from ^a Gilgal.

a Which was that place where the children of Israel were circumcised after they came over Iorden, and had bene forty yeares in the wilderness, as Iosh. 5. 9.

2 Then Elijah said to Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath sent me to Beth-el. But Elisha said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came down to Beth-el.

b So called because they are begotten, as it were, anew by the heavenly doctrine. c That is, from being any more thine head: for to be as the head, is to be the matter, as to be at the feet, is to be a scholar. d For the Lord had revealed it unto him.

3 And the ^b children of the Prophets that were at Beth-el, came out to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Lord will take thy master from ^c thine head this day? And he said, Yea, I ^d know it: hold ye your peace.

4 Againe Elijah said unto him, Elisha, tarry here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath sent me to Iericho. But he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5 And the children of the Prophets that were at ^e Iericho, came to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou, that the Lord will take thy master from thine head this day? And he said, Yea, I know it: hold ye your peace.

e Not only at Beth-el, but at Iericho and other places there were Prophets which had scholars, whom they instructed, and brought up in the true feare of God.

6 Moreover Elijah said unto him, Tarry, I pray thee, here: for the Lord hath sent me to Iorden. But he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went both together.

7 And fiftie men of the sons of the Prophets went and stood on the other side as farre off, and they two stood by Iorden.

8 ¶ Then Elijah tooke his cloake, and wrapt it together, and smote the ^f waters, and they were divided hither and thither, and they twaine went over on the dry land.

f To wit, of Iorden.

9 Now when they were passed over, Elijah said unto Elisha, Aske what I shall doe for thee before I be taken from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let thy Spirit ^g be double upon me.

g Let thy Spirit have double force in me; because of the dangerous times: or let me have twice so much as the rest of the Prophets: or thy spirit being divided into three parts, let me have two.

10 And he said, Thou hast asked an hard thing, yet if thou see me when I am taken from thee, thou shalt have it so: and if not, it shall not be.

11 And as they went walking & talking, behold, there appeared a charet of fire, and horses of fire, and did separate them twaine, twaine. So Elijah went up by a whirlewinde into ^a heaven.

12 And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the charer of Israel, and the horsemen thereof: and he saw him no more: and he tooke his ^{own} clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 ¶ He tooke up also the cloake of Elijah that fell from him, and returned, and stood by the banke of Jordan.

14 After, he tooke the cloake of Elijah, that fell from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where is the Lord God of Elijah? and so he also, after he had stricken the waters, so that they were divided this way and that way, went over, ^{even} Elisha.

15 And when the children of the Prophets, which were at Jericho, saw him on the other side, they said, The Spirit of Elijah doeth rest on Elisha: and they came to meet him, & fell to the ground before him,

16 And said unto him, Behold now, there be with thy servants fiftie strong men: let them go, we pray thee, and seeke thy ^a master, if so be the Spirit of the Lord, hath taken him up, and cast him upon some mountaine, or into some valley. But he said, Ye shall not send.

17 Yet they were instant upon him, till he was affamed: wherefore he said, Send. So they sent fiftie men, which sought three dayes, but found him not.

18 Therefore they returned to him, (for he taried at Jericho) and he sayd unto them, Did not I say unto you, Goe not?

19 ¶ And the men of the city said unto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee, the scituation of this city is pleasant, as thou, my lord, seest, but the water ^{is} naught, and the ground ^{is} barren.

20 Then he said, Bring me a new cruse, & put salt therin. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went unto the spring of the waters, and cast there ⁱⁿ the salt, and said, Thus saith the Lord, I have healed this water: death shall no more come thereof, neither barrenesse ^{to the ground}.

22 So the waters were healed untill this day, according to the word of Elisha which he had spoken.

23 ¶ And he went up from thence unto Beth-el. And as he was going up the way, little children came out of the city, and mocked him, and said unto him, Come up, thou bald head, come up, thou bald head.

24 And he turned backe, and looked on them, and ^a cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two beares came out of the forest, and tare in peeces two and fortie children of them.

25 So he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

CHAP. III.

1 The reigns of Iehoram. 6 He and Iehoshaphat go to warre against Moab, which rebelled. 13 Elisha reproveth him. 17 and giveth their hoste water. 23 The Moabites are overcome. 27 Their King sacrificeth his son.

NOW Jehoram the son of Ahab began to reigne over Israel in Samaria, the ^a eighteenth yeare of Jehoshaphat King of Judah, and reigned twelve yeares.

2 And he wrought evill in the sight of the Lord, but not like his father nor like his mother: for he tooke away the image of Baal that his father had made.

3 Nevertheless, he cleaved unto ^b the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin, and departed not therefrom.

4 ¶ Then ^c Mesha king of Moab had store of sheep, and rendered unto the King of Israel an hundreth thousand lambes, and an hundreth thousand rams with the wooll.

5 But when Ahab was dead, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel,

6 Therefore king Jehoram went out of Samaria the same season, and numbred all Israel;

7 And went, & sent to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with me to battel against Moab? And he answered, I wil go up: ^d for I am, as thou art, my people, as thy people, and mine horses, as thine horses.

8 Then said he, What way shall we goe up? And he answered, The way of the wilderness of Edom.

9 ¶ So went the King of Israel, and the King of Judah, and the ^e king of Edom, and when they had compassed the way seven dayes, they had no water for the hoste, nor for the cattel that ^f followed them.

10 Therefore the King of Israel said, Alas, that the Lord hath called these three kings, to give them into the hand of Moab.

11 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a Prophet of the Lord, that we may enquire of the Lord by him? And one of the king of Israels servants answered, and said, Here is Elisha the son of Shaphat, which ^g pour-ed water on the hands of Elijah.

12 Then Jehoshaphat said, ^h the word of the Lord is with him. Therefore the King of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went down to him.

13 And Elisha said unto the king of Israel, ⁱ What have I to doe with thee? get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said unto him, Nay: for the Lord hath called these three kings, to give them into the hand of Moab.

14 Then Elisha said, As the Lord of hostes liveth, in whose sight I stand, if it were not, that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat phat the king of Judah, I would^k not have looked toward thee, nor seen thee.

15 But now bring me a minstrell. And when the minstrell^l played, the hand of the Lord came upon him.

16 And he sayd, Thus sayeth the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Ye shal neither see wind nor see raine, yet the valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drinke, both ye and your cattell, and your beasts.

18 But this is a^m small thing in the sight of the Lord: for he will give Moab into your hand.

19 And ye shall smite every strong town, and every chiefe citie, and shall fell every faire tree, and shall stop all the fountaines of water, andⁿ marre every good field with stones.

20 And in the morning when the meat offering was offered, behold, there came water by the way of Edom: and the country was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight against them, they gathered all that was able[†] to put on harness, and upward, and stood in their border.

22 And they rose early in the morning, when the sun arose upon the water, and the Moabites saw the water over against them, as red as blood.

23 And they sayd, ° This is blood: the kings are surely slaine, and one hath smitten another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoile.

24 And when they came to the hoste of Israel, the Israelites arose up, and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them, but they^p invaded them, and smote Moab.

25 And they destroyed the cities, and on all the good fields every man cast his stone, and filled them, and they stopt all the fountaines of water, & felled all the good trees: onely in^q Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with slings, and smote it.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battell was too fore for him, he tooke with him seven hundreth men that drew the sword, to breake through unto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then he tooke his eldest son, that should have reigned in his stead, and^r offered him for a burnt offering upon the wal: so that Israel was fore grieved, & they departed from him, & returned to their country.

CHAP. IV.

4 God increaseth the oyle to the poore widow by Elisha. 12 He obtaineth for the Shunammite a son at Gods hand: 18 Who dying, 32 he raiseth him up againe. 42 He maketh fruite the poore, 42 and multiplieth the loaves.

And one of the wifes^a of the sons of the Prophets, cryed unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant mine husband is dead, and thou knowest, that thy servant did^b feare the Lord: and the creditor is come to take away my two sons to be his^c bondmen.

2 Then Elisha said unto her, What shall I doe for thee? tell me, what hast thou at home? And she said, Thine handmaid hath nothing at home, save a^d pitcher of oyle.

3 And he said, Go, and borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, emptie vessels, and spare not.

4 And when thou art come in^e thou shalt shut the doore upon thee and upon thy sons, and powre out into^f all those vessels, and set aside those that are full.

5 So she departed from him, and shut the doore upon her, and upon her sons. And they brought to her, and she powred out.

6 And when the vessels were full, she said unto her son, Bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her, There is no more vessels. And the oyle^g ceased.

7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, and sell the oyle, and pay them that thou art in debt unto, and live thou and thy children of the^h rest.

8 ¶ And on a time Elisha came to Shunem, and there a woman of great estimation constrained him to eat bread: and as he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

9 And she said unto her husband, Behold, I know now, that this is an holy man of God that passeth by us continually.

10 Let us makeⁱ him a little chamber, I pray thee, with walles, and let us set him there a bedde, and a table, and a stoole, and a candlestick, that he may turne in thither when he commeth to us.

11 ¶ And on a day, he came thither and turned into the chamber, and lay therein.

12 And sayd to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunammite: and when he called her, she stood before him.

13 Then he said unto him, Say unto her now, Behold, thou hast had all this great care for us, what shall we doe for thee? Is there any thing to be spoken for thee to the King, or to the captaine of the hoste? And she answered, I dwell among mine owne people.

14 Again he said, What is then to be done for her? Then Gehazi answered, Indeed she hath^j no son, and her husband is olde.

15 Then said he, Call her. And he called her, and shee stode in the doore.

16 And he said, At this time appointed according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a son. And she said, Oh my Lord thou man of God, doe not lie unto thine handmaid.

17 So the woman conceived, and bare a son at that same season, according to the time of life, that Elisha had said unto her.

18 ¶ And

20 And he tooke him, and brought him to his mother, and he sate on her knees till noone, and dyed.

21 Then she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the doore upon him, and went out.

28 Then she said, Did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, Deceive me not?

29 Then he said to Gehazi, Gird thy loynes, and take my staffe in thine hand, and goe thy way: if thou meet any, salute him not: and if any salute thee, answere him not: and lay my staffe upon the face of the child.

30 And the mother of the child said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soule liveth, I will not leave thee. Therefore he arose, and followed her.

31 But Gehazi was gone before them, & had laid the staffe upon the face of the child, but he neither spake nor heard: wherefore he returned to meet him, and told him, saying, The child is not waken.

32 ¶ Then came Elisha into the house, and behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and shut the doore upon them twaine, and prayed unto the Lord.

34 After he went up, and lay upon the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands, & stretched himselfe upon him; and the flesh of the child waxed warme.

35 And he went from him, and walked up and down in the house, and went up, and spread himselfe upon him: then the child needed seven times, and opened his eyes.

36 Then he called Gehazi, and said, Call this Shunammite. So he called her, which came in unto him. And he said unto her, Take thy son.

37 And she came, and fell at his feet, and bowed her selfe to the ground, and took up her son, and went out.

38 Afterward Elisha returned to Gilgal, and a famine was in the land, and the children of the Prophets dwelt with him. And he sayd unto his servant, Set on the great pot, and seeth pottage for the children of the Prophets.

39 And one went out into the field, to gather herbes, and found as it were a wilde vine, and gathered thereof wild gourds his garment full, & came and shred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew it not.

40 So they powred out for the men to eat: and when they did eat of the pottage, they cried out, and said, O thou man of God, death is in the pot: and they could not eat thereof.

41 Then he said, Bring meale, And he cast it into the pot, and said, Powre out for the people, that they may eat: and there was none evill in the pot.

42 ¶ Then came a man from Baal-shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the first fruits, even twentie loaves of barley, and full eares of corn in the buske. And he said, Give unto the people, that they may eat.

43 And his servant answered, How should I set this before an hundreth men? He said againe, Give it unto the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the Lord, they shall eat, and there shall remaine.

44 So he set it before them, and they did eat, and left over, according to the word of the Lord.

1 Naaman the Syrian is healed of his leprosie. 16 Elisha refuseth his gifts. 27 Gehazi is stricken with leprosie, because he took money and raiment of Naaman.

NOW was there one Naaman captain of the host of the king of Aram, a great man, and honourable in the sight of his lord, because that by him the Lord had delivered the Aramites. He also was a mightie man and valiant, but a leper.

2 And the Aramites had gone out by bands, & had taken a little maid of the land of Israel, and she served Naamans wife.

Naaman healed II. Kings. of his leprosie.

3 And she said unto her mistresse, Would God my lord were with the ^b Prophet that is in Samaria, he would soone deliver him of his leprosie.

4 And he went in, and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus saith the maide that is of the land of Israel,

5 And the king of Aram said, Goe thy way thither, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and took ^d with him tenne talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten change of raiments,

6 And brought the letter to the King of Israel to this effect, Now when this letter is come unto thee, understand, that I have sent thee Naaman my servant, that thou mayest heale him of his leprosie.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he rent his clothes, and said, Am I God, to kill and to give life, that he doeth send to me, that I should heale a man from his leprosie? wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrell against me.

8 But when Elisha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent unto the King, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? Let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a Prophet in Israel.

9 ¶ Then Naaman came with his horses, and with his charrets, and stood at the doore of the house of Elisha.

10 And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Goe and wash thee in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come againe to thee, and thou shalt be cleansed.

11 But Naaman was wroth, and went away, and said, Behold, I thought with my selfe, He will surely come out, and stand, and call on the Name of the Lord his God, and put his hand on the place, and heale the leprosie.

12 Are not Abanah and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better then all the waters of Israel? may I not wash me in them, and be cleansed? so he turned, and departed in displeasure.

13 But his servants came, and spake unto him, and said, Father, if the Prophet had commanded thee a great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash and be cleane?

14 Then went he down, and washed himselfe seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came againe, like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was cleane.

15 ¶ And he turned againe to the man of God, he, and all his company, and came and stood before him, & said, Behold now,

I know that there is no God in all the world, but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a reward of thy servant.

16 But he said, As the Lord liveth, (before whom I stand) I will not receive it. And he would have constrained him to receive it, but he refused.

17 Moreover Naaman said, Shall there not be given to thy servant two mules load of this earth? for thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice nor offering unto any other god, save unto the Lord.

18 Herein the Lord be mercifull unto thy servant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon, to worship there, & leageth on mine hand, & I bow my self in the house of Rimmon: when I do bow down, I say, in the house of Rimmon, the Lord be mercifull unto thy servant in this point.

19 Unto whom he said, Go in peace. So he departed from him about halfe a dayes journey of ground.

20 And Gehazy the servant of Elisha the man of God said, Behold, my master hath spared this Aramite Naaman, receiving not those things at his hand that he brought: as the Lord liveth, I will runne after him, and take somewhat of him.

21 So Gehazi followed speedily after Naaman. And when Naaman saw him running after him, he light down from the charet to meet him, and said, Is all well?

22 And he answered, All is well: my master hath sent me, saying, Behold, there be come to me, even now from mount Ephraim two yong men of the children of the Prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of silver, and two change of garments.

23 And Naaman said, Yea, take two talents: and he compelled him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two change of garments, and gave them unto two of his servants, that they might beare them before him.

24 And when he came to the towre, he tooke them out of their hands, and laid them in the house, and sent away the men: and they departed.

25 ¶ Then he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy servant went no whither.

26 But he said unto him, Went not mine heart with thee when the man turned againe from his charet to meet thee? Is this a time to take money, and to receive garments, and olives, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and men servants, and maid servants?

27 The leprosie therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and to thy seed for ever. And he went out from his presence a leper white as snow.

C H A P. VI.

6. Elisha maketh iron to swim above the water. 8. He discloseth the king of Syria's counsell to the king of Israel, 13. who sending certain to take him, were kept fast in Samaria. 24. Samaria is besieged, and endureth extreme famine.

And the children of the Prophets said unto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee, the place where we dwell with thee, is too little for us.

2 Let us now go to Jordan, that we may take thence every man a beame, and make us a place to dwell in. And he answered, Go.

3 And one said, Vouchsafe, I pray thee, to go with thy servants. And he answered, I will go.

4 So he went with them, and when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.

5 And as one was felling of a tree, the iron fel into the water: then he cried, and said, Alas master, it was but borrowed.

6 And the man of God said, Where fell it? And he shewed him the place. Then he cut down a piece of wood, and cast in thither, and he caused the iron to swim.

7 Then he said, Take it up to thee. And he stretched out his hand, and took it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Aram warred against Israel, and took counsell with his servants, and said, In such and such a place, shall be my camp.

9 Therefore the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware thou go not over to such a place: for there the Aramites are come down.

10 So the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him, and warned him of, and saved himself from thence, not once nor twice.

11 And the heart of the king of Aram was troubled for this thing: therefore he called his servants, & said unto them, Will ye not shew me, which of us betrayeth our counsell to the king of Israel?

12 Then one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king, but Elisha the Prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel, even the words that thou speakest in thy privy chamber.

13 And he said, Go, and espie where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And one told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan.

14 ¶ So he sent thither horses, and charrets, and a mighty host: and they came by night, and compassed the city.

15 And when the servants of the man of God arose early to go out, behold, an host compassed the city with horses & charrets. Then his servant said unto him, Alas master, how shall we do?

16 And he answered, Feare not: for they that be with us, are more then they that be with them.

17 Then Elisha prayed, and said, Lord, I beseech thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the servant, and he looked, and behold, the mountain was full of horses, and charrets of fire round about Elisha.

18 So they came down to him, but Elisha prayed unto the Lord, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness, according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city: follow me, and I will leade you to the man whom ye seek. But he led them to Samaria.

20 And when they were come to Samaria, Elisha said, Lord, open their eyes that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw, and behold, they were in the mids of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel said unto Elisha when he saw them, My father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: dost thou not smite them that thou hast taken with thy sword, and with thy bow? but set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.

23 And he made great preparation for them: and when they had eaten and drunken, he sent them away: and they went to their master. So the bands of Aram came no more into the land of Israel.

24 But afterward Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his host, and went up, and besieged Samaria.

25 So there was a great famine in Samaria: for lo, they besieged it, untill an asses head was at fourescore pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a kab of doves doing at five pieces of silver.

26 And as the king of Israel was going upon the wall, there cried a woman unto him, saying, Help, my lord, O king.

27 And he said, Seeing the Lord doth not succour thee, how should I help thee with the barn, or with the winepresse?

28 Also the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, This woman said unto me, Give thy son, that we may eat him to day, and we will eat my son to morrow.

29 So we sod my son, and did eat him: and I said to her the day after, Give thy son, that we may eat him; but she hath hid her sonne.

30 And when the king had heard the words of the woman, he rent his clothes, (and as he went upon the wall, the people looked, and behold, he had sackcloth within upon his flesh.)

31 And he said, God do so to me, and h That he may behold how thou hast prepared an army to rescue us.

i Meaning, the Syrians, his enemies, which came down, thinking themselves fow of him.

k Thus he did be- ingled by the Spirit of God, and not because he sought his own revenge- ance, but onely to set forth the glory of God.

l The wicked use reverent & grave words towards the servants of God, when they thinke to have any com- modity by them, though in their heart they cannot abide them.

m For this gentle intreaty and the miracle wrought by the Prophet did more prevail for comon quietnes, then if they had been overcome in battel, for they returned no more at that time to fight against Israel, as in that kings dayes. n The Hebrewes write, that they burned it in the siege for lack of wood.

o Meaning, any kinde of victuals, as corn and wine, &c.

 Deut. 28. 33. 17.*

p Or, under his clothes. q Thus hypocrites, when they feel Gods judgments, thinke to please him with outward ceremonies, whom in prosper- ity they will not know.

a Or, a piece of wood fit to build with.

b Or, the axe heads.

c God wrought this miraculously to confirm the authoritie of Elisha, to whom he had given such abundance of his spirit.

c Meaning, that he would lie in ambush, and take the Israelites at un- wards.

d The wicked conspire nothing so craftily, but God can reveale it to his servants, and cause their counsell to be disclosed.

e There is nothing so secret that thou canst go about, but he knoweth it, & discovereth it unto his king.

f Though it had been nothing in mans judgement to have taken Elisha, yet the wicked ever doubt & thinke they are never able to prepare power enough, though it be but against one, or a few.

g For he was assured of Gods help, and that millions of Angels camped about the godly to deliver them.

 2 Sam. 3. 7.*

more also, if the head of Elisha the sonne of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.

32 (Now Elisha sat in his house, and the Elders sat with him.) And the king sent a man before him: but before the messenger came to him, he said to the Elders, See ye not how this ^qmurderers sonne hath sent to take away mine head? take heed when the messenger cometh, and shut the doore & handle him roughly at the doore: is not the sound of his masters feet behind him?

^q Meaning, Jehoram Ahabs sonne, who killed the prophets, and caused Naboth to be stoned.

^r So the wicked fall into a rage, and desperatio, if they find not sudden remedy against their afflictions.

33 While he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came down unto him, and said, Behold, this evill cometh of the Lord: should I attend on the Lord any longer?

C H A P. VII.

^a Elisha propheseth plenty of victuall, and other things to Samaria. 6 The Syrians run away, and have no man following them.

17 The prince that would not believe the word of Elisha, is troden to death.

Then Elisha said, Heare ye the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord, ^aTo morrow this time a measure of fine floure shall be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.

^a The godly are ever assured of Gods help in their necessities, but the times and hours are onely revealed by Gods Spirit.

2 Then a Prince, on whose hand the king ^bleaned, answered the man of God, and said, Though the Lord would make ^cwindows in the heaven, could this thing come to passe? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not ^deat thereof.

^b To whom the king gave the charge and oversight of things, as verse 17.

^c He mocketh at the Prophets word saying, That if God rained down corn from heaven, yet this could not come to passe.

^d Thy infidelitie shall be punished herein, when thou shalt see this miracle, and yet not be partaker thereof.

3 Now there were four leprous men at the ^eentring in of the gate: and they said one to another, Why sit we heare until we die?

^e For it was commanded in the law, that they should dwell apart, & not among their brethren, Levit. 13. 46.

4 If we say, We will enter into the citie, the famine is in the citie, and we shall die there: and if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us fall into the camp of the Aramites: if they save our lives, we shall live: and if they kill us, we are but dead.

5 So they rose up in the twilight, to go to the camp of the Aramites: and when they were come to the utmost part of the camp of the Aramites, lo, there was no man there.

^f Thus God needeth no great preparation to destroy the wicked, though they be never so many: for he can scatter them with a small noise, or shaking of a leaf.

6 For the Lord had caused the camp of the Aramites to heare a ^fnoise of charets, and a noise of horses, and a noise of a great armie, so that they said one to another, Behold, the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come upon us.

7 Wherefore they arose, and fled in the twilight, and left their tents and their horses, and their asses, ^geven the camp as it was, and ^hfled for their lives.

^g The wicked need no greater enemy, then their own conscience to pursue them.

8 And when these lepers came to the utmost part of the camp, they entred into one tent, and did eat and drink, and caried thence silver and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it: after, they returned, and entred into another tent, and caried thence also, and went and hid it.

9 Then said one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tary till day light, some ⁱmischiefe will come upon us. Now therefore, come, let us go and tell the kings household.

ⁱ Or, we shall be punished for our fault.

10 So they came, and called unto the porters of the citie, and told them, saying, We came to the camp of the Aramites, and lo, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses tied and asses tied: and the tents are as they were.

11 And the porters cried, and declared to the kings house within.

12 Then the king arose in the night, and said unto his servants, ^hI will shew you now, what the Aramites have done unto us. They know that we are affamished, therefore they are gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, When they come out of the citie, we shall catch them alive, and get into the citie.

^h He mistrusted the Prophets words, and therefore could believe nothing, as they which are most politick, then godly, ever call more perils than needeth.

13 And one of his servants answered, and said, Let men take now five of the horses that remain, and are left in the ⁱcity, (behold, they are even as all the ^jmultitude of Israel that are left therein: behold, I say, they are as the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed) and we will send to see.

ⁱ There are no more left but they, or the rest are consumed with the famine, as the rest of the people.

14 So they took ^ktwo charets of horses, and the king sent after the host of the Aramites, saying, Go and see.

^k Or, two horses of the charets, which were accustomed to draw in the charet.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan, and lo, all the way was full of clothes and vessels which the Aramites had cast from them in their hast: and the messengers returned, and told the king.

16 Then the people went out and spoiled the camp of the Aramites: so a measure of fine floure was at a shekel, and two measures of barley at a shekel, ^laccording to the word of the Lord.

^l Which he spake by the mouth of Elisha, verse 1.

17 And the king gave the Prince (on whose hand he leaned) the charge of the gate, and the people ^mtrode upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, which spake it when the king came down to him.

^m As the people pressed out of the gate to run to the Syrians tents, where they had heard was meat, and great spoile left.

18 And it came to passe as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley at a shekel, and a measure of fine floure shall be at a shekel, to morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria.

19 But the Prince had answered the man of God, and said, Though the Lord would make windows in the heaven, could it come so

So to passe: And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes; but thou shalt not eat thereof. And so it came unto him: for the people wroth upon him in the gate; and he died.

CHAP. VIII.
Elisha prophesied unto the Shodammite the death of seven yeares. 12 He prophesied to Hazael that he shall be king of Syria. 13 He reigned after Ben-hadad. 14 Jehoram reigned over Iudah. 15 Edom fell from Iudah. 25 Ahaziah succeeded Jehoram.

Then spake Elisha unto the woman, whose son he had restored to life, saying, Up and go, thou, and thine house, and sojourn where thou canst sojourn; for the Lord hath called for a famine, and it cometh also upon the land seven yeares.

And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God; and went both she and her household, and sojourned in the land of the Philistims seven yeares.

And at the seven yeares end, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistims, and went out to call upon the king for her house and for her land.

And the king talked with Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great acts that Elisha hath done.

And as he told the king, how he had restored one dead to life, behold, the woman, whose son he had raised to life, called upon the king for her house, and for her land. Then Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.

And when the king asked the woman, she told him: so the king appointed her an Eunuch, saying, Restore thou all that are hers, and all the fruits of her lands since the day that she left the land, even untill this time.

Then Elisha came to Damascus, and Ben-hadad the king of Aram was sick, and one told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.

And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go meet the man of God, that thou mayest inquire of the Lord by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

So Hazael went to meet him, and took the present in his hand, and of every good thing of Damascus, even the burden of forty Camels, and came and stood before him, and said, Thy son Ben-hadad king of Aram hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

And Elisha said to him, Go, and say unto him, Thou shalt recover: howbeit the Lord hath shewed me, that he shall surely die.

And he looked upon him stedfastly, till Hazael was ashamed; and the man of God wept.

And Hazael said, Why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I know the evil that thou shalt do unto the children of Israel: for their strong cities shalt thou set on fire, and their young men shalt thou slay with the sword, and shalt dash their infants against the stones, and rent in pieces their women with child.

Then Hazael said, What is thy servant, a dog, that I should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, the Lord hath shewed me, that thou shalt be king of Aram.

So he departed from Elisha, and came to his master, who said to him, What said Elisha to thee? And he answered, He told me that thou shouldst recover.

And on the morrow he took a thick cloth and dipt it in water, and spread it on his face, and he died: and Hazael reigned in his stead.

* Now in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, and of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah began to reign.

He was two and thirty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

And he walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab: for the daughter of Ahab was his wife, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord.

Yet the Lord would not destroy Judah, for David his servants sake, as he had promised him to give him a light, and to his children for ever.

In those dayes Edom rebelled from under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themselves.

Therefore Joram went to Zair, and all his chariots with him, and he arose by night, and smote the Edomites which were about him, with the captains of the chariots, and the people fled into their tents.

So Edom rebelled from under the hand of Judah unto this day, then Libnah rebelled at that same time.

Concerning the rest of the acts of Joram and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?

And Joram slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.

In the twelfth yeare of Joram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel did Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign.

Two and twenty yeares old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned 29 And king Joram returned to be healed in Izreel of the wounds which the Aramites had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Aram. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Izreel, because he was sick.

CHAP. IX.

1 Jehu is made king of Israel. 24 And killeth Jehoram the king of Israel. 27 And Ahaziah: otherwise called Ochozias, the king of Judah. 33 And causeth Izrebel to be cast down out of a window, and the dogs did eat her.

Then Elisha the Prophet called one of the children of the Prophets, and said unto him, Gird thy loyns and take this box of oyl in thine hand, and get thee to Ramoth Gilead.

And when thou comest thither, look where is Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, and go, and make him arise up from among his brethren, and lead him to a secret chamber.

Then take the box of oyl and poure it on his head, and say, Thus saith the Lord, I have annointed thee for king over Israel. Then open the doore, and flee without any taryng.

So the servant of the Prophet gate him up to Ramoth Gilead.

And when he came in, behold, the captaines of the army were sitting. And he said, I have a message to thee, O captain. And Jehu said, Unto which of all us? And he answered, To thee, O captain.

And he arose, and went into the house, and he powred the oyle on his head, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have annointed thee for king over the people of the Lord, even over Israel.

And thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants the Prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the Lord of the hand of Jezebel.

For the whole house of Ahab shall be destroyed: and I will cut off from Ahab, him that maketh war against the wall, as wel him that is shut up, as him that is left in Israel.

And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Abijah.

And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the field of Izreel, and there shall be none to bury her. And he opened the doore, and fled.

¶ Then Jehu came out to the servants of his lord. And one said unto him, Is all well? wherefore came this mad fellow to thee? And he said unto them, Ye know the man, and what his talk was.

And they said, It is false, tell us, it now. Then he said, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I have annointed thee for king over Israel.

Then they made hast, and took every man his garment, and put it under him on the top of the staires, and blew the trumpet, saying, Jehu is king.

So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the sonne of Nimshi conspired against Joram: (Now Joram kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Aram.)

And king Joram returned to be healed in Izreel of the wounds, which the Aramites had given him, when he fought with Hazael king of Aram) and Jehu said, If it be your minds; let no man depart and escape out of the citie, to go and tell it in Izreel.

So Jehu gate up into a charret, and went to Izreel: for Joram lay there, and Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to see Joram.

And the watchman that stood in the towre in Izreel spied the company of Jehu as he came, and said, I see a company. And Joram said, Take a horsman and send to meet them, that he may say, Is it peace?

So there went one on horseback to meet him; and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu said, What hast thou to do with peace? Turn behinde me. And the watchman told, saying, The messenger came to them but he cometh not again.

Then he sent out another on horseback, which came to them, and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu answered, What hast thou to do with peace? turn behinde me.

And the watchman told, saying, He came to them also, but cometh not again, and the marching is like the marching of Jehu the son of Nimshi: for he marcheth furiously.

¶ Then Jehoram said, Make ready: and his charret was made ready. And Jehoram king of Israel, and Ahaziah king of Judah went out either of them in his charret against Jehu, and met him in the field

22 And when Jehoram saw Jehu, he said, Is it peace, Jehu? And he answered, What peace, whiles the whoredomes of thy mother Jezebel, and her witchcrafts are yet in great number?

23 Then Jehoram turned his hand, and fled, and said to Ahaziah, O Ahaziah, there is treason.

24 And Jehu took a bow in his hand, and smote Jehoram between the shoulders, that the arrow went through his heart: and he fell down in his chariot.

25 Then said Jehu to Bidkar a captain, Take, and cast him in some place of the field of Naboth the Izreelite: for I remember that when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lord laid this burden upon him.

26 * Surely I have seen yesterday the blood of Naboth, & the blood of his sons, saith the Lord, and I will render it thee in this field, saith the Lord: now therefore take and cast him in the field, according to the word of the Lord.

27 But when Ahaziah the king of Judah saw this, he fled by the way of the garden house: And Jehu pursued after him, and said, Smite him also in the chariot: and they smote him in the going up to Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Megiddo, and there died.

28 And his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, & buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the citie of David.

30 And when Jehu was come to Izreel, Jezebel heard of it, and painted her face, and tired her head, and looked out at a window.

31 And as Jehu entred at the gate, she said, Had Zimri peace, which slew his master?

32 And he lift up his eyes to the window, and said, Who is on my side, who? Then two or three of her Eunuchs looked unto him.

33 And he said, Cast her down: and they cast her down, and he sprinkled of her blood upon the wall, and upon the horses, and he trode her under foot.

34 And when he was come in, he did eat and drink, and said, Visit now yonder cursed woman, and bury her: for she is a kings daughter.

35 And they went to bury her, but they found no more of her, then the skull and the feet, and the palms of her hands.

36 Wherefore they came again and told him. And he said, This is the word of the Lord, which he spake by his servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, * In the field of Izreel shall the dogs eat the flesh of Jezebel.

37 And the carkeis of Jezebel shall be as dung upon the ground in the field of Izreel, so that none shall say, This is Jezebel.

CHAP X.

6 Jehu causeth the seventy sonnes of Ahab to be slain. 14 And after that, forty and two of Ahaziahs brethren. 25 He killeth also all the Priests of Baal. 35 After his death, his sonne reigneth in his stead.

Ahab had now seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria unto the rulers of Izreel, and to the Elders, and to the bringers up of Ahabs children, to this effect,

2 Now when this letter cometh to you, (for ye have with you your masters sons, ye have with you both charrets and horses, and a defended citie, and armour)

3 Consider therefore which of your masters sons is best and most meet, and set him on his fathers Throne, and fight for your masters house.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, Behold, two kings could not stand before him, how shall we then stand?

5 And he that was governour of Ahabs house, and he that ruled the city, and the Elders, and the bringers up of the children sent to Jehu, saying, We are thy servants, and will do all that thou shalt bid us: we will make no king: do what seemeth good to thee.

6 ¶ Then he wrote another letter to them, saying, If ye be mine, and will obey my voice, take the heads of the men that are your masters sons, and come to me to Izreel by to morrow this time. (Now the kings sons, even seventy persons were with the great men of the city, which brought them up)

7 And when the letter came to them, they took the kings sons, and slew the seventy persons, and laid their heads in baskets, and sent them unto him to Izreel.

8 ¶ Then there came a messenger and told him, saying, They have brought the heads of the kings sons. And he said, Let them lay them on two heaps at the entering in of the gate untill the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, and stood, and said to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold, I conspired against my master, and slew him: but who slew all these?

10 Know now that there shall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the Lord, which the Lord spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the Lord hath brought to passe the things that he spake by his servant * Elijah.

12 ¶ And he arose, and departed, and came to Samaria. And as Jehu was in the way by an house where the Shepherds did sheare, 13 He met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, Who are ye? And they answered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah, and go down to salute the children of the king, and the children of the queen.

14 And he said, Take them alive. And they took them alive, and slew them at the well beside the house where the sheep are shorne, even two and forty men, and he left not one of them.

^f Thus God's vengeance is upon them that have any part or familiarity with the wicked.

^g For he feared God, and lamented the wickedness of those times, therefore Jehu was glad to joyne with him: of Rechab read 1er. 35. 2.

22 Then he said unto him that had the charge of the vestrie, Bring forth vestments for all the servants of Baal. And he brought them out vestments.

23 And when Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab into the house of Baal, he said unto the servants of Baal, Search diligently, and look, lest there be heere with you any of the ^k servants of the Lord, but the servants of Baal onely.

25 And when he had made an end of the burnt-offering, Jehu said to the guard, and to the captains, Go in, slay them, let not a man come out. And they smote them with the edge of the sword. And the guard, and the captains cast them out, and went unto the ^k citie, where was the temple of Baal.

26 And they brought out the images of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

29 But from the finnes of Jeroboam the son of Nebat which made Israel to sin, Jehu departed not from them, neither from the golden calves that were in Beth-el, and that were in Dan.

30 ¶ And the Lord said unto Jehu, Because thou hast diligently executed that which was right in mine eyes, and hast done unto the house of Ahab according to all things that were in mine heart, therefore shall thy ^l sonnes unto the fourth generation, sit on the Throne of Israel.

^l Thus God approved his reward, and his zeale, in executing Gods judgement, albeit his wickedness was afterward punished.

31 But Jehu regarded not to walk in the Law of the Lord God of Israel with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, which made Israel to sinne.

3 And he was with her hid in the house of the Lord six year: and Athaliah did reigne over the land.

4 ¶ And the seventh year Jehojada sent and took the Captains over hundreths, with other captains, and them of the guard, and caused them to come unto him into the house of the Lord, and made a Covenant with them, and took an oath of them in the house of the Lord, and shewed them the kings sonne.

5 And he commanded them, saying, This is it that ye must do, The third part of you, that commeth on the Sabbath, shall ward toward the kings house:

6 And another third part in the gate of Sur: and another third part in the gate behind them of the guard: and ye shall keep watch in the house of Massah.

7 And two parts of you, that is, all that go out on the Sabbath day, shall keep the watch of the house of the Lord about the king.

8 And ye shall compasse the king round about, every man with his weapon in his hand, and whosoever commeth within the ranges, let him be slaine: be you with the king, as he goeth out and in.

9 ¶ And the Captaines of the hundreths, did according to all that Jehojada the Priest commanded, and they took every man his men that entred in to their charge on the Sabbath with them that went out of it on the Sabbath, and came to Jehojada the Priest.

10 ¶ And the Priest gave to the Captains of hundreths, the speares and the shields that were king Davids, and were in the house of the Lord.

11 And the guard stood, every man with his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the house to the left side, about the altar and about the house, round about the king.

12 Then he brought out the kings son, and put the Crown upon him, and gave him the Testimonie, and they made him king: also they anointed him, and clapt their hands, and said, God save the king.

13 ¶ And when Athaliah heard the noise of the running of the people, she came in to the people in the house of the Lord.

14 And when shee looked, behold, the king stood by a pillar, as the maner was, and the Princes, and the Trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the land rejoyced, and blew with Trumpets. Then Athaliah rent her clothes, and cried, Treason, treason.

15 But Jehojada the Priest commanded the captains of the hundreths, that had the rule of the hoste, and said unto them, Have her forth of the ranges, and he that followeth her, let him die by the sword: for the Priest had said, Let her not be slaine in the house of the Lord.

16 Then they layed hands on her, and she went by the way, by the which the horses go to the house of the king, and there was shee slaine.

17 And Jehojada made a covenant between the Lord, and the king and the people, that they should be the Lords people: likewise between the king and the people.

18 Then all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and destroyed it with his altars, and his images brake they down courageously, and shew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars: and the Priest set a guard over the house of the Lord.

19 Then he took the captains of hundreths, and the other captains, and the guard, and all the people of the land: and they brought the king from the house of the Lord, and came by the way of the gate of the guard to the kings house: and he sate him down on the throne of the kings.

20 And all the people of the land rejoyced, and the citie was in quiet: for they had slaine Athaliah with the sword beside the kings house.

3 But the high places were not taken away: for the people offered yet, and burnt incense in the high places.

8 So the Priests consented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repaire the decayed places of the Temple.

9 Then Jehojada the Priest took a chest, and bored a hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side, as every man cometh into the Temple of the Lord. And the Priests that kept the doore, put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, t That is, Hazael and Benhadad his sonne, as ver. 1. Reade of Hazael, chap. 8. 13. g His chief purpose is to describe the Kingdom of Judah, and how God performed his promise made to the house of David: but by the way he sheweth how Israel was afflicted, and punished for their great idleness, though they had now depented yet God, both by sending them finckie Prophets and divers punishments, did call them unto him againe.

Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, that made Israel to sin: but he walked therein:

12 Concerning the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, and his valiant deeds, and how he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

13 And Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat upon his seate: and Joash was buried in Samaria among the Kings of Israel.

14 ¶ When Elisha fell sicke of his sickness whereof he died, Joash the King of Israel came downe unto him, and wept upon his face, and said, O my father, my father, the charet of Israel, and the horsemen of the same.

15 Then Elisha said unto him, Take a bow and arrowes. And he took unto him bow and arrowes.

16 And he said to the King of Israel, Put thine hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it. And Elisha put his hands upon the kings hands.

17 And said, Open the window Eastward. And when he had opened it, Elisha sayd, Shooite: And he shot. And he said, Behold the arrow of the Lords deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance against Aram: for thou shalt smite the Aramites in Aphek, till thou hast consumed them.

18 Again he said, Take the arrowes. And he tooke them. And he said unto the king of Israel, Smite the ground. And he smote thrice, and ceased.

19 Then the man of God was angry with him, and said, Thou shouldest have smitten five or six times, so thou shouldest have smitten Aram, till thou hadst consumed it, where now thou shalt smite Aram but thrice.

20 ¶ So Elisha died, and they buried him. And certaine bands of the Moabites came into the land that year.

21 And as they were burying a man, behold, they saw the souldiers: therefore they cast the man into the sepulchre of Elisha. And when the man was downe, and touched the bones of Elisha, he revived and stood upon his feet.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Aram vexed Israel all the dayes of Jehoahaz.

23 Therefore the Lord had mercie on them, and pitied them, and had respect unto them, because of his covenant with Abraham, Izhak, and Jaakob, and would not destroy them, neither cast he them from him as yet.

24 So Hazael the King of Aram died: and Ben-hadad his son reigned in his stead.

25 Therefore Jehoash the sonne of Jehoahaz returned, and took out of the hand of Benhadad the sonne of Hazael, the cities which he had taken away by warre out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father, for three times did Joash beat him, and restored the cities unto Israel.

1 Amaziah the king of Judah putteth to death them that slew his father. 7. And after smiteth Edom. 13. Ioash dieth, and Jeroboam his son succedeth him. 20. And after him reigneth Zachariah

The second year of Joash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel, reigned Amaziah the sonne of Joash king of Judah.

2 He was five and twenty years old when he began to reigne, and reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem, and his mothers name was Jehoadan of Jerusalem.

3 And he did uprightly in the sight of the Lord, yet not like David his father, but did according to all that Joash his father had done.

4 ¶ Notwithstanding, the high places were not taken away: for as yet the people did sacrifice, and burnt incense in the high places.

5 ¶ And when the kingdome was confirmed in his hand, he slew his servants which had killed the king his father.

6 But the children of those that did slay him, he slew not, according unto that that is written in the book of the Law of Moses, wherein the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor the children put to death for the father: but every man shall be put to death for his owne sinne.

7 He slew also of Edom in the valley of salt, ten thousand, and took the citie of Sela by warre, and called the name thereof Joktheel unto this day.

8 ¶ Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, sonne of Jehu king of Israel, saying, Come, let us see one another in the face.

9 Then Jehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wild beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the thistle.

10 Because thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proud: bragge of glory, and tary at home: why dost thou provoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Judah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not heare: therefore Jehoash king of Israel went up: and he and Amaziah king of Judah saw one another in the face at Beth-shemesh, which is in Judah.

12 And Judah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled every man to their tents.

Thus they used to call the Prophets and servants of God, by whom God blessed his people, as chap. 2. 12. meaning, that by their prayers they did more prosper their country, then by force of arms.

That is, toward Syria, so that he did not onely prophesie with words, but also confirmed him by these signs that he should have the victory.

Because he seemed content to have victory against the enemies of God for wife or thrife, and had not a zeale to overcome them continually, and to destroy them utterly.

By this miracle God confirmed the authority of Elisha, whose doctrine in his life they contemned, that at this fight they might returne and imbrace the same doctrine.

That is, untill their finnes were come to a full measure, and there was no more hope of amendment.

† He was † fourth in descent from Iehu, who reigned according to Gods promise, but in him God began to execute his wrath against the house of Iehu.

13 ¶ Shallum the son of Jabeish began to to reigne in the nine and thirtieth yeare of Uzziah King of Judah: and he reigned the space of a moneth in Samaria.

14 For Menahem the sonne of Gadi went up from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and smote Shallum the sonne of Jabel in Samaria, and slew him, and reigned in his stead.

15 Concerning the rest of the actes of Shallum, & the treason which he wrought, behold, they are written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

16 ¶ Then Menahem destroyed ^f Tiphah, and all that were therein, and the coasts thereof from Tirzah, because they opened not to him, and he smote it, and ript up all their women with child.

17 The nine and thirtieth yeare of Azariah King of Judah, began Menahem the sonne of Gadi to reigne over Israel, and reigned tenne yeares in Samaria, 18 And he did evill in the sight of the Lord, and departed not all his dayes from the sinne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

19 ¶ Then Pul the King of Asshur came against the land: and Menahem gave Pul a thousand ^h talents of silver, that his hand might be with him, and establish the Kingdome in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money of Israel, that all men of substance should give the King of Asshur fiftie shekels of silver a piece: so the King of Asshur returned, and taried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the actes of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth yeare of Azariah king of Judah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two yeare.

24 And he did evill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the son of Remaliah his captaine conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the Kings palace with ⁱ Argob and Arieh, and with him fiftie men of the Gileadites: so he killed him, and reigned in his stead.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekahiah, and all that hee did, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth yeare of Azariah King of Judah, began Pekah the son of Remaliah to reigne over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twentie yeare.

28 And hee did evill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, that made Israel to sinne.

29 In the dayes of Pekah King of Israel, ^k came Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, and took sion, and Abel, Beth-maachah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilah, and all the land of Naphtali, and caried them away to Asshur.

30 And Hoshea the son of Elah wrought treason against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and smote him, and slew him, and reigned in his stead in the twentieth yeare of Jotham the sonne of Uzziah.

31 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekah; and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 ¶ In the second yeare of Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, beganne Jotham the son of ^l Uzziah king of Judah to reigne.

35 But the high places were not put away: for the people yet offered and burnt incense in the high places: he built the highest gate of the house of the Lord.

37 In ^m those dayes the Lord began to send against Judah, Rezin the king of Aram, and ⁿ Pekah the sonne of Remaliah.

9 And the king of Asshur consented unto him: and the king of Asshur went up against Damascus: and when he had taken it, he caried the people away to Kir, and slew Rezin.

10 And King Ahaz went unto Damascus to meet Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur: and when king Ahaz saw the altar that was at Damascus, he sent to Vrijah the Priest the paterne of the Altar, and the fashion of it, and all the workmanship thereof.

2 And he did evill in the sight of the Lord, * but not as the kings of Israel, that were before him.

^a Though he invented no new idolatry or impiety as others did, yet he sought for helpe at the Egyptians which God had forbidden.

3 And Shalmaneser king of Asshur came up against him, and Hoshea became his servant, and gave him presents.

4 And the king of Asshur found treason in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present unto the king of Asshur, ^b as he had done yearely, therefore the king of Asshur shut him up, and put him in prison.

^b For he had paid tribute for the space of eight yeares.

11 And there burnt incense in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the Lord had taken away before them, and wrought wicked things to anger the Lord,

12 And served idoles: whereof the Lord had said unto them, * Ye shall doe no such thing, 13 Notwithstanding the Lord testified to Israel, and to Judah by all the Prophets, and by all the Seers, saying, * Turne from your evill wayes, and keepe my commandments, and my statutes, according to all the Law, which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my servants the Prophets.

14 Nevertheless they would not obey, * but hardened their necks, like to the necks of their fathers, that did not beleve in the Lord their God.

15 And they refused his statutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his testimonies (wherewith he witnessed unto them) and they followed vanitie, and became vaine, & followed the heathen that were round about them: concerning whom the Lord had charged them, that they should not doe like them.

16 Finally, they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, and made them molten images, * even two calves, and made a grove, and worshipped all the hoste of heaven, and served Baal.

17 And they made their sonnes and their daughters, ^h passe thorow the fire, and used witchcraft and enchantments, yea, ⁱ sold themselves to doe evill in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

18 Therefore the Lord was exceeding wroth with Israel, and put them out of his sight, and none was left but the tribe of Judah ^k onely.

19 Yet Judah kept not the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked according to the fashion of Israel, which they used.

20 Therefore the Lord cast off all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hands of spoylers, untill he had cast them out of his sight.

21 ^m For he cut off Israel from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king: and Jeroboam drew Israel away from following the Lord, and made them sinne a great sinne.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the finnes of Jeroboam, which he did, and departed not therefrom:

23 Untill the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said [†] by all his servants the Prophets, and carried Israel away out of their land to Asshur unto his day.

24 And the King of Asshur brought folke from Babel, and from ⁿ Cuthah, and from Ava, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria in stead of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the Cities thereof.

25 ¶ And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they feared not the Lord: therefore the Lord sent lions among them, which slew them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the King of Asshur, saying, The nations which thou hast removed, and placed in the cities of Samaria know not the manner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent lions among them, and behold, they slay them, because they know not the manner of the God of the land.

27 Then the King of Asshur commanded, saying, Carie thither one of the Priests whom ye brought thence, and let him goe and dwell there, and teach them the manner of the God of the country.

28 So one of the Priests, which they had caried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit every nation made their gods, & put them in the houses of the high places which the Samaritanes had made, every nation in their cities, wherein they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made ^q Succoth-Benoth: and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31 And the Avims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharvaims burnt their children in the fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharvaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, and appointed out Priests out of themselves for the high places, who prepared for them sacrifices in the houses of the high places.

33 * They feared the Lord, but served their gods, after the manner of the nations whom they caried thence.

34 Unto this day they doe after the old manner: they neither feare God, neither doe after ^r their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the Law, nor after the commandment, which the Lord commanded the children of Jaakob, * whom he named Israel;

35 And with whom the Lord had made a covenant, & charged them, saying, * Feare none other gods, nor bow your selves to them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them

CHAP. XVIII.

⁴ Hezekiah king of Judah putteth downe the brasen serpent, and destroyeth the idoles, ⁷ and prospereth. ¹¹ Israel is caryed away captive. ³⁰ The blasphemy of Saneherib.

^a 2. Chron. 28. 27. and 29. 1.

NOW in the third yeare of Hoshea, son of Elah King of Israel, * Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reigne. ² He was five and twentie yeare old, when he began to reigne, and reigned nine and twenty year in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Abi the daughter of Zachariah.

^a Although they of Judah were given to idolatry and impiety, as they of Israel were, yet God for his promise sake was mercifull unto the throne of David: and yet by his judgement toward the other, provoked them to repentance.

^b Numb. 21. 8. 9. That is, a piece of brasle, thus he calleth the serpent by contempt, which notwithstanding was set up by the word of God, and miracles were wrought by it: yet when it was abused to idolatry, this good king destroyed it, not thinking it worthy to bee called a serpent, but a piece of brasle.

3 And hee did ^a uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done.

4 He took away the high places, and brak the images, and cut down the groves, and brak in pieces the ^a brasen serpent that Moses had made: for unto those dayes the children of Israel did burne incense to it, and he called it ^b Nehushtan.

5 He trusted in the Lord God of Israel: so that after him was none like him among all the Kings of Judah, neither were there any such before him.

6 For he clave to the Lord, and departed not from him, but kept his commandments, which the Lord had commanded Moses.

7 So the Lord was with him, and hee prospered in all things, which he tooke in hand: also hee rebelled against the king of Asshur, and served him not.

^c Read Chap. 17. 9.

8 He smote the Philistims unto Azzah, and the coasts thereof, ^c from the watch towre unto the defenced city.

^d Chap. 17. 3.

9 ¶ And in the fourth yeare of King Hezekiah, (which was the seventh yeare of Hoshea sonne of Elah King of Israel) Shalmaneser king of Asshur came up against Samaria, and besieged it.

10 And after three yeares they took it, even in the sixth yeare of Hezekiah: that is, ^e the ninth yeare of Hoshea king of Israel was Samaria taken.

^f Chap. 17. 6.

11 Then the king of Asshur did cary away Israel unto Asshur, and put them in Halah and in Habor, by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes:

12 Because they would not obey the voice of the Lord their God, but transgressed his covenant: ^g that is, all that Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded, and would neither obey nor doe them.

13 ¶ ^h Moreover, in the fourteenth yeare of king Hezekiah, Saneherib king of Asshur came up against all the strong cities of Judah, and took them.

ⁱ 2. Chron. 32. 1. 1/2. 36. 1.

14 Then Hezekiah King of Judah sent unto the king of Asshur to Lachish, saying, ^d I have offended: depart from me, and what thou layest upon mee, I will beare it. And the King of Asshur appointed unto Hezekiah King of Judah three hundred talents of silver, and thirty talents of gold.

^d As his reede was before praised, so his weaknesse is here set forth, that none should glory in himselfe.

15 Therefore Hezekiah gave all the silver that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house.

16 At the same season did Hezekiah pull off the plates of the doores of the Temple of the Lord, and the pillars (which the said Hezekiah king of Judah had covered over) and gave them to the king of Asshur.

17 ¶ And the king of Asshur sent ^e Tartan, and Rabfaris, and Rabshakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great hoste against Jerusalem. And they went up, and came to Jerusalem, and when they were come up, they stood by the conduit of the upper poole, which is by the path of the fullers field, ^e After certaine yeares when Hezekiah ceased to send the tribute appointed by the king of the Assyrians, hee sent his captaines and army against him.

18 And called to the king. Then came out to them Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, which was steward of the house, and Shebna the Chancellor, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the ^f Recorder.

19 And Rabshakeh said unto them, Telye Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great king, even the great king of Asshur, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

^f Or, writer of Chronicles, a secretary.

20 Thou thinkest, Surely I have ^g eloquence, ^h but counsell and strength are for the warre. On whom then dost thou trust that thou rebellest against me?

^g Else, talke of the lippe. ^h Thou thinkest that words will serve to persuade thy people, or to move my matter.

21 Lo, thou trustest now in this broken staffe of reed, ⁱ to wit, on ^j Egypt, on which if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that trust on him.

ⁱ Egypt shall not onely not be able to succour thee, but shall be an hurt unto thee.

22 But if ye say unto me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he whose high places, & whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath said to Judah and Jerusalem, yee shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?

^j Thus the idolaters thinke that Gods religion is destroyed, when superstition and idolatry are reformed.

23 Now therefore give ^k hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will give thee two thousand horses, if thou be able to set riders upon them.

^k Meaning, that it was best for him to yeeld to the King of Assyria, because his power was so small that hee had not mento furnish two thousand horses.

24 For how canst thou despise any captain of the least of my masters servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and horsemen?

C H A P. XIX.

25 Am I now come up without the Lord to this place to destroy it? the Lord said to me, Goe up against this land, and destroy it.

26 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah said unto Rabshakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy servants, in the \ddagger Aramites language, for we understand it, and talke not with us in the Jewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rabshakeh said unto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speak these wordes, and not to the men which sit on the wall, that they might eate their owne dung, and drink \ddagger their owne pisse with you?

28 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a lowd voyce in the Jewes language, and spake, saying, Heare the words of the great King, of the king of Aslur.

29 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you \ddagger out of mine hand.

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliver us, and this citie shall not be given over into the hand of the king of Aslur.

31 Harken not unto Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Aslur, Make \ddagger appointment with me, and come out to me, that every man may eate of his owne vine, and every man of his owne figtree, and drink every man of the water of his owne well:

32 Till \ddagger I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, even a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olives, oyle, and honie, that ye may live and not die: and obey not Hezekiah, for he deceiveth you, saying, The Lord will deliver us.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Aslur?

34 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah? how have they delivered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that have delivered their land out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answer ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, which was steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

6 God promiseth by Isaiah victory to Hezekiah. 35 The Angel of the Lord killeth an hundred and fourscore and five thousand men of the Assyrians. 37 Saneherib is killed of his owne sonnes.

And * when King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And sent Eliakim which was the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackcloth to Isaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said unto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke, and blasphemie: for the children are come to \dagger the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If to be the Lord thy God hath heard all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Aslur his master hath sent to raile on the living God, and to reproch him with words which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou up thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 ¶ So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said unto them, So shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith the servants of the King of Aslur have blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast \dagger upon him, and he shall heare a noife, and returne to his owne land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Aslur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 * He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of \ddagger Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed and sent other messengers unto Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake unto Hezekiah King of Judah, and say, Let not thy \dagger God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aslur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Aslur have done to all lands, how they have destroyed them: and shalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the heathen delivered them which my fathers have destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in Thelasar?

13 Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and
